COOKING IS FUN

Takes only three minutes to make creamy cheese sauce

Tuna and rice combinations are always sure-fire favorites with the family, and this will be especially true if the combination is teamed up with a smooth tangy cheese sauce.

A delicious Three-Minute Cheese Sauce, developed in Carnation Company's test kitchens, is not only delicious, it's as easy to make as it is good to eat.

The better blending qualities of evaporated milk assure a creamy smooth sauce every time you make it and with only 3 minutes' cooking time. This sauce packs a nutrition "wallop," too.

Because evaporated milk is concentrated, it contains twice the amount of nutrients found in an equal amount of fresh milk.

TRY BOTH of these dishes soon. . . they make ideal supper dishes all year 'round and they're fine Lenten fare, too.

Pimiento Rice Au Gratin, for six servings, require one-and-one-half cups water, one-half cup chopped green pepper, two tablespoons chopped onion, one four-ounce jar pimientos, drained and quartered, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon celery salt, one five-ounce box packaged pre-cooked rice (about two-and-two-thirds cups), two seven-ounce cans solid-pack tuna, drained, one-third cup all-purpose flour, three tablespoons butter, two and-one-half cups three - Minute Cheese Sauce, one-half cup chopped green pepper, two tablespoons chopped pimiento.

Add patties and cook until browned on both sides. While rice patties are cooking, prepare Three - Minute Cheese Sauce. Add green pepper and pimiento to sauce mix well. Serve cheese sauce with rice patties.

PIMENTO RICE AU GRATIN is an easily made dish with enhanced flavor form a delicious three-minute cheese sauce made with evaporated milk.

THREE - MINUTE Cheese Sauce is made with one-and two-thirds cups (large can) undiluted evaporated milk, one-half teaspoon salt, two teaspoons dry mustard, and two cups (about eight ounces) grated process American cheese.

Simmer evaporated milk, salt and mustard in saucepan over medium heat to just below boiling (about two minutes). Add cheese. Stir over medium heat until cheese melts (about one minute longer). (Makes two-and-one-half cups).

Try Tuna Rice Patties with Cheese Sauce, also you will fourth-cup chopped onion, one four cup chopped onion, one teaspoon salt, two five-ounce boxes packaged pre-cooked rice (about two-and-two-thirds cups), two seven-ounce cans solid-pack tuna, drained, one-third cup all-purpose flour, three tablespoons butter, two and-one-half cups three - Minute Cheese Sauce, one-half cup chopped green pepper, two tablespoons chopped pimiento.

Add patties and cook until browned on both sides. While rice patties are cooking, prepare Three - Minute Cheese Sauce. Add green pepper and pimiento to sauce mix well. Serve cheese sauce with rice patties.

Sweet potatoes, now plentiful basis for many autumn recipes

By VIRGINIA L. McLUCKIE

A renewed interest in food and a return of hearty appetites are evident in most families as the fall season approaches.

Shoppers will want to take advantage of abundant foods when planning menus, says Virginia McLuckie, food economist, Baltimore Office, University of Maryland, Department of Markets.

The produce counters offer a great variety ranging from high to low cost. There are still many late summer vegetables available and new crops of fall vegetables are arriving continuously.

MEALY OR MOIST, light yellow or deep orange, sweet potatoes are yours from the new fall crop and the cost is low. With a good supply at this time prices are lower than they generally are after curing. Curing, storage, and shrinkage costs usually result in slightly higher prices later.

Yams, in the market are not true yams, but rather the moist fleshed sweet potato that has a higher sugar content. You can give your imagination a free hand in stuffing baked sweets, or serving them mashed or sliced in casseroles with fresh or canned fruits or the well liked marshmallows.

• • •

FIRM HEADS OF CREAMY, white cauliflower are in the market in generous supply. The tender green leaves that are clustered about the cauliflower with an accompanying green serving or they can be served as a separate dish at another meal. The flavor is similar to the cauliflower flowerets.

Green peppers are in abundant supply. In selecting peppers, if you have baking in mind, choose chunky, good sized ones. The long type do nicely for salads, garnishes and relishes. Peppers also make a tasty dish when fried and many cuts of meat are enhanced when flavored with this versatile vegetable.

• • •

WHITE POTATOES ARE in generous supply. The Cobblers and Katahdins are good for general use while the Russet Burbank variety is recommended for baking potatoes are one of the lowest cost per serving vegetable.

This is an excellent time to buy fresh pears for lunch boxes and eating-out-of-hand snacks as well as desserts. Most of the pears are California Bartletts. If a pear responds to light pressure of the thumb and forefinger, it is fully ripe and ready to eat. Those that are golden yellow are ripe, flavored and juicy. Chill pears before serving.

• • •

PEACHES are still is heavy supply. You will find mostly Elbertas and Hales available. With cooler weather a deep dish peach pie served warm with cream should make a perfect finish for any meal.

Apples are appearing in more volume and the number of varieties available has increased. For eating quality McIntosh and Jonathan, Grimes and Red Delicious are suggested. There are some Court land's at the markerds. This variety is particularly good for salads because it does not turn brown so rapidly. There are still some green apples for sauce, mostly Greenings and Rambo varieties.

At the meat and fish counter you will find economies in fryer chickens, pork liver and sea bass.

• • •

SWEET POTATO BALLS are made by mashing cooked sweet potatoes, using cream, butter orange or pineapple juice. Add nuts and raisin and a dash of nutmeg if desired. Form balls of potatoes around a marshmallow center.

Roll in egg white then crumbs of cereal or graham crackers. Place on baking sheet, to heat through, and brown slightly, 350 degrees F.

Cereal Swedish meat balls

Cereal Swedish Meat Balls make an excellent entree. They can be partially prepared ahead of time, are quick and easy to mix, inexpensive, moist, and flavorful, hold well over a prolonged serving time, and are full of good nutrition.

Rolled oats are ready to use as they come from the package — no further preparation is necessary. In addition to increasing the yield, adding flavor, keeping the meat balls moist and tender, rolled oats increase the protein, B vitamin, essential mineral, and food energy values of the recipe.

Cereal Swedish Meat Balls
1 pound ground beef
½ cup quick or rugular oats
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 egg
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 cups milk
3 tablespoons fat
1 cup boiling water
1 beef bouillon cube
3 tablespoons flour

Combine beef, quick or regular oats, salt, pepper and ½ cup milk. Mix well and shape into 2½ balls. Brown meat balls in hot fat.

Cover with water in which bouillon cube ha been dissolved. Cover pan and allow to immer gently until ball are done, about 30 minute.

Remove ball from pan and stir in flour. Add remaining mooth and thick. Add meat ball to gravy and erve. Yield: 24 ball, 4 to 5 erving.

Barbecued ribs

When all the family pitches in to prepare a meal and spread the table—there's a barbecue in the making! For the best outdoor eating of the year, the "head chef" should really treat the family to crispy barbecued spareribs.

They're delicious when made with this special sauce which, happily, derives its tanginess from coffee! You can make the ribs over the grill or in your oven and they're always good.

• • •

BARBECUED SPARERIBS are made with five to six pounds spareribs, cut in serving-size pieces, one cup strong coffee, one-half cup molasses, one-fourth cup prepared mustard, one tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, one-half cup cider vinegar, few drops Tabasco.

Wrecking old houses is booming business

There are instances when it takes a long time, but whatever goes up is bound to come down.

In the case of buildings, it may take a real long time, but with progress being what it is today, the house-wrecking business in on the boom.

An AFRO reporter joined a small group last week watching a crew of seven men bring down a house on the corner of Orchard and McCulloh Sts.

Iw was (and was is the word) a big, three-sotry brick building at one time. Now, almost down to the last brick, it is giving away to progress.

JEFF THOMAS, 313 N. Pearl St., foremen of the crew wrecking the building for the Weather Supply Co., says the area is to be used as a parking lot.

His crew, under contract on this job to the General Wrecking Co., has brought down approximately 100 buildings in the last year. There are many such crews in Baltimore today.

Most of the big work had already been done to this building. Gone was the roof. The walls and floors of the top levels were likewise part of the past.

Now two men with picks in their hands, struggled at the boards of the first floor. Two others, their hands gloved against a splinter or nail which might offer some resistance on behalf of the house, carried away the boards, watching closely to determine what might be salvaged.

It seems this old building stood quite a time before it had to come down because Mr. Thomas says very little is being salvaged.

• • •

SHOOTING UP in the wake of the wrecked buildings are housing projects, shopping centers, and other things.

And some day, as sure as they go up now, they will come down, too.

Nut bread for coffee hour

Whenever you say, "Come to my house for coffee," you really mean, "Come for coffee and a little something to eat!"

At least, most people associate a cup of fragrant hot coffee with a bite or two of something sweet, whatever the time of day. So often, though, when you're holding a meeting, it's a real puzzler as to what you'll serve.

You want something quick and easy that you can make in advance. It has to be attractive nd utterly delicious and... wouldn't it be nice to have something really different?

WELL, LOOK no further! Here's a truly remarkable bread that will meet your stiffest requirements.

It's Lili's Nut - Chocolate Bread, and perhaps the most unusual part about it is the chocolate. Mixed into the dough (a prepared mix, by the way) are chopped walnuts and, believe it or not, pieces of semi-sweet chocolate.

This means, of course, that you have a dessert bread that departs from the usual fruited variety and offers a totally new and delicious combination of flavors. When it's spread with cream cheese or whipped butter, a thick slice will literally melt in your mouth.

You can serve this handsome bread at a mid-morning coffee, at an afternoon meeting or even after dinner. But, whenever you serve it, be sure to make plenty of freshly brewed coffee to go with it. You'll have to go a long way to find a happier combination.

• • •

MAKE LILI'S Nut-Chocolate Bread with three cups prepared biscuit mix, three-fourths cup sugar, one egg, one and one-fourths cups orange juice, three - fourths cup chopped walnuts, one six-ounce pkg. (one cup) semi-sweet chocolate pieces.

Measure biscuit mix into mixing bowl and stir in sugar. Combine egg and orange juice and add to flour mixture. Beat hard thirty seconds. Stir in nuts and three-fourths cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces.

Turn into well-greased loaf pan 9 x 5 x 3 inches or 11 x 4½ x 2½ inches. Sprinkle remaining chocolate pieces on top of batter. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) fifty-five to sixty minutes.

Cool thoroughly before slicing. Serve with parsley-garnished cream cheese or whipped butter or margarine.
