The 'Center' is the center of Turner Station activities

The Progressive Association's building in Turner Station is the "Y," the recreation center and the geographic center plus the hub of most of the activities in the community.

Now its secretary, Rudolph Wheeler, has taken on another big project — the AFRO Clean Block Campaign.

On a recent tour with Mrs. Francis Mackay, the AFRO's Clean Block director, Mr. Wheeler escorted her through some of the blocks in the area. He said he was proud of the work of the clean blockers.

The first stop on the Turner Station tour was in the 400 block New Pittsburg Ave., where Mrs. Mamie Hayes, of 414 was pinchitting for her husband who is AFRO Clean Block advisor.

Her husband, James Hayes, employed at Bethlehem Steel, was at work, so she carried on.

* * *

THEIR BLOCK of New Pittsburg Ave. has brick bungalow homes and green, green, well-cared for lawns.

Little girls, pretty in their starched dresses and bow ribbons, and the handsome neighborhood boys, were practicing Clean Block songs they intended to sing at their party when Mrs. Mackay arrived.

Mrs. Hayes explained, "They have really worked together—the children and the grown-ups.

"They come out after the trash man leaves and pick up paper, sweep, and this is the marshal," she said, introducing Henry Barber, who lives at 415. "He sold most of the flags for the campaign."

* * *

The children in this block have also recruited neighbors from the 500 block of their street.

Mrs. Maggie Fleshman of 512 attends all of the meetings and co-operates with the 400 block along with her two grandchildren.

There are also three other families in her block who participate.

* * *

NEXT STOP on the tour was the 100 block Fleming Drive, where the captain, Donald Stokes, and his crew rested in the shade of a large tree when their work was done.

Donald, 13, who lives at 117 is an eighth grade pupil at Sollers Point High School.

He says he has very little trouble getting the fellows and girls to help clean up but has to coax them into getting up in the mornings.

"But we get someone to go around and knock on all the doors and most of the time the kids will come on out," says Donald.

* * *

LEAVING DONALD, Mrs. Mackay and Mr. Wheeler went on to see how Lloyd Jeffers, 13, and his crew were doing with the unit block of South Lane.

Lloyd lives at No. 10 and is a ninth grader at Sollers Point High. He says he also gets little or no trouble from the guys — no girls were there that day, says Lloyd, because they'd gone away, but they help "pretty good" when they are home.

The only gripe Lloyd admits to is that "The kids all like to clean in one spot. They want to stay in the shade and won't sweep any farther."

Luck must have been with them for Mrs. Mackay's tour because the sunny spots were as clean as the shady spots.

* * *

CHARLES WILLIAMS, 12, is co-captain of the unit block of South Lane.

There are so few children in the 100 block Walnut St., that most of the duties fall on the captain, Alvin MacArthur and the co-captain, Harvey Mickey.

Clean Block Campaign.

He is James Parrish and naturally, he gets all the heavy work.

* * *

LAST STOP on the Turner Station tour was in the 100 block Maple Lane where adult participants almost outnumber the children. There aren't many children in the block, so captain Hattie Johnson had to get help from somewhere.

Most of the homes in the block sprout green and white awnings, and hydrangeas grow profusely on each lawn.

Children and adults in the Turner Station area started about six weeks ago to sweep, clean-up and fix-up their blocks and since that time, enthusiasm and neighborhood pride has been steadily mounting.

Most of the blocks have meetings twice a week and meet all together at the activities building, their headquarters.

The building is the property of the Turner Station Progressive Association. Dr. Eugene T. Byrd is president of that organization and Mr. Wheeler is secretary.

Mr. Wheeler will also celebrate his eighth anniversary at the end of this month as executive secretary of the "Y" organization, also in that building.

In addition to the "Y," the community center, the building also holds the community library.

COULD THAT BE A SPECK of dirt that AFRO clean Block Captain Alvin MacArthur is pointing out to helper Harvey Mickey in the 200 block Walnut Ave., Turner Station? Harvey came armed with a broom just in case they spot some misplaced trash.
