Easterwood Cops 15th Win in Row

In a game replete with thrills, the Easterwood A.C., turned back the Beth Tfiloh C.C., 66-63, at the Richmond Market Armory, Sunday afternoon, for its 15 straight win.

Beth Tfiloh jumped into the lead at the start and led at the end of the quarter, 16-7. Smith of Beth Tfiloh, who was high scorer with 28 points, began to pour the leather through the hoop and Beth Tfiloh led at half-time, 30-28.

In the second half, Easterwood began to click. Led by Ray King, who tallied 22 points and Jim Gray, who was close behind with 19 markers, the interracial five took the lead at the three-quarter mark, 52-40. Beth Tfiloh would not be denied and pulled up within 3 points but the time ran out.

To Play Md. State

On Sunday, Easterwood will meet the Washington McKee Pontiacs at the Richmond Market Armory at 4 p. m.

On Wednesday, Feb. 8, Coach Boyer's interracial five will meet the powerful Maryland State College squad at Princess Anne.

Corvettes Upset

The Fountain Heads scored a stunning upset over the league-leading Corvettes, 30-13. The Corvettes, playing without their regulars, were no match for the rapidly improving Fountain Heads. W. Wilson, flashy forward for the Fountain Boys, scored more points than the entire Corvette team combined. Wilson tallied 15 points for high scoring honors.

Mustangs Win, Lose

The Mustangs and the Vulcans divided two games during the week; the Vulcans winning the first 25-15 and the Mustangs winning the second, 26-25.

In the first game little Mickey McDaniels proved too much for the Mustangs, holding Cue and Ewell, to two baskets while getting 8 points himself.

In the second game, Ewell all but shot the Vulcans out of the gymnasium getting 14 of his teams' 26 points. With but five seconds to play, the Mustangs, were trailing 24-25, Capt. Wright was fouled and cashed two free throws.

Miner Bounces Bowie Then Take to Road

Romping past Bowie Teachers, 80-61, Monday night at Bowie, Md., for their highest score this season, Miner Teachers' cagers began preparation for a two-game road trip this week end.

The Maroon Raiders, boasting a 5-2 season record, will seek a pair of wins to stretch their two-game win streak. They will meet Virginia Seminary at Lynchburg, Friday, January 20, and on Saturday, January 21, will oppose Elizabeth City Teachers in North Carolina in their second meeting. The Maroon Raiders took the North Carolina quintet in tow, 50-30, here earlier in the season.

Faces Cheyney Here

Flooring their best team in the past five years, Miner will face Storer there on January 27, and then return home for its next game against Cheyney, February 3, at Banneker gym.

Miner rebounded from a 61-46 trouncing by St. Paul to win two straight tilts in three days. The Raiders walloped Storer, 68-30, on Saturday, and followed up with the shellacking of Bowie.

Braddock Scores 32

Big gun in all three tilts has been elusive Clarence Braddock, former Armstrong cage. The 6-foot, 1-inch forward tallied 61 points in the three tilts, garnering a high of 32 against Bowie.

Miner had it easy in the second half after preserving a 41-33 half-time margin. A big factor also in the rout of Bowie was Clarence Hansford, former Cardozo three-letter athlete. Hansford tallied 20 against Bowie, but scored only nine in the two weekend tilts.

Les Graves, Gratz Football Star, to Get Cliveden Award

PHILADELPHIA

Leslie Graves, football and track star at Simon Gratz High School, has been named the winner of the 10th annual Cliveden Award.

Picked as the city's outstanding scholastic athlete by sportswriters and sportscasters, Graves will receive the award, symbolic of the honor, during the Men of Cliveden banquet at the Rittenhouse St. YMCA on Saturday night, Jan. 28.

Lewis Carter, the Germantown group's publicity director, said the balloting for this year's award winner was unusually close.

Pressing Graves, he said, were Don Bagby, West Philadelphia High track and cross country star, Jackie Moore, Overbrook basketball and track ace, and Rudy Miles, a football and basketball standout at Dobbins Vocational.

Graves, a two-time all-Public League backfield selection, was the star of the Gratz team which won the PL grid title last fall. He is also the league's 100-yard dash champion.

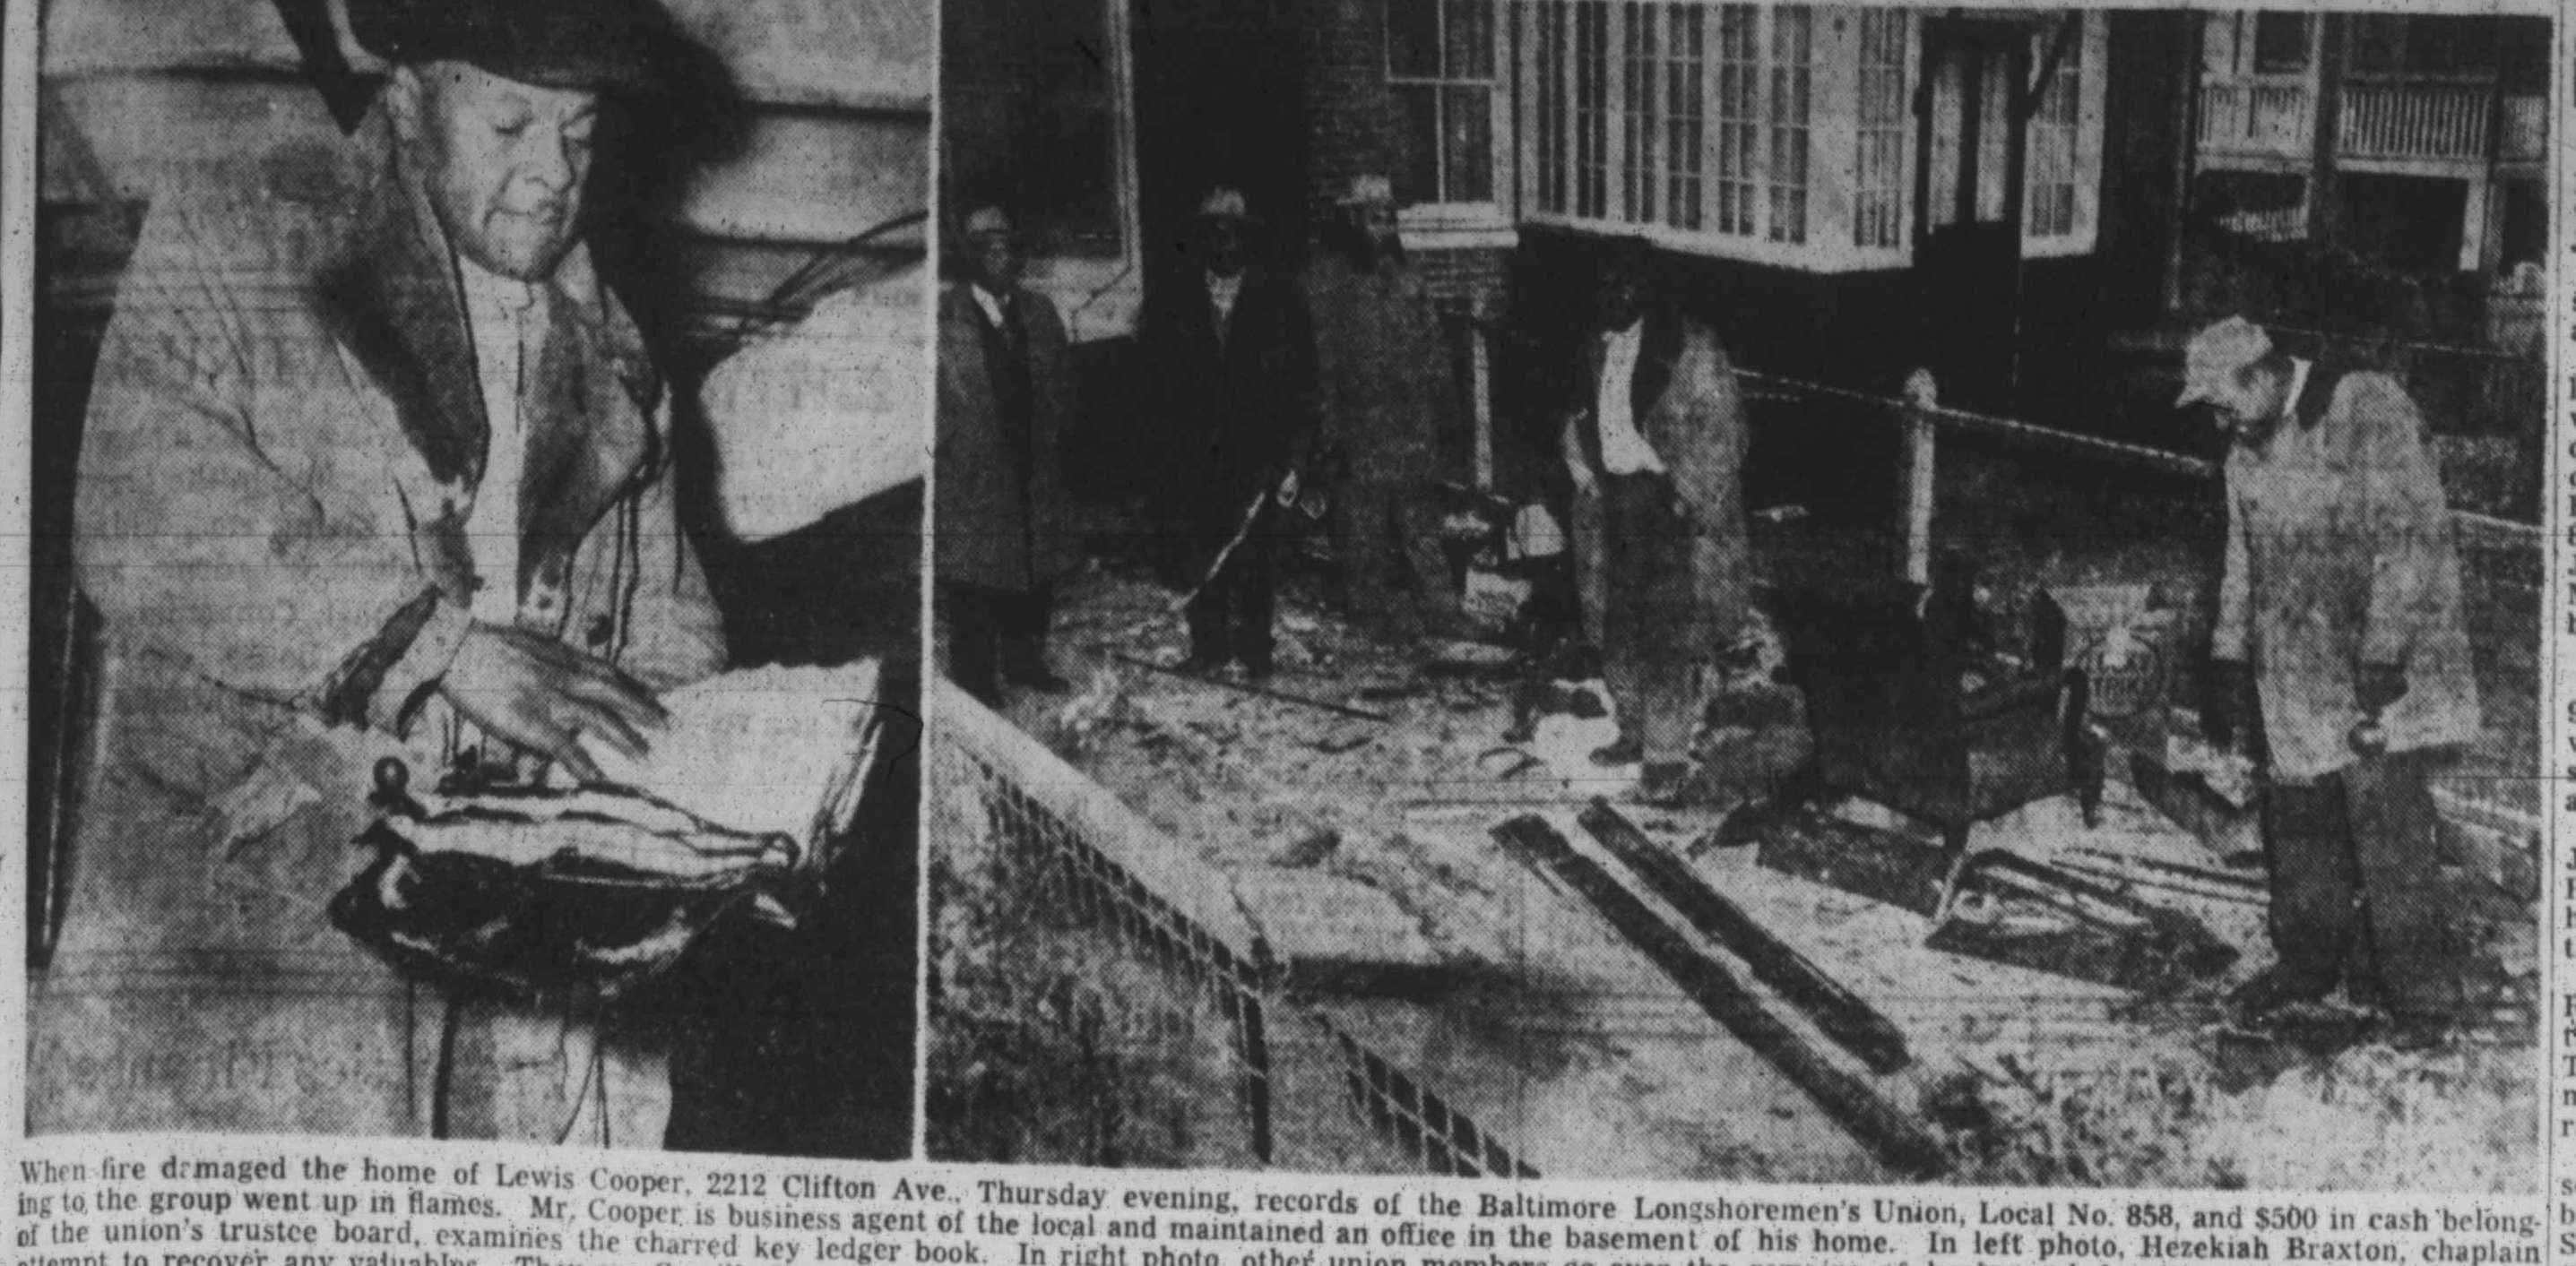
Longshoremen's Records, Cash Go Up in Flames



When fire damaged the home of Lewis Cooper, 2212 Clifton Ave., Thursday evening, records of the Baltimore Longshoremen's Union, Local No. 858, and $500 in cash belonging to the group went up in flames. Mr. Cooper is business agent of the local and maintained an office in the basement of his home. In left photo, Hezekiah Braxton, chaplain of the union's trustee board, examines the charred key ledger book. In right photo, other union members go over the remains of books and furniture in back yard in an attempt to recover any valuables. They are Carville Turner, outgoing president; Benjamin Curtis, vice president; Pythias Jones, Mr. Braxton and Raymond E. Chambers, trustees.—(AFRO Staff Photos by Phillips).

Two of Four Men Found Guilty on Girl's Charges

After five hours of deliberation late Thursday, a jury found guilty two of four men charged in an attempted attack on a 16-year-old girl.

The jury recommended mercy for the convicted men, but sentence was suspended pending a motion for a new trial. The original trial lasted three days.

The two convicted men were the Davises.

Defendants Named

The four men are William Hall, 20, of the 900 block Spring St.; Paul Davis, 20, of the 1700 block Ashland Ave.; Franklin Davis, 23, of the 1200 block Nolan Ct.; and Albert Glascoe, 31, of the 1000 block Somerset St. The two Davises are not related.

All were picked out by the young girl who said she and two girl friends were walking near the Orleans St. viaduct on Oct. 4, when an automobile containing the men pulled up. One jumped out with a pistol, and she was forced into the machine, she said stating that the other girls fled.

The victim said they abused and kept her in the car from 9:30 p.m. until midnight.

Finally, she said, when Franklin Davis changed his mind about attacking her again and put her out of the car, she made her way to the home of Leo Jones, 1414 McElderry St., and the two of them found Special Officer Floyd Booker.

Blood on Suspects Shirt

He in turn came upon Officer Charles Smith, and Franklin Davis was arrested several blocks away with blood on his undershirt. The other men later were rounded up.

The conviction of Thomas Edwards, now under sentence of death in the Glen Burnie murders, was brought into the case by Joseph Rosenthal, one of three attorneys for the defendants.

He told the jury that the girl simply had identified the wrong men. "Look at the Edwards case!" he went on:

"They may have the wrong man. I wouldn't be surprised if that confession isn't thrown out. You're being asked to convict four men because of the testimony of three stupid girls."

Identification Held Incomplete

The attorney attacked the fact that the girls did not describe the clothing or appearance of the men.

Charles Orth and William Maynard, prosecutors, pointed to evidence that the girl identified Paul Davis's automobile, that a bloody towel was on the back seat, and that the blood belonged to the same grouping as that of the teenager.

The medical report, in addition, showed clearly that the young girl had been criminally attacked.

All Offer Alibis

The defense consisted of alibis and a second contention that the girl's story admitted that the attack contained no elements of force.

Paul Davis's story was that he was out with a girl friend that evening, and that the blood on the towel was her's; Franklin Davis was said to have been arrested as he was leaving a friend's home; William Hall, the defense went on, spent the entire evening in bed; and Glascoe spent it in a movie.

The jury sat under Chief Judge W. Conwell Smith. Other attorneys for the defense were J. M. Butler and J. F. Ford.

Fire at Longshoreman's Home Damages Office and Kitchen

An overheated furnace pipe was responsible for a fire which caused an undetermined amount of damage at the home of Lewis Cooper, business agent of the International Longshoremen's Union, Local 858, Thursday evening.

No one was injured in the dwelling at 2212 Clifton Ave. Mr. Cooper was away on business when the blaze started. His wife, Mrs. Novella Cooper, a student at Morgan State College extension division, was in class, and their three children were visiting grandparents.

No Idea of Damage

Supervising 12 workmen on repairs this morning (Friday) Mr. Cooper said as yet he has no idea of the amount of damage, but that he is covered by insurance.

He told the AFRO Thursday evening that records of the local and $500 in cash were among the things destroyed. Firemen rescued $25 in $1 bills found in a brief case.

Firemen from three engines of Truck Co. No. 10 battled the blaze for an hour and a half before getting it under control.

They were hampered by thick smoke that billowed from the fire, which was confined to the rear of the cellar, where Mr. Cooper maintained an office and the kitchen.

The blaze was discovered by a neighbor who sounded the fire alarm around 6 p.m., Thursday.

Mr. Cooper has served as business agent of the local since Jan. 26, 1948. He was re-elected for a two-year term on Dec. 15, 1949. William Hale was named president at the same time to succeed Carville Turner.

Jesse O. Thomas Sues Pullman Co.

WASHINGTON

With complaints that his constitutional rights had been violated when he was not allowed to occupy the drawing room for which he had bargained, nor permitted to obtain other similar accommodations, Jesse O. Thomas, 1757 U St., N.W., American Red Cross official, this week, sued the Pullman Company for a total of $10,000.

The suit is in two counts, each of which requests $5,000 damages.

Mr. Thomas, long a prominent figure in social work in the nation, told the District Court in the first count, through his attorney, that on Jan. 25, 1948, he was a passenger on the Southern Pacific Railroad, having paid first class for passage from Houston to Austin, Texas.

He said that he had also paid for Pullman service and the drawing room.

Boarded at Small Town

Due to a business engagement, Mr. Thomas asserts that he found it inadvisable to board the train at Houston, but chose to mount it at Hempstead, Texas, the site of his last engagement.

When he presented himself to the conductor of the Pullman in which he had reservation, Mr. Thomas alleges that he was told that the reservation had been sold.

Requesting that he be sold another in an unoccupied space in the car, the complainant avows that he was again refused.

Because he is an official in a national organization, the complainant asserts that he is required to make many divers meetings.

Ask $5,000 for Suffering

As a result of the attitude of the Pullman conductor, he declares that he was forced to spend the night in a drafty coach and suffered a cold, which with medical expense for treatment and embarrassment are worth $5,000.

In the second count, Mr Thomas emphasizes that he is an American citizen who was "wickedly and maliciously discriminated against solely because of his color in the refusal to honor the Pullman contract."

This amounted to a violation of the civil rights of the planitiff and "said action was a violation of the rules and regulations of the Interstate Commerce Commission . . . and a violation of his rights under the 14th Amendment to the Constitution."

Mr. Thomas believes that the "illness, humiliation, embarrassment, and suffering of the indignities" entitle him to another $5,000.

Waitress, 22, Held in Wage Dispute

A 22-year-old waitress, accused of robbing her former employer after a wage dispute, was held for the grand jury in $1000 bail, Tuesday.

Principals in the Northwestern police court case were Miss Geneva Phiffer, 700 block Morris St., and Aristedes Papamarolkis, Greek owner of a Pennsylvania Ave. restaurant.

Speaking through an interpreter, the complainant charged that Miss Phiffer struck him with her fist, rifled his cash register and took his wallet containing a total of $235 on Jan. 6.

Took Money Due Her

He explained that they quarreled over money she was to receive on being discharged.

Miss Phiffer denied the robbery, but admitted taking $12 from the cash register "because he owed it to me." The waitress also denied assaulting the owner

PFC. NORMAN S. BARNES, son of Mrs. Mary Williams, 900 block Park Ave., is attending the Signal Corps School, near Augusta, Ga. He is a graduate of the Carver Vocational High School.

Son Mother Shuns Given $25 Fine

With his mother as the complainant, Walter Curry, 29, 800 block N. Monroe St., was fined $25, Sunday, on charges of disturbing the peace.

Mrs. Curry told Magistrate Leroy C. Shaughnessy, that her son came in the house last Friday night, announced he was going to "take over the crib," and cursed and shoved his teen-age sister around.

Mrs. Curry described her son as, "A boy you just can't do anything with," adding that he had drawn a knife on her earlier in the week.
