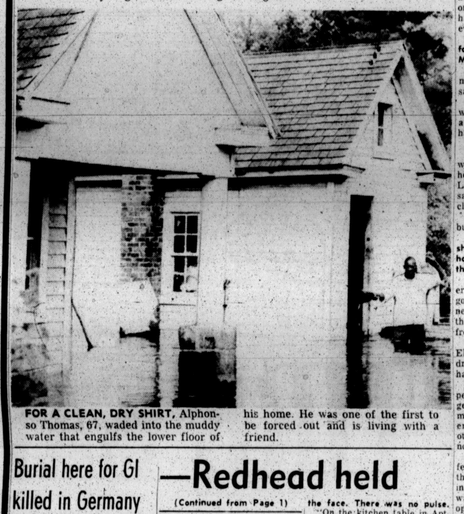
GOING HOME for the residents of the Walker Town area meant wading in water above their waists or, in the case of youngsters sent to bring back items, swimming. Most of the children, as those following the man into the water, found the situation laughable.



FOR A CLEAN, DRY SHIRT, Alphonso Thomas, 67, waded into the muddy water that engulfs the lower floor of his home. He was one of the first to be forced out and is living with a friend.

door and I mean it (the water) was coming in.

"I called my husband Albert and we put some of our stuff upstairs and then we got out. It was up to our waists then.

"It almost scared me to death."

Now on Wednesday evening, wearing a dress provided her by the Red Cross, her family was among the group preparing for bed in a home also obtained by the Red Cross.

The night before they had joined about 20 others in emergency quarters in the elementary school.

MRS. ROGERS MEDFORD, acting disaster chairman for the Federalsburg Branch of the Caroline County Red Cross Chapter, told the AFRO all but 12 or 14 of the displaced persons had been set up in homes of relatives or friends.

Working with the assistance of Mrs. Wilson Irvin, executive secretary of the Caroline County chapter, Mrs. Medford had completed arrangements for the emergency home and for the displaced persons to be fed at a nearby restaurant.

Some food had been provided in addition to clothes, but the three-room house obtained has no provisions for cooking. The one room upstairs in the house had no window on Wednesday evening.

Another who was setting up for the night in the house was Mrs. Edna Burnie, 38.

"I didn't get nothing out of my house but myself," she said sadly.

"We didn't know the water was coming up. If we had had a radio or something we could have moved out earlier."

MRS. RACHEL ARTIS, 31, who escaped her home with her three children, Willie, 7, Larry, 6, and Rachel Ann, 3, said, "I didn't bring out anything but my children."

Asked where she had lived, she pointed to a little white house with muddy water up to the windows.

Two little girls whose mother, Mrs. Mary Darden, had gone to work because of their need for immediate aid, said they had not salvaged anything from their home.

The girls, Beatrice, 8, and Ella Mae Darden, 11, wore dresses which the Red Cross had provided for them.

All the homes in which these people lived are grouped together and are owned by one man. The house used as an emergency place, like the others, has no inside toilet and no running water.

Mrs. Medford said they preferred to move there near their homes rather than stay in the school which she said was being readied for the fall opening.

Down the street on Denton going toward the business section of town, water had made its way near the floor level of the Bethel Methodist Church pastored by the Rev. S. G. Nix and closed the barbershop operated by Bill Price.

THE FLOOD caught some residents of the area out of the city and many of them spent anxious moments in their homes before they could return to see what had happened.

Some of these owners of their own homes, were lucky enough to be spared but others found their homes under water.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Prattis, who live on Denton Street, returned to the city just in time to find the waters up.

Mrs. Prattis, who lived through the 1933 flood, told the AFRO:

"After I saw the water I became so worried. I'm so glad it didn't get up to my house this time.

"This isn't anything compared to the last time. Then the water crossed the street and came all the way up to my windows."

Two neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Webster Turner, 203 Denton Rd., called them early Tuesday in Philadelphia where they were vacationing and told them about the flood.

"We rushed home," Mr. Turner said. "We got here about 3 a.m. Water was up to my waist.

"We got everything off the floor except the sofa and big chair."

The Turners are both school teachers. Mr. Turner estimated their loss would be at least $900 but said he couldn't tell until after the water went down.

VERNON HOLLAND, 49, who resides next to the Turners, said he came home after a tour on a truck at 9 a.m. Tuesday, "and this is what I found."

He said, "I got a friend with a boat and went home and moved some things upstairs."

As the waters began to recede all those whose homes were flooded are waiting and hoping they will be able to salvage something.

Federalsburg, 18 miles from Denton and about 20 miles southeast of Easton, was hit with 12 inches of rain between Sunday and Tuesday noon.

The Marshyhope, which is usually 3 to 4 feet at the town, had climbed above 10 feet before it started dropping.

EMERGENCY BEDDING for flood victims in Walker Town, along Denton St. behind Federalsburg's main street, is unloaded by Norman Johnson, 54, and Albert Bolden, 34, who himself was washed out. The cots, food and clothes and the house in which the victims stayed were provided by the Red Cross.

NOW THEY'RE SAFE, TOO — Webster Jolley, 56, leaves his flooded home with the last of the chickens who found refuge on the back porch when their own shelter was covered by the rampaging Marshyhope Creek. The Jolleys, modern home, in background, was built in 1950.

Burial here for GI killed in Germany

WASHINGTON

Requeim Mass for Sgt. 1/c Charles R. King Jr., 28, of Washington, was held Wednesday morning at St. Benedict The Moor.

He was buried in Arlington National Cemetery.

The 10-year army vet was fatally injured in Germany in maneuvers Aug. 11 in Munchen, Germany.

Sgt. King went to Dunbar High School here. He finished the Military Foreign Language School at Presidio, Calif.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary L. King, of Evansville, Ind.; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles King Sr.; two sisters, Miss Sandra King and Mrs. Barbara Lyles; and grandmother, Mrs. Cora Smith.

The pre-dawn, week-end slaying occurred on the day Mrs. Rivets observed her birthday.

Banks, who was shot in the right eye, was pronounced dead on arrival at Johns Hopkins Hospital an hour and 18 minutes after the shooting.

ON TUESDAY Patrolman Kenneth Runge testified:

"At about 2:14 a.m. we were called to 1101 Orchard St., to investigate a shooting.

"When we arrived we found the defendant standing on the outside balcony.

"The victim had a wound in the face. There was no pulse.

"On the kitchen table in Apt. 4G we found a .32 automatic."

SERGEANT Charles Foreman testified to the following:

"I had a conversation with the defendant she said that around 2 a.m. she was asleep in her bedroom when she was awakened by a knock.

"She said that Banks entered the apartment and asked if "Dee Dee's" daughter was at home.

"She told him the girl had been taken to the home of her mother.

"Banks then is supposed to have made an immoral suggestion.

"She told him to leave then, and he refused.

Mrs. Rivers said there was a struggle and she told Banks she wanted to get a glass of water and he let her go.

"Her statement was: "I got to the kitchen and got the gun and said, 'now get out.' He reached for the gun and that's when it went off."

"When we entered the apartment," Sgt. Foreman said, "I saw that her underclothes had been torn."

UNDER CROSS examination by the defendants' attorney, Sergeant Foreman said that he was told by Mrs. Rivers that Banks struck her and there was evidence of a struggle.

The officer testified also that a butcher knife was found in the back garden of the deceased, and that Mrs. Rivers said she had bought the gun from a friend.

During the brief hearing, the slim young woman sat motionless as the case was presented to Magistrate Stanley Richardson.

Mrs. Rivers the former Miss Constance McDaniel, is the wife of James Rivers. They were married Christmas of 1956.

200-voice choir at convention

RICHMOND

The National Lott Carey Foreign Mission Convention will present a 200-voice chorus in concert at the Belgian Building, Virginia Union University, Monday, Sept. 1 at 8 p.m.

This chorus, composed of outstanding singers of Richmond, Petersburg, and Norfolk, is under the direction of Prof. W. E. Patterson, noted organist, teacher, and composer.

Mr. Patterson is a native of Norfolk, and began his musical career at the age of nine. He studied at the New England Conservatory of Music, and the University of Chicago. In 1916 he started the Patterson School of Music in Norfolk, and has taught over 5,000 pupils.

He has served as organist, director, and minister of music in several Norfolk churches, and is at present head of the music department at Mt. Olive Baptist Church in Norfolk, Norfolk.

Mr. Patterson has composed a number of choral works, and some of these are published in book form under the title, "Heavenly Songs of the Soul." His compositions are distinguished by their flowing melodies, rich harmonies, and delicate counterpoint.

FOR A NUMBER of years Prof. Patterson has directed the Lott Carey Convention chorus, and this concert promises to be better than any given in previous years. The chorus is composed of members of the various choirs in Richmond, Petersburg, and Norfolk.

He has rehearsed this group every night for a month, and under his brilliant leadership they have developed into a compact unit.

Guest soloist will include William Richard, baritone, of Petersburg and Va. State College, Clarence Ross, tenor, of Norfolk and Shaw University, and Mrs. Mary Granderson Lewis, soprano, of Norfolk, a graduate of the Patterson school, and Boston Conservatory.

A highlight of the concert will be an organ demonstration by Mr. Patterson. He will play a a complete composition, using no hands, only the foot pedals. Theprogram will include six compositions of the director, works of modern composers, and those of the old masters.

BISHOP LOVE LECTURES

Man, 31, charged with setting fire

Joe Moton, 31, 606 L St., NE, was charged with negligence Tuesday when he set his mattress afire while apparently smoking a cigarette in bed, police said.

He was admitted to D.C. General Hospital for smoke inhalation.

2 men blame 'stranger,' jailed by Judge Manley

Two young men, each of whom contended in separate cases of auto theft and burglary in Criminal Court Monday that "a stranger" with them was the guilty party were given prison terms by an unimpressed Judge Michael J. Manley.

Woodrow K. Gunther, 18, 800 block N. Fulton Ave., was given a one-year sentence on an unauthorized use count in an auto theft indictment.

Earl G. Scott, 22, 800 block Eutaw St., recived an 18-month House of Correction sentence for the burglary of a Pasca St. liquor store, and theft of cash, liquor and a watch all valued slightly less than $100.

YOUNG GUNTHER, arrested by a traffic policeman in a stolen auto, told Judge Manley a "a stranger" offered him a ride, and fled on foot when the policeman came up to the car.

James W. Murphy, assistant State's attorney, revealed that the youth had been released from the Reformatory for Males the past April, after serving a year for five auto theft convictions.

Mr. Scott, arrested after he had exchanged seven $2 rolls of nickels for currency at a Fremont Ave. tavern, testified that "a stranger" had asked him to make the exchange because he was known in the establishment.

Mr. Murphy told the court the accused man was then on parole for a hustling conviction, and the wrappings on the nickels identified them as stolen in the liquor store burglary.

EXCLUSIVE IN THE NEW McCALL'S

The story nobody tells you

How Southerners are Aiding Desegregation

You hear a lot about prejudice and violence in the South, but very little about the things white women are doing to solve the desegregation problem. Now, McCall's reporter, back from a 9,000-mile tour, reveals how influential white southerners have aligned themselves with the new Negro leadership and are rapidly remaking the South. Don't miss this significant story of courage and hope clashing head-on with prejudice and fear.

Drug chain VP denies bigotry

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (ANP)— An official of a midwest drug-store chain last Friday said the opening of a food center to colored in Oklahoma City followed a policy of serving "everyone who comes into our store."

Tim Blond, senior vice president and general manager of the Katz drug store firm in making the announcement said: "We did not know about the Oklahoma City situation until yesterday. Now it has been corrected."

One of the firm's drugstores in downtown Oklahoma City started serving colored at its fountain last Thursday after about 35 youths staged a two-day "sitdown."

The sit campaign was sponsored by the NAACP.

APOLIS DINGS

By ELOISE RICHARDSON

Well vacation time for most people is over or nearly over, although we expect more vacation weather for a long time yet.

There have been many visitors in these parts and what with all Annapolis has to offer in the way of scenery and historical points, it is a good place to include in one's itinerary.

Although Annapolis is the capital of Maryland, at one time it also served as the Nation's Capital. Located at the mouth of the Severn River on the Western Shore of the Chesapeake Bay, it is 28 miles South of Baltimore and 32 miles east ov Washington.

Settled by the Puritans in 1649, the town was chartered by Queen Anne in 1708.

It is the home of St. John's College, one of the oldest colleges in the United States, founded in 1696 as King William's School, and it is also the home of the U.S. Naval Academy.

THE A.W. McDADES have had company the past several days at their home on Cathedral St.

These guests are Mrs. McDade's sisters, Mrs. Frances Woodard, accompanied by her granddaughter, Dianna Samuels, and Miss Marry V. Ables, all of New York City.

Mrs. Woodard and Dianna are en route home from Concord, N.C. Miss Ables, a charming teacher in the public schools of New York City, is a member of Beta Epsilon Chapter of the National Sorority of Phi Delta Kappa.

She is chairman of public relations and publicity for the national conclave of the sorority, which will be held in New York City in December.

THE REV. Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Holt in Lafayette Avenue have had as their guests the past month, her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John LaMarr (Pauline) of New York City.

Pauline, the former Miss Griffin, is loved by her many old friends here and is pleased at and nice to be around.

Among those who extended social courtesies to her were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gantt, Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell, Mrs. S. Burnette Brownd, Mrs. Annie Henry, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Richardson and Mrs. Mildred Tooks of Baltimore.

Mrs. Diggs, the former Elizabeth Jones of this city, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Alice Jones, her sister, Mrs. Florence McPherson, her neice, Mrs. Viola Johnson, her two grandnieces, Misses Andree Randall and Kay Johnson, and a grandnephew, Leonard Randall Jr.

Elizabeth is assistant counselor for freshmen girls in Curtis Hall at Bethune-Cookman College at Daytona. The Ivy Leaf Club of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority honored her as "Mother of the Year" with members of the membership for 1958 graduating class on Mothers Day.

Her husband, Dr. Diggs, a native of Frederick, Md., and a great civic leader at Lakeland, Fla., where he was manager of a housing project for a number of years, and was a practicing pharmacist, is dean of men at the college.

Among those who helped to make her stay a pleasant one in Annapolis are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hardesty, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Inzey, Mr. and Mrs. George Ireland Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jones and Miss Bertha Carter.

MR. AND MRS. Herbert S. Hilliard of Arundel-on-the-Bay (he's principal of Bates High School) have as their house guests, his lovely mother, Mrs. James Hilliard and sister, Miss Gloria Hilliard of Fort Smith, Ark.

Miss Hilliard, prior to her visit here, has been studying at Columbia University this summer.

While she was in New York, Mrs. Hilliard (Alma) and her mother-in-law motored to the city for a visit with Gloria and took in the show "Jamaica," starring Lena Horne.

On her return home, Mr. Hilliard's mother will visit another daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. William Payne (Alice Lucille) in Indianapolis, Ind.

Well, there's news in the air concerning that charming couple, the Nathaniel R. Dixons (Harriet), who live in Washington, but have one of the loveliest summer homes down at Arundel-on-the-Bay.

Nat has been appointed as principal of two schools, the John F. Cook and Perry Elementary Schools in Washington. He has taught in the system for 18 years, and most of this time has been spent with slow-learning children.

Harriet, one of the best-dressed women in Washington, is a medical social worker with the Bureau of Maternal and Child Health, and her time is spent with handicapped children.

She is a member of the Young Women's League, Inc., and Nat is a member of the Bachelor Benedicts.

FRANK B. BUTLER, retired principal of Bates High School, was among delegates who attended the Biennial Movable Conference of the Grand United Order of Odd Fellows at Buffalo, N.Y.

Mr. Butler is District Grand Secretary for the jurisdiction of Maryland and also was a delegate from the local lodge, Golden Rule Lodge No. 1458.

Delegates attended the meeting from all over including Africa, Puerto Rico, Central America and the Bahamas. The Maryland delegation of 55 chartered a special coach.

Other delegates who attended from Annapolis were Thomas W. Harris of the United Sons of Mite Morning Lodge No.1118, Mrs. Emma Hall Stepney of Household of Ruth No. 15 and Mrs. George Boston of Household of Ruth No. 526.

Among others in the delegation were Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Gaines of Sandy Springs, Md. Mr. Gaines is District Grand Master for the jurisdiction of Maryland.

Mrs. Stepney went from Buffalo to Chicago, where she attended the International Convention of the Shriners.

Although they were not delegates, a number of persons traveled in a chartered bus to Buffalo to attend the meeting of the Grand United Order of Odd Fellows.

The trip was sponsored by Household of Ruth No. 15 with Mrs. Edna Brown as chairman.

THE GROUP enjoyed a fine sight-seeing experience including going to Niagara Falls, and Ebey Island, also visited the great Hagji Temple in Buffalo.

Those in the party were:

Mesdames Sarah Miller, Jessie Davis, Helen E. Randall, Eloise Wilson, Mary Johnson, Mary Hunt, Oscar Prann and granddaughter, Marie Rodgers. Also Mesdames Nellie Gross, Sallie Galloway, secretary, Edna Brown, chairman of the trip, Louisa Forrester, and Annie Grandison and Messrs. William Chase and William Easton.

MR. AND MRS. William E. Brown and Miss Delia Brown on Spa Road had as recent guests their brother-in-law and sister, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Booker T. Watkins of Sharon, Pa.

Th. Rev. Mr. Watkins is pastor of the First Baptist Church there.

THE FRANCIS L. NOELS have vacationed out of the city also this summer. Mrs. Noel (Mildred) went to New York City, where she was guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. Langston Williams (Lennie).

Mrs. Williams is the daughter of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. R. Berry, he is the pastor of Asbury Methodist Church here.

Mr. Noel, accompanied by his two aunts, Mrs. J. Roland Thompson of Annapolis and Mrs. Sarah Stanley of Baltimore, motored to Boston, Mass., where they visited their relatives.

Mrs. Hattie Pierce, popular in fraternal circles, and who has served as Grand Worthy Counsellor of the Court of Calanthe for the jurisdiction of Maryland and Delaware for two terms, was re-elected to a third term at the annual meeting in Baltimore.

Other officers are:

Mrs. Anna W. Taylor, Grand Worthy Inspector, Jessie C. Wells, Grand Worthy Inspector, Florence Bailey, Grand Worthy Orator, Sarah Wilson, Grand Worthy Receiver of Deposits.

Also Mesdames Elizabeth K. McLaren, Grand Worthy Register of Deeds, Mamie McCoy, Vice-Grand Worthy Matron of the Juvenile Department and Sarah Custis, Grand Worthy Escort and Miss Mary Ransome, Grand Worthy Matron of the Juvenile Department.

MRS. PIERCE had as recent guests, her son and daughter-in-law, Staff Sergeant and Mrs. Otha Pierce of the Air Force, stationed at Cambridge, Mass.

Pierce was recently promoted from sergeant to staff sergeant before his arrival here. The couple also visited his wife's mother, Mrs. Delores Patterson in Baltimore.

Mrs. Veola Johnson, who underwent an operation several weeks ago, is still improving at her residence on West Street. She is program director of the Northwest Street YMCA.

Mrs. Norwood Brown (Mary) underwent a major operation at the Arundel General Hospital recently. Reports have it that she is recuperating and expects to be at her home the week end.

Mrs. Brown is a visiting teacher with the Board of Education here. Her husband is the city alderman.

Friends of Charles Randall in College Creek Terrace, who has been so ill, will be glad to know that he is now improving and on the road to recovery.

Mr. Randall is a member of the American Legion Post here and is the husband of Mrs. Elizabeth Randall, well-known fraternal worker.

The William H. Richardsons had as guests on Saturday, Mesdames Mary Mayfield of San Francisco, Calif. and Lillian Wiseman of Washington, and Miss Bess Richards, also of San Francisco.

Miss Richards and Mrs. Richardson were inseparable friends during World War II in Washington, and their visit brought back though short, memories of their jaunts to the symphonies, etc. together.

Having gone their separate ways, Bess is now a teacher in the public schools of San Francisco and is as attractive and charming as ever.

Steps are being taken to create more interest in good citizenship in the community, and a very good idea it is to step up such interest.

A Committee for Good Citizenship, a non-partisan civic group of Annapolis and Anne Arundel County, has been formed by a group of ministers and other leaders here.

The chairman, the Rev. Mr. Leroy Bowman, pastor of the First Baptist Church, said the purpose of the active group is "to awaken, enlighten and remind the public of the national importance of good citizenship, and to secure the interest and active participation of the citizens in the civic and political life of their community."

"It's a non-partisan group," he stressed, "and while its work will be confined to the colored people of our city and county, it stands ready to assist in any way possible the executive bodies of any citizen or any group of citizens."

The immediate objective of the group is to create an interest in registration and voting. The goal being to register as many as 2,000 additional voters by election day, "the Rev. Mr. Bowman stated.

The Committee for Good Citizenship has been having a canvass to see how many unregistered voters there are, and their distribution in the city and county. The initial evaluation of this data began on Monday night when the steering committee met at its meeting.

Members of the advisory committee with the Rev. Mr. Bowman are:

Messrs. J. Alexander Wiseman, secretary, George Phelps Jr., Milton Watkins, Joseph Walker and Rodell Armistead, the Reverends Sydney R. Abernathy, J. E. Evans, Harris Morgan, Samuel T. Collins, Preston P. R. Vaulx.

In connection with next fall's general election, the committee expects to provide transportation, when necessary, to those wishing to register and to vote, and will arrange for public political meetings with speakers from both political parties.

IT SEEMS things are moving fast in other sections too. In Baltimore Mrs. Victorine Q. Adams and Mrs. Ethel Rich, dynamic leaders, are gathering into the fold all women willing to work for political betterment in that city.

The organization known as Womanpower, is a completely bi-partisan group and is being made up of women taking leadership in club groups, civic groups and others.

At a meeting on Tuesday night 54 leaders of women's clubs and other local organizations met together to get started on what's expected to be a real "stronghold" in women's activities.

Mrs. Adams said that "women are powerful. Our job is to get out the vote. Mrs. Adams also announced that "we will be almost equal to a police force when it comes to watching over our rights."

The group plans to distribute literature, send out speakers to accomplish the task of "telling the story" to all Baltimore clubs, churches and citizens.

A telephone crusade, a conference of leaders in all local communities, letters to editors, social notes as well as block parties, luncheons and work shops are listed.

The register and vote campaign the Womanpower organization schedules is also to be "side-by-side" with the NAACP-sponsored effort, which is headed by the Rev. Mr. John Tilley, it was announced.

Sounds like a very fine movement, and women readers in other communities could get something started too, for it will all lead in the same direction for good.

WHEN LADDIE MILLS entertained at cocktails and dinner in the rose garden of his Richmond Avenue home, Baltimore, recently his guests included Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Joynes, Mrs. Thomas Henderson of Washington, Miss Joyce Patterson of Salisbury, N.C., Miss Myrna Randall, Miss Helen Fisher, Miss Catherine Carroll of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jones, Mrs. Sarah Lightfoot, Thomas Henderson of Washington, Mrs. M. Randall, James Taylor, Mrs. Christine Howeton and Bryant Foster. Mr. Mills, a contractor, is at top.

TOURIN' TURNER STATION

J. Ernest Wilkins speaks for YMCA anniversary

By E. S. McDANIEL

The YMCA board of managers, on Saturday September 6, through the courtesy of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Thomas, will sail down the Bay on the "Fla-Jo," the beautiful yacht of the Thomases. All board members and the Mothers' club will make up the party.

The yacht will depart at 2 p.m. During the cruise, a program review conference will be held, the purpose of which will be to determine how the Y can better serve Turner Station.

The annual of the YMCA will be held in the cafeteria of the Sollers Point High School on Friday, Oct. 10. The guest speaker will be J. Ernest Wilkins, assistant secretary of Labor and Secretary of International Labor Associations with offices in Geneva, Switzerland.

The Baltimore Transit Company seems to be very busy in the community on test runs and the installation of bus stops on the routes that will replace the old number 36 car line.

According to information received at the Marlow, the bus operation will begin Sunday. The community has been successful in getting the service of the buses to extend closer to more of the residents than the company had planned.

THE CLEAN BLOCK campaign has taught a beautiful lesson of how cooperation and a little effort can make it possible for people to live in attractive surroundings. The campaign disclosed cement bottoms to drinage ditches that the property owners did not know were there. The ditches were choked with weeds and other refuse.

After the ditches were cleaned out, the water was able to run off the storm sewers. The high weeds were cut in some areas and the same areas were prime for wheel-free all-day property is the same place that existed before the clean up drive started.

There are several blocks that made great strides as groups of people worked together to make a good showing. There are individual residents who made great improvements to their property even though the blocks were not registered in the contest.

It is worthwhile to drive through the community and make comparisons. I hope more streets will register for the campaign next year and help to make our community a more inviting place in which to live.

PERSONALITY OF the week—Mrs. Erma Franklin of 213 Sollers Point Rd. She is a native of Gloucester County, Va., where she attended the public schools prior to entering Hampton Institute. Mrs. Franklin spent three years majoring in home economics there.

She became interested in music while a child at home in Virginia, continued to study at Hampton, but gave it her greatest attention after she came to Maryland.

Mrs. Franklin has many interests beside music. She is an excellent cook. Whenever the churches and schools have festivals they never forget to go to Mrs. Franklin for a donation of one of her famous cakes. They are not only attractive but delicious also to the taste.

Young people turn to her for assistance with weddings, parties and programs. She plays for the Harmonettes of St. Matthews Church. She is skilled with the needle and makes some of her clothing.

Mrs. Franklin is chairman of the stewards board of St. Matthews Church where she is a member. She is also chairman of the Commission of Finance for the church.

She is the wife of James Franklin who is an honorary trustee of the same church. The Franklins have no children, but are so very kind to other children of the community.

Harold McDaniel had an unexpected birthday party last week when his relatives from New York, New Jersey, and Baltimore arrived unannounced in a station wagon and a car. They had been to the home place in Appomattox, Va. to visit the mother of the family and were en route to New York.

While in Virginia, the group recorded their activities on a tape and brought the same to the party. The tapes were played for the enjoyment of all present.

The party was held on the lawn and the refreshment was served under the patio. The hostess was very wise in using paper plates which eliminated the dish-washing afterwards. Everyone ate and drank to his heart's delight; one member of the party told me after she finished that she had a pain.

Among the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Richard Scales; Mr. and Mrs. George McDaniel with their four children; Mrs. Helen Watts and daughter; Jasper McDaniel; Bass and James Ferguson; Howard Patterson Sr.; Viola Lewis; and Mrs. Annie Bullock.

SOUTH BALTO. NOTES

WALTER W. E. HILL

Birthday Greetings are in order for Mrs. Georgeanna Gray of 1126 Russell Street who will celebrate her 70th birthday on Thursday, Sept. 4.

The Silhouette Saving Club will give its first cabaret party of the season at the Diamond Subway on Sept. 20. Mrs. Hattie Lyle is president; Mrs. Lilia Caroll, chairman, and Mrs. Muriel Holmes, co-chairman.

South Baltimore had a wonderful treat in the holding of the Sunday School Convention at the House of God on 163 West Cross St., during the past three days. The crowd was enormous. With about a thousand delegates attending, they listened attentively to the Rev. James Elliot, as student at Florida's A and M University, the guest speaker.

Music for the occasion was rendered by the young adult musical groups from New York, Pennsylvania, Florida and North Carolina. Transit buses were used to take the visitors, mostly children, to the zoo. Plans are under way for the Maryland State Convention to be held at the church during October. I wish to mention the wonderful singing of the Crusaders of Burlington, N.J.

The Ware Life Line Club will sponsor a bus trip to Gettysburg, Pa. on Labor Day. Buses will leave 1104 Russell St. at 8 a.m.

Saturday, September 6, the Bradford Torch Club will have a dinner at the home of Mrs. Bessie Reid, 1629 Druid Hill Avenue.

Don't forget the Rainbow Tea to be given at the home of Mrs. Estelle Lee, 813 Hanover St. on Creole No. 9 of Leadenhall Baptist Church.

Asbury Park gets integrated project

ASBURY PARK — The Housing Authority dedicated the city's first integrated housing project — the 63-unit Lincoln Village — in an impressive ceremony here last Thursday.

The $1,200,000 project, constructed in two sections, is located on Langford St. north of Springwood Ave. just west of the railroad station.

Jack Lumley, assistant authority director, said Lincoln Village is the first city project to be integrated. By completing the project, he said, the authority has eliminated areas that previously contained "100 per cent slums."

The other public housing developments here are Washington Village and the two-section Asbury Village.

Lincoln Village was built on a 6½ acre-site. About 40 blighted buildings were razed to make way for the three-story brick project. The new development contains an eight-room baby clinic and a public health center for West Side residents.
