GLAMOROUS GRANDMOTHERS

35-year-old Mrs. Irene Jubilee grew up with her own children

By KATHERINE COOPER

PHILADELPHIA—Chic 35-year-old Grandmother Christine Jackson has found growing u- with her own children great fun, and her "Grands" the light of her life.

Seated on a bench under two spreading oak trees in Penn Towne, a private housing development at Fairmount Ave and Eighth St. here, I interviewed Mrs. Jackson, who lives at 674 Franklin Place, with her husband, Joseph Jackson, Sr., daughter, Mrs. Irene Jackson Jubilee, son-in-law, Ames Jubilee; her five-month old grandson, Ames Jubilee, Jr., 15-year-old son, Joseph Jackson, and daughter, 10-year-old Marian Jackson.

"You must have married very young, Mrs. Jackson," I said. "Yes, I did," she agreed, "at 16." "I was a kid along with my children. I remember how I use to play jacks with them, marbles, jumped rope. I think a parent should be a real friend to his children.

* * *

"MAYBE it was because I was so young that I took such a big part in their activities. But even today my children's friends confide in me. Their girl friends come and tell me their troubles.

"I don't want to sound immodest, talking on about myself, but I found out that it is wrong to shame a child when he does something wrong, or when he takes you into his confidence about something he has done about which he isn't proud. I listen respectfully and give my opinion and find that they gain respect for themselves and for their elders with such an approach."

MRS. JACKSON has had more time to spend with her childre than a lot of mothers because she has never had to work outside the home.

"Being a housewife, I discovered that my real joy is cooking," she explained.

"Do you have any other hobbies" she was asked.

"Yes, I like to dance, sing, I like calisthenics, all sports."

It was apparent that her active interest in sports helped contribute to her slim, svelte figure. Mrs. Jackson is about a size 12, and during the interview she was dressed in a white chemise dress.

Anyone would have mistaken her for the mother of the infant in the baby carriage by her side, and not the grandmother. She admitted that her day begins and ends with her grandson.

* * *

TEN-YEAR-OLD MARIAN came and joined us on the bench at the time. She is in the 5th grade at Kearny School and is also a very good dancer.

Presently studying ballet at the Friends Neighborhood Guild. Son Joseph, also like his mother, is very interested in sports.

After a brief discussion of her interest in community activities, and her hopes for increased neighborhood activity on her part, working with children in clubs, on the playground, reading to them, teaching them dancing, we concluded the interview.

* * *

SINCE Mrs. Jacksons' principal hobby is cooking, we are passing along her recipe for goulash for your information. She calls it just plain goulash.

MRS. CHRISTINE JACKSON with her grandson, James Jr. is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Jubilee.

Ingredients are 2 lbs. beef, 1 lbs. potatoes, 2 onions, 6 carrots, whole garlic, 6 cups water, salt to taste, pepper to taste, dash of sugar, cup, whol. celery, soy sauce (to color), and dash of hot peppers.

Brown beef in large frying pan, add water, chopped onions and whole garlic, sugar, salt and pepper to taste. Let it boil and when just about done, add carrots, whole celery and a dash of hot peppers for flavoring.

Add diced potatoes, soy sauce (for color), plus a little thickening. When the potatoes are done, the goulash is ready. Hot biscuits with the goulash makes a delectable meal.

Marriage of Miss Greene is announced

NORTH AUGUSTA, S.C.—Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Greene of North Augusta have announced the marriage of their daughter, Frances Mae, to Amos G. Henderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simpson S. Henderson of Forest City, N.C.

The wedding took place Sunday at 5 p.m. at the home of the bride's parents.

The Rev. D. C. Ruark performed the ceremony before the mantel which was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli and green fern and candelabra holding lighted candles.

* * *

FOR HER wedding the bride chose a dress of white batiste fashioned with an empire waistline, bodice of embroidered batiste, crushed cummerbund and short sleeves trimmed with tiny self bows and a bouffant skirt.

Her headpiece was a white bandeau ornamented with white Sweetheart roses and to which was attached a empire veil. She carried a prayer book topped with an orchid and showered with streamers.

* * *

SERVING as maid of honor was Miss Jessie Lee Perkins. She wore a dress of blue cotton designed with a bouffant skirt. Her accessories were white and she carried a bouquet of mixed summer flowers.

The bridegroom chose as his best man, Clifford Carpenter.

COOKING IS FUN

Adequate breakfast and lunch make school tasks seem easier

Now that vacation days are over, and the school bell rings for thousands of children throughout the country breakfast and lunch menus should become part of each day's planning, states, Virginia McLuckie, Food Economist, Baltimore Office, University of Maryland Department of Markets.

How well your children eat depends upon your ability as a planner and shopper for the family food. Breakfast can be an important meal from the standpoint of being a pacemaker for the days activities.

IF BREAKFAST is pleasant and enjoyable, children can enter into school and play with enthusiasm, homemaker's and worker's routine tasks seem easier and more interesting. Children having a well balanced, nutritious breakfast and lunch are more alert and better prepared for the days activities. The same holds true of adults.

* * *

WHEN YOU shop take advantage of the best buys. Select fruit with an eye to serving it at meal time or eating in the carried lunch. Feature fruits in season at your table. Elberta peaches are in heavy supply and, seasonally low priced. Summer apples make delicious applesauce for any meal.

Rambos and Wealthy are the two early varities to look for. or than summer apples.

A few red Delicious are also available but also priced high.

Round out your breakfast menu with cereal or protein or both. There are many kinds of cereals on the market. Protein includes eggs, meat, cheese and fish. Serve different kinds of bread with butter and always milk as a beverage even to coffee drinkers. Small eggs are the best buy.

* * *

IN PLANNING a packed lunch or one served at home for children or adults, keep the evening meal in mind. Most of us like lunch to be entirely different from dinner. It is important, too, that lunch be attractive in appearance and if packed, the sandwiches, cookies and other items should be individually wrapped. Serve milk as the beverage.

* * *

YOUR CHILD may attend one of the schools participating in the school lunch program. If so, he may buy a wholesome, appetizing lunch every day at little cost. The Department of Agriculture provides funds to reimburse participating schools for part of the food purchased, in addition to distributing certain surplus commodities.

The vegetable counter and meat department offer good buys for lunch or dinner. The price of pork products has dropped slightly, particularly end roasts of lion and rib. Fryers are in heavy supply and attractively priced. Turkey prices have declined on smaller sized birds. Turkey makes excellent salads and sandwiches as well as a dinner meat.

* * *

EXCELLENT quality cauliflower is reaching local markets from New York and New Jersey. Serve this vegetable raw as well as cooked. The local sweet corn season is approaching a decline in volume. Use fresh corn generously while prices are low. Green snap beans are in generous supply and of good quality. Red ripe tomatoes are available in volume and an excellent source of vitamin I. Now is the time to can tomatoes and make tomato juice for use later.

* * *

DRIED beef - cheese sandwich spread is made as follows:

In a double boiler top, over direct heat, simmer 1 No. 3 can tomatoes and 1 tablespoon minced onion till cooked down to one-half cup. Grind one-fourth pound process American Cheddar cheese and one-fourth pound dried beef; add to tomato.

Place over hot water; cook, stirring, till well blended. Stir in one-fourth cup butter or margarine, salt and pepper to taste, and 1 lightly beaten egg; cook, stirring, 1 minute. Pour into jar; cool; chill.

Makes 8 to 10 sandwiches.

$110,000 grant permits 'Kegee to improve nursing division

A March of Dimes grant for $110,000 announced today will make it possible for Tuskegee Institute to improve its school of nursing and increase its fall enrollment.

The grant, effective immediately, was announced by Dr. L. H. Foster, president of Tuskegee, and Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation (originally the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis).

The Tuskegee Institute School of Nursing was founded in 1891. Its basic program in nursing was fully accredited by the National League for Nursing last year. It is the only collegiate nursing school for colored in Alabama, supplying an increasing number of graduate nurses to the South.

* * *

DEAN LILLIAN H. HARVEY, director of the program and dean of the school of nursing, said that Tuskegee will now be able to make a greater contribution to the field of nursing. It is hoped, she said that it will be possible to increase enrollment in the nursing school to 160 students and possibly to 180 in the near future.

In addition, Dean Harvey said, activities in the public health field will be expanded under the new grant. Tuskegee's public health training program now includes nursing in local schools with home fol-

MR. AND MRS. LEO WOODS of Baltimore, celebrated the 25th anniversary of their marriage at a reception at their home in Morgan Park, Saturday.

MISS JOHNSON

Mr. and Mrs. Woods have a formula

By LULA JONES GARRETT

Take equal amounts of give and take, mix thoroughly with understanding, and a consideration of team achievement instead of individual contribution, and you have the recipe for a good marriage.

You have, too, the recipe which has brought Mr. and Mrs. Leo Woods through 25 years of happy marriage as well as the rearing of a family of which they are very proud.

* * *

SATURDAY THE Woodses marked the silver anniversary with a reception at their lovely home in Morgan Park. They exhibited all of the same high spirit that had characterized their college days at Morgan, where they met. They did not, however, become romantically interested until 1932 when she returned from Columbia University and he from Harvard where he had been doing post-graduate work.

Said Mrs. Woods "Of course, we have our own domains. The house is mine. The garden his.

"But of course, too, we have joint interests. We both love music. We like dancing. And then there are the children. We take over on the civic end, but I have not interfered on the religious side. That is his area."

They did not allow different religious beliefs to bring any friction into their lives. Mr. Woods and the daughters are Catholic, and worship at St. Pius Church.

Mrs. Wood is Baptist and holds membership in Providence Church. In fact, the minister of that church, the Rev. Marcus Wood, taped that delightful program of music which enhanced the reception, Saturday.

* * *

BOTH ARE employed in the Baltimore School System, where he is a specialist in physical education and she a junior high school teacher of related subjects.

Their daughter, Patricia, a Morgan graduate, is teaching in Los Angeles, Calif. and their second child, Leonor is attending Eastern High School.

* * *

MORE THAN 300 guests came to greet the couple on Saturday. They were assisted in receiving by a bevy of hostesses who included:

Mrs. Dora Hutchinson who registered the guests Mrs. Pearl Harris and Winifred Sheppard, who directed guests to the receiving line. Mrs. Catherine Adams, who introduced the guests to the line and Mrs. Aurelia Stanley who was in line with Mr. and Mrs. Woods and his brother, Benjamin.

* * *

GUESTS WERE served from a beautifully decorated table which was banked with flowers, filled with sandwiches, etc. and which held a fountain from which punch flowed. They seated themselves at the numerous tables, under colorful umbrellas.

Hostesses who served in this area and direct them to view the gifts included Mesdames Willie Oglesby, Helen Thorton, Beryl Williams, Cordelia Johnson and Edith Smith. Mrs. Williams had registered the gifts throughout the week before the reception.

Hostesses were identified by pink rose corsages, presented by the hostess. Mrs. Woods wore a lovely orchid, gift of Mr. Woods, with her gown of mauve lace with which she wore matching satin shoes and hat. Mr. Wood is the son of his wife 25 American Beauty roses.

GUESTS INCLUDED:

Messrs. and Mesdames Oscar Finch, William Russell, Verner Greene, Charles Stanley, William D. Johnson, Fannie Newsome, William C. Wood, Henry Waters.

Messrs. and Mesdames Harry Brown, Daniel Harris, Charles W. Dorsey, Harold Berry, Elmer Burgess, Cyrus Stevenson, Dandrid Conway, Ernest W. Lee, Messrs. and Mesdames L. A. Lewis Jr., Benjamin C. Woods Jr., Samuel P. Wolfenden, Howard L. Cornish, Charles Johns, John Stanford, Perry Crossen, Alfonso Fowlkes, Wilbur Valentine.

Miss Clayton is married to Airman Yates

Miss Laura Clayton, daughter of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Willard L. Clayton, and Enoch Yates were married in the Macedonia Baptist Church, Saturday afternoon.

The ceremony was performed by the father of the bride.

* * *

GIVEN IN marriage by her uncle, Dr. W. W. Morrison of Philadelphia, the bride wore a formal wedding gown of satin and lace, the bodice of lace, reembroidered at the neckline with seed pearls and brilliants.

The skirt, which was enhanced with godets of lace, flowed into a chapel train. Her waist-length veil was held by a half hat of the pearl and brilliant embroidered lace, and she carried a nosegay of bridal roses.

* * *

THE ATTENDANTS wore deep green frocks of taffeta, made with square necks, bracelet sleeves and fitted bodices. The full skirts, worn over crinolines featured butterfly bows at the back. Their flowers were posed baskets of multi-colored autumn flowers and foliage.

They included Mrs. Colyn Harrington, Mrs. Carlethea Johnson and Miss Barbara Johnson.

Honor attendant, Miss Audrey McNair, wore a gown in peach taffeta, identical to that of the bridesmaids and carried a nosegay. The tiny flower girl, Wanda Banks, was a picture in yellow organdy. Her basket held flower petals.

* * *

ERNEST YATES was best man for his brother, and the bride's brother, Willard L. Clayton, Jr. served as head usher. Other ushers were John Edwards and Russell Johnson.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Clayton was gowned in pink satin and lace with matching hat and gloves and silver slippers. Mrs. Yates wore pale blue.

The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Yates of this city, is in the Air Force, and scheduled to leave for New Foundland.

* * *

FOR THEIR wedding trip to New York City the bride wore a black sheath with white hat and gloves and black accessories.

About 200 guests attended the reception held in the church following the ceremony.

MR. AND MRS. ENOCH YATES were married in the Macedonia Baptist Church, here, Saturday. The bride is the former Miss Laura Clayton.

Hemorrhoid Pain Relieved in Minutes With New Decongestive Drug Formula
Science discovers a new decongestive drug formula which relieves hemorrhoids in minutes—relieves pain almost instantly.
Immediately on contact it acts to 1) reduce tortured hemorrhoid tissue swelling; 2) relieve pain; 3) ward off infection; 4) promote healing.
Called DeWitt's ManZan, the new formula contains an amazing decongestive drug widely prescribed before use as a suppository, tube.
Today learn why so many hemorrhoid sufferers are saying, "You can't beat ManZan." Get DeWitt's ManZan Ointment or Suppositories.
