—Dr. Jackson

the right of Dr. Jackson to hold the office of president of the convention. The case was referred to Judge Cayton as special master to hear and determine the issues involved in the dispute and to make recommendations to the court for entry of judgment.

HEARINGS WERE held for three days, beginning July 7 and ending July 9. Numerous witnesses were heard, voluminous exhibitions were filed, and oral arguments made. Counsel submitted supplemental memoranda.

The National Baptist Convention is the largest organization among colored people. It represents 25,000 churches with a membership of more than 4,000. Its financial assets are more than $3,000. It controls a number of auxiliary or subsidiary corporations and bodies.

The question before Judge Cayton was whether the election of Dr. Jackson in 1957 was valid, or was so tainted by illegality or other improprieties as to require a judgment of ouster.

The 10 ministers who brought the suit contended that Dr. Jackson was ineligible to succeed himself as president in 1957, and that his re-election at the 1957 Convention was invalid.

THIS CONTENTION was based on a 1952 constitutional amendment which limited the president's tenure to four successive terms of one year each.

Dr. Jackson contended that the amendment was void and inoperative because it was illegally adopted in violation of the constitution itself.

The constitution provided that it may be amended at any annual session, but that no amendment may be "considered" after the second day of the convention.

Judge Cayton found that the amendment had been adopted at the 1952 convention on the third day.

He, therefore, held that, as a matter of law, the attempted or purported 1952 tenure amendment was void.

THE 1952 amendment, Judge Cayton pointed out, was adopted while Dr. Jackson, as a vice president, was presiding at the convention. Judge Cayton said this fact alone did not stop him or bind him to the convention action which was unconstitutional.

Moreover, he noted, Dr. Jackson testified that it was not until two or three years later that he became aware of the defect in the procedure.

Judge Cayton said he had in mind that the constitutional prohibition against consideration of amendments after the second day had a "practical origin. It was designed," he said, "to preserve democracy by prohibiting serious action of this kind at a time when many of the delegates from smaller churches, and with limited funds, might have gone home."

The 10 ministers who sought to oust Dr. Jackson also contended that the tenure amendment, though actually adopted on the third day, was proposed and "considered" on the second day, and that thih had the legal effect of rendering the ambiguous.

Commenting on this contention, Judge Cayton said the carry over from the second to the third day did not create an ambiguity, in either the language of the amendment or its legal effect.

THE 10 MINISTERS also contended that because other amendments had been adopted on other occasions after the second convention day.

Judge Cayton said that such other amendments were seemingly never questioned by anyone in the organization. Such decisions or actions, he added, are not conclusive upon courts.

Reviewing the circumstances leading up to and surrounding the rejection of the tenure amendment and the re-election of Dr. Jackson at the 1957 convention, Judge Cayton pointed out that:

It was testified that in September, 1955, a proposed new constitution was submitted to the Board of Directors, and the Board voted, 37 to 11, to remove the tenure restriction, and that in January, 1956, a tenure committee recommended that if the tenure restriction were to be retained, it should apply to all officers.

IN JUNE, 1956, when the Board of Directors received a report from the tenure committee, a majority was not in favor of the restriction.

Judge Cayton also reviewed the conflicting testimony as to what occurred last Sept. 4 when Dr. Jackson was re-elected.

Dr. Charles H. Williams rose to a constitutional point of order, asking for a ruling on the convention, had delivered a legality of the tenure provision. The day before at a meeting of the Board of Directors, Austin T. Walden of Atlanta, Ga., then the attorney for the lengthy opinion in which he held that the tenure provisions had been legally adopted.

Based on legal opinions he had received on the subject and on Roberts' Rules of Order, Dr. Jackson ruled that the 1952 revised constitution was of no effect, and that the only valid constitution the convention had was the 1951 constitution.

After this ruling, the Jackson supporters staged a big demonstration. Before the demonstrators had been fully quieted, a motion was made to suspend the rules and re-elect Dr. Jackson. The motion was declared adopted.

THE 10 ministers who wanted Dr. Jackson ousted charged that they had been denied access to the platform, that floor microphones had been disconnected, that they had no opportunity to place anyone in nomination, and that when Dr. Jackson made his ruling there were shouts and screaming and the organ was played, banners were paraded, and people knocked aside.

The purport of this tesimony, Judge Cayton said, was that the demonstration was staged by Jackson supporters as a means of preventing action or discussion adverse to him.

There was testimony that violence was instigated by anti-Jackson delegates, and there were some arrests made by the police.

"From my study of the evidence and observation of the "I must hold that the evidence witnesses," said Judge Cayton, just discussed was no more persuasive for one side than the other.

"NOR DOES it seem of great importance to decide which group was more responsible for the disorder. Nor is there sufficient evidentiary basis to hold that respondent Jackson, or his representatives were guilty of relators' charge of discrimination in the issuance of admission badges."

Judge Cayton called "worthy of consideration" testimony that on the day after the tumultuous session, Dr. Jackson called for the reading of the minutes of the session of the previous day and they were read and adopted without opposition.

According to the minutes, Dr. Jackson, the Rev. T. J. Jemison of Baton Rouge, La., secretary of the Convention, and others, Dr. Jackson stated that because he wished delegates to express their attitudes on all issues that had been acted on previously.

He asked for a standing vote of those who approved the earlier actions of the convention, and approximately 5,000 delegates voted in the affirmative. By actual count, he said, 16 persons voted in opposition.

Judge Cayton said there is little, if any, doubt that Dr. Jackson was the voluntary choice of the overwhelming majority of the convention.

Belford V. Lawson and Mrs. Marjorie McKenzie Lawson, Washington attorneys, and Ben Wilson, an attorney of Gary, Ind., represented Dr. Jackson in the proceedings.

Ministers' wives will hold retreat at Christian Center

A retreat for Ministers' wives of the Delaware and Washington Conferences of The Methodist Church will be held at the Christian Center of Morgan State College, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, September 5-7.

The retreat is being sponsored by the Baltimore Area, Bishop Edgar A. Love, head of the area, and the Rev. Daniel L. Ridout, administrative assistant.

Advance registrations indicate that approximately 150 women will attend the three-day parley, which will be devoted to discussion of the problems and privileges of the minister's wife.

SUBJECTS FOR discussion include the following: "What is required of a minister's wife"; "Making ends meet on short rations"; "The minister's wife meeting the public"; "When our children were growing up" (a symposium for wives with grown children); "As we see the ministry" (a discussion by wives of young ministers), and "Opportunities and limitations in church leadership."

Guest speaker Friday evening will be Mrs. Harrison J. Bryant, wife of the pastor of Bethel AME Church, who will speak on the theme, "I wanted to marry a minister, and I did."

Mrs. J. J. Barnes, widow of a minister of the Washington Conference, will be the Sunday morning speaker in the chapel of the Christian Center.

Mrs. Edgar A. Love will welcome the women at the opening session on Friday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Bishop and Mrs. Love will give an informal reception to the women at their home (2416 Montebello Ter., in Morgan Park) Friday evening at 6:30.

An interesting feature of the retreat will be P.K. night on Saturday, when "parsonage kids" will be heard in a musical program. The Rev. Mr. Ridout will preside. Participating will be the following:

The Rev. Julius S. Carrol Jr., Daniel Ridout Jr., Nancy Carroll, Adelia Hammond, Myrtle Mack, Edward Hughes Jr., Vivian Ridout Boney, Professor Waldo Kiah, and Barbara Barnes.

A panel composed of Peggie Kiah, Edward Carrol Jr., Sallie Derrickson, and Elmer Hammond, all products of parsonages, will discuss "The unique experience of growing up in a parsonage."

Gadabouting in Baltimore

Four to altars perk up calendar

With Lula Jones Garrett

Weddings of four of the town's most popular young women have already started the social ball a-rolling.

Ida L. Chisolm, who is to be married to Bravett B. Lynch on Sunday, was honoree at a gay surprise party given by Jacqueline Johnson, Thursday evening.

Having fun at the affair were Lois Young, Shirley Hargrove, Mildred Hall, Ruth James, Delores Badin, Augustine Brown, Frances Jackson.

Also Olivia Covington, Doris Watkins, Elizabeth Thornton, Jacqueline Hayman, Jean Haywood, Madeline Dorsey, the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. I. Viola Freeman; and of course, the hostess.

LAURA FRANCES CLAYTON, daughter of the Rev. Willard L. Clayton, pastor of Macedonia Baptist Church, and Mrs. Clayton, and Enoch Yates have scheduled a September sixth wedding.

The ceremony will take place in Macedonia Church at four o'clock in the afternoon, and will be followed by a reception in the lower auditorium.

Ernestine Lorraine Lewis and Spurgeon B. Washington, Jr. will exchange vows at two in the afternoon, this Saturday in the Grace Presbyterian Church.

And other romantic shadows forecast include the silver wedding anniversary of the Leo (Geneva) Woods at their Monchello Terr. residence on September sixth.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK CLEMENT have announced the engagement of their daughter, Norma S. Clement, to Theodore Warner Jones, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Jones.

Miss Clement, a 1957 graduate of Morgan State College, is employed as an institutional social worker at the Edward R. Johnstone Training and Research Center in Trenton, N. J.

Mr. Jones is employed as a correctional officer at the Baltimore City Jail.

MARRIED ON SATURDAY, in Faith Baptist Church, were Barbara Elaine Chase, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Chase, and Martin Howard Cruise.

Both are students at Morgan State College. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Josie E. Cruise and the late Stewart I. Cruise.

The Rev. William W. Payne officiated, and the couple was attended by her sister, Janice; and Malcolm Jones. They honeymooned in New York.

VERNIECE REYNOIDS, chic modernistic maison was the setting for an equally chic gathering, Tuesday evening when she had guests in to meet Out - of Towners Susette Fountain Crank of Atlanta, Ga., who spent a few days here. With her sister, Louise Fountain Perrin; and Zenobia Allen Jolly, of Los Angeles, Calif., house guest of Edna Over Campbell. Both had been attendants at the AKA Boule in Washington.

Mrs. Jolly, who is a past supreme epistelous of Alpha Kappa Alpha, who's achieved success in that masculine dominated field, finance. She's an assistant in the loan department of the Broadwiy Federal Savings and Loan Co. of Los Angeles, the recent widow of Claude D. Jolly, who was in the upper echelon of California real estate brokers.

Mrs. Crank is executive director of the Atlanta Young Women's Christian Association.

Verniece (who is basileus of Epsilon Omega, the Baltimore chapter of AKA) got her party off to a good start with a loaded buffet of fancy sandwiches, varied accessories and a new discovery punch.

And the guests who sat about and chatted through a couple or more of hours included:

Emma Bright, Erma Davis, Courtney Valentine, Edna Campbell, Flossie Dedmond, Rosaline Allen, Malissa Perdue, Bernice Hunley, Connie Jackson, Laura Jones Della-phine Warrington, Dorothe Booze, Katharine Gross, Beatrice Butler, and Lula Patterson.

Mrs. Jolly, who spent some time in New York before the Boule, left for her home on Thursday. Mrs. Crank went back to Washington for a visit with Rupert and Buster Rivers.

IN FACT, Mrs. Jolly was just about the most feted lady on the local scene during the few days she graced our heath.

She was the guest in whose honor Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Warrington entertained at supper on Sunday evening, and was honoree at a dinner party on Monday.

Co-guests were Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Hucles, Capt. and Mrs. Ralph Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Warrington, Mrs. Lillian Parrott and Lester Norris, Sr.

Mrs. Parrott held forth at brunch and sight-seeing in her honor on Tuesday, and Mrs. Hucles and Mrs. Smith were hostesses at luncheon at the Garrison Lounge on Wednesday afternoon.

The final party, ere she took a plane for home on Thursday morning, was the "informal evening" at which Mrs. Campbell entertained.

And perfectly charming was Mrs. Jolly, in a frock of deep blue chantilly lace over rose, made with brief sleeves and a fetching neckline. At her shoulder was a huge purple-throated orchid.

To say a fond farewell to her were:

Alma Gray, E. Louise Mayce, Emma Bright, Erma Davis, Vivian Cooke, Dukey Wood, Kitty Lane, Patricia Page;

Beatrice Butler, Verniece Reynolds, Laura Jones, Blanche Hughes, Olga Chambers, Gertrude Urquhart, Catherine Mayo, Elizabeth Jenkins;

Melissa Perdue, Lula Patterson, Constantia Jackson, Hermione Wharton, Beatrice Reesby, and her house guest, Mrs. Susie Govan of Alabama;

Elsie Sessoms, Vernice Mathews, Lillian Parrott, Marian Smith, Ethel Payne (just in and bubbling from a vacation in Mexico), Mildred Seaborne, Flossie Delmond, Dellaphine Warrington, Lilla Barnum and Ethel Hucles.

ALSO LIST among entrancing guests hereabout this week: Mrs. Iris B. Simpson, of Jamaica, who is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Mansell Lawrence, and who was the honoree at a reception on Sunday when her hostess entertained.

Mrs. Simpson, who is a "first" justice of the peace in her home city as well as head of a school there, is the wife of a retired inspector of schools, who's also was a justice of the peace.

Several of her friends came down from New York for the party on Sunday, including Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bradshaw, Beverly Ann Brown, Delores Hunt, Vashti Christmas, Jeanette Christmas, Miriam Brown, Anita Thomas, Audrey Butler, Myrtle Philips and Dr. Fay Allen.

Also with Mrs. Thomas, Jr. at Arundel - on - the - Bay were her children, Catherine and Mae.

THAT PROUD AND PLEASED look on the faces of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas (Malinda) Wyatt, is understandable. They enjoyed a family reunion of four generations at the home of their daughter, Catherine, Sunday.

The outdoor party honored their son, Donald, his wife and daughters, Marian and Linda, now living in Hastins-on-the-Hudston New York; and Mr. Wyatt's brother, John and his wife, Sadie of NYC. They visited with the Vernon (Cathy) Greenes and daughter, Pat.

The Greenes' Bateman Avenue lawn bulged with food, games, Wyatts, and general warm hospitality. Besides those mentioned, relatives included another Wyatt brother, Edward; another son and daughter - in - law, the Thomson, Thomas, 3rd., Granddaughter Lelia with her hubby, Dr. Uthman Ray, in from his Air Force post at Wilmington, and great - Grandsons Selvyn and Uthman Ray, 3rd.

Missing were two others, granddaughters, Constance (Mrs. Sonny Hayward) and son, Keith, who were weekending in North Carolina; and Cecelia (Mrs. "Big Daddy" Lipscomb) who was with her husband at the Colts Family Day.

Long time family friends present were Mrs. Gertrude Saunders, Minerva and Granville Williams and daughters, ReElda and Granvilletta; Mellie and Alfred Moore (Donald's old tennis partner) and daughters, Kathy, Rosalie, Angela, and Ginger; and Mildred Ray and daughter, Karen.

MEMBERS OF THE GUYS and Dolls Club took themselves to the vastnesses of the Adirondack Mountains last week end for three days of high fun.

They ensconced at the beautiful resort at Lake George, N. Y., where they took cottages at the Woodbine. Did sight - seeing tours, boat rides, swimming, horseback riding, and danced at the Algiers and the Airport Clubs.

Went off Saturday to Saratoga Springs and the races...

Some continued vacationing, Monday, going on to Montreal, Toronto and Niagara Falls.

In the party were George and Hedy Brown, Clarence and Danna Brown, John and Isabelle Monroe, McDonald and Eunice Boyce, Arthur and Margretta Milburn, Frank and Brenda Thorington, Elaine Carter and Benjamin Welch.

PEREGRINATORS: Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel T. Peck of this town, are vacationing with their son and daughter-in-law, Capt. and Mrs. Frederick A. Peck in Dublin, Ireland.

Capt. Peck is one of the physicians assigned to the 343rd Fighter Group at the Air Force Base there. With the parents are their two daughters, Miss Emily Peck and Mrs. Claire Parker.

In addition to their visit to Dublin, they are extending their trip to include northern Minnesota and the Arrowhead Region. Mr. and Mrs. Peck, who flew up to Duluth via Minneapolis, will motor back via Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund B. Paxton and children, Susanne, Helen and Vicki, of Columbus Ohio, visited his brother, Calvin Paxton; and his uncle, Washington, editor.

OTHER MEMBERS of the club are Mesdames Maggie Tavior, Mabel Crews, Gertrude Stephens, Colege Mathews and Evelyn Morris.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Robinson, 2011 Kennedy Avenue.

MISS LILA L. BELL and Alvin McCleary, married in the home of her parents in Baltimore, Saturday, received guests in the recreation hall of Berea Temple.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM A. JAMES celebrated the first anniversary of their marriage with a reception in Baltimore, recently.

Guests from three states at Mr., Mrs James' reception

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Jones gathered guests from three states to celebrate with them the first anniversary of their marriage, here, Saturday.

The reception was held at their home, 1946 W. Mulberry St. They were married in Petersburg, Va. in 1957.

Virginians who came here for the party were Messrs. and Mesdames Major Johnson, Willis Johnson, Samuel Johnson, Robert Johnson, Herbert Lee James, Andrew L. James, Melvin Janes and Jeff Hall; and Lawrence James.

FROM NEW YORK CITY were Messrs. and Mesdames Buck James, Lewis James, Evans James, Lacey James, David Harden, Edward Hayes, Wilbert Haye, Wilbert Jackson, Milvin James and Fitcher Cain.

Baltimoreans present included:

Messrs. and Mesdames Earl Hanson, Jr., M. Willis, William Moore, Carl Hunt, Wright Major, M. Williams, James Howard.

Messrs. and Mesdames Abraham Green, Oscar Williams, Charlie Wyman, Leonard Garnett, Joseph Johnson, Cleo Johnson, Henry Morris.

What To Use For Oily, Shiny Skin

Q.—Dear Mabel: My face is troubled all the time because of oiliness, so much that it just runs good looks. Do you know anything that will help me? . . . Marjorie.

A.—As you know there are more than twice as many oil ducts on the face than anywhere else and this often causes trouble like yours. The best cosmetic help I know is the greaseless bleaching cream called NADINOLA De Luxe that creams off the surface oil from your skin, cleans the skin at the same time and makes it clearer and fresher. NADINOLA De Luxe gives you other beauty benefits too in a brighter, smoother looking complexion. It comes in 2 sizes @ 69¢ and $1.25 and is fully guaranteed. You should use NADINOLA De Luxe night and morning like a cleansing cream. Try this. I think you'll be delighted . . . Mabel Collins . . . NADINOLA, Paris, Tennessee.
