Md. State test highlights Morgan's 8-game slate

An eight-game schedule including a return meeting with Maryland State has been announced for the 1958 Morgan State College football Bears.

Coach Eddie Hurt, plotting now for the opening of his thirtieth year as Bear mentor, disclosed that Morgan will begin the season October 4 against the highly rated North Carolina College Eagles of Durham, N.C.

The game will be played in Morgan's Hughes Stadium.

THE MARYLAND State-Morgan Classic, inaugurated last season, will be played this year on October 11 at Princess Anne, home nest of the Hawks.

The intra-state rivals fought to a 7-7 deadlock in the game's debut last season in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium to clinch half share each on the WEBB Classic Trophy, donated by Radio Station WEBB of Baltimore. Each team held the trophy for six months of this year.

* * *

SEVEN OF the games on the Morgan schedule are conference tilts, with the lone exception the Bear-West Virginia State College clash, set for Institute, W.Va. October 25.

The Bears will mark homecoming on October 18, when they clash with the Howard University Bisons of Washington, D.C.

* * *

IN THE 57 season the Bears, a thirteen-time CIAA champ and '56 co-champ for the CIAA title, enjoyed an overall record of 5 wins, 3 losses and 1 tie and a conference mark of 4-2-1.

The '58 schedule is:

October 4— North Carolina College at Baltimore; 11 — Maryland State College at Princess Anne; 18 — Howard University, at Baltimore (Homecoming); 25 — West Virginia State at Institute, West Va.

November 1 — North Carolina A and T at Greensboro, N.C.; 8 — Virginia Union University of Richmond, Va., at Baltimore; 15 — Hampton Institute at Baltimore, and 27 — Virginia State College at Petersburg (Thanksgiving Classic)

Sports Talk

By LEN LEWIS

At the Baptist Youth World Conference in Toronto, Canada (June 27-July 2) Greater New Hope Baptist of Washington had as its representative William Roundtree, the church's recreational director and Sunday School superintendent.

Roundtree is more widely known in the area as basketball coach at Syngarn High where his 1954-1955 team won the East Division championship and ran up a 14-game winning streak.

Theme of the conference, sponsored by the Baptist World Alliance, was "Brotherhood, Justice, Righteousness, Peace for All."

Some 8,000 people from 63 nations attended.

* * *

COACH Roundtree says 70 percent of the Americans present were from the south.

"At first there was a degree of stiffness," the Soingarn mentor says, 'but infulgence in various activities broke down any tension between the races."

Each afternoon there was a period dedicated to optional activities at which time Coach Roundtree sat in on international recreation sessions.

These were devoted to acquainting participants with games, primarily indoor, foreign to them.

Coach Roundtree says he thought the conference went a long way in accomplishing its mission — dissolving differences among those attending.

It is interesting to note that Roundtree in his thesis for the Masters Degree from Springfield (Mass.) College back in 1948 made a strong plea for two big changes in the physical education department here.

He finished Howard University's undergraduate school in 1947.

* * *

ROUNDTREE first advocated the abolition of segregation in the Baltimore public school system and cited as his reason poor facilities in colored schools in comparison to those in white schools.

Secondly he proposed that physical education be taught five days a week instead of three in light of statistics uncovered during the World War II era which showed American boys to be weaker physically than their foreign brethren.

The Supreme Court made the first recommendation a reality with its historic May 17, 1954 decision.

Roundtree qualifies as somewhat of an expert on this subject of physical education.

He has only to complete work on his dissertation to receive his doctorate, also from Springfield, in the field.

THE ONLY woman owner in the Tri-State Baseball League is Mrs. Mary McDonald of the D.C. Cardinals.

Currently her Cards are tied for fifth place in the Northern Division of the league after a victory over the Pomonkey, Md. last weekend.

* * *

This is Mrs. McDonald's second year as proprietor of the Cards.

Her enthusiasm over athletics is deeply-rooted, she says.

"My son, Lucky Paige, used to play for Beach Cluver High in Savannah, Ga. and I sort of grew up with sports," she says.

Stellar performers for Mrs. McDonald's Cards have been hurler Letty Wilkerson and shortstop Frank Johnson.

9 tan Colts set to open tonight

By SAM LACY

BALTIMORE

Nine colored players are listed on the 1958 squad of the Baltimore Colts who open their

Luke Owens

September '14 Memorial Stadium slate here tonight (Friday) with an exhibition stand against the Washington Redskins.

This contest and eight game engagement with the New York Giants are what might be termed "bonus" attractions, in that the regular season schedule calls for six home games by the Colts.

In all except this one and the October 26 meeting with the same Redskins, the opposers, Washington in the only lily-white team in the National Football League.

OF THE NINE players in Colts' harness, three are veterans, three are sophomores and three are rookies hoping to stick in the big time.

Len Lyles — Gene Lipscombe — Jim Parker — Milt Davis

The veteran group includes Gene Lipscomb, tackle; Lenny Moore, halfback, and Jesse Thomas, halfback.

The second-year trio is comprised of tackle Jim Parker, tackle-end Luke Owens, and halfback Milt Davis, the last-named an all-league defensive star last year.

Halfbacks Len Lyles, Johnny Sample and tackle Sherman Plunkett are the rookie candidates, and it is on these three players that the eyes of many fans will be tonight.

* * *

LYLES was the No. 1 draft pick of the Colts last spring. He was a standout performer at Louisville the past two years and made his baptism in the pro ranks a memorable one last week against the Chicago Cardinals.

The fleet young Kentuckian scrambled 47 yards with a pass the first time he was put into service by the Hoosiers. Moments later, he grabbed another aerial and made ten yards with it.

In all, Lyles had the ball six times. Four times he carried from scrimmage and gained 26 yards.

* * *

SAMPLE and Plunkett also will hold much of the attention of the witnesses to tonight's action. That whole new team, of which they were not held in extremely high regard by Colts coaches. Both are products of Maryland State College at Princess Anne.

Johnny, used primarily as a defensive back, has shown great progress in his period of orientation. Plunkett, likewise, has impressed head coach Weeb Ewbank and his assistants.

Although the young Maryland lineman is locked in a battle with some of the league's toughest middleman coaches to tell the AFRO he shows "excellent promise."

* * *

LENNY MOORE, leading ground-gainer of the team last year and perhaps one of the most exciting runners in pro football, will also demand attention tonight. Moore's 66-yard touchdown scamper last Saturday night put the Colts in front in a game which ended in a 31-31 tie with the Cardinals.

Lipscomb is expected to man his usual position in the stellar Colt defensive line, and Davis figures to occupy his same role in the aerial umbrella of the locals.

An improved Parker is being counted on in the offensive line, using his unusual speed for downfield blocking.

Owens is given a two-shot chance at sticking with the club for his second term. Aside from doing an acceptable job at his old tackle position, the former Kent State College star is being employed by Ewbank and Co., as a defensive end.

Williams clings to NAL bat lead by two points

CHICAGO — Birmingham's John Williams still is the leader in batting in the Negro American League with a .357 average, according to Howe News Bureau statistics compiled from official scores sheets.

H. Hair of Kansas City is second with a mark of .353, followed by Pierce Wyk of Detroit with .304. John Self of Kansas City with .300 and Will Harris of Birmingham with .297.

SELF HAS the most hits, 65, and stolen bases, 36. He and Williams tied for nine apiece in triples with seven apiece. Gileon Jatvis of Kansas City and Bernie Porter of Detroit are tied for the lead in doubles with 11 each.

Williams also has the most homers, six. Willie Washington of Kansas City has batted in the most runs, 40. Ozzie Tidmore of Kansas City and White have scored the most runs, 42 apiece.

LONNIE HARRIS of Memphis has stolen the most bases, 16.

Willie Harris of Detroit is the leading pitcher with an 8-1 won-lost record. Jesse Townsend of Kansas City has pitched the most innings, 89, and has struck out the most batters, 85.

East tops West, 4-3

CHICAGO — Willie Smith, a slender 23-year-old southpaw from the Birmingham Barons, and Brown Jackson, 18-year-old Barons outfielder, were the big guns as the East defeated the West, 4-3, in the 26th annual East-West game Sunday before 9,527 fans at Comiskey Park.

It was Smith who singled home the winning run in the big four-run uprising in the sixth inning, scoring his batterymate, Odia Bailey, also of Birmingham.

Bailey had walked and advanced to second on a wild pitch by, Aubrey Grigsby of the Kansas City Monarchs, who picked up the defeat.

JACKSON contributed the big punch in the rally, a booming homer with Jesse Bass and James Ivory on the bases. Bass had been sent in to run for Wiley Griggs, Birmingham third baseman, who had walked.

Bass moved to second on Ivory's single and both rode home on Jackson's blow into the leftfield seats.

Jackson's circuit sent the East out in front, 3-2, and Smith's single chased Bailey home with the run that later proved to be the margin of victory.

Althea reveals tennis almost lost a love set to romance

NEW YORK— Althea Gibson nearly gave up tennis a couple of years ago, she relates in the current issue of The Saturday Evening Post.

What she almost did, she says in Part Two of her story, "I Wanted to be Somebody," was join the Women's Army Corps.

Althea reports this happened after she was graduated from Florida A. and M. College and had taken a job in the physical education department of Lincoln University, Missouri.

* * *

"I TAUGHT there for two years, in '54 and '55, and it was quite an experience," she writes. "For one thing, I had a wingding of a time with a wonderful man while I was there."

"He was a captain in the Army, in charge of the ROTC unit on the campus. On account of him, I almost gave up tennis for good.

"I was discouraged anyway, and tired of never having any money. My pay at Lincoln was only $2800 my first year, $3000 the second year. I had a little apartment that cost me $48.50 a month, and a secondhand car that I was paying for on time, and it didn't look like I'd ever be able to put anything by.

* * *

"When my captain friend began selling me the Women's Army Corps, I listened carefully. After all, if a WAC had a college education and could become an officer, she could make enough money to live nicely, send something home to the family and save something too.

"It might mean I could stay with the captain for a long time, and that interested me a lot.

"Being in love, and being loved by somebody, was something brand new to me. I'd had almost no experience with boys. And this would have been different, anyway, because my captain was no boy; he was forty-one years old. I was twenty-six myself, but I knew less about this subject than the average high school girl.

* * *

"IF THE man had been closer to my own age, I might have given up tournament tennis altogether. But two things worked against it. There was the captain's feeling that he was too old for me, and I wondered about giving up on something I'd put so many years and so much sweat into.

"In the end we decided to be satisfied with being friends."

HOWEVER, ALTHEA says, what really made up her mind to stay with tennis was an invitation at that time to make a tour of Southeast Asia on a team, sponsored by the State Department.

She accepted and, of course, went on to become the world's greatest woman tennis player.

ELDER QUEEN—Mrs. Flora (Lomax) Bray of Washington, D.C., was winner of the senior women's singles title in the national tennis championships at Central State College last week. The former ATA queen (1938-42) downed Lena Waldon of California, 6-4, 6-0.

JOE WILLIAMS of Durham, N.C., captured the national junior tennis crown last week at the ATA tournament at Central State College. Williams took the measure of Horace (Red) Cunningham of Lynchburg, 6-0, 6-2, 6-2.

AT LONG LAST—Mary Etta Fine of Kansas City, acquired the title which had eluded her for three years when she won the national women's singles crown at the ATA tennis tourney last week. Miss Fine defeated Darnella Everson of Detroit, 6-0, 6-0, for the honor.

Youngsters to play ball at Stadium

It will be Junior and Little League Baseball Day at Memorial Stadium this Sunday afternoon.

An All - Star game composed of Little Leaguers will begin promptly at 12:30 o'clock and a City Junior Championship game will take place at 4 p.m.

The All - Star contest will be patterned after the Major League tilt that was played at the Stadium on July 7th.

The clubs will be named after the two big leagues the American and National and the players will come from nearly every circuit in the Greater Baltimore Area.

The feature till will be the final game of the Cardinal Gibbons Memorial Trophy Tournament, Forty - three clubs started battling for the championship of this series back in the first week in August.

The remaining contenders consist of Gordon Store, defending champions, Overlea Lions, St. Agnes, and Dauphines.

Besides the baseball games the West End Cadets of the Walter Green Post No. 14 of the American Legion Post will march between the two contests.

Major John Carter of the Post will march the boys on the Stadium Field. The Colors will be advanced by the Honor Guard of Fort McHenry Post No. 133.

Westport racers set to fly again

Rained out for the fifth time this season, the showdown in the torrid race for seasonal point laurels in the Westport Stadium speedway races was delayed a week but Ace Canupp of Millersville and Len Imhoff of Baltimore will risk the shaky holds on the first place when the benzine battles resume tomorrow (Saturday) night.

The holiday weekend program, slated to start at 8:15 p.m. because of an extra attraction, will include a stock car whirls—three in the Sportsman - Modified Division and five in the Heavy Class.

Added to the holiday weekend slate will be an exhibition by Leon Weber, Baltimore Stadium stuntman and speedway racer. He'll do his firewall crash with a jalopy and also flip a racing car with the use of a ramp.

10 local Guardsmen in National Rifle matches

WASHINGTON

Ten D.C. National Guardsmen, six officers and four enlisted men, journeyed to Camp Perry, Ohio, yesterday and started firing Monday in the National Rifle matches.

Heading the team, nearly all of whom are veterans of several years of "big bore" rifle competition, is Maj. Cunningham C. Bryant, of 1619 D St. N.E., who has captained the D.C. National Guard team since 1956.

This will be the third time since World War II a local National Guard team has entered the Camp Perry matches, "World Series" of American rifle and pistol shooting.

The matches started August 16, with initial firing, will close Sept. 6. Sponsored by the National Rifle Association, it attracts thousands of shooters not only from the armed forces but from law enforcement agencies and private shooting clubs.

The D.C. Guard team won four individual place awards at Camp Perry last year and two in 1956. In addition, it walked off with the National Guard-Reserve team championship in the Second Army Championship Match this year and last and captured the high National Guard-Reserve team award at the Virginia Championship matches at Quantico in 1957.

Seven of the 10 members of the team, including Major Bryant, are assigned to the 140th Engineer Battalion; while two belong to the 175th Military Police Battalion and one is a missileman with the 340th Missile Battalion (Nike).

All of the 10 team members are veterans of overseas service in either World War II or Korea, or both, and only one of the 10 will be firing in his first National Match.

Team members, in addition to Major Bryant, are:

Capt. Maurice Latham, 3506 19th St. SE; Capt. Harvey F. Brown, 4813 Bass Place SE; 1st Lt. Arthur D. Weeks Jr., 2739 4th St. NE; 2nd Lt. Joseph H. Pollard, 4354 D St. SE, CWO Fleming W. Mathews Jr., 1911 Savannah St. SE, SFC. Gordon Kime, 1209 Ave. SE., Hillside, Md.

S/Sgt. William J. Taylor, 6602 Grieg St. NE, Sgt. John D. Selleg, 213 Division Ave. NE, and Cpl. Kelly R. McGill, 1443 T St. NW.
