Annapolis university women to get 11th Hollander Award

For the voluntary and successful integration of its organization in a community where this previously had not been accomplished, and for interracial cooperation in community service, the Annapolis Chapter of the Association of University Women will receive the 11th annual Sidney Hollander Foundation Award on Sept. 25.

The award, with a $250 honorarium, recognizes an outstanding contribution toward the the achievement of equal rights and status in Cylburn, the colored persons in Maryland during 1957, with emphasis on positive achievements in integration rather than mere removal of segregation barriers.

Presentation of the award to Mrs. John B. Wright, President of the Annapolis Organization, will take place in the Health and Welfare Room of the Anne Arundel County Department of Health, South Street and Cathedral Street, Annapolis.

ACCORDING TO Dr. Irving L. Ochs of the selection jury, a significant factor in the decision was that this integration is the first of its kind in the Annapolis area.

Honorable Mention will be awarded to the Baltimore City Department of Public Welfare for developing interracial understanding among young people at Cylburn Home through the daily contacts of integrated cottage living.

Miss Esther Lazarus, Director, will receive the award on behalf of the department at the meeting of the Committee of Superintendents of Children's Homes of the Baltimore Council of Social Agencies, at Cylburn, 2201 Cold Spring Lane, 10 a.m. Tuesday, September 30th.

Sharing in the honor will be Miss Elizabeth Grobben, director of Cylburn, who effected the integration at the home.

SELECTIONS WERE made from a list of candidates submitted by community leaders by an awards jury headed by Edgar M. Ewing, assistant director of Urban Renewal and Housing Authority and former Legislative Counsel of the Baltimore Urban League.

Other jury members were Mrs. Charles E. Hicks 3rd, member of board of directors of Frederick Community Chest and Welfare Board of Frederick County; Francis X. Gallagher, assistant city solicitor and member of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission; Mrs. Clara P. Read, chairman of Northeast Baltimore Community Council, and Dr. Irving L. Ochs of Annapolis.

Last year's Hollander Award went to the Northeast Baltimore Inter-group Council for achieving integration in public housing projects.

• • •

OTHER RECIPIENTS since the award was established in 1947 have been: The Sunpapers for equal treatment of colored persons in news and for editorial support of that advancement; The Department of Education for integration at the high school level and for its program of inter-cultural activities promoted by Harry Bard;

Alan, the Baltimore City Medical Society for being the first medical society south of the Mason-Dixon line to admit colored doctors to full membership; Loyola College for achieving a high degree of integration in all phases of collegiate activity; Robert Freedman for a significant contribution to integration in employment in removing the color bar for taxicab drivers;

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin for his support of the Commission on Interracial Problems and Affairs and related several advances of integration in the State; the Committee on Racial Equality for its work which resulted in the removal of racial barriers at variety and lunch counters throughout the city; Dr. John Fischer for providing the leadership which resulted in prompt and thorough integration in the Baltimore Public Schools; and the Housing Authority of Baltimore City for achieving integration in public housing projects in the City of Baltimore.

THE AWARD was established as a birthday gift by his children to Mr. Hollander.

It recognizes the leadership of Mr. Hollander in the field of race relationships to achieve "total citizenship for every member of the American Community."

Mr. Hollander has said, concerning his long fight against racial discrimination, "I don't want any privilege for myself or my family that other people do not have. It makes me uneasy in my conscience to have opportunities that are denied to other people. I've done what I have, not because of any special interest in colored people as such, but because I have never felt comfortable knowing that other people were second class citizens."

Mr. Hollander has been honored nationally as president of the National Social Welfare Assembly, vice president of the Council on Social Work Education, and executive committeeman of USO; and locally as president of ADA, the Urban League, Jewish Children's Society, Jewish Congress, and Jewish Council.

THE GIRL FRIENDS club is composed of prominent club women who are noted civic and church leaders.

Local women met last night (Thursday) at the home of Mrs. Victorine Adams, the executive director. The Woman Power organization also announced that tickets for the Sept. 21 luncheon workshop at the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel are now on sale.

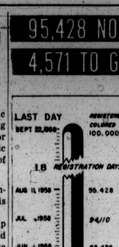
In addition to luncheon, discussion leaders will instruct persons present on the organization's plans leading up to the November General Elections. A fashion show is an added attraction.

Mrs. Mary B. Adams, luncheon committe dorector, stated that tockets are priced at $6.-50 and will admit holders to the Sunday afternoon workshop, also to be held at the Belvedere.

Tickets may be purchased from any Woman Power member. It was also announced that the workers will seek a goal of 1,000 new voters on the books before registration closes Sept. 22. Emphasis will be placed on obtaining a majority of new voters in the Fourth District area.

Transportation will be made available who with to go to the people's Court Building to register to vote, Mrs. Rich announced. Information on vote registration, the luncheon and other details of the Woman Power program may be had by calling Mrs. Rich at MA. 3-7419.

95,428 NOW 4,571 TO GO



With 18 more registration days to go, the Register and Vote Committee announced that it expected to exceed its quota of 100,000 registered colored voters.

Total registration as of August 25 is 95,480.

Only 4,571 more registrations are needed to go over the top.

• • •

BEGINNING September 1, the Supervisors of Elections will register any voter in 26 public schools.

The list of schools and dates they are open is in this week's AFRO.

Any voter who does not desire to go downtown can register in one of these schools or record his change of address if he has moved to a new home.

• • •

SOME VOTERS who are timid about registering are surprised when they find-it takes only 2 or 3 minutes, Mrs. Ethel Clark told the AFRO today.

Mrs. Clark is the Register and Vote Committee representative stationed outside the Supervisor of Elections office at the Gay Street entrance to answer questions.

Registration authorities ask chiefly name, address, age of youngest people and enroll persons in their proper precinct and ward so they will know where to vote next November. Mrs. Clark also assists older people to the supervisor's office.

• • •

HERE IS last week's day-by-day registration.

170 Democrats and 49 Republicans and 5 "declined" voters registered.

On Monday, usually the biggest day of the week, only 52 persons enrolled. The week before it was 66.

Labor Day, tribute to the working man

On the first Monday in Sept., the workingman will lay down the tools of his trade and celebrate a holiday in honor of himself.

With the workingman on a holiday, many services will be stripped to the minimum.

At the Post Office, the executive division, parcel post counter, claim section, office of the general superintendent of mails, information, stamp and money order counters will be closed.

All classified carrier and non carrier stations will be closed.

First class mail can be dropped in the mail chute at any time of the day at the main Post Office.

There will be one city-wide collection of mail at 5 p.m. and no general delivery.

Other offices of the City and State will be closed.

TRANSIT SERVICE will be limited. A spokesman at Baltimore Transit Co. said streetcar and bus service will follow their Sunday schedules.

District Police Courts will be open for the 8 a.m. session only, but their police officers will still be working.—Not that we think you need the reminder.)

Museum-goers can visit between 1 and 5p.m. but all Enoch Pratt Libraries will be closed.

We can thank Peter J. McGuire who in 1882 as president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, suggested that a day be set aside for the whole nation could pay its respects to the workingman.

In "paying their respects," Baltimoreans will fall in line with the rest of the nation and concentrate on merry-making of the long Labor Day weekend.

Druid Hill Park will be overflowing with crowds from this city and nearby towns.

HOWEVER, LABOR, DAY means the summer vacation is over for city school pupils and school employees. On September 4, their most pleasant memory will be how they climaxed their summer fun on Labor Day.

Let's be careful this time. Last year's traffic accidents on Labor Day have not yet been forgotten by loved ones of the victims. You don't want a memory like that for Labor Day, 1959.—Sheila Shields.

Army chaplain talk at Frontiers lunch

"I don't know the answer to this race question.

"But thank God, we can be sure there is an answer.

Chaplain H. D. Bouknight, concluded his speech with these words at the Frontiers Meeting held at the Druid Hill YMCA Tuesday.

The 78-year-old retired missionary who has been around the globe twice deplored the treatment of colored races in all parts of the world in his brief speech.

He spent two years in Africa, and noted the conditions existing there, decided to become a missionary.

He returned to the states in 1903, studied the ministry for 3 years and went back in 1906.

I LIKE to see the way you people feel about the politics," he said, inferring to the minutes in which Arthur Chapin's speech on the "Role of Colored People in Politics" was mentioned.

"If we have anything to work with, it's the vote."

In answer to questions from the floor, he agreed that the United States and Africa were the two countries in which the situation is most acute.

The speaker was introduced by the Dr. Leo Klein, a guest.

Others guests included Clements Nixon of the Chick Webb Center in East Baltimore, and Earl Koger Jr., the son of Frontiersman Earl Koger Sr., of Koger Insurance Agency.

President Robert Hill, who recently returned from a Shriner's Convention in Chicago, presided over the luncheon

Even the sun seems sad and cold; the light is gone from my life.
Oh, what I wouldn't give to see your tender, smiling face.
Faded is hope, once burning bright; my days are dismal and dark.
If I could but recapture one of those happy years.
Silent are the songbirds that used to gaily trill.
Love songs that we used to share in memories I wander through.
In memories I see you smiling, I hear your voice.
