Zoning Board ok's Eutaw Pl. rooming house

The Board of Municipal and Zoning Appeals on Tuesday approved a request to establish a rooming house in the 1300 block Eutaw Pl.

Disapproved were requests to house three families at 11 N. Pearl St., and to open a building materials warehouse at 423-33 E. 21½ St.

Postponed until Sept. 2 were requests to house six families at 1511 Madison Ave.; three families and an office at 2025 W. North Ave., and three families at 716 E. Preston St.

The Zoning Board is scheduled to hear requests next Tuesday to house three families at 1847 W. North Ave.; an apartment and 15 rented rooms at 3108 Walbrook Ave., and to open a real estate office at 821 N. Broadway.

A 2-C THOMAS C. BARNES

Airman makes gruelling ground trip-on scooter

HOUSTON, Texas (NNPA)—A handsome native Houstonian, A.2c Thomas C. Barnes, 20, blew into town aboard his battleship grey motor scotter, bearing an itemized expense account of his open-air scooter ride from Tucson, Ariz., to Houston for $4.97.

The grandson of a prominent local mortician, Carl Barnes, the young airman, after vising relatives and friends in Texas, will put his trusty scooter in "mothballs" and be flown by the Air Force to New York City for reassignment.

Barnes has served two years in the Air Force and has two more years to go. He said he will go to college after his discharge abd study to become an architect.

• • •

ALTHOUGH Barnes ran into bad motor scooter weather on the highway between Tucson and Benson, Ariz., he was able to make the scooter trip to Houston in an estimated three days. Since arriving in Texas, he has been visiting friends and relatives in various towns.

The airman said he averaged an estimated 50 miles an hour while traveling here. He is a draftsman in the Air Force.

He said he wanted to make the scooter trip from Tucson to Houston—and he is very happy indeed now that the whole thing is over.

Fatherly gent held in death of former friend

A short fatherly-looking, gray-haired man who was accused of shooting a friend to death, was given a preliminary hearing in Homicide Court Tuesday afternoon.

The defendant, Henry J. Parker, 54, of the 1400 block W. Franklin St., was ordered held without bail pending action of the grand jury.

Charged with shooting Gene Freeman, 44, of the 2300 block Wheeler Ave., Parker entered a plea of not guilty before Magistrate Stanley Richardson.

Mr. Freeman died from three gunshot wounds of the chest on August 3rd following a dispute with a man at a tavern in the 1500 block of W. Franklin St., it was reported.

THE ONLY testimony on Tuesday was given by the tavern owner, Joseph Kassan who stated:

"Parker came into the bar very intoxicated and started using very nasty language.

"I have known him for seven or eight years and I had never known him to conduct himself in that manner.

"When I patted him on the shoulder and tried to talk him into going home to sleep it off, he threw me down.

"Freeman, a friend of his stepped between us and told him to cut it out.

"He (Parker) calmed down and left the place and I watched him enter his home.

"A few minutes later Parker returns and starts shooting off steam. He kept using vile language and got close to Freeman who was drinking beer.

"Before I had realized anything, Parker had taken this one shot at Freeman and he (Freeman) fell to the floor.

"Their feet got tangled and Parker fell on the floor and took two more shots at Freeman.

"When the gun fell out of his hand I grabbed it."

'Good natured man' laughs at troubles

"I must say you turned out to be a very good natured man."

Magistrate Linwood G. Koger, apparently amused, directed that remark to a 30-year-old man who on Thursday was laughing aloud as he left Northwest Police Court to begin a 30-day jail sentence.

It was indeed an amusing thing because nothing had gone right that day for William James Razor, 1800 block N. Fulton Ave.

• • •

HE HAD been arrested at 3:30 Thursday morning when his wife, Mrs. Bessie Razor, claimed he drank a bottle of wine and threatened to beat her unless she served him breakfast in bed.

Mr. Razor laughingly admitted it.

Mrs. Razor said she didn't want him back at the apartment and Magistrate Koger told her to meet him at the door with his belongings when he gained his freedom.

He also ordered Mr. Razor not to bother Mrs. Razor on her job.

Despite it all, Mr. Razor was still laughing as he started out and when Magistrate Koger mentioned his being good natured, he turned slighgly and gave the magistrate a little wave.

Senate hits court; passes Mallory bill

WASHINGTON (NNPA)—The Senate Tuesday night, after adding the word "reasonable," passed the House-approved bill aimed at nullifying the effects of the Supreme Court decision in the case of Andrew Mallory. The bi', as amended, was sent back to the House for acceptance of the Senate amendment.

The Senate bill provides that a confession, otherwise admissible as evidence, shall not be inadmissible solely because of unreasonable delay in arraigning a prisoner. The amendment, adding the word "reasonable" to the House bill, set Senate lawyers to wrangling.

Sen. John M. Butler, Maryland Republican, declared that the addition of the word "reasonable" made the bill meaningless since the distinction between "unnecessary" delay, as specified by the Supreme Court and "reasonable" delay was so fine as to be indistinguishable.

BUTLER CONDEMNED the Supreme Court for the Mallory decision. He said it was not a "sound" decision.

Sen. John S. Cooper, Kentucky Republican, opposed the bill. He argued that law enforcement officers have no discretion to determine how long they shall hold an individual before taking him before a committing magistrate.

A group of liberal senators, headed by Sens. John Carroll, Colorado Democrat, engaged in a lengthy discussion of the bill, although they all favored it. The crucial vote occurred on adding the word "reasonable." The amendment was adopted 41 to 39.

The Senate, however, rejected an amendment offered by Sen. Sam J. Ervin, North Carolina Democrat, providing that the trial judge shall determine from surrounding circumstances whether delay in arraignment was reasonable or not.

• • •

THE MALLORY bill was regarded as the least controversial of several bills aimed at either nullifying Supreme Court decisions or curbing the jurisdiction of the court.

Andrew Mallory, a 19-year-old colored lad of limited intelligence, was charged with criminal assault in the District of Columbia. He was arrested at 2 p.m., April 8, 1954, and questioned by police off and on until he confessed to the crime eight hours later.

He was not arraigned until the next morning. His trial was delayed for a year because of doubt about his capacity to understand the proceedings facing him. At the trial he was convicted and sentenced to death.

On appeal, the Supreme Court reversed his conviction, holding that there was undue delay between the time of arrest and time of arraignment in violation of Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, which require that an arrested person be taken before a committing magistrate "without unnecessary delay."

The decision is binding only in Federal courts. Likewise, the proposed legislation will have no effect in state courts.

Mrs. Roosevelt urges strong rights platform

NEW YORK CITY — The Democratic Party platform should "clearly spell out the Democrats' position of equality for all American citizens," Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said in urging a strong equal rights platform for the party.

She called "timid souls" those members of the Democratic Party who would sacrifice principles to keep the party together. "I would say," she said "that in doing so they are likely to wreck the party.

"A large number of Democrats believe in obeying the law and in the right of the Sunreme Court to interpret the meaning of the law and the Constitution.

• • •

"THEY BELIEVE, too, in the right of every citizen of the United States to be treated as an equal in every way." She made the anneal through her national syndicated column.

She noted that America is engaged in a life and death struggle with the Soviet Union "requiring that we win to our side the peoples in the uncommitted areas of the world."

In view of the fact that many of the uncommitted peoples are colored, she feels they "will turn away if we do not treat all of our own citizens on an equal basis."

Sandlot nines making final bids for titles

With the sandlot season nearing its close, all the games now scheduled have a definite bearing on first and second round championships.

In the Interclub league on Saturday, Fitzbergers will try to keep their undefeated streak going as they meet Arcadia at Herring Run Number 4. Fitzbergers are 3-0 in the second round and Arcadia could make themselves a factor as they sport a 1-1 record.

At Steuhs Field the Martin Bombers, 2-0 in the second round, meet United Iron with their 1-1 slate.

In the final game of the day in this Unlimited loop, Brooklyn with a 2-0 record, meets the last place Camden Produce.

• • •

IN THE Central Midget game at Clifton Number 5 on Saturday at 11 a.m. the strong Dauphins will try to stretch their win streak to five straight when they play Local No. 738.

In the Baltimore Cub league one of the best games of the day should take place as the Dobkins and Red Shield meet. Both teams have identical records of 4-1 and a loss will probably put the loser out of contention. This game will be played at Clifton No. 1 and will get under way at 11 a.m.

• • •

IN ANOTHER 11 a.m. game at Herring Run No. 4 another of the Dobkins teams will battle Arlington in the Maryland Club league game.

Although Dobkins with a 2-3 record is meeting Arlington with a 4-4 slate the game should be an interesting one. Arlington must win to stay in the battle for loop honors while Dobkins has an excellent chance of being a spoiler.

Monarchs clip Detroit, 7-2

The Kansas City Monarchs, behind good clutch pitching by Ben Adams, defeated the Detroit Clowns, 7-2, at Westport Stadium Friday night.

Serving as a pace-setter for the annual East-West classic which comes East for a showing in Richmond Thursday, the two teams showed well between early intermittent showers. Goose Tatum joined Sweetwater Clifton and Prince Joe Henry in a pepper-game exhibition as an added attraction.

Adams, except for a two-run uprising in the second, held the Detroit nine runless. Meanwhile, the Monarchs nicked Jim Nolan for three runs in the second, three in the fourth and a single tally in the sixth. Chester Poindexter finished for Detroit without further damage.

Clifton played leftfield, handling the ball faultlessly and getting one hit in three official at bats.

Ace Canupp regains Westport race lead

Ace Canupp of Millersville, Md., has moved back into the lead in the ding-dong duel for seasonal point honors in the Sportsman-Modified Division at Westport Stadium auto track.

Canupp leads by a mere two points over Bob Tester of Severn, Md., 534-532, but, as Canupp says, "I'm at least in front again."

Canupp will attempt to widen the margin on Saturday night at the Westport oval when eight races will be on tap. Three Sportsman - Modified dashes, climaxed by a 25-lapper, and five Hobby Class whirls, topped by a 20-lapper, will be run.

East-West all-star baseball classic slated for Richmond

RICHMOND

Coming East for the first time, the annual East-West all-star baseball classic, featuring stars of the Negro American League clubs, will be played in Richmond's Parker Field next Thursday night, August 28th, at 8 o'clock.

Among some of the standout players to see action in the game will be Jim Banks, slugging firstbaseman; Jim Barnes, catcher, and Charlie Pride, pitcher of the Memphis Red Sox; Willie Washington, third baseman; Ban Admans, pitcher, Jim Robinson, shortstop; and Gibson Jarvis, outfielder, to the Kansas City Monarchs, for the West team.

Others include Sweetwater Clifton, Ark Hamilton, Willie Bass and Prince Jo Henry of the Detroit Clowns, and Willie Harris, outfielder; John Williams, outfielder; Wiley Greggs, shortstop, and Stanley Jones, pitcher, Birmingham Black Barons, for the East team.

Announcement of the move to play the game in Richmond was made by Frank Forbes, Eastern representative of the NAL, on Monday.

Thus Virginia fans, will get an opportunity to see the greatest players in the NAL in action. Stars of the four clubs, the champion Kansas City Monarchs, Birmingham Black Barons, the Detroit Clowns and Memphis Red Sox will see action in the contest.

The game will also mark the first time this season for colored clubs to play at Richmond's Parker Field. Earlier rain forced cancellation of a Kansas City-Memphis contest there, and this is the first opportunity NAL officials have had to return to the Virginia capital.

Forbes estimated that a capacity crowd will avail itself of this opportunity to see the stars of the NAL in action, and every effort is being extended through the NAL's Richmond representative to provide easy access to the game.

Recreation News

The Chick Webb Recreation Center earned 75 points Sunday to win the annual swimming event at the Shirley "K" Hotel in Colton Point, Md.

In the meet which saw Alexandria, Colton Point and Langley Field trailing in that order, three Webb swimmers tied for the high point trophy with 13½ points. They were: Alvin Thomas, Robert Ragsdale and Ronald Spratley.

Wilbert F. Richardson was coach for the winning teams.

Little Rock editor '58 Lovejoy fellow

WATERVILLE, Maine (ANP)—John W. Heiskell, 83-year-old editor and president of the Arkansas Gazette in Little Rock, has been named the 1958 Elijah P. Lovejoy fellow at Colby College. The citation was made for his paper's coverage of the Little Rock Central High School integration crisis last September.

Howard County bus question

Tucker R. Dearing and Mrs. Juanita J. Mitchell, attorneys, representing five parents of children attending integrated schools in Howard County, this week asked Superintendent John E. Yingling to provide school buses on a non-discriminatory basis by the September opening of schools.

At present, the lawyers said, five children are not permitted to ride on regular school buses used by their classmates.
