Mail Carrier Found Dead

Water pipe used in hanging

PHILADELPHIA

Edward Hubbell, 55, 27 N. Ruby St., a postal employee, was found hanged, the noose attached to water pipes in his home Saturday afternoon.

Discovery of the body was made by Mrs. Hubbell's mother, police said.

Both his wife and mother-in-law were in the house at the time. When he went downstairs, they apparently thought he had gone out.

• • •

EXPRESSING SHOCK at the tragedy, friends said he had been depressed and ailing lately, but they didn't think his condition was too serious. He had been away from his postal job for three weeks.

He was employed in the capacity of chauffeur carrier, working out of the 30th St. station and serving the Kingsessing District.

There was sadness in the faces of friends on Monday afternoon who had come to pay their respects to Mrs. Hubbell.

His wife said he had been ailing for "quite some time."

The body will be viewed at home on Wednesday evening followed by funeral services Thursday morning.

Father Jesse Anderson of the Episcopal Church will officiate at the services. Interment will be at Eden Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements will be handled by the Jennie Morris Funeral Home, 717 S. 19th St.

"MILITARY FUNERAL" — The flag-draped coffin bearing the remains of two-year-old Kenneth Isler is carried from his home by "space soldiers." Kenny was an avid fan of the helmeted space men and often marched along behind their formations. — (Crawley Photo)

2-yr.-old Kenneth Isler dies; given full military funeral

RICHMOND

Two-year-old Kenneth Isler's dreams of being a soldier ended suddenly on Oct. 24 when he accidentally swallowed a balloon and died of strangulation.

But little Kenny was buried with full military honors, clad in the smart, olive drab uniform of the Army Space club he loved so well.

Kenny had been posthumously awarded membership in the United Nations Interplanetary Space Command. And the other NISCO members served as pallbearers, and honor guard at his funeral on Oct. 29.

The space soldiers frequently marched past Kenny's home, in the 2200 block of Pleasant St., and he was always on hand to meet them. He would grab the most convenient stick, place it on his shoulder, and fall in at the rear of the formation.

Though forbidden to leave the block, Kenny marched as far as he could with the "space-men," and never failed to meet them on their return trip.

• • •

IT WAS generally understood that Kenny would join the space command as soon as he reached the minimum age limit. But on Oct. 24, Fate stepped in. Kenny was playing with a balloon and swallowed it. He was rushed to St. Philips Hospital, but efforts to save him were unsuccessful.

Word of his death spread quickly and a neighbor suggested that pallbearers be selected from the ranks of the UNISCO club. The unit director accepted the proposal, and went a step further. He suggested that Kenny be posthumously awarded membership in the club; that the youngster be buried in the club's official uniform and with full military honors.

Marching to the slow, muffled beat of a drum, the unit director, Thomas Cannon, a former Army officer, led an honor guard and four pallbearers to the Isler home to receive the body and escort it to the funeral chapel.

The officers, led by Astro-commander Robert Jordan, gently carried the tiny flag-draped coffin through a corridor formed by saluting riflemen of the honor guard and placed it in the hearse.

At the graveside, following religious services, the honor guardsmen raised their rifles and fired several volleys.

They then presented arms, in final salute, as the bugler sounded taps.

Mrs. Margaret W. Wilson, widow of Dr. Marion Wilson, left her entire estate to her sister, Mrs. Rosemary Johnson, giving the latter the right to share it with other brothers and sisters as she sees fit.

The will, which also made Mrs. Johnson executrix, was drawn on Oct. 14, three days before Mrs. Wilson died on Oct. 17. It was witnessed by Mrs. Naomi R. Sartor and Mrs. Dorothy Wood.

After appointing Mrs. Johnson executrix, the will said:

"I give, devise and bequeath unto my sister all my property, real and personal, of whatsoever nature that I now possess or that I will hereinafter possess, especially all that I am to receive from the estate of my late husband, with the wish and hope that she will deal fairly with my brothers and sisters in sharing with them, in her sole discretion, whatever property I may die possessed of. I hereby leave it to her discretion in what manner and to what extent they will share in my estate."

Crusade links seen by Miss Burroughs

WASHINGTON

The colored press should join hands with Baptist women in a public educational program for a better America and "the new civilization that is on the way," according to Miss Nannie Burroughs, educator and church leader.

Miss Burroughs made the observation Thursday to the Capital Press Club and other visitors who were her guests at a luncheon at the Retreat for Foreign Missionaries, 1022 Maryland Ave., NE.

"You spend so much time talking about prejudice," the hostess said. "You could beat it to a frazzle if you would organize people.

"Insofar as colored Baptist women are concerned, they are dedicated and will do it," added the president of the Woman's Convention Auxiliary, National Baptist Convention.

• • •

WORKERS HAVE passed out 2 million pieces of literature on individual self-help, community improvement and Christian endeavor. Activities are directed by a 1,500 - member committees across the country.

Literature alone has cost the convention $5,000, Miss Burroughs said. "It's paid for."

A goal of the work is to improve human relations in America, she stated.

• • •

HER COMMENTS were laced with good humor and witticisms. She observed that newspaper workers should pray:

"Lord, help me today to keep my nose out of other people's business."

She said, "You have a marvelous opportunity to do a job for the whole world. Things are important when they are done for the future.

"If the church and press let us down through here, they will not inherit the kingdom.

"That is a nice way of telling you if you don't do what you should, you are going to hell," she added.

• • •

COLORED Americans should support this crusade themselves through voluntary contributions, she said. "We have been begging too long."

Miss Burroughs put her guests at ease immediately. "I didn't invite you here to ask you for a thing."

Guests toured retreat grounds and the three-story mansion with Chippendale furniture, prayer room (Upper Room) on the top floor and murals adorning first-floor walls.

Day of Prayer held for South Africans

NEW YORK — A Day of Prayer for the church of the Province of South Africa and for all the people of the Union of South Africa was observed in Episcopal Churches throughout the country on Sunday, Nov. 9, 1958, the 23rd Sunday after Trinity.

The Church of the Province of South Africa is — like the Episcopal Church in the United States — a member of the world-wide Anglican Communion.

This is the second annual Day of Prayer organized by the Episcopal Churchmen for South Africa, an interracial lay group centered in New York City. Last year over 800 parishes, mission stations, cathedrals prayer groups, religious orders and hospital and prison chapels joined together in this act of worship.

• • •

THE RECENT General Convention of the Episcopal Church meeting in Miami Beach, Fla., adopted a resolution calling on Episcopalians to pray for the Church and people of South Africa.

Episcopal Churchmen for South Africa was organized in June 1956 to inform Americans about the pressing racial situation in South Africa and to get material and spiritual support for the Church of the Province of South Africa in its Christian witness in the face of the doctrine and practice of apartheid, or racial segregation.

Apartheid is the official policy of the government of the Union of South Africa. A series of laws have been enacted in Parliament to put apartheid into effect. The carrying out of these laws has resulted in great suffering and injustice for the approximately 12 million African and other non-white people of the country.

EPISCOPALIANS and people of other faiths have responded by contributing money for the aid of the African people and by praying regularly for a solution to African's racial turmoil.

Funds sent by Episcopal Churchmen for South Africa are helping substantially to maintain the six Church Family Centers which the Rt. Rev. Ambrose Reeves, the Bishop of Johannesburg, instituted following the closing of his diocesan schools as a result of the Bantu Education Act.

Episcopal Churchmen for South Africa last summer sent $2,000 to the Most Rev. Joost de Blank, Archbishop of Cape Town, for his use in helping the dispossessed African families in the Windemere shantytown adjacent to Cape Town.

These families are being uprooted under an apartheid law. The men must remain in concrete barracks working for a living in industry. Their wives and children must find their own way back to the African reserves hundreds of miles away.

Evicted tenants picket city hall

NEW YORK — Thirteen evicted East Harlem tenants last week began picketing city hall — they were evicted because the landlord refused to remove violations.

The building in question was termed hazardous last year when the collaspe of a chimney brought an investigation which uncovered over 50 violations.

Building Department officials failed to give them a 30-day notice, the tenants charged, adding that the department used police to evict them less than 30 minutes after a notice was put in the halls.

West Coast NAACP mobilizes to obtain 100,000 signatures

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. — "All West Coast NAACP Branches have been mobilized to secure 100,000 signatures on the Petition to President Eisenhower" stated Franklin H. Williams, NAACP regional Secretary- Counsel.

The "Petition to Eisenhower" calls upon the President to use the total moral and physical resources at his command to place the full authority of the U.S. Government in giving dignity to tre laws of the land by strongly upholding them.

Mr. Williams added, "President Eisenhower's recent snub of the delegation of 10,000 white and colored pupils gathered in Washington, was a shocking blow to those who looked to the President for moral leadership at home and abroad."

"We will be anxious to see his response to our delegation bearing 100,000 signatures from the West Coast."

MISS HEIGHT HONORED

NEW YORK (NNPA) — Miss Dorothy Height of New York, leadership services staff, associate director for training, YWCA, and president of the National Council of Negro Women, was one of five women who received the 1958 Woman of Achievement Awards of the Women's International Exposition at the 71st Regiment Armory here Monday night.

D.C. school population establishes new record

WASHINGTON (NNPA)—The colored school population in the District of Columbia has set new records, in both actual numbers and percentage wise.

The annual school census shows that 74.1 per cent of the pupils in the local public schools are colored and 25.9 per cent are white. The count was made on Oct. 19.

The colored percentage was up from 71.2 per cent in 1957, 60.8 per cent in 1954, and 47.4 per cent in 1948.

• • •

THE RISE in the colored percentage and the drop in the white percentage is partially accounted for by the continuous movement of white families with school - age children into nearby counties in Maryland and Virginia and by the much larger number of white children enrolled in parochial and other private schools.

The movement of white families into Northern Virginia has been slowed, if not altogether stopped, by the threatened closing of public schools under the state's program of "massive resistance" to the Supreme Court decision outlawing racial segregation in public schools.

Public schools in Arlington County, Va., are under Federal Court order to transfer four colored students from all - colored to previously all - white schools at the beginning of the next semester, Feb. 1.

Unless Virginia's "massive resistance" laws are declared unconstitutional before then, when these colored children are admitted, the schools to which they are admitted will be shut down.

A SUIT in Alexandria, Va., for the immediate admission of 14 colored children in Alexandria public schools is pending in the Federal District Court there.

The District of Columbia school census shows:

Ghana frowns on Africa annexation

BROOKLYN, N.Y. — "As a result of a policy of racial discrimination applied by the Union Government, the indigenous population of Southwest Africa, which is the majority, has not the right to participate in the territory's political life.

"The movement of the native population is restricted under a pass system and is kept in reserves. Women are separated from men and husbands from wives. Natives are living from hand to mouth with hope of improving their social status."

• • •

UNITED NATIONS Ghana delegate Mumuni Bawumina noted this last week as he deplored "the injustice and inhuman treatment" of natives under the apartheid (segregation) policy of the Union of South Africa, which is trying to annex the territory of Southwest Africa.

Mr. Bawumina gave his observations during an investigation by the United Nations into the effort of South Africa to annex the territory.

The Ghana delegate opposed the procedure and appealed to "the conscience of all nations" to help bring an end to the situation in Africa.

DOCTOR REPORTS:

Washing pots can cause dishpan hands and more

CHICAGO — You can get more than dishpan hands from scouring pots and pans, reports Dr. Peter I. Long Jr. of Dayton, Ohio, in this Journal of the American Medical Association.

He said that serious damage may be done to the fingernails if you are wearing rubber gloves and using a detergent while scrubbing pans.

Dr. Long reported three cases of hemorrhage under the nails of men who washed pans in a hospital kitchen. He said that his preliminary report shows several significant factors:

Pan scrubbing entails a lot of hard scouring which would have a tendency to separate the nail from the nail bed, injuring the tissue.

• • •

ONLY MEN who wore rubber gloves developed the condition, although they showed no sensitivity to rubber; and the washing solution that became trapped in the gloves was more acid than that in the sink.

The doctor also pointed out that only men who worked as pan washers for a short time developed the hemorrhages. The fact they were not accustomed to the work may be an important factor, Dr. Long said.

Turner filed income tax returns—all for 1957—in Chicago, Kansas City, Richmond, Va., Detroit, Baltimore, Greensboro, NC. and Cheyenne, Wy. among other places, agents said.

The peculiarity of the returns he filed, they reported, was that they all bore a different name and showed a refund due. To date he had received $10,000 in refund checks, it was said. His bond has been set at $5,000.
