MRS. MARGUERITE WATERS, youthful grandmother, of Philadelphia, thinks grandchildren are for fun, not confusion . . and two granddaughters, Marguerite and Antoinette Fulton, are in full agreement.

MAN IN THE KITCHEN

Added raw tomato is secret of Mr. Russell's superb crab cakes

By LULA JONES GARRETT

BALTIMORE — Even Mrs. Ivory Russell will tell you that the crab cakes made by her husband are extra special . . . to say nothing of his barbecued chicken and ribs.

"Maybe it is the raw tomatoes that he adds that gives the cakes an extra fillip," says she.

Whatever it is, you'll agree if you have a chance to sample the cakes.

THE CRAB CAKES are highly spiced, and according to Mr. Russell, designed to go with a bland menu . . .such as potato salad and French beans. But he likes a pungent drink with the meals.

Mr. Russell uses a pound of crab meat, a teaspoon of seafood seasoning, a half teaspoon of salt.

Also a tablespoon of mayonnaise, a tablespoon Worchesshire sauce,a tablespoon of chopped parsley, a tablespoon baking powder, an egg, slightly beaten, two slices of bread, crumbed, and a raw tomato.

He tosses the whole together and pan fires the cakes. Sounds easy . . but!

MR. AND MRS. RUSSELL live in a delightful new home in Bare Hills, on the outer edge of Baltimore city. They had the home built about a year ago, and are still busy with the additions.

During the summer he built a barbecue pit, and completed their club room. Now he is working on a patio.

Mrs. Russell is the former Thelma Wainwright. Since their marriage seven years ago the family has increased to four. Their daughter, Catherine, celebrated a sixth birthday this week. Their son, Ivory N. Jr. is two.

"EASY DOES IT" BY ..... HELEN HIKE

Apple jelly, melted in the top part of a double boiler, gives a nice glaze when spooned over canned or frozen peaches placed in baked tart shells.

A combination of apples, grapes and walnuts makes a good team for a quick fruit salad.

Before baking custard, sprinkle the tops with light brown sugar to give them a lightly crusted top. For a thicker crust, bake the custard first, chill thoroughly, then sprinkle with light brown sugar and place in broiler, two inches from the unit for 2 to 3 minutes.

THIS WEEK'S RECIPE

Applesauce Loaf Cake

(Makes 16 slices)

1 package spice cake mix
1 cup canned sweetened applesauce
1 cup seedless raisins
¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg

Prepare cake batter according to package directions, substituting 1 cup applesauce for cup liquid. Lightly flour raisins, fold into batter with cinnamon and nutmeg.

Pour into a greased loaf pan (9 x 5 x 3-inches), lined with waxed papper. Bake according to package directions.

Cool for 5 minutes, remove from pan and peel off paper. Slice ½-inch thick.

Grated American cheese, catsup, a dash of tabasco sauce, a speck of grated onion and cream to blend make a delightful sandwich filling.

When making stuffed eggs, mix some deviled ham in with the mashed yolks, mustard, vinegar and mayonnaise for an especially good filling.

Blend together prepared mustard, horseradish and mayonnaise for a good sauce for sliced ham or ham loaf.

GLAMOROUS GRANDMOTHERS

'Hands Off' policy advocated by Mrs. Waters of Phila.

By KATHERINE COOPER

PHILADELPHIA — Today's young and active grandmother is concerned about the responsibilities of home and job.

"Even though labor saving devices have almost liberated women from the Kitchen, we have no 'time on our hands,'" said Mrs. Marguerite Waters, 3821 Baring St., confident young grandmother of two.

We had been talking about living conditions now as compared to the time in our own childhood, and although we agreed that the changing times bring about much benefit, we also agreed that we would not want to return to 'the good old days.'

"A HUGE BUILDING program would bring about jobs, would give people homes in which to live," she said, "which, in turn, would help reduce the tensions and of course, a real compliance with existing laws plus the use of our scientific knowledge like atomic energy, for peaceful purposes would bring about a greater feeling of security.

"I'm not one of those who thinks that because the times are so difficult that the world is coming to an end. I think instead that the future looks good, for my grurlchildren and for all of the children of the world."

MRS. WATERS' grandchildren are Marguerite Antoinnette Fulton, eight, and Rosalind Fulton, seven, children of her daughter, Jacqueline Anthony Fulton 24. Mrs. Waters' son, Philip Wade Anthony is 17 and a senior at Overbrook High School.

Mrs. Waters is employed by a social agency and Paul Waters, her husband, is an interior decorator.

SHE SPOKE of the grandparents' responsibilities to the children and the grandchildren.

"I feel," she said, "that once another unit is formed, the children should be allowed the space to grow, with the grandparents in the background. Grandparents only should give advice when it is needed. Children should assume their responsibilities for the rearing of their families.

I don't feel that you can protect them from the mistakes you made. I think that is an experience they have to undergo themselves. You can be supportive of your children; they must profit from their mistakes and in that way will grow."

"I see a much better future for them if they are equipped, and that is where I think the parents come in, so far as encouraging them and guiding them is concerned.

But what about parents who want to send their children to schools, for higher education, but don't have the money? she was asked. "I think that is the responsibility of the state, to see that every child is educated because I think the children are the earth's treasures."

ABOUT HER hobbies: "I have no particular hobbies" said Mrs. Waters. "Holding down a full time job, maintaining a home, leaves little time for hobbies other than reading. But I like the theatre, preferably drama."

Mrs. Waters, no rabid TV viewer, about that medium said, "I find that it isn't utilized to the best advantage as yet. I feel that there isn't enough 'meat' to TV programs on the whole, when they should be stimulating and educational. There are too many westerns with a great deal of killing and too little constructive material. But it has a great educational potential. As examples of good programs, take the Firestone Hour, that old standby in radio; programs such as Walt Disney presents, interesting for both young and old; programs such as "See it Now." which to my way of thinking, are on the air much too infrequently."

ABOUT OUR age being tougher than in our parents time, she said, "I think each generation has its own particular problems and that solving them is something with which each generation will have to cope.

"The way man is about to conquer space, the way in which nations which were once so far apart are being brought closer together, makes this a wonderful time in which to live," she concluded. And on this happy note the stimulating interview with Mrs. Waters was brought to an end.

Parents of the grandchildren are Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Fulton of 5936 Spring St. The youngsters attend Our Lady of the Rosary School and have been taking dancing lessons for five years.

COOKING IS FUN

You never go wrong when you make a pie for family favor

By FANNIEJOE REID

"Oh my, I like pie" reads the inscription on the bottom of an old Pennsylvania Dutch pottery pie plate.

And oh my, everyone likes this "Maple-Nut Chiffon Pie." It's high and handsome, light and fluffy, rich and delicious. The creamy maple filling has a generous measure of fresh California walnuts to add just-right texture contrast and wonderful flavor. This is a company-night special, and wears party dress, with a ruffle of whipped cream and a sprinkling of walnuts on top. It's a treasure of a recipe!

MAPLE-NUT Chiffon Pie is made with one cup California walnuts, one envelope plain gelatin, two tablespoons cold water, one-fourth cup rich milk or light cream, two egg yolks, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon vanilla, one-fourth teaspoon maple extract, one-half cup maple, or maple-type syrup, two egg whites, one cup whipping cream and one baked and cooled 9 - inch pie shell.

Chop walnuts; soften gelatin in water. Beat milk, egg yolks, salt, vanilla and maple extract until blended. Place over boiling water and cook until mixture thinly coats back of spoon, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat and blend in gelatin; stir until dissolved. Stir in syrup.

Cool until mixture begins to jell. Then fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites and three-fourths cup walnuts. Beat cream until stiff; fold about three-fourths into filling; save remainder for garnish, if mixture does not "mound" when dropped from a spoon — chill a few minutes in refrigerator.

Then, pile into baked pie shell; chill until firm. Garnish top of pie with remaining whipped cream, slightly sweetened, and chopped walnuts.

MACARONI, spaghetti and noodles can be turned into all sorts of quick-cooking, easy to fix one-dish meals. For that reason, they're nominee favorites. When the youngsters are coming home for lunch, choose a hot dish from this lineup of luncheon winners.

Chili Mac on the menu is sure to bring the children home for lunch with no dallying along the way. Keep it in mind for Saturday or Sunday night suppers, too:

Make Chili Mac with one-half pound ground beef, one half green pepper, chopped; one-half small onion, chopped; dash pepper, one teaspoon chili powder, one tablespoon sugar;

Also two tablespoons fat or drippings, one and one-half cups cooked kidney beans, two tablespoons vinegar, one-half cup water, four ounces elbow marcaroni and one and one-half teaspoons salt.

Brown beef, green pepper and onion in fat or drippings in heavy skillet. Add tomatoes and kidney beans. Combine salt, pepper, chili powder, sugar, vinegar and water and add to meat mixture. Cover and simmer gently 20 minutes. Add macaroni and mix well. Cover and simmer 20 minutes longer. Serve hot.

PICTURE THIS on your prettiest platter—a thick slice of marmalade — glazed ham ringed with plump, glossy prunes. Put the prunes in the oven beside the ham, and the prunes will grow fat and juicy while the meat cooks.

Fruited Ham Slice requires one (one-inch thick) center slice ham, whole cloves, one-third cup orange marmalade and 15 uncooked prunes.

Cut slashes in fat edge of ham 1 inch apart. Insert cloves in fat. Place in shallow baking dish and spread ham with marmalade. Stick a clove in each prune and arrange around ham. Pour orange juice and one-fourth cup water in bottom of dish. Bake in moderately slow oven (325 degrees F.) 1 hour.

Fifth of women in labor force have children

By the NNPA News Service

The likelihood that mothers will work outside the home increases sharply once their children reach school age. About one-fifth of the female labor force now consists of women with children between the ages of six and 17.

These wives and mothers, the majority of whom hold jobs for which little training is required, are relatively less well represented in professional occupations and clerical work than are single women.

Almost three-fifths of women under 65, who are widowed, divorced, or separated from their husbands, are working. Among those who have children over 17, an even higher proportion is in the labor force.

AMONG WOMEN separated from their husbands, two-fifths of the mothers whose children are still below school age are working. Divorced women are likely to be found holding the same kinds of jobs as working wives and mothers.

Widows and women separated from their husbands are usually found in unskilled and poor-paying jobs.

The influence exerted by formal education upon work outside the home is linked to that of marital status and age.

Many young women have some experience with part-time work while they are still in school. The vast majority of them, however, seek full-time employment as soon as they leave school.

CONSEQUENTLY, the lower the level of education, the earlier in their lives do young women enter the labor market.

On the other hand, the more education adult women have had, the more likely they are to be working. In part, this tendency reflects differences in marriage and childbearing patterns.

Women college graduates tend to marry later than less well-educated women, and to have fewer children.

College graduates are better represented than high school graduates in the adult female labor force, just as the poor portion of high school graduates exceeds that of women who never went beyond elementary school.

College graduates comprise the majority of women workers in professional and technicians occupations. While high school graduates are characteristically engaged in clerical work, the majority of them with only elementary schooling hold jobs as operatives and service workers.

Elizabeth to visit Ghana next autumn

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — Queen Elizabeth 2nd will visit Ghana in the fall of 1959, it was revealed last week. It was also hinted that she make a state visit to Sierra Leone and Gambia, also in West Africa.

The Queen noted in her speech before Parliament that the occasion would mark her first opportunity of meeting the people in this "new member of the Commonwealth."

FUTURE NCC SPEAKER

DURHAM, N. C. — Dr. Clarence Jordan, director of Koinonia Farms in Americus, Ga., will speak at North Carolina College on March 8-9. The farm is an interracial cooperative project.

LONG HAIRED FURS are popular again, as shown by this coat of baby fisher, a fluffy sable-like fur with golden base and deep brown top hairs. The coat, which is from Leo Ritter's winter collection, is seven-eights length and has an open neckline circled by a flat collar.

THESE DELEGATES attended the national conclave of Chums, in Washington, last week. They came from Norfolk, Va., Newport News, Va., Danville, Va., Fayetteville, N.C. Washington, and New York City. Miss Nance is bride of Dr. A. McKee

GREENWOOD, S.C. —Miss Barbara O'dell Nance, daughter of Mrs. Juanita Nance and the late O'dell Nance was married here recently to Dr. Adam Emmanuel McKee Jr.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam E. McKee of Fairfield, Ala.

The candle light double - ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Joseph C. James of Charleston, great-uncle of the bride. The wedding reception was immediately following the ceremony at the home.

THE BRIDE, given in marraige by her godfather, Dr. R. M. Tompkins, was attired in an original Cinderella gown of French imported Chantilly lace and chiffon over satin, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline embellished with sequins and pearls.

The long sleeves ended points over the wrists. The bouffant overskirt was of gathered chiffon with yards of Chantilly forming the full floor - length skirt.

Her veil of scolloped illusion was attached to a tiara of pearls. She carried a Bible topped with a white orchid. Her only jewelry was the diamond and pearl earrings belonging to her godmother, Mrs. I. M. Tompkins.

MISS ANGELINA NANCE was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a taffeta ashes of roses dress with matching feather hat and satin shoes and short white gloves. Mrs. Mable White of Greensboro, N.C. matron of honor, was similarly attired in forest green. The attendants carried bouquet of pink carnations.

Frank Brooks of Fairfield, Ala. served as best man and Thomas Gray, Jr. was groomsman.

The mother of the bride wore a lovely acqua peau de soie gown with matching accessories and elbow length white kid gloves. Her corsage was of pink carnations. The mother of the groom chose a smart blue lace. Her accessories were of blended shades of blue. Her corsage was the same as the bride's mother.

Portsmouth Omegas schedule National Achievement Week

PORTSMOUTH, Va. — National Achievement Week was celebrated by Zeta Iota Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, on Sunday in Emanuel AME Church.

The theme of this year's National Achievement Week was "Moral and Spiritual Values: America's Greatest Need."

The Achievement Week was inaugurated at the ninth Grand Conclave of the fraternity in 1920 which met in Nashville, Tenn. The project has been and still is another effort of Omega to live and achieve in accordance with its four cardinal principles: Manhood, Scholarship, Perseverance, and Uplift.

ONE OF THE MAIN objectives of the observance is to focus attention on outstanding achievements, not only by giving appropriate recognition to those who have achieved, but by stimulating others to gain even higher eminence.

Another objective of the observance is to implement our emphasizing the fact that all people must be judged by their accomplishments and their service to mankind regardless of nationality, religion or race.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER of the local chapter's service was Dr. Walter N. Ridley, president of Elizabeth City State Teachers College at Elizabeth City, N.C. Dr. Ridley formerly served as head of the Psychology Department at Virginia State College in Lawrenceville.

Serving on this year's Achievement Week committee were Dr. James W. Holley, Allen Creekmur, William C. Choate, Dr. J. H. Brown, and Sidney H. Edwards, chairman.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H.® Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.
