APOLIS OINGS

By ELOISE RICHARDSON

The sluggish mid-summer social season took on new life in this area when Cupid stepped in and united two popular young people down Arundel-on-the-Bay way on Saturday afternoon.

Miss R. Joan Henderson, the charming daughter of Mrs. Vivian Matthews Henderson of Bristol, Tenn., and Palmer Henderson of New York City, became the bride of Waverly M. Jackson Jr. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Waverly M. Jackson Sr. of New York City. The quiet ceremony took place before members of both families and intimate friends.

The rites, which were held at the beautiful home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas S. King, were read by the Rev. Dr. Baxter L. Matthews, pastor of the Union Baptist Church of Baltimore and a cousin of the bride.

The couple stood before a beautiful background of palms, white gladioli and ferns with two nine-candle candelabras. The decorating was done by Mrs. Samuel Hamlin, a florist of Winston-Salem, N.C., a cousin of the bride.

• • •

GIVEN IN marriage by her uncle, the bride was radiant in a stunning gown of white Chantilly lace and tulle.

Fashioned along bouffant lines, the tight-fitting bodice had a scalloped plunging neckline, which grew from a yoke formed out of a pannelled full skirt of lace and tulle combined. The long sleeves were trimmed in satin covered tiny buttons.

Underneath the full top-skirt were six layers of tulle under which was a hoop skirt and crinoline.

Her tiara, from which her finger-tip veil hung, was also made of tulle and was bejeweled with seed pearls and rhinestones. She wore pearls and carried a white Bible with white satin ribbon and a white orchid.

Briesmaids were her two sisters: Mrs. Leo Simms, a teacher in the public schools of Anne Arundel County, and Miss Dawn Henderson, a student at Knoxville College, both of Bristol, Tenn., and also Mrs. Frank Bondurant of Washington, D.C.

Their gowns, which were made by the bride, were of aqua cotton satin, fashioned with tight-fitting bodices and full bouffant skirts. They also wore hats to match and tinted shoes of the same color.

THE BRIDE'S mother was attractive in a beige and orange ensemble and she wore an orchid corsage with pearls.

The bridegroom's mother was also attractive in teal blue lace with pearls and wore a corsage of white rosebuds.

The best man was Pfc. Enis Whaley of the U.S. Army, stationed in Mexico.

Following the ceremony, a lovely garden reception was held. Hostesses were Misses Elsie Richardson and Edwin Mann of Annapolis, Dorothy Briscoe and Freddie Hill of Baltimore, Thetta Brooks of Indian Head and Anne Hudson of Salisbury.

The bride's going-away outfit was a stunning black and white cotton ensemble, which was enhanced by a small black hat and bag white gloves and black shoes. The couple is spending their honeymoon at Cape Cod.

The bride and bridegroom are both graduates of Morgan State College, and are both teaching in the Baltimore and New York City schools respectively.

• • •

GUESTS WHO attended the reception are as follows:

Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Richardson Messrs. and Mesdames Mason Alsop, Dallas Pace, Joseph Hardesty, Thomas R. Baden Jr., William H. Richardson, Mesdames Pinetta Crampton, Gaynell Marchand, Viola Chase, Ulysses Brown and Miss Ethel Richardson, all of Annapolis;

Drs. and Mesdames Roy Berry, Theodore Johnson, Aris T. Allen, George MacDonald, Merrill Curtis and Edward Walker, Messrs. and Mesdames Charles Gibbs, James Brown, Cecil Burton, Nathaniel Dixon, Wilkins Spence, Carroll Hynson, Herbert Hilliard, Todd Duncan and Willie McManus, all of Arundel-on-the-Bay;

Mr. and Mrs. George Spaulding, Dr. and Mrs. Martin Jenkins, Messrs. and Mesdames Herbert Prestwidge, Robert Minson, Sinclair Swann, Charles Reed, Edward P. Hurt, Talmadge Hill, Edward N. Wilson and Mark Patterson.

Also Mesdames Robert Minson, Mary D. Marrow, Nathaniel Pollard, Royal Weaver and Susie Clark; Misses Dorothy Briscoe and father, Freddie Hill, Bernadon Tyler, Betty Johnson and Oscarew F. Gee Jr., all of Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. William Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bell, Mrs. Naomi Ballard and Ormand Harris, all of New York City; Messrs. and Mesdames Samuel Hamlin and William Bell and Mrs. Gwendolyn Green all of Winston-Salem, N.C.

Also Mrs. Luther Pookrum, Mrs. Mary Anderson and Burnett Pookrum, all of Bristol, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. James Henderson, daughter Ann, and son, Biff, all of Durham, N.C., and Mr. and Mrs. John Valentine and three children of Washington.

ANOTHER HIGHLIGHT of the social week and at Annapolis was the lovely supper party, hosted by that charming couple, Dr. and Mrs. H. P. Weeden (Polly) of Lynchburg, Va., honoring a number of out-of-town guests at their summer residence out Parole way.

The honored guests were:

Dr. Helen Edmonds of Durham, N.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Claiborne George of Cleveland, O; Mr. and Mrs. Reed Cruzer of New York City.

Also Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Boulware and Mrs. Ethel Merriman of Lynchburg, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Garret Fish of Columbus, O.; and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ferguson of Lynchburg.

Mrs. Smothers is Grand Associate Matron of Myra Grand Chapter of the Order of Eastern Stars.

Charles, Odessa and Julia A. Pinkney, the lovely children of Mr. and Mrs. Ellery Pinkney in South River Road, are spending their vacation with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Row in Delray, Fla.

Misses Yosette Inza and Bernadette Marie Williams, attractive young daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Williams, entertained their cousin, Miss Juanita I. Braxton of Philadelphia at a dinner party given by their grandmother, Mrs. Inza Smith in Charles Street.

Other guests were Jamie Brooks and Sandra Jerald.

DOWN CALESVILLE WAY

There were big doings down at Calesville on Saturday when the Community Club sponsored its annual Community Day and picnic.

Real highlights of the celebration was the colorful parade which included beautifully decorated floats and the crowning of "Miss Galesville."

The event which is a big social affair for the people of the community to look forward to each year, this year, also proved to be a beneficial one in the interest of the community.

Contestants vieing for the title of "Miss Galesville" were putting on an effort to aid in raising funds for the remodelling fund of the Community Center.

Miss Eva Sellman, who was crowned, raised $100, and the runner-up, Miss Joyce Crowner reported $100, and was named "Miss Success." Both girls are 1958 graduates of Bates High School.

Other finance during the day was raised through the selling of refreshments, dinners and other food commodities. All monies go into a fund for the building.

The interesting program was introduced by the National Anthem, which was sung by Mrs. Helen Smothers, principal of the Ralph Bunche School.

Speakers were Dr. A. J. Felix, presiding elder of the Potomac District of the Washington Conference of the AME Church; William Woodfield, president of the Woodfield Fish and Oyster Co., and Clifton Crowner, president of the Community Club.

The Rev. J. C. Taylor gave the invocation. Mrs. Harriet Hull presided.

Two outstanding highlights of the program was the performance of the Drum and Bugle Corps of Annapolis, Tommie Thomas, director; and the drill demonstration of the Galesville Tiny Tots Rickett group and dance group, both directed by Miss Elizabeth Hull.

Miss Hull is a student at Maryland State College.

After the program, a festivity of the afternoon were the youth ball games between the Galesville and Annapolis teams.

Mrs. Harriet Hull was general program chairman and was assisted by Mrs. Luvenia Sesker, Mrs. Agnes Fountain, Clifton Crowner and Calvin Turner.

ANOTHER WEDDING of wide interest on Saturday was that of Miss Helen Louise Tongue, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Tongue of Millersville and Vernon W. McClure, the son of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon McClure Sr. of San Antonio, Tex.

The ceremony, which was held at the Wesley Methodist Church, was performed by the Rev. Mr. Rufus S. Abernathy Sr. Nuptial music was played by the Rev. Rufus S. Abernathy Jr. and bridal airs were sung by Mrs. Marlene Dauntly of Washington, D.C.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a ballerina length gown of floating nylon tulle with appliques of Chantilly lace. Her finger-tip veil of illusion fell from a lace with sequins and pearls. She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds.

Her maid of honor, Miss Guta Cauthern of Washington, wore an ankle-length baloon gown of coral chiffon with a pink floating panel and matching head dress.

She carried a mixed bouquet of chrysanthemums, snap dragons and roses.

The bridesmaid, Mrs. Raymond Dozier of Baltimore, wore a gown similar to the honor attendant's of two tone aqua with matching head dress.

She carried a mixed bouquet of chrysanthemums, snapdragons and roses.

Melvin Traylor of Washington served as best man. Ushers were Messrs. Eugene Dauntly and Lawrence Gill of Washington, and John Riley of Baltimore.

The bride's mother was gowned in a pleated chiffon cummerbund and a floating panel with matching accessories.

A reception followed immediately after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride, a graduate of Hampton Institute, is currently teaching in the Centreville public schools.

The groom is a student at American University in Washington. The couple will reside there.

CONTEST PARTICIPANTS — When Galesville held its annual Community Day Celebration recently, Miss Joy Crowner, center succeeded as runner-up to "Miss Galesville" and gained the title "Miss Success" in the popularity contest. Shown here, are her attendants, Misses Betty Brown, Roberta Carter, Sylvia Turner and Margaret Watson.

TOURIN' TURNER STATION

By E. S. McDANIEL

An enormous crowd attended the funeral of the Rev. Nathaniel Mondie. Many had come from great distances; it was impossible for everyone to get inside of the church There were enough people around the church to fill it several times.

There were many, many floral pieces from relatives, friends, churches, business concerns and schools. The police conducted the traffic at the busy intersection where the Galilee Church is located.

Many ministers were present to pay respect to one of their brethren, time would permit but a few to be called during the three and one half hour service.

Wiley Woods of Avon Beach Road was buried following a brain stroke. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ella Louise Woods who was ill in a hospital in Philadelphia at the time of his passing.

There are four daughters: Mesdames Hilda Garrison, Philadelphia; Maggie Boyd, Verdella Milburn and Miss Ella Woods.

Also ten grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Hilda Garrison of Philadelphia. Burial was in National Cemetery following funeral services at the St. Matthews M.C. Church.

NEW SHILOH BAPTIST Church daily vacation bible school closed with a party for 150 youngsters and 16 teachers. There were 40 gallons of lemonade, hot dogs, potato salad, ice cream and cake.

Mrs. Erma Franklin donated a large chocolate cake that was delicious. When children get up from such a repast and leave large quanities of food on the table this is certainly a sign that there was plenty for all and then some.

The school was in session for two weeks under the supervision of the superintendent, Mrs. Estelle C. Fourney. The children ranged in ages from two years through sixteen. Some of the hand work that the children had made was on display.

Mrs. Lillie Astrop is very ill at her home, 130 Chestnut Street.

Robert Patterson, Sr. who had been confined at Johns Hopkins Hospital for several weeks is convalescing at his home at 913 J Street, Sparrows Point. Visitors are limited.

Mrs. Louise Morris of 307 Pine Street is back in Johns Hopkins Hospital on Osler 4. Mrs. Lona Robinson of 717 I Street has been confined at the Hopkins Hospitals Hospital for the past three weeks.

THE STORK visited Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Thomas of 109 Walnut Avenue this week and left two sons, little bundles, a girl and a boy. This brings the number of children up to eleven. Congratulations to the proud family.

Miss Frances Proctor, teacher at the Tuner Elementary School, is vacationing in California.

Little Vanessa Neal was a charming hostess at a party celebrating her fourth birthday on Saturday, August 16, on the lawn of the home of her mother, Mrs. Sarah Neal and her grandmother, Mrs. Amy Mae Johnson Fleshman at 512 New Pittsburgh Avenue.

Balloons and lanterns decorated the trees under which the children were served a delishous repast. Many games were played to entertain the little tots.

Vanessa's guests included: Debra Bethune, Lynn Flournoy, Paula and Sheila Faust, Annette and Ernest Lewis, Harriet and Constance Moon, Victor and Vinson Moore, Patsy Swindell, Devere and Francina Shelton, James Simms, Sheila and Debra Underwood.

There were many adult friends of the family present who enjoyed watching little Vanessa celebrate her birthday.

WILLIE ROULHAC JR. died August 19, at his home, at 5:30 p.m. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Roulhac Sr. of 113 Hendricks Ct.

Funeral services will be conducted by the Rev. James A. Everett pastor of New Shiloh Baptist Church, Sunday at 1 p.m. Burial will be in Mt. Calvary.

Willie is survived by his parents, three sisters, four brothers and other relatives.

PERRY HOWARD, Elks Grand Legal Advisor, told the AFRO Thursday: "There is nothing unusual about the antics of anti-administration forces.

"This is the same hash warmed over for the past 20 years and served up again.

"It was used, to no avail, against the late J. Finley Wilson and is now rewarmed for Bob Johnson.

"If the Dear Lord himself led the anti-administration and they couldn't get in, the same hash would be warmed up again."

Our middle class 'must face reality,'

Middle class colored America "must face the reality of its position as wage and salaried workers in the American economy," said Dr. E. Franklin Frazier of Howard University.

"As a salaried professional and technical class it has a role to play which will give colored Americans a dignified Af hSMplace in the
