LAMB SHISH KEBAB—The flavorful trio of seasoning salts, onion, garlic and celery, give tantalizing tang to this lamb shis kebab.

It's the seasoning that counts when the party is a 'cook-out'

Hi everybody—come and get it!

Any meal can be a fun heart-ed feast, and every member of the family can turn chef extraordinary when you have a cook-out.

BO beauty of this new out-door way of life, especially the eating part of it, is that it's so adventurously un-humdrum and at the same time so relaxed and leisurely. . . .

HOWEVER, THE effortless ease of a barbecue meal doesn't just happen by itself. Mom's advance planning and behind-the-scenes work have a lot to do with its success. For instance, the night before she can marinate the lamb for kebabs. This leaves the excitement of threading the chunks of meat and colorful vegetables on the skewer for eager beaver assistant cooks—probably the youngsters.

Then there's the production Dad makes of managing the fire, brandishing the skewer, and basting and shaking on the seasoning with great derring-do.

His dashing manner, and the mouthwatering food he serves up, are much admired by all. Mom, too admires, not mention-ing that it was she who shopped to round up the makings of the fine food, and to provide Dad with his magic seasoning tricks.

ONE TRICK, which assures the chef of unfailingly delicious flavor results, is the use of seasonings salts—garlic, onion and celery. They are as easy to use as salt or pepper but their im-pact is double-barreled. Sprinkled out of the handy shaker-topped jars in which they are packaged they salt and season in a single simple operation. Thanks to processing develop-ments of recent years, season-ing salts retain the true flavor zest of the vegetables them-selves. Onions and garlic cloves are put through cutters with razor-keen knives that slice the vegetables with split-second precision. This speed of prepa-ration and the sharpness of the knives are the secrets of the garlic and onion salts' pun-gency. More of the taste-giving juices are saved than could be by ordinary chopping or grind-ing methods.

The American Spice Trade Association salutes the barbe-cue season and outdoor chefs with these well seasoned recipes.

LAMB SHISH KEBABS are made with:

1 teaspoon onion salt,
1 teaspoon celery salt,
¼ teaspoon garlic salt,
¾ teaspoon ground black pep-per,
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning,
2 teaspoons powdered dry mustard,
¼ cup salad oil,
2 tablespoons cider vinegar,
1½ pounds lean boneless shoul-der of lamb,
8 green pepper squares,
8 fresh mushroom caps, and
8 tomato wedges.

Combine first eight ingre-dients. Cook only until hot. Cool. Trim excess fat from lamb, cut into one and one-half inch cubes and add to mari-nade. Refrigerate six to eight hours or overnight.

When ready to cook, string lamb on skewers, alternating with green pepper squares, and mushrooms. Grill over hot em-bers 15 to 20 minutes or until done, basting with marinade sauce as often as the meat ap-pears dry.

Add tomato wedges when meat is half done. Serve be-tween hot split frankfurter buns.

Yield: eight servings.

MAKE BROILED lamb pat-ties with one and one-half pounds ground lean lamb, six slices bacon, one teaspoon gar-lic salt, one teaspoon onion salt and one-fourth teaspoon ground black pepper.

Shape lamb into six patties of equal size. Wrap a slice of bacon around the sides of each. Fasten the ends with toothpicks. Mix garlic salt, onion salt and ground black pepper together and sprinkle over both sides of patties.

Broil until done, turning to brown both sides. Sprinkle with black pepper to taste.

Yield: six servings.

FOR GOURMET macaroni salad use two cups elbow maca-roni, two teaspoons celery salt, two teaspoons onion salt, one teaspoon garlic salt, four cups boiling water, one teaspoon ci-der vinegar, one cup diced cel-ery, one-half cup cooked pea, one-half cup diced green pep-per, one-fourth cup diced pimiento, two hard-cooked eggs, chopped, one-fourth teaspoon ground black pepper, one-fourth cup mayonnaise, head lettuce, and paprika.

Place macaroni, half of the celery, onion and garlic salts and boiling water in a sauce-pan. Bring to boiling point and cook until macaroni is tender. Remove from heat, drain and chill. Add remaining seasoning salts and the next eight ingre-dients. Toss lightly. Serve on lettuce. Garnish with paprika.

Yield: six to eight servings.

ZESTY FRIED chicken re-quires two and one-half pound ready-to-cook frying chicken, three-fourths cup flour, one-half teaspoon ground black pepper, two teaspoons onion salt, two teaspoons celery salt, two tea-spoons garlic salt and one-half cup shortening.

Wash chicken and cut into serving-size pieces. Combine flour with black pepper and seasoning salts into which dredge chicken pieces. Heat shortening in a heavy nine or ten-inch skillet.

Add chicken and cook over medium heat until brown on both sides. Serve hot or cold.

Yield: six servings.

COOKING IS FUN

Shop carefully, keep food bill in control

By FANNIEJOE REID

One of the ways to combat the high cost of food is to shop carefully for the commodities which are plentiful, and there-fore less expensive, at the time of buying.

For instance, this week, such items as squash, peaches, ap-ples, cheese and tender, young chickens are on the plentiful list. So, plan meals around these items.

You might also switch your thinking from those large white or brown eggs to the small and medium ones, the latter now being more advantageous buys. Potatoes are on the good buy list.

And remember that you must not blame the good potato for those calories. It's the butter and gravies that you eat with them that add the pounds.

IN FACT, a fine main dish that includes three of the plen-tiful foods for this month is Po-tatoes and Ham with Cheese Sauce.

For four servings you will need a tablespoon table fat, two tablespoons flour, a teaspoon salt, pepper, a cup of milk, a half cup thinly shaved process-ed cheese, two cups diced cook-ed potatoes, a cup diced cooked ham.

Melt the table fat and blend in flour and seasonings. Add milk slowly and cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and add cheese.

Put alternate layers of pota-toes and ham in a greased bak-ing dish. Pour cheese sauce over the top. Cover, and bake in a moderate oven (375 de-grees F) for 30 minutes. Re-move cover and bake ten minutes longer.

SQUASH TAKES little prepa-ration before cooking. More-over, it contains some Vitamin A and niacin and a little Vita-min C. A half cup serving adds only about 18 calories to a meal, so weight-watchers can enjoy it often.

Choose the squash care-fully because you will eat the flesh, skin and seeds. Select squash that are tender, heavy for their size, free from blem-ishes and bruises and thin-skinned.

Wash and cut the stem end off. You need not peel. Cut the squash in serving-size pieces and bake, boil, steam or saute.

Only a short time is needed for cooking. Vary seasonings with onion or marjoram; give added color with minced pars-ley or paprika. Or you might stuff your squash as well as give it flavor by filling with a nippy combination of onion, to-matoes, pepper and cheese.

TO MAKE this (squash, red-ley) parboil eight squashes. Cut the tops out of the patty-pans or cut the Zucchini and crookneeks in half. Scoop out seeds and spoon in filling.

For the filling-chop a large red or green pepper, three to-matoes, two medium onions, three slices bacon, a half pound American process cheese. Mix well and add a teaspoon salt and a fourth teaspoon pepper.
