Miss Lewis becomes Mrs. S. Washington

Grace Presbyterian Church was a cool bower, decored with white gladiolas and asters and filled with fashionable guests for the wedding on Saturday of Miss Ernestine Louvain Lewis and Spurgeon Banks Washington, Jr.

The bride is the daughter of hr. a n d Mrs. Ernest Lee Lewir, of this city, and Mr. Washington the son of Mrs. Nellie F. Diggins of this city and Spurgeon B. Washington of Cumverland, Md.

The double - ring ceremony, which took place at two in the afternoon, was read by the Rev. Robert Newbold, minister of the church. Miss Junetta Jones was soloist and Mrs. Katrine White was at the console.

THE BRIDE wore a gown of imported Chantilly lace, in a Marie of France design, over Peau de Soie. The gown, cut on princess lines, had an empire waistline which was outlined in Peau de Soie, ending in the back with a bow and streamers which fell over her four - yard cathedral train of lace.

The high neckline was finished in ocean pearls followed by a beading of the flowers in the lace done in ocean pearls, sequins and rhinestones. Her long tight sleeves, ending in points over the hand, had the same finish.

Her fingertip veil was held by a headdress covered in the same lace and finish, with a point over the forehead tipped with a teardrop. She carried a colonial bouquet of white sweetheart roses and carnations with white net tufts and satin ribbons.

She was given in marriage by her father.

MISS ROSLYN STEWART was maid of honor for Miss Lewis, and her attendants included Misses Ann Williams, Phyllis Dawson, Alfreda Hughes, all of this city; and Miss Olivia Dabney of Newport News, Va.

The bridesmaids' dresses, made with boatnecklines and pink sash and hat and raspcriss-crossed in front and fell to the hemline in back over very full skirts. They were made of crystal-light material.

The bridesmaids wore pink with raspberry sashes and hats and pink golves and shoes; while the honor attendant wore raspberry with tight bodices, had sashes that berry sheer sleeves and gloves. The hats, of rose design, and the gloves were made from the same material as the dresses.

They carried red happiness roses and pink carnations in colonial bouquet with pink net tufts and satin ribbons.

THE FLOWER GIRL, India Merly Cooke of Durham, N.C., dressed in traditional organdy, with a headdress of white flowers, carried a basket covered in the material of the bride's dress. A dress, in a modification of those of the bridesmaids, was worn by the train bearer, Brenda Elaine Williamson of Jamaica, L. I., N.Y. THE ring bearer, George H. Franklin III of Cumberland, Md. was dressed in the same attire as the ushers, and carried rings on a heart-shaped pillow covered in Chantilly lace.

The dress, including that of the bride, were created by the bride's aunt, Miss Louvain Baker of New York City, who also made the hats, gloves, flower girl's basket and ring bearer's pillow.

* * *

LEO BECKWITH of Cumberland, Md. was best man for Mr. Washington, and ushers included Michael Marshall, Richard Dawson, Gordon Koger, all of this city; and John L. Franklin of Washington.

The parents of the bride entertained at a reception in the Me-De-So Club following the ceremony. For her daughter's wedding and the reception Mrs. Lewis selected a gown of aqua Chantilly lace, with a flower hat, blue satin slippers and a corsage of sweetheart roses. Mrs. Diggins, also in Chantilly lace, wore gray over pink with navy accessories.

The new Mrs. Washington who attended Morgan State College, transferred to Coppin State Teachers' College. She made her debut last year at The Me - De - So Cotillion. Mr. Washington is a senior at Morgan.

Mrs. Marshall Bright 'All shook' at party

With Lula Jones Garrett

Mrs. Marshall (Emma) Bright, town school principal, was "all shook" out of her usual poise, Tuesday night.

'Twas on account of the party executed by her aunt, Miss Emma Bright, assisted by the honoree's husband, Marshall, and Rosa and Ralph Bright.

Miss Bright, who think that "surprises" are too toogh on the heart, had told her niece that she had asked family in to share her birthday.

The honoree had been out in Green Spring Valley having ice cream and cake with nephews Orlo and Cee Cee Reed at their parents' Bear Hill home.

When she returned home, saw all of the cars lined up in front of her door, looked down at her comfortable little cotton frock and flats, she was all ready to faint. . .

'Twas a pretty pink party (with touches of red, such as the gorgeous red roses from the family) with pink carnations forming the center piece for the formal dinner table. . .with pink glass place cards.

. . .With a birthday cake with seven candles, which Miss Bright explained six represented three years each (18 and the middle seventh, the "so forths."

Guests had been told that they may fetch cards. . .but of course arrived with lovely gifts that ran from Chanel No. 5 from Marshall, to a china piggy bank inscribed "For My Cruise" from friend Betty Williams in deference to Emma's intentions of taking the trip abroad with AKA's in 1960.

An elegant gift, a silver-linked bracelet of sapphires from the Howard Hucleses brought "ahs" . . . as did the score of others. Cute, too, were the slim jim cards from Orlo and Cee Cee.

About also were Maurice and Walter Doles, Howard and Ethel Hucles, Rosa and Ralph Bright, Gladys and Crafton Reed, Samuel and Maud Williams, Ethel Day, Pearl and Charles Brackett and Betty Williams.

* * *

ANOTHER OF the most surprised ladies in town was Vivian Washington, a Saturday ago.

This occasion was a surpise luncheon'to mark the publication of her recent book "Mount Ascutney." Hostesses were the mothers of the "Guys and Dolls" Club.

Vivian was showered with cards and a gift of a brass desk piece. After a delicious luncheon, the honoree autographed books for the members.

The party was at the Wabash Avenue home of the out - going president of the club, May Pinkett. The house was flowerfilled, a lovely center piece for the luncheon table arranged by Marie Foster, and the place cards, designed by Ellen Stewart, were conversation pieces.

At the affair were Ometa and Estelle Lee, Eugenia Young, Marie Foster, Sarah Bundy, Ellen Stewart, Edna Russell, Mildred Taylor and May Pinkett.

PEREGRINATORS: Lines from Mrs. Charles Watts, who was in St. Louis, Mo., en route to her home in Arkansas on what she terms "a pleasant emergency."

But not pleasant was Vernice Reynold's emergency call to Oklahoma City, Okla., last week. The death of her grandmother, Mrs. Ella Smith, a grand lady who had passed her 100th birthday . . . and with all of her faculties functioning up to the end, occasioned the trip.

W. Meredith Birche was back in town over the weekend. Had been visiting Raymond Johnson in Philadelphia; Vivian and Benny Jones in New York, and a dash to Washington to the Delias' dance.

The AFRO's "Corn Bread Lady," Mrs. Fanniejoe Reid went a - to Chicago to the Shriners' Convention, and Ruth and Vernon Sheffey had fun in Connecticut, last week. Went to see the Shakespearean plays. . . had cocktails with the company.

In town over the week end was Trenton (N.J.) schoolmarm, Edna Henry Lewis, mainly here for the Bravett Lynch-Miss Ida wedding. Had just returned from an extensive South American, Netherlands, West Indies, Bahama Island and San Salvador trip.

Dr. and Mrs. Saul Perdue went off to their rustic haven in Virginia over the Labor Day weekend. Took with them Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Washington.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Pauley (veteran attorney) has been Mrs. Pauley's sister, Mrs. Adina Coleman Lyles, former Baltimorean and now assistant dietitian at West Virginia State College. Also visited her brother and his family in Germantown, Pa.

Mrs. Josephine Marshall Moore, also a former Baltimorean, spent some time with friends in New York City. . . visited her cousin, Mrs. Marie Ward Knox; and brother, Edward Marshall, here, before returning to her home in Charleston, W. Va.

Dr. and Mrs. Emerson C. Walden took off for a scenic tour of the mountains and a visit with his father, the Rev. Charles Walden in Cumberland, Md. over the week end.

And having fun at the Elks' convention in Washington last week were Louise Moore, Portia Brown, Regina Ward, Olivia Fauntleroy, Louise Brown, Hester Brown and Gloria Forby (all of the Gaye Peerfoots) who made up a gay party.

LOIS CLARK, Gladys Hairston and Pauline Brooks entertained at a lush party on Wednesday in the Clark's Eutaw Road home of the James Cuffees in honor of Ruth White Toney (formerly of Ada, Ohio) and her husband, Major Huett Toney.

The Toneys now livein Cedarville, Ohio, but Major Toney is doing a stint at Abrdeen Proving Ground.

Supper was served on the spacious lawn of the Cuffees' home, and there was dancing on the patio. Then there was that rave-rating menu of tiny meat balls in sauce, sauted boned chicken breasts, steamed rice, tossed salad, tiny hot biscuits, peach cobbler and coffee.

Enjoying the evening were Messrs. and Mesdame Floyd Cuffee, Arnold Bailey and Irvin Dett; Mr. Mae Hawkins, Mrs. Melinee Yetrell and John Fanton.

The Toneys now live in
