acious in the bathroom on Jan. 5. Gas jets were turned on, and she had poured oil on a pile of old clothing and set a fire.

John C. Weiss, prosecutor, said the fire caused $500 worth of damage to the building.

Needs Care

A report from Dr. Manfred Guttmacher, court psychiatrist, concluded that Mrs. Brown has a suicidal complex. The psychiatrist added that although she is normal mentally, Mrs. Brown is ill physically and in need of care.

According to Mr. Weiss, the woman's condition was aggravated by domestic troubles, and worry over the state of her health. She was taken to City Jail pending an investigation of agencies that might help her.

School Equalization

ATLANTA, Ga. (ANP)—Eight more suits have been filed by colored parents with county and city school systems within the State, asking equal facilities for their children, it was disclosed here last week. This brings to 14 the total number of demands filed with school boards in recent weeks.

Dean's Hobby in Movie

Dean George C. Grant of Morgan State Colege is shown at work on his hobby of ceramics as he was photographed last week by the All American Newsreel Company for a movie short.

2 Youths Under Bail for Store Burglary

Arrested by Northeastern district police shortly after an Orleans St. second-hand clothing store had been burglarized, Henson Holland, 22, of 1300 block E. Lexington St., and John H. Gilchrist, 18, of the 1400 block Orleans St., were held for grand jury action, Thursday, in $1000 bail each.

Testimony during the police court hearing revealed that the entry was discovered by Patrolman James Cadden as he was checking doors on his post. The youths were nabbed a few hours later and the clothing, valued at $126, recovered, police reported.

Father Saves 3, Loses 1 in Fire

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. — A father rescued three of his children but another was fatally burned as fire destroyed their home last Friday.

Richard Wilkes, 11, is dead. In Fort Lauderdale hospital for treatment of burns are Amos, 5; William, 15, and Mary, 17.

The father, William Wilkes, was burned less seriously as he helped the children out of the house, which was set ablaze by an exploding stove.

The father has been cited by city officials for his act of bravery in saving the lives of the three children, it was revealed.

Kenney Called 'Unique' Man

Leaders Pay Tribute at Funeral Services

WAS 75 YEARS OLD

Pioneer in NMA Cited on AFRO Honor Roll

MONTCLAIR — Delivering the eulogy at funeral rites Tuesday afternoon, the Rev. D. C. Rice, pastor of Union Baptist Church described Dr. John A. Kenney one of history's unique men with a dynamic faith.

Before hundreds who braved inclement weather to attend the services, the pastor placed Dr. Kenney, who died Sunday at Mountainside Hospital after an illness of three weeks, in the class with Booker T. Washington, Frederick Douglass and Dr. George Washington Carver.

We will never see again such men as these, the Rev. Mr. Rice said, because there never will be that peculiar combination of social and economic circumstances which brought them forth.

Continuing, he declared that the motivating power behind the lives of such men is to be found in the type of faith they possessed, for such examples as these set "Is the victory that overcometh the world . . .

Dr. Kenney, 75, had been confined to the hospital since Jan. 9 when he suffered a cerebral thrombosis.

Lauded by Medics

The funeral was attended by notables and members of the medical profession throughout New Jersey and the East.

Dr. Kenney's accomplishments in medicine and other endeavors were lauded in remarks from Dr. Spurgeon Sparks Sr., and Dr. W. G. Alexander, who represented the medical profession, and the Rev. William P. Alexander, pastor, of Bethany Baptist Church, Newark.

Resolutions were forthcoming from Bethany Church membership and board of trustees, the Tuskegee Alumni Association of North Jersey, the North Jersey Medical Society and Union Baptist.

He had been a resident of Newark and Montclair since 1922 when he left the South after a cross was burned by the Ku Klux Klan because of his insistence that colored doctors be permitted the use of the Veterans Administration Hospital at Tuskegee. Dr. Kenney was born in Albemarle County, Va.

He received his medical training at Shaw University, Raleigh, N.C. and served his internship at Freedmen's Hospital, Washington.

In 1902 he went to Tuskegee and from that year until 1924 was chief surgeon and medical director of the John A. Andrew Memorial Hospital and nurse training there.

During part of this period he was personal physician to Booker T. Washington and Dr. George Washington Carver.

In 1927 he founded the Kenney Memorial Hospital which later became the Community Hospital when, in 1935, he turned it over to the Booker T. Washington Hospital Association.

post at Tuskegee where he remained until 1944 when he returned to the State and resumed residence in Montclair.

In 1945 he was listed on the New Jersey AFRO-AMERICAN Newspaper's Honor Roll for his community contributions.

Among other accomplishments are:

Service as secretary of the National Medical Association, 1904 to 1912;

Founded the Journal of NMA in 1908, and from that year until 1948 served as associate editor and editor of the Journal, and after leaving this position was named editor emeritus.

In 1921 he wrote a book on the accomplishments American colored men of medicine, entitled "The Negro In Medicine."

A portrait of him, by Betsy Jean Reneau, has been circulated in numerous museums. It was painted in 1944 at request of the Harmon Foundation.

Survivors Named

Dr. Kenney's body was interred at Fairmont Cemetery.

Survivors are:

Mrs. Elizabeth Quisenberry, daughter, Chicago; Drs. John A. Kenney Jr., Philadelphia, and Howard W. Kenney, Montclair, sons; Mrs. Lucretia Madison, New Brighton, Staten Island.

His wife, the former Miss Frieda Armstrong, died last spring. Lt. Oscar A. Kenney, another son, was killed during World War II while serving with the U.S. Air Force.

claim for money owed him several real estate transactions and civil suits.

The attorney declared that with the Bishop's denial of those facts, he was prepared to prove every one of them.

On Tuesday, however, shortly before the case was scheduled for a hearing, the conference, was called in the judge's chambers and the settlement was announced. Bishop Davis was present.

The prelate had contended in his answer to the suit that Mr. Henry had possession of property of his, that was worth more than the $7,315.78 claim involved in the attorney's litigation.

Pawn Ticket Links Suspect to Burglary

Accused of burglarizing a home in the 500 block of Baker St., Robert Jones, 1200 block of Etting St., was held for grand jury in $1000 bail, Wednesday.

Jones pleaded not guilty to the charge placed by Mrs. Edwards. However, Patrolman Stanley Jastremski testified that a pawn ticket linked him to the burglary which netted over $200 in cash and small household items.

Roanoke Opens Campaign to Expand 3 Hospitals

$152,000 Quota Set for Burrell Memorial Which Has Served Area for Some 35 Years

ROANOKE, Va.—Here in this Southwest Virginia city an interracial effort to raise funds to remedy the community's 200-bed hospital facility shortage was launched Tuesday night Jan. 24.

Sparked by Burrell Memorial Hospital, an institution which has served colored people for 35 years, the Hospital Development Fund drive goal is $1,500,000.

With federal and State aid added, the building program will embrace a new 75-bed $1,000,000-structure for Burrell and a 100 bed addition to the Memorial and Crippled Children's Hospital, including a 50-bed unit for the Society for the Crippled.

Highlight of the campaign is the $152,000 quota for the citizens served by Burrell Hospital, an amount 50 times greater than any sum previously raised by this group.

To avoid racial references, this phase of the drive is called "Division Five."

A Sponsor's Dinner attended by 200 persons at the William A. Hunton Branch YMCA heard Co-Chairmen of Division Five reports of gifts exceeding $30,000 as the campaign got under way.

Dr. L. C. Downing, the Rev. Mr. A. L. James, and L. A. Lee.

United Appeal Leader

Dr. Harry T. Penn, chairman of the drive's memorial and special gifts committee, pointed out that Burrell Hospital, which earlier had planned a separate campaign, was the leader for the united appeal.

Through the Community Chest solicitation committee, the joining of forces was effected.

According to Dr. E. D. Downing, chairman of Burrell's trustee board, the hospital occupies the antiquated structure that formerly housed Alleghany Institute.

It was named in honor of an early citizen who died in the horse cage car of a train taking him to Washington where the nearest hospital facilities for colored people existed.

At present Burrell is over crowded with upwards of 60 patients in accommodations suited for only 38.

Civic leaders say that an oversubscription of the $152,000 goal for Division Five will be a challenge to the success of the whole $1,500,000 Hospital Fund drive.

Although the campaign will not conclude until June 1, early reports on Division Five will be issued in late February.

VA Hospital Aide Sues for Old Job

WASHINGTON —(NNPA)— Harold A. Gadsden of Walterboro, S.C., acting as his own attorney, asked the District Court here last week for a summary judgment reinstating him in the job formerly held in the Veterans Hospital at Tuskegee, Ala.

He charges that his "dismissal in 1946 was not only "malicious" but was based on evidence against superiors which he uncovered at Tuskegee.

The reinstatement action is one of two suits Gadsden has pending against the Federal Government.

The other is a suit in the U.S. Court of Claims for back salary since his dismissal.

The Court of Claims has ordered the Veterans Administration to disclose to Gadsden its record in the case.

Says Charges Proved

In his motion for summary judgment for his reinstatement, Gadsden charged that:

The VA made no effort "to inquire into the truth or falsity of allegations of misconduct," he had made against his superiors, and that "such allegations which have been unavoidable examined in this case have" been found to be true."

In recent months, Gadsden has been keeping the Federal Courts, the VA, the Justice Department, the Civil Service Commission, Capitol Hill and the White House busy with his case.

School Board Deposits $23,000 With Court

BARTOW, Fla.— Checks totaling $23,700 were deposited with Circuit Court Clerk D. H. Sloan Jr., last Friday by the Polk County school board as payment for a 16-acre tract of land in Lakeland, on which will be built a new colored high school.

The purchase price, which includes $2,000 in attorney's fees, was set by a Circuit Court jury last week in a condemnation suit.

The sum of $9700 was paid out of the bond construction fund and $14,000 was transferred from the minimum foundation fund.

Colored leaders here and all over the county are gratified with the decision as regards the Lakeland community since the old Washington Park High School is overcrowded and run down.

Both Slew 'Cruel' Mates; Both Have Won Freedom

Mrs. Joanne Jackson (left), 19, of 902 N. Fifth St., and Mrs. Effie Carneal, 29, 721 Buchanan St., both of whom slew their husbands on the eve of last Independence Day (July 4), have been freed in Richmond courts. Both Mrs. Jackson, who was placed on probation for two years last Thursday after the murder count was reduced to involuntary manslaughter, and Mrs. Carneal, acquitted by a jury Sept. 22, 1949, charged that their mates beat them.

Ex-Farm Boy Praises Cleric Whose Aid Made Him Math Prof and Poet

Harvard Graduate on W.Va. State College Faculty Is Author of Book of Poems

RICHMOND — This is a brief sketch of the life and achievements of a boy from the Virginia hills, Andrew N. Aheart, native of Fluvanna county, who rose from a humble farm home to become a mathematics professor and poet.

Mr. Aheart, 28, a Harvard University graduate and mathematics professor at West Virginia State College, has recently published a book of poems, "Figures of Fantasy" by Exposition Press of NYC, dedicated to the Rev. D. J. Bradford of Richmond.

The author's early education was acquired in a one-room elementary school in Fluvanna county, where he finished in four years (1933). Mr. Bradford being his first teacher.

Author's Own Story

Here is his own story as he revealed it in a letter to G. O. Chiles, secretary of an appreciation service committee that handled arrangements for a huge testimonial service last October in honor of the Rev. Mr. Bradford.

Mr. Aheart wrote:

"I heard about the appreciation service being given in honor of the Rev. D. J. Bradford.

"He has been my ideal since early childhood and, hence, I feel it my duty to write this letter of honor and tribute in behalf of the Rev. Bradford, a great and noble Man.

Minister Guided Him

"In order for others to understand his genuineness and greatness and influence, I shall have to relate my accomplishments in life because I feel that he had a large part in making them possible and I shall speak freely of them.

"Rev. Bradford was my first teacher. I feel that the encouragement and inspiration he gave me are responsible for my attainments.

"I am a mathematician. It was he who gave to me the push and developed my interest in mathematics during my early formative years.

Given Instruction

"Under his real guidance I graduated from Douglass Elementary School at Wildwood, Va., in four years (1933). At that time there was no high school in Fluvanna county.

"It was he who encouraged me to return to elementary school for another year so as to keep me interested in education.

"During part of that year (1934), he gave me and a few others extra instruction in some high school subjects.

"In the same year a high school was started and I began my high school training. His guiding spirit was still with me.

Won Class Honors

"In 1938 I graduated from the S. C. Abrams High School (Fluvanna county) as salutatorian of my class. Then I entered Virginia Union University for my college training.

"Contact with Rev. Bradford in Richmond (where he lives) gave me the courage and inspiration to go on when the going was tough.

"I graduated from Virginia Union in 1942 with a B. S. degree in mathematics (summa cum laude) and he was in the audience to see me.

Rosenwald Scholar

"From 1942-43 I attended Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass., under a Rosenwald scholarship. From 1943-46 I served with the U.S. Army, with overseas service in Scotland, England and France.

"His continual correspondence over these years gave me faith, hope and an enduring spirit.

"From 1946-47 I taught at the S. C. Abrams High School (his alma mater).

Academic Achievements

"In September, 1947, I returned to Harvard University, receiving my master's degree, in mathematics in June, 1948.

"From September, 1947, through July, 1948, I also was an instructor of mathematics at the University of Massachusette at Fort Devens, the only person of my race on the faculty.

"I am 28 years old, married, and I have two boys. At the present time the Exposition Press of New York is publishing a collection of my poems, titled Figures of Fantasy. I have dedicated this collection of poems to Rev. Bradford.

"These are my experiences and my accomplishments and I owe these achievements to the guiding hand, the faithfulness and inspiration given by Rev. D. J. Bradford and the help of God.

Grateful for Help

"I have related my life story for a purpose. My life story is a reflection of his life.

"All through the years his spirit, his wisdom and his encouragement have guided me. Rev. Bradford always gave me that necessary courage for successful living.

"It was he who started me to climbing the ladder of success and his guiding hand has always been upon me.

"He has always been ready with advice and cheerful words of encouragement. He has been a lighthouse unto me—strong, stalwart, courageous . . .

Wife an Inspiration

"He is an example . . . that many could well afford to follow. Rev. Bradford is a great teacher, a great minister, an admirable person and a great servant of mankind.

"May his name go down upon the pages of history. Honor and tribute are his due . . ."

Mr. Aheart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Aheart of Fluvanna, was born there April 13, 1921.

His book is dedicated to both Mr. Bradford and his wife, Mrs. Rebecca H. Aheart, "who furnished me with much of the inspiration for these verses."

Husband Slayer Put on Probation

Second to Be Freed in "Heat Wave" Deaths

RICHMOND — Facing a murder charge in the slaying of her husband, Mrs. Joanne Jackson, 19, was placed on probation for two years Thursday by Judge John L. Ingram in Hustings Court after he had reduced the charge against her to involuntary manslaughter.

Mrs. Jackson, who lives at 902 N. Fifth St., had been indicted on a charge of murder growing out of the fatal stabbing of her husband, Oliver, 21, while they were visiting relatives at 641 Buchanan St., about 3 a.m., July 3, 1949.

The Jackson, who roomed at the Fifth St., address, were said to have been visiting some of his relatives at the time of tragedy.

Died Within Half Hour

He was stabbed in the upper left chest with a pen knife, according to police.

He was carried to St. Philip Hospital in a patrol wagon, and given emergency treatment at the hospital but died about 30 minutes later. His wife's trial had been continued from time to time since the knifing until last week.

Another woman who slew her mate during the same long Independence Day week end (Saturday, July 2), Mrs. Effie Carneal, 29, was acquitted by a Hustings Court jury on Sept. 22, 1949. Both men were slain less than two days and two blocks apart.

Mrs. Carneal's husband, Robert, 35, plumbing company employee, was cut to death by his wife at 4 a.m., July 2, after a domestic dispute, police said.

murder after finding the man, face up, on the kitchen floor in a pool of blood, with a butcher's knife and a paring knife at his feet.

Represented by Howard H. Carwile during her trial, Mrs. Carneal pleaded self-defense. A stood her bond while she was awaiting trial. She reportedly is employed, it is reported, provided funds for her legal defense and still employed by them.
