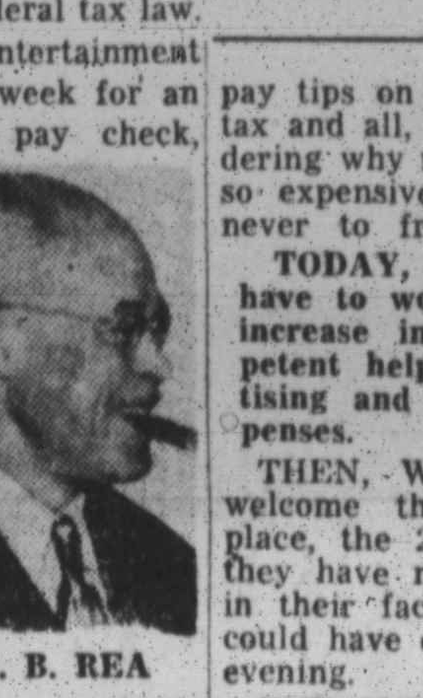
Opening Sunday at Bridge Theatre

Jeanne Crain in the title role of "Pinky," and Ethel Waters as her grandmother, in a sympathetic scene from the film which shows Sunday through Tuesday at the Bridge Theatre.

Pennsylvania Avenue

By E. B. REA

AT A TIME WHEN business needs a hypo, along nitery rows, the heavy, strong arm of the U.S. Government is stifling club operators in the form of a 20% Federal tax law.



E. B. REA

THE AVERAGE entertainment seeker, who toils all week for an already "de-ducked" pay check, trying to get away for a few hours of relaxation and fun, plunks down $3 to $4 for the privilege of spending $15 and $20. Some clubs have been forced to close entertainment rooms because of the 20% brunt, because patrons stay away in droves.

MANY INNOCENT PEOPLE pay tips on the entire bill, 20% tax and all, then stomp out wondering why night clubs should be so expensive and take the oath never to frequent another.

TODAY, CLUB OPERATORS have to worry about the acts, increase in food prices, competent help, outlay for advertising and other overhead expenses.

THEN, WHEN THEY finally welcome the patrons into the place, the 20% tax, over which they have no control, is pushed in their faces to blot out what could have ended in a wonderful evening.

THE 20% TAX was instituted right after Pearl Harbor to help raise additional revenue as a temporary measure. Well, the war is over. OR IS IT?

THE SAME TAX applies to so-called luxuries. Those particular businessmen are also undergoing a great deal of pressure. The 20% bite on films hits every man, woman and child.

THE LIQUOR INDUSTRY and its lobbyists should undertake a gigantic campaign to pummel Washington lawmakers into realizing hostilities, on a global scale, have ceased.

AS A RESULT of the low ebb in club patronage, due to the 20% tax, countless entertainers, waiters, etc., are thrown into the unemployed lists.

THE 20% TAX is forcing many business funerals. If it isn't abolished, there will be many more.

WHAT, NO ROOTERS? The Colored Women's Democratic Campaign Committee will entertain at a "Trotters and Ruffles" supper (pigs feet and chitterlings) on Saturday night at the York Hotel Blue Room.

THE CHARLES EARLYSES (Anna) have whacked home ties for keeps, with Charles denying any responsibility for debts other than his own. They dood it in Berkley, W. Va., in 1941—un-dood it here in '47.

THE MORTON BROTHERS have it as a big, family team. They are Raymond and Salt, tailors; Lawrence and Bernard, auction house employees for 29 years; William and Clarence. Their late father, William Sr., was a moveeman for 50 years.

THE AL BARTLETTS and Charles Williams of NYC were recent visitors here.

WILLIAM BROWN, East Baltimore Fifth Warder, eyed as being the next GOP District Committeeman in the Second Legislative District.

LITTLE BUBBY, well known along the Avenue, celebrated a swell birthday on Tuesday—swollen jaw and aching tooth.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S new 75-cent floor on pay already has "backfired" here with some personnel being cut—colored, that is. This kind of pressure can disrupt even more so the current shaky economic structure of the nation.

THE MOVIE METER—"Trapped," at the Met; "Thelma Jordan," Regent; "Angel and the Badman," New Albert. Don't miss "Intruder in the Dust," coming to the Harlem.

APPROXIMATELY 500 persons attended a GOP campaign rally held Tuesday night, Jan. 24, at the Pythian Hall, including the party's "forgotten man."

INSIDERS SAY the boys have something if they can hold themselves together.

THIS CITY NOW has an interracial accounting firm.

TALK OF THE TOWN is the musicians' Monday jamborees at their new home, which has been thrown open to the public.

IF YOU HAVE missed "Pinky," she'll be seen at the Bridge Theatre, Sunday to Tuesday. She makes good screen drama.

QUIZ METER — "Sing It Again," Saturday nights at 10, CBS, can be stopped with "Portland Hoffa" as the "Mystery Voice." "Stop the Music," WJZ, Sunday nights at 8, carries a mystery tune about an old Arabian legendary character. We think it's "Allah."

JOHNNY HUDGINS, Baltimore's own son of the entertainment world, barges in this weekend for a visit with his aunt, Mrs. Laura Brightman of 1346 N. Stricker St. His next stint will be heading a unit with the recently re-organized Sweethearts' of Rhythm, who broke up last year following the death of their founder and leader, Rae Lee Jones.

MY INFORMANT has it that the CLOCK will be re-wound for another ticking session in the very near future.

WILLIS B. HARRIS, manager of the Mohawk Athletic Club, reported ill at his home, 564 Wilson St.

THOMAS (SHORTY) PARKER and George (13) Brown are inseparable pals—down to their last dime—which George refuses to separate from—even for Shorty.

SINCLAIR SWAN'S Young People's Choral Group rehearsing for a banner season, which begins Feb. 19.

ONE OF HARLEM'S highly-touted comedians lasted just one night at a local nightery. Too smelly.

BABY LAZAR doing her exotic numbers in a cellophane costume.

TAXICAB HOLDUPS made all of the columns, but taxi purse-snatchers, never.

THE LATEST tune in everyone's mind, the "Income Tax Blues."

THE BALTIMORE Transit Co. doing a lot of patch-work on its No. 18 Line before the Feb. 6 hearing on a higher fare. There is nothing, at present, that justifies a 15-cent fare. Don't be half-fooled.

THAT'S ALL FOR NOW, except—The definition for a stoolpigeon is: A guy or gal too deep in crime to stay out of jail, unless he or she "spills the beans" under pressure.

Juano Hernandez Heads 'Intruder'

"Intruder in the Dust," William Faulkner's novel of mystery and murder in the deep South, has been brought to the screen in a tensely realistic production, ninety per cent of which was filmed in Oxford, Mississippi, with many of the townfolk used as actors.

Starring Juano Hernandez, Claude Jarman Jr., and David Brian, the film will open soon at the Harlem Theatre.

The action revolves about the fatal shooting of Vinson Gowrie, a Mississippi farmer, with the only suspect being Lucas Beauchamp, played by Hernandez.

The town's citizens gather about the jail where Lucas has been confined in anticipation of short-order justice being meted out by the murdered man's kinsmen. Only two persons believe in Lucas's innocence; one the sixteen-year-old, white boy, Chick, who once had been befriended by Lucas; the other, the indomitable eighty-year-old spinster, Miss Habersham.

These two, with the help of Chick's lawyer uncle and the little boy, Aleck, set out to find the real murderer, a hunt which leads them into uncovering a grave in the dead of night only to discover the body of the murdered Vinson Gowrie removed.

The ultimate finding of the body in a creek bottom filled with quicksand and the ingenious trick by which the true criminal is brought to light make for a drama in which suspense and excitement permeate every scene.

Ames Guild to Present Organist

The Wesleyan Service Guild of Ames Memorial Methodist Church, Carey and Baker Sts., will present Van S. Whitted in an organ recital at the church on Sunday, Feb. 5 at 5 p.m.

The recital will be given for the benefit of the Guild Scholarship Fund.

Mr. Whitted, for several years, has been organist and choirmaster of St. Mark's Methodist Church in New York City and has given recitals in various sections of the U.S.

'Pinky' Opens Sun. at Bridge

"Pinky," opening Sunday at the Bridge Theatre, is the first Hollywood treatment of the problem of racial discrimination to have more than social force.

It's the story of a girl who "passes" for white and who returns to her Southern home after being educated in the North, and of the difficulties she encounters.

Jeanne Crain plays the title role, with Ethel Waters in a strong supporting enactment.

The mixed cast also includes Ethel Barrymore, William Lundigan, Nina Mae McKinney, Kenny Washington, and many others.

Music Guild Plans for August Session

By MILDRED M. BRYANT

The Baltimore Music Guild held its regular monthly meeting Saturday, Jan. 21, at the home of Mrs. Carrie Cargill, 430 W. Biddle St.

Plans for the convention to be held here in August were discussed by members of the guild.

A. Jack Thomas, who will conduct a mass chorus for the convention, asked the group to solicit all persons who are members of the various choirs of the city to assist.

Those who are interested please contact any member of the guild or the president, Mrs. Margaret Franklin, 1136 Myrtle Ave.

The second week in May, which is Music Week, the group will present an extravaganza depicting music from the primitive ages until the present time.

For the musical portion of the program, William Ross sang "Open the Gates of the Temple," accompanied by Mrs. Carrie Cargill.

A repast was served by the hostesses who were Mesdames Cargill, Lucille [illegible], Watkins, Frances B. Hill, Dorothy [illegible]nks and Miss Eleanor C. Dimmy.

New Singer 'Find' Off to Join Hamp's Band

Irma Curry, Baltimore's new singing find, boards a Pennsylvania Railroad train on Tuesday, en route to New York City to join the Lionel Hampton band in a recording session on Wednesday, after which she will become a featured singer with the outfit. Bidding her bon voyage are her mother, Mrs. Naomi Curry, and Chuck Richards, her sponsor.

Status of 'Curley' to Be Aired in Supreme Court

NEW YORK (ANP)—"Curley," the film which showed colored and white children playing together in school, banned by a Memphis, Tenn., censor board, will receive its final decision from the U.S. Supreme Court, Eric Johnson, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, said here last week.

The picture, produced by Hal Roach studios and distributed by United Artists was first banned by the Memphis censor board and on Dec. 7, the Tennessee court ruled on the controversial question that United Artists had no standing in Tennessee to raise the issue "because it was not an exhibitor and had not qualified to do business in the State.

Johnson said that the first Supreme Court test of film censorship would be based on an appeal of the Tennessee's court's (Supreme) decision of Dec. 7, and it will be up to the U.S. Supreme Court to rule on the constitutionality of motion picture censorship.

Brown Wants Marg to Sing the Blues

WASHINGTON

Roy Brown, exponent of the blues, has offered to give free lessons to budding singer, Margaret Truman, daughter of the Chief Executive, in the hope that she would add at least one of these songs to her repertoire.

Said the singing maestro: "Blues and spirituals are America's only authentic folk music. They must be kept alive. People with the prestige of Miss Truman, can help to do that by recognizing them."

Gateway to Gayway

By GEORGE D. TYLER

Tonight (Friday) marks the grand reopening of that famous bistro "Under the Bridge" at Washington and Biddle Sts. operated by Sam Sachs, formerly of the Riggs Cafe. This will be the east side's only Horse Shoe Bar. Service as usual will be dispensed by Lucy, Foye and Alice at no increase in prices. . . Estelle Coleman, possessor of a charming voice, ran off with first prize at the PRESTON Tuesday nite, receiving a gold birthstone ring. Bus Green and his Townsmen supplies the music for the talent and are also heard here on weekends.

Joe Blair's Quartet is currently appearing at the ORLEANS featuring Jay Evans, bassist, and Louisa Lara, vocals and combo drum. The Ravenettes, a club composed of gals who work or have worked here, attended Centennial Church Sunday for their annual sermon. . . Much of the fine food served at Roy JONES' Cafe is prepared by wife Elsie and served by her sister. Drinks are dished out by her brother. One big happy family enables Roy to relax more than the average prop.

More Grist at Mill

Another nite of funsical doings has been added to the OLDE MILL. Sam Taylor and the Joe Adams' foursome heard on weekends will play for amateur singers each Thursday nite. The initial contest was handled by yours truly with the management awarding a gorgeous gold choker and matching bracelet to the winner; a table styled cigarette lighter, second, and a novel ash tray, third. . . Phil Harris, who appears as bass player with the above group, reports that a record by the Ray Chambers' Trio will be released February 20. The group is composed of Chambers, piano; Harris, bass, and Ray (Ra-dars) Shoutes, guitar, cut "We Are Three" with Cecelia Cox chirping and "Bernice," sung by Roosevelt Waddell.

La AVENUE has some new plans for the near future which includes an enlarged musical bar to accommodate a revuesical, the early return of Redd Foxx and Johnny Sparrow's combo to fill the Tuesday nite gap. . . Johnny Tucker and his musical crew definitely an instrumentsation at the KNOTTY PINE, "home of happy feet," where the stroller steal away to cool their tootsies. . . The Finos continue to present Tracy and his Royal Men of Rhythm each Wednesday at ye Pythians' Castle.

The Madhatters finish their engagement at the COMEDY Sunday nite and the Quad-Tones mount the musical bar for a two weeks run Monday. This will be their first appearance in a local rendezvous. . . The frantic saxsation, Re Bop, and his Re Boppers are packing MORRIS'S, the Tremont Avenue rendy, now operated by William Morris whom you will remember as "Mack," formerly of the vanished Jolly Spot.

The cry for nitely entertainment at JONES, the Lanvale street rendezvous, was closed the past few days, but Theophilus know best. Until the fans show more appreciation and wend their way westward more frequently, the losses will be too great. The present weekend vehicle em ceed by Jimmie Greene, wow comic and fiddler, has canary cutie "Sissie" Cox backed by Henry Baker and his quartet of Mo-Bops, a swingeroo crew. . . The Four Concords are hitting hard at the SPOT.

Youse lovers of quiter side doing have the VILMA, ED'S, FROLIC, CASINO, RIGG or COZY CORNER to turn to for fine drinks, good food, courteous service and video entertainment. . . Other spots offering entertainment include Jerome Washington, piano-solovox artist, at PHIL'S; the Ra-Dars, ZANZIBAR; Jimmy Goldstrom, SAVOY, and Purnell Rice, EDDIE'S.

Zerita Up North

Zerita, the stepteau gal who sings and plays, debuted at a new North Avenue nitery. . . Odessa Ritter, who serves at SMITH'S, spent a few days in the "Big Town" this week. . . The "queen," Bertha Brown, continues as the lady-de-affairs at the suburban HILLTOP, while Earl O'Mara continues to do singing and M.C. chores down CLUB 13 way. . . Jean and James Marshall, she a pianoist, and he of the drums, made a charming duo strolling Sunday in ole town.

Another gal is sizzling over Billy Daniels marriage to that fay socialite — because she just bought him a "fishtail cad" is the claim around NYC.

Sandbag Drops Scare Into 'Members of the Wedding'

NEW YORK (NNPA) — Ethel Waters, one of the stars of "The Member of the Wedding," at the Empire Theatre here, escaped injury last Wednesday night by a matter of inches when a 30-pound sandbag dropped some 50 feet from the flies above the stage.

Miss Waters was standing on the stage alone, taking a curtain call, when the sandbag, used as a counterweight, dropped onto the stage. An estimated 1,800 persons in the audience were shocked into silence by the incident.

The curtain was lowered and remained down for a bit longer than is usual. When it was raised, the whole cast was on stage, with two members supporting Miss Waters.
