Church Council in $69,000 Drive

Appeal to Continue Through Feb. 21

The United Protestant Appeal with a 1950 goal of $69,334.01 will get under way on Tuesday with an opening dinner for campaign workers at 6 p.m. at Christ English Lutheran Church, Charles and Hill Sts.

Dr. Asbury Smith, president of the Council of Churches and minister of the Walbrook Methodist Church, will be the principal speaker.

The appeal will continue through Feb. 21.

This drive is the annual solicitation of funds for the support and maintenance of the program of the Council of Churches and Christian Education of Maryland and Delaware Inc.

Co-ordinating Agency

The Council serves as a co-ordinating agency in programs, policies and actions that are agreed upon by the co-operating churches and denominations.

Twenty-one denominations in the Mid-Del. area co-operated with the Council. They aim to obtain a larger combined influence in all matters affecting the religious, moral and social conditions of people.

Bladen J. Dorneille, vice president of the Maryland Trust Co., is general chairman of the campaign. Members of the advisory committee include Dr. Miles W. Conner; the Revs. Kelly L. Jackson, A. J. Payne and H. J. Bryant.

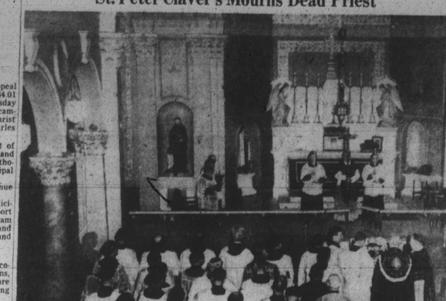

$58,384 for General Budget

Of the total goal, $58,384 is needed for the general operating budget of the Council of Churches. The Metropolitan Baltimore goal is $52,844.01.

The appeal also will provide an opportunity for those who desire to make a special gift toward the reduction of the $11,250.00 mortgage on the Council House at 14 W. Madison St.

Report meetings will be held on Feb. 7, 14 and 21.

St. Peter Claver's Mourns Dead Priest

Members of St. Peter Claver's Catholic Church, and members of other Catholic orders are shown at the funeral services of the late Rev. William A. Murphy, 71, pastor emeritus of the church, on Tuesday. Mass was sung by his brother, the Rev. Edward F. Murphy of New Orleans. Both were members of the Society of St. Joseph, devoting their work to colored parishes.

Solemn Requiem Mass Sung for Claver's Pastor-Emeritus

Solemn requiem mass for the Rev. William A. Murphy, 711 St., pastor emeritus of St. Peter Claver's Catholic Church, was sung there Tuesday.

The body was then shipped to Salem, Mass., his birthplace, for burial in the family plot.

The priest died suddenly on Saturday in the rectory of the church, 1542 N. Fremont Ave.

Brother Is Celebrant

The mass, celebrant was the Rev. Edward F. Murphy, SSJ, brother of the deceased, who is affiliated with Xavier University in New Orleans.

Deacon of the mass was a nephew of the two brothers, the Rev. J. F. O'Connell, SSJ., priest at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Tuskegee, Ala.

Priests Pallbearers

The sermon was preached by the Rev. Thomas J. Fitzgerald, SSJ, rector of St. Joseph's Seminary in Washington, and the choir of the school sang.

Priests of the Society of St. Joseph which is devoted to work with colored people, served as pallbearers.

The Rev. Mr. Murphy was born May 27, 1879, in Salem. He was ordained at the Baltimore Cathedral in 1905 by the late James Cardinal Gibbons.

Career Recalled

Serving briefly in Wilmington, Del., he came to St. Peter's in 1905 as assistant pastor, remaining there for 18 months.

He was once rector of St. Joseph's Seminary in Washington. In 1942 he returned to St. Peter's, where he served until 1948 when he was retired.

Survivors include another brother, Francis Murphy, and two sisters, Miss Agnes Murphy and Mrs. Jeffrey O'Connell.

In Baltimore Churches

The civic committee of the Baltimore Methodist Preachers Meeting, this week, expressed its opposition to inclusion of parochial schools in the Federal Aid to Education bill.

A wire sent to the Maryland Representatives and Senators said in part:

"To grant this demand would be to discard the principle of separation of church and State. We believe public education to be a fundamental bulwark of democracy."

"Public support means public control and breaks down the real reason for private institutions."

Denomination Spurns Aid

The committee pointed out that the Methodist Church had 123 colleges and universities for which it is not seeking Federal aid.

It urged the Maryland Congressmen to help defeat the bill.

On the committee are the Revs. Kelly L. Jackson, chairman; Cecil R. LaGrange, secretary; and Frank J. Frye.

Group Joins Mobilization

Among the Methodist ministers seen aboard the NAACP Freedom Train on Monday were the Revs. Jackson, LaGrange, M. M. Jefferson Jr. and Frank T. Williams.

At its meeting, last week, the Baptist Ministers Conference appointed a committee to go to Washington on the Freedom Train.

The Revs. George A. Crawley, A. J. Payne, W. L. Clayton, B. L. Matthews, H. E. Sockum, T. R. Harris, P. A. Hodges, N. H. Wicks, W. N. Stokes, M. W. Wilkerson, I. C. Reddie, J. R. Butler, V. T. Williams, W. A. Showell, J. L. Moore, J. L. Tillery, Luke J. Reynolds and S. A. Harrington.

Membership Increasing

A religious publication, this week, calls attention to the fact that church membership is still increasing faster than the population as a whole.

At the end of 1948 there were 79,576,352 members of religious bodies, representing 53.3 per cent of the population.

In 1890, only 19.9 per cent of the population were members of churches. By 1900 the proportion had grown to 34.7 per cent. Protestants claim 60 per cent or 47,577,203 of the religious members of the nation.

TV Programs Urged

A Presbyterian church paper points out that the church must claim a significant share of television for God. It said:

"Practically every television station in America would give free time for the showing of religious films, especially if made according to TV specifications."

Six such television films, 15 minutes long, could be produced by the Protestant Radio Commission for about $50,000. After showing on television, prints of the films could be rented and sold to church schools all across America.

Thus the original cost of it would be cared for so that new films could be made.

Evangelistic Services

Union Baptist Church will hold evangelistic services there beginning Sunday and extending through the week. Messages will be given by the pastor, the Rev. Baxter L. Matthews, and Dr. John L. Tilley, dean of the Maryland Baptist Center.

The regular missionary Day on Jan. 29 will feature a special service at 3:30 p.m., with a sermon by the Rev. Marion C. Bascom, pastor of Douglas Memorial Community Christian Church.

Methodist churches will mark the "Advance" program on Sunday with special services by their Women's Societies of Christian Service. Theme of the observance is "Christ Himself, the Cornerstone."

Mass: Visitor to Preach

The morning speaker at New Eastern Methodist Church will be the Rev. Emory Taylor of Springfield, Mass. At 3 p.m., there will be an address on the Women's Society of Christian Service program by Mrs. M.B. Holt.

At 8 p.m., the Women's Society of Christian Service at Sharp St. Methodist Church will sponsor the showing of a sound movie, "Kyoto of Japan." It is the story of an American Christian Missionary.

Next Sunday will mark the fifth Sunday that the congregation of St. Mary's Episcopal Church has worshipped in the re-built structure. Three years ago the building was gutted by fire.

Ushers Sponsor Concert

The Senior Ushers of Douglas Memorial Community Christian Church are sponsoring a concert there on Jan. 30 by the Baltimore and Ohio Glee Club. Choirmen are Mr. and Mrs. Alfon Parsons.

Miss Shirley Holland and Fleming James were soloists last

Young People's Day to Be Noted

Recital at 5 P.M.

At 5 p.m., there will be a recital by John Nelson, lyric tenor, a member of the Gra-Mu Opera Company of Philadelphia.

Program arrangements are being made by Raymond T. Carpenter Jr. The Rev. Reginald Daniels is pastor.

Assistant Tuskegee President Buried

Assistant to the president of Tuskegee Institute, Albon L. Holsey died there Monday after a week's illness.

Funeral services were held there Thursday morning and the body was interred on the college grounds. He was a native of Athens, Ga.

BURIAL SLATED SATURDAY:

Dr. G.H. 'Sparky' Adams Dies of Heart Attack

viously the death of Miss Blanch Lindsay, a Navy Department employee.

Early one Sunday night in September, a year ago, she telephoned the surgeon to drive down from Washington and return her there so that she could get to her government job on time, Monday morning.

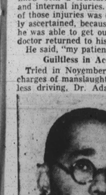

He responded, and on the trip back to Washington, in Anne Arundel County on Route 258, the sleek new automobile owned by the doctor, ran off the road and the woman's neck was broken. She was killed instantly, and the car demolished.

Dr. Adams was taken to Emergency Hospital in Annapolis, but left for Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, where he was confined with a fractured arm, jaw and internal injuries. The extent of those injuries was never actually ascertained, because as soon as he was able to get out of bed the doctor returned to his hospital.

He said, "my patients need me."

Guiltless in Accident

Tried in November of 1948 on charges of manslaughter and reckless driving, Dr. Adams won an acquittal; and he was adjudged not liable for damages in a suit subsequently brought in 1949 by relatives of Miss Lindsay for damages in the death.

A native of Bluefield, W.Va., Dr. Adams attended Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn., and transferred to Howard University, where he earned not only his B.S., but also his M.D. degrees, the latter from the Medical School in 1927.

It was while he was attending school that he earned his nickname, "Sparky," for his scintillating performances in athletics, sociality, politics and the stage.

Jimmy Lunceford's Pal

A musician of unusual attainments, he worked his way through school by playing in bands at resorts during the summer vacation periods.

It was during this period that he met many of the leading band leaders, notably the late Jimmy Lunceford, who was to be his lifelong friend and who stayed at his home in Washington whenever he had an engagement here.

After serving an internship and residency, at the Wheatley Hospital in Kansas City, Dr. Adams came to Washington during 1933.

Lecture Series Set on Nation's Economy

The series are being sponsored by the Baltimore City Public School System with the Maryland State Department of Education, Maryland County Schools, and the Joint Council on Economic Education co-operating.

Three Co-ordinators

Co-ordinators will be Frank Fairbank, Baltimore City College; Charles Gontrum, Eastern High School; and Miss Josie Sites of Southern High School. All are teachers who participated in the NYU Workshop on Economic Education.

Persons interested should call BEImont 6300 for information, or write for applications to Thomas A. Van Sant, director of Adult Education, 3 E. 25th St., Zone 18.

Thomas Slaying Hearing Revives 'Gang War' Talk

key witnesses, Rudolph and George Holmes.

Rudolph said the argument began inside the house when Thomas wanted to start a dice game and Norris disagreed.

Questioned About Pistol

George, who arrived late for the hearing, testified:

"We never got in the house." He added that the exchange of words and the blow or blows were struck after he and Norris had rekindled an old argument over a girl friend.

Norris surrendered on Dec. 21, three days after the death, but was not immediately charged. At the time, the medical examiner's office indicated uncertainty over the cause of death.

Examinations revealed, police said, Thomas had received treatments for a heart condition, high blood pressure and lung trouble.

He died before arriving at Provident Hospital, Dec. 18, after being beaten in the 1300 block of Woodyear St.
