Newlywed Charles Harrises Given Wedding Reception

WASHINGTON—Mr. and Mrs. William D. Neely gave a wedding reception Saturday evening, May 7, at their home, 953 N. 48th Street, Philadelphia, in honor of their daughter, Jeanne Murphy, who was married recently to Pvt. Charles . Harris, of this city, at Fort Dix, N.J.

The bride wore a rose tafetta ballerina length gown, with a bertha colar, cut in a V-neckline and tight-fitting to the waist. She wore a red net halo on her hair caught at each side with rhinestones and a rhinestone bracelet.

The bride's sister, Betty Neely, a junior at Howard University, who served as maid-of-honor, wore an identical gown of aqua tafetta with navy blue accessories. Betty made both the bride's dress and her own.

Mother Wears Blue

Mrs. Sarah Neely, mother of the bride, wore a blue crepe, with a side drape, and trimmed with multi-colored sequins.

Acting as Junior hostesses, the niece of the bride, Little Sharon Murphy, Sondra Logan and Judy Ann Hall gave souvenir matches to each guest with the bride and bridegroom's names engraved in gold.

Acting as hostesses were Mesdames Alice Q. Murphy, Clementine E. Knox, and Miriam T. Brown, all of Baltimore; Miss Charlotte Seabrown of Chicago and Washington, and Mesdames Dorothy Y. Townsend, Sadye S. Mitchell, Wanda D. Moseley, Francesca R. Hayward, Elizabeth G. Jamison, and Hazel C. Gaddie, all of Philadelphia.

Out-of-town guests were:

Miss Charlotte Seabrown of Chicago and Washington, Mesdames Clementine Knox, Sadie Murphy, Mollie Talliafero, Violet Nixon, Miriam T. Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. John H. Murphy III and children Sharon and Daniel H. Murphy Jr. of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Kermit J. Hall and Miss Judy Ann Hall of Yeadon, Penna.

Philadelphians present were:

Messrs and mesdames Charles W. Mitchell, Paul Moseley, James T. Townsend, Ambrose H. Gaddie, Aubrey Hayward, Richard Ross, Warren Vann and son Warren, Jr., Julius Baptiste, David McIntosh, William C. Wingate, Paul Wilson Claude R. Davis, and Calvin Royall. Dr. and Mrs. John H. Graves;

Mesdames Helen F. Brown, Frieda R. Durham, Hallye P. Earley, Alda E. Logan, Evelyn M. Oliver, Helen K. Braxton, Ida V. Moore, Alice J. Cottrell, George T. Hutchins, Adele Adams, Marie A. Boston, B. Beulah H. Creditt, Gladys E. Nixon, Mary E. Farley, Leona Murph, Linnie Stokes, Margaret Pettiford and Bernice Shelton;

Misses Louise G. Young, E. Louise Thompson, Margaret O'Reilly, Elizabeth Cotterall, Louise Creditt, Bernice Waties, Alzada J. Hamilton and Alma Williams;

Messrs Norris Durham, Donald and Kennith Young and Milton Johnson.

Mothers on Ivy Program

Mrs. Martina W. Jones, speaker, and Mrs. Marie Frazier, soloist, were featured on the Mother's Day program of the Ivy Leaf Club, pledgees to Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, at the Christian Center of Morgan State College Sunday.

Mrs. Jones is the mother of Miss Alverta Jones, Class of '51, and Mrs. Frazier, wife of Dr. Thomas Frazier of the Department of Biology, Morgan State College, mother of Miss Dolores Frazier, Class of '52. Both young women are Ivy Club members.

Other participants on the program were Miss Emily Ricks, who gave the prelude and Miss Gloria Tucker, a reading.

LES CRETONNES—Mrs. Verna Davis of 1803 N. Mount Street entertained the group on Tuesday. Prizes at pinochle went to Mrs. Jane D. Hayes, first; and Miss Evelyn Meyer, second. Mrs. Ethel T. Douglass, who celebrated a birthday, was given a gift. Miss Inez Bailey, of the Plymouth Hall Apartments, is in Provident Hospital.

Eight Debutantes to Bow at Annual Medeso's Ball

with Lula Jones Garrett

On Thursday night of next week, the Medesos will present eight of the town's damsels at their annual debutante ball.

The affair will be held at Morgan Christian center, when the following will make their formal bow:

Miss Catherine Woodland, niece of Mr. and Mrs. A. Jack Thomas; Miss Joyce Augustus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Augustus; Miss Roberta McGuinn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. McGuinn; Miss Jean Locks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Locks, Miss Barbara Ann Jones, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Caesar Jones; Miss Ida Chisholm, daughter of Mrs. Ida Freeman; Miss Madeline Reddick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Reddick; and Miss Leanna May Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Barnes.

Girl Friends Convene

As of the next night (Friday) the Baltimore branch of The Girl Friends will be hosting their national convention here.

More than a hundred of the members (plus some forty-odd of their husbands) will be on hand for the flock of affairs slated, which will include a closed cabaret party at Morgan Hall on Friday night; a banquet at Masonic Temple on Saturday evening following their business session; a formal May Ball at the Elks' Home on Saturday night, following which each of the twenty-one local members will host at a breakfast. All towards which the town's top hostesses have opened their homes, and the town's most eligible males have themselves in readiness as escorts . . . . To aid Hostesses Frances Vessells, president; Agnes Patterson, Georgia Chester, Wahseola Male, Mabel Perkins, Charlotte Hackett, Elsie Dotson, Erma Roye, Anita Wheatley, Eliza Higginbotham, Laura Jones, Catherine Marjorie Spence, Mae Williams, ine Law, Gaynelle Spaulding, Bernice Chapman, Elizabeth Stewart, Mae Parrott, Olfa Parker and Bera Williams.

Guildsmen's Dance

Last Friday night, Biddle Hall resembled a palm garden, with a profusion of palms at short intervals between the seats, in front of the bar, the orchestra and at the door when the Guildsmen, in off white sumer jackets with maroon ties and boutonnieres, held forth.

They are a group of insurance men.

Sophia Edwards was too stunning in a strapless, very flared frock whose adornment was a stark white hemline. Louise Turks topped her black skirt with a cute plaid peplumed jacket.

Hazel Phillips' aqua crepe capped sleeved frock was quite pretty.

Elaine Hassell wore fuchia chiffon, draped from the shoulders, in a grecian mode. The Veney's as usual were doing the very latest steps. She (Ada) in a very printed, sequinned trimmed affair Virginia Trayham was also doing justice to a thin strapped print. The newlywed Kirk Lees (Winnie Cox) danced the entire night with each other. She was cute in the black ruffled sheer.

The black and white taffeta with huge back bow Effie James was wearing caused many an eye to look again. They looked two or three times at Florence Murray whose black sheer had touches of white that made the black stand out, it was really something.

Heads Medicos' Wives

Mrs. Ethel Harris was elected president of the Women's Auxiliary to the Monumental City Medical Society during the meeting held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. W. H. Watts.

Other officers elected were:

Mesdames Harriet White and Emmie Gilkes, first and second vice-presidents; Audrey Butler and Glodine Adams, financial and recording secretaries; Elsie Harris and Senora Reckling, assistant recording and corresponding secretaries; Exavier McDonald and Ruth Lawrence, treasurer and chaplain; and Mattie Coasey, parliamentarian.

The group also heard reports and comments on its recent Easter Frolic held at the Baltimore Gardens, and initiated plans for its State meeting in June.

Hostesses were:

Mesdames Pauline Watts, Virginia Gunn, Elsie Harris, Ruth Shirley, Charlotte Shervington, Teresa Waters, Gladys Shepphe rd and Sadie Wilson.

Club Fetes Mothers

Members of Bona Finitimi honored their mothers at a high tea on Mother's Day at the residence of Mrs. Marguerite Chamberlain, 1523 Pulaski St., at 4 p.m.

Each table was adorned with a floral design of roses, snapdragons sweet peas, and carnations. Souvenir napkins, which were engraved with Bona Finitimi carried the club colors, red and white, and added to the attractiveness of the tables which bore corsage patterned silver.

While the members and mothers dined and socialized, they were entertained by Mrs. Bernice Spruill, who sang several selections.

After tea was served, Mrs. Dorothy Mooney officiated at a program planned by the committee. During this time, Mrs. French Roberts welcomed the parents to the first affair Bona Finitimi Incorporated has given for the mothers. Following this the history of Mother's Day was discussed. Each mother given a gift. The door prize, which was awarded to Mrs. Della Mickle, was a bouquet of assorted flowers.

Mrs. Margaret Hite, who was chairman of the mother daughter affair, climaxed the program by presenting to the president, Mrs. French Roberts, a gift of china dishes.

Hostesses were Mesdames Margaret Hite, Dorothy Mooney, Marguerite Chamberlain, Alice Mickle French Roberts, Ann Pinkney, and Bernice Spruill. Guests were Mesdames Ann Pinkney, M. Jones, Lula Smith, Sarah Thompson, Della Mickle and Margy Carvalho.

Roy S. Bond the attorney, was host to the Howard Alumni, Baltimore chapter, at the supper party which followed their business meeting on Friday night.

The affair was held in the Charles Woodland's club room and offered an opportunity for Mr. Bond to hammer home the need for support of the general alumni.

The group garnered three new members, Julia English, Ernest Goodman and John Hargrove. Others about included A. B. Koger, Thelma Ashe, Ethel Wise, Dr. Miles Connor, William Buckner, Joshua Kelly, Herbert Frisby, Eunice Brooks, Letitia Ashe, U. T. Hayes, Elizabeth Johnson, Lilla Barnum, and Josiah Henry.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wood has announced the marriage of their cousin Mrs. Carrie M. Willis of Baltimore to Samuel Ashcraft of New York City.

their home, 1112-50th Street, N.E.

Deltas Exhibit

Epsilon Sigma chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority did a mighty fine thing on Sunday afternoon when they held an exhibition of creative art at the YWCA.

Poetry, paintings, ceramics, hand-wrought silver jewelry and beaded bags, photography and creative writing, metal tooling, leathercraft and woodcarving, to say nothing of paintings, sculpture costumed dolls, and clay modeling were seen.

Surprise showing was the ceramics exhibited by Dean George Grant of Morgan State College, which grew out of Mrs. Grant beginning the study of ceramics, but her husband turning out to be the artist. Ruth Hopkins turned out some really beautiful poetry, and Gwenevieve Harris fetched the silver work of her pupils which has been the town rave for the past weeks. Showing for the first time here were the paintings of Mrs. Cedric Mills, and William Smith's drawings drew no end of interest. There were a score of others participating including:

Mamie Humphrey, William Jessups, Sarah Johnson, A. D. Jones, Theresa Kennedy Charles Kemp, Reuben Kramer, James Martin J. Orville Moseley, William Quarrells, Charles Stalling,

Peregrinators

Mrs. Howard Brown post-cards back of the swelligant time she is having in Philadelphia, where she is guesting with the Andrew Moores of that town. Williard W. Allen, the Masonic Mogul is out Chicago way. Mrs. Martin Jenkins hopped over to Washington on Tuesday evening for the Howard Faculty Wives' dinner. The Edward Tarters took their offspring, Bailey, over to the Capital for Joyce Tarboro's party. Nellie Bowie and her son, Reden, 2, were off on Tuesday for Seattle, from where they took a ship for a 17-day jaunt ending in Kiota, Japan. There they will join her husband Lt. William Bowie. Mrs. Bowie is the former Nellie Harris, and daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. William Harris of this town.

And speaking of jaunts abroad, Adolph Hodge of Thornwood, N.Y. long time conductor of tours, is readying plans for another group of men and women to see Mexico this summer. Mrs. Miles Connor, Mrs. Blanche McRae and Mrs. Virginia Gunn purred off to Cape May, last week, where they have summer cottages. Off to Pittsburgh for the annual Methodist Episcopal Church Conference were the Rev. Messrs. and Mesdames Kelly Jackson, Fairfax King, C.E. Johnson, E. Adolph Haynes and J. O. Williams. Down for Mother's Day as usual, were Dr. and Mrs. Heber Wharton of Erie, Pa., for the visit with his mother, Mrs. Pauline Wharton. And 'twas Mrs. Reby Thayer of Los Angeles in whose honor Mrs. Joseph Thomas held forth at luncheon on Saturday.

INDEPENDENT ROYAL SAVINGS—met at the home of Mrs. Ceola McIver, 1802 Orleans St., on Tuesday. A repast was served. Mrs. Annie Mae Brown is president; Mrs. Mamie Haskins, treasurer.

Week's Food Econmies

VIRGINIA C. SHERBURNE

Food Economist

May days are busy days for most women, who are trying to fit spring housecleaning, summer sewing, and gardening into their spring schedules. Yet families have to be fed. Cooking must be done. Fresh vegetables in quick, easy-to-prepare recipes are the answer to many a homemaker's May menu problems.

Green vegetables, always spring appetite teasers, are plentiful on the Baltimore retail market this week, and also time-savers in regard to preparation. "Best buys" include asparagus, spinach, cabbage, lettuce, beets and grapefruit.

Asparagus and spinach, both low in price, offer many possibilities. These locally grown vegetables, rich in vitamins and minerals, are excellent served alone, in salad combinations, in casserole dishes, combined with cheese or on vegetable plates. Since the asparagus season is short, it is well to take advantage of the low cost and good quality now. Goldenrod asparagus, made adding hard-cooked eggs and olives to a white sauce and pouring it over asparagus on toast, is a perfect luncheon dish.

Salads in Demand

With warmer weather comes an increased demand for lettuce and cabbabge salads. Cabbage offerings from North Carolina, Virginia and Florida are of good quality and an economical buy. Heads are solid, crisp and exactly right for a green salad. Lettuce continues to be a good value, with shipments still heavy from Arizona and North Carolina.

North Carolina and Texas beets are in good supply. To give this vegetable a spring-like flavor, combine cooked beets with onion, celery, hard cooked eggs, salt, paprika and mayonnaise. Serve on crisp lettuce leaves. Or the busy housewife may like a one dish meal using small beets with tops, asparagus, small new potatoes, snap beans, peas and ham!

Medium and small sized grapefruit are the choice in fruits this week. Cuban pineapples are in good supply, and the small sizes are low in cost. Strawberry and watermelon shipments are holding steady, and prices remain about the same or a little higher. Shipments of strawberries are arriving from Virginia now, and the nearby offerings will be on the market soon. Nearly rhubarb is now being offered at a fairly reasonable figure.

Meat prices remain fairly steady, with chicken fryers and pork as the week's economies. Smoked meats remain a good buy, especially sausage and bacon. Other meat prices are about the same. Lamb is still in the high bracket. Egg prices remain steady. Shad is the "best buy" on the fish counters. Since the season of plentiful supply is limited, shad should be a favored fish buy at present. The supply on the Baltimore market is good this week and the cost is low. The fish are now in nearby waters, since they are heading toward fresh water for their spring spawning. Baking or pan oven broiling are favored methods of preparation. For those who object to the small bones, boned shad is now available, at a higher price!

Two recipes which are intended for the busy homemaker—quick, delicious and healthful are asparagus and rice loaf and asparagus with broiled sauce.

Asparagus and Rice Loaf

2½ cups asparagus
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 teaspoon Curry Powder
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons flour
1½ cups cooked rice
2 eggs, beaten

Drain asparagus; reserve liquor. Melt butter; blend in curry, salt, and flour. Add asparagus liquor; cook until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Add rice and eggs. Cover bottom of greased small loaf pan with half of asparagus; pour on half of rice mixture. Lay on remaining asparagus and top with rice mixture. Bake in moderate oven at 350 F. for one hour. Serve with broiled bacon.

Asparagus with Broiled Sauce

1 egg white
1 cup mayonnaise (approx.)
1 (2½ lb.) bunch asparagus

Fold dressing into stiffly beaten white. Frost hot, well drained vegetables and broil. Other favorite vegetables may be used. Sauce may be broiled separately and passed at the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Jodie Vance Hosts at Party for the Rev. Mr. White

On Tuesday evening, the Rev. E. W. White, pastor of Providence Baptist Church, was feted at a surprise birthday party by Mr. and Mrs. Jodie Vance, at their home, 1934 W. Lanvale Street.

The affair was attended by forty guests, made up of the heads of the various clubs and auxiliaries of the church, and representatives of the official board.

At the conclusion of what he thought was a business meeting, the Rev. Mr. White was caught unaware as the meeting took on a party aspect. Following the singing of "Happy Birthday to You," the program got under way.

The evening was spent in group singing, and expressing of greetings.

Concluding feature was the donkey game, played by the Revs. E. W. White, Herbert E. Moore and J. W. Kelley Sr. According to a prearranged plan, the Rev. Mr. White was the winner. His prize for winning was a shower of birthday gifts, which included a large basket of flowers from the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Vance.

After a repast the group filed back into the living room to hear expressions of appreciation from the Rev. Mr. White.

Soloists for the evening were Mrs. Emma Jackson, and Henry Patterson, both members of Providence.

Sharing in the celebration were Mrs. Eva B. White and his daughter, Mrs. Gladys W. Davis.
