Cocktailer High Spot Women's Anniversary

with Lula Jones Garrett

The "Women" celebrated their tenth anniversary with a cocktail party in the Blue Room of the York Hotel, Saturday evening.

And if they are going to come up with as swell a party as the little affair on Bath Night, I, for one, will be waiting around when the twentieth anniversary comes up.

It has been many a moon since such a dress affair has gladdened these sad old eyes. The hostesses and their guests laid it . . . that is, with the exception of two gals who fell in and then silently "snuk" out the side door.

Lula Patterson and Marie Murphy, making a dent in that perfect picture, in suits, when there were satins and laces, a flock of sequined hats and bared shoulders. They had come from a birthday party for Marie's year-old namesake, Marie Phillips, and had dashed on by for the cocktailer. They grinned sickly through a couple of manhattans and a trio of hors de'ourves, and then ambled out to cry on each other's shoulder . . . chiefly, I think, because both of them had lately garnered some frocks, and were waiting for a chance to nonchalantly knock some natives' eyes out, and missed the swelligant opportunity.

But back to the party. The girls' table was a dream . . . flower and tid-bit ladened. And the hostesses were strictly whistle bait.

Verna Gosnell, president of the club, was in aqua crepe, the entire bodice beaded and the skirt flaunting flying panels. Her hat, an exact match for the dress, was trimmed with pink rosebuds. Juanita Kelson wore black lace and crepe. Her black straw bonnet was topped with white gardenias. Charlotte Brent was in pale green print with white background and a simply gorgeous green hat entirely covered with lilies of the valley. Ivora Evans wore a black velvet pegged skirt topped with a dolman-sleeved silver metallic bodice. Her side and back draped turban was in the same silver metallic.

Arnita Grinner, in flamingo tissue faille, wore a black hat swirled in taffeta which matched her frock. Then there was Mildred King in a strapless black crepe which featured a black stole lined with red. Her hat was a small black straw with black cog feathers. Ethel Harris wore pale blue made with a low square neckline, and a black sequin hat swirled with net. A red lace and crepe frock, draped to the side, a hat of black and rhinestone chandalier earrings was selected by Alyce Young. Catherine Wilson was in a black crepe skirt with printed top and a large black hat; and Mary Griffin accentuated her platinum locks with steel bead trimmed black frock and a pink hat laden with roses and ribbon.

Lucille Monroe was another of those wearing flower ladened hats, her's being paneled on one complete side by colorful roses. Her frock was a chic black draped number.

Two inactive members, mere guests for the evening, Victorine Adams and Edna Douglass, both selected gray. The former in a cut steel bead trimmed cocktail suit with a little gray bonnet swathed in gray maline and tied 'neath her chin; and the latter in a draped crepe frock, topped by a black hat.

Another member, Vernice Wynn, was absent because of a recent bereavement. Each member wore a white gardenia wrist corsage.

Mrs. Griffin gave a short history of the club and introduced each member to the guests; spoke of Mrs. Sara Spencer Washington, Their honorary member, and proposed a toast to her. Edward Henderson sang a couple of numbers, and Paul Brent and Walter Fisher were at the piano and organ all evening.

And I am sure that everyone who received an invitation was there, including:

Maud Woodland, Mildred Johnson, Margaret Ewing, Helen Burwell, Catherine Taylor of Washington, Xavier McDonald, Elizabeth Crudup, Gertrude Urquhart, Marie Bourne of Frederick, Sarah Rayne, Ruth Shipley,

Argena Tinners, Lottie Johnson, Bernice Monroe, Allegra Taylor, Pauline Watts, Etta Phifer, Ida Nicholas, Doris Tarter, Catherine Law, Nellie Cottman, Kitty Peck,

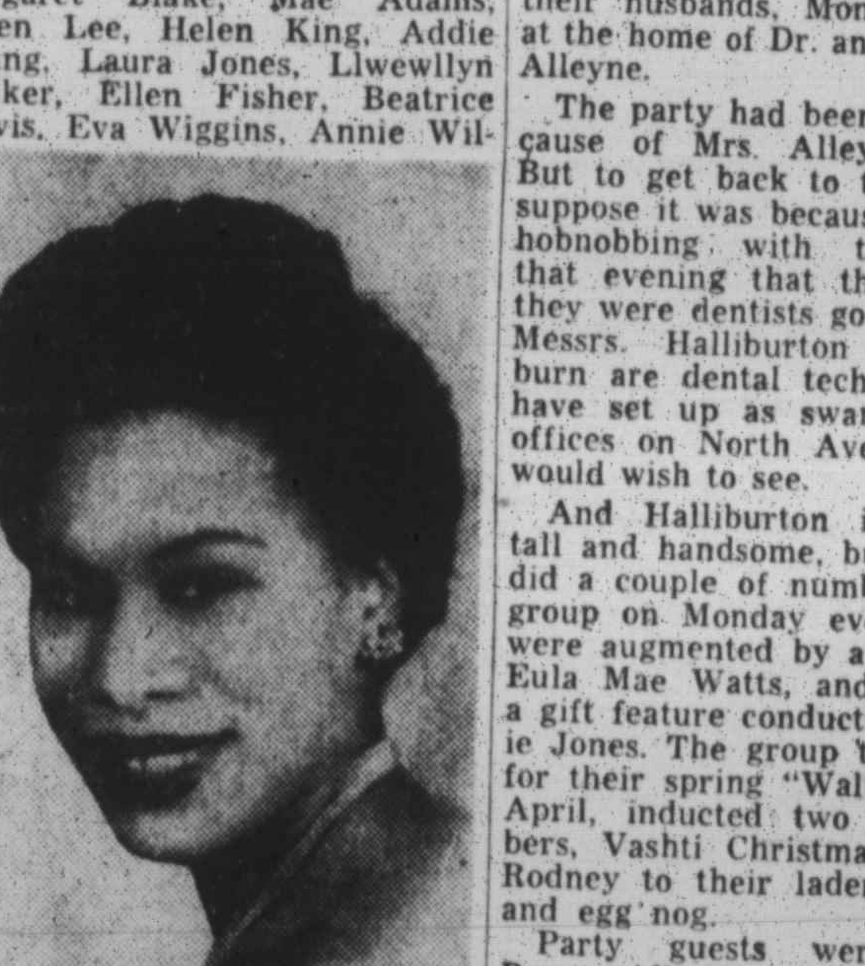
Roberta Keats, Thelma Smith, Virginia Jones, Hilda Rochester, Pearl Arledge, Harriet Coleman, Phyllis Allen, Rosalie Shepard, Alice Carroll, Ann Evans,

Ruby Grooms, Viola Wright, Juanita Young, Merita Stokes, Alma Rich, Maud Williams, Mildred Hamilton, Ada Veney, Dorothy Evans, Pearl Jackson, Elizabeth Walker,

Marie Murphy, Emily Cralle, Erma George, Georgia Chester, Beulah Plummer, Carrie Scott, Janet Johnson, Bernice Chatman, Frances Vessells, Yvette Murphy, Catherine Adams,

Mabel Perkins, Beatrice Truman, Margaret Hythe, Wahseeola Male, Verba Dorsey, Helen Johnson, Gladys Britt, Evelyn Echols, Ruby Reid, Leona Young, Inez Kent, Ethel Williams, Arletta Taylor, Sarah Jackson, Rebecca Brown,

Daveta King, Mae Locks, Marjorie Chatman, Mary McPherson, Margaret Blake, Mae Adams, Helen Lee, Helen King, Addie Young, Laura Jones, Llwewllyn Walker, Ellen Fisher, Beatrice Travis, Eva Wiggins, Annie Willis,



Mildred Hooper, Julia McDaniels, Alice Smith, Lillian Walden, Olivia Peters, Elise Clark, Bernadine Harrison, Arelia Stanley, Irene Day, Pauline Caulk, Alice Gross, Annie Haughton, Mary McPherson, Amanda Nanley of Annapolis, Edythe Blake, Marion Smith, Juliet Bragg, Mabel Watty, Ruth Rosedom, Thelma Mitchell, Louise Turks, Annette Johnson, and Charlotte Mebane.

ELIGIBLES ELICIT INTEREST

In Baltimore where any single man who can make it from his white marble steps to the curb without aid of a wheelchair is considered an eligible bachelor, it is no wonder that when two young and handsome men settle in town it causes a small riot. Which of course accounts for the rash of speculation among the fair sex over Norman Halliburton and Gregory Thorburn, formerly of New York and New Jersey, respectively, who have recently joined the local set.

They were guests of the women's Auxiliary to the Maryland Dental Society when the Ladies gave a belated holiday party for their husbands, Monday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Alleyne.

The party had been delayed because of Mrs. Alleyne's illness. But to get back to the guests. I suppose it was because they were hobnobbing with the dentists that evening that the idea that they were dentists got about. The Messrs. Halliburton and Thorburn are dental technicians, and have set up as swank a set of offices on North Avenue as you would wish to see.

And Halliburton is not only tall and handsome, but sings. He did a couple of numbers for the group on Monday evening. They were augmented by a number by Eula Mae Watts, and there was a gift feature conducted by Mamie Jones. The group talked plans for their spring "Waltz Time" in April, inducted two new members, Vashti Christmas and Elza Rodney to their ladened table and egg nog.

Party guests were Doctors Bruce Alleyne, Bernard Christmases, junior and senior; Martin J. Rodney, James Whyte, Chalmers Hairston, Charles Watts, Maurice Doles, Orris Walker, Caesar Jones and Frank Sykes. Their hostesses were their wives, plus Mary Hackett and Llewellyn Walker.

Party Stuff

The Frank Phillipses gave a party for their year-old daughter, Marie Elizabeth, on Saturday, and the young lady made her debut in a much be-ruffled organdie frock, one of her natal gifts, looking precisely like a cherbur.

About were her godmother, Mrs. Louis Harmon; her namesake, Mrs. Marie Murphy; grandmother, Mrs. Carl Murphy and Mesdames Beatrice Wright and Ella Hughes. The following youngsters came with their mothers: Yvonne Lane, Yvonne Matthews, Gaines Lansey Jr., Jackie Jones of Buffalo, all cousins of the honoree; Sue Lighston, William (Skipper) Gibson, Harold Jennifer Jr., and Robert McDaniel Jr.,

Unhappiest tot of the week was two-year-old Norman Watkins whose mommie (Charlotte Watkins) had call off the birthday party planned for him when he came down with chicken pox. Plans call for the celebration late in the month when he's completely recovered.

And happiest couple of the week was the Donald F. Bennetts (Naomi Oliver) whose first-born, a son, arrived Thursday vis Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Mme. Lillian Evanti of Washington and President and Mrs. Martin Jenkins of Morgan were dinner guests of Mrs. Laura Wheatley, Sunday.

After dinner they were joined by the following who enjoyed a musical evening:

Miss Carol Blanton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Young, Mae Downes, Linwood Koger, Dr. and Mrs. Hugh Price Hughes, Mrs. Frances White, Mrs. Fairfax King, Mrs. Lena Dickerson and Miss Regina Wright.

Mrs. Kay M. Carter and Miss Harriet Peat were hostesses at a luncheon Saturday for Mrs. Carlita Jones of Buffalo, who has been on the home hearth for the past two weeks. Present were

• When your child is cross because of "Childhood Constipation," do you add to her discomfort by giving small doses of a harsh-acting, adult's laxative? Do you risk upsetting her nervous system by forcing her to take a bad-tasting laxative? Play safe. Give Fletcher's Castoria . . . the thorough laxative made especially for children. So gentle, it will not cause discomfort. So pleasant tasting, children take it gladly.
