MOBSTERS VS. TEAMSTERS—Victor Mature and Diana Dors are held by "boss" Patrick Allen in "The Long Haul," now at the Royal with "Return To Warbow."

First Run Films

MOVING DRAMATIC HIT NOW AT THE REGENT

The picture was filmed by Twentieth Century - Fox in CinemaScope and DeLuxe Color in the actual locale of the story — Cologne, Berlin and the beautiful Rhine country of Germany.

"Based on a popular novel by James McGovern, "Fraulein" dramatizes the chaos of Germany as the Allies and Red armies were rushing in on Berlin in the days that followed the Nazi surrender.

Joies Michaels as its stars, is now at the Regent Theatre.

German girl caught in the maelstrom of war, Mel Ferrer and Dolores Wynter, as the lovers, are seen as western gunmen who ride a dangerous trail of death and revenge.

'COLE YOUNGER...GUN-FIGHTER' AT NEW ALBERT

"Cole Younger, Gunfighter," one of the best outdoor adventure films to grace the screen in recent months, opened yesterday at the New Albert theatre with Frank Lovejoy, starred.

The Allied Artists' production, filmed in CinemaScope and color by De Luxe, is marked with exceptional performances, deft, intelligent direction by R. G. Springsteen and a novel, well developed screenplay by Dan Mainwaring.

It has strong production values all down the line, notably the often breathtaking photography by Harry Neumann, whose art with the camera adds immeasurably to the film.

"Cole Younger, Gunfighter" takes place in 1873 when the infamous "Bluebellies" of Governor E. J. Davis rode roughshod over the state of Texas and ruled the land with terror, violence and the six-gun.

Lovejoy, who turns in what must be recorded as one of his finest performances, is seen as Cole Younger, a notorious gunfighter of the day who befriends young James Best.

Best has sworn vengeance on the "Bluebelly" killers after they have murdered his father, but Younger realizes that the young man is marked for certain death because he is a novice in the deadly art of gunfighting.

DANNY KAYE STARS IN 'MERRY ANDREW'

Danny Kaye should have an even firmer grip on his legion of admirers with his latest role in "Merry Andrew," now playing at the Harlem produced by M-G-M by Sol C. Siegel, who has given the screen such hits as "High Society" and "Les Girls."

A merry comedy with songs, "Merry Andrew" has one of the most colorful and dazzling circus backgrounds ever created for a film, with more than a third of the action taking place under a 110 by 160 feet Big Top, in which acrobats, animal acts, fight performers, clowns and all the other attractions of a circus perform as part of the story.

Danny, as a teacher in a boys' school in rural England, becomes involved with circus land with Pier Angeli, niece of the owners and finds himself in the role of a clown.

From the moment he falls through an excavation into a horse's ring in the story's frenzied finale, in which he finds himself flying through the air as a terrified member of a thrill act, "Merry Andrew" supplies an unhalting series of laughs.

JOEL McCREA STARS IN MET OFFERING

"Fort Massacre" is a story based on an actual incident involving a lost calvary patrol somewhere near Fort Defiance, New Mexico, in 1876.

There is no "Fort Massacre" as such, but this was the name given to a small nest of Navajo or Piute cliff dwellings in the neighborhood of Gallup, New Mexico, the location site for the CinemaScope - DeLuxe Color film now playing at the Met Theatre.

The picture stars Joel McCrea, Forrest Tucker and Susan Cabot in the incident-inspired story of a calvary commander's obsessive hatred of Indians. His urge to kill the Apache resulted in a bloody last - man - battle which turned the cliffside redoubt into "Fort Massacre" in fact.

Free as free-wheeling to work for community good—Welcome

"I'm as free as the air to end no bosses to obey," Mrs. Verda Welcome declared, here, with no political debts to pay Friday.

Mrs. Welcome is seeking a nomination on the Democratic ticket as a candidate to the House of Delegates, Fourth Legislative District, and is one of the candidate to be voted upon in the primary election, Tuesday of next week.

NO NEW-COMER in the fight for democracy in Baltimore, Mrs. Welcome was a pioneer in the fight to lower the racial bar of the White Coffee Pot, a fight that is still going on.

She successfully campaigned to outlaw building fire escapes over main streets, and has been active for years in agitation to open Baltimore hotels to all. She was a determined leader in preventing Druid Hill Park from being given over to a commercial sports center.

AT A PRESS conference on Friday evening, Mrs. Welcome chuckled over the surprise she constantly runs into when seasoned politicians learn that she is not turning to them for financial aid. "I do not want to bring together religious leaders and league specialists to exchange information and to stimulate constructive action for the improvement of race relations.

AS PRESIDENT of the Northwest Improvement Association, Mrs. Welcome has served her neighborhood in countless ways, securing improvements, preventing violations of zoning laws, securing maximum upkeep by the city, and maintaining a clean community.

When she was president of the Auxiliary to the Monumental Medical Society, she led in raising funds that provided over $2,000 worth of cubicle curtains for the wards at Provident Hospital.

Mrs. Welcome is a life member and past Regional Director of the National Council of Negro Women. She is a member of the Colored Women's Democratic Club, the Mount Royal Democratic Club, the League of Women Voters, the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, American for Democratic Action, and the Urban League. She is also a life member of both the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority.

MRS. WELCOME is one of a family of nine girls and six boys. She, therefore, understands the problems of housing, feeding and clothing a large family.

She also knows the problems of the big city, the small town, and the country, because in her own background, is a father who has been a truck farmer all his life, in Lake Lure, near Asheville, N.C.

Mrs. Welcome met her husband, Dr. Henry C. Welcome, in 1933, and married him three years later, when he was a senior at Meharry Medical College.

SHE IS a former school teacher with a B.S. degree from Morgan, a master's degree from New York University and further post-graduate work at Columbia.

The Welcomes, including a teen-age daughter are members of Grace Presbyterian Church.
