Cavanaugh-Heigh Betrothal Told

Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Moses of 2301 Druid Hill Avenue have announced the engagement of their daughter, Estelle D. Heigh, to Curtis Cavanaugh.

Mr. Cavanaugh is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cavanaugh of 1713 Fisk Road, Cherry Hill. Miss Heigh, a graduate of Douglass High School, is a clerk at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Gadabouting in Baltimore

Miss Green Engaged to James E. Peele

with Lula Jones Garrett

Add to weddings coming up in June that of Vera M. Green and James L. Peele, son of Mr. and Mrs. George N. Green of Glenburnie.

And other vital statistics include that seven pounds and two ounces of joy born to the John (Lucretia) Datchers on the 27th. They have named the young lady Evelyn Ann.

"SKIPPER" CHRISTENED

Young William Lawrence Gibson was a "seasoned" host at his Christening Sunday, taking in the scores of guests with nonchalance, attempting to aid the Rev. Ely Lofton in the Christening rites, and being passed from friend to friend without a whimper.

Mr. and Mrs. William I. Gibson (parents) had entertained for the Godparents at a pre-christening luncheon, had a score in for the ceremony, and scores more in during the afternoon. "Pop" Gibson was pretty anxious to get his son out of a dress even if the christening garment was an exquisite thing of tiers of heavily embroidered French batiste, over a white satin slip, and back into "pants" for which I don't blame him, since the latter was an equally exquisite thing of hand embroidered silk. Not that there is the slightest chance of sissying athletic seven-month-old "Skipper."

For the affairs Mrs. Gibson selected a frock of pale orchid crepe, and decorated her hood with groupings of pansies, jonquils and pussywillow.

God parents were Mesdames Loretta Nottingham, Thelma Shipley, Cortlandt Brown and Leroy Crayton of Cleveland, Ohio. James Hickman stood as proxy for Mr. Crayton who was unable to get here.

Assisting the parents and godparents in receiving the guests were Mrs. Mary Hickman (also a guest at the luncheon) Misses Odessa Wilson, Melisande Manning.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank McKinney, and Misses Edith and Francine McKinney of Washington, D.C.

Guests included:

Messrs. and Mesdames Nimrod Dodson, J. Nelson Fortune, Frank Phillips, L. Mark Patterson, John Manning, James Holden, D. Affonett Murphy, James Wood, Ellsworth Coales, Stanley Frome, Howard Murphy, Wesley McNeil; Mesdames Ella Edney, Arnetta Lottier, Alma Thompson, Carrie Derricks, Mary Brooks, Edna Redmond, Audrey Weaver, Flonella Clark, Ruth Brown, Mary Hickman, Martha Thompson, Mary Richardson, Sallie Fletcher;

Misses Ruth Jenkins, Josephine Wallace, Edna Hopkins, Irma George, Melisande Manning, Catherine Murphy, Cheryl Franze, Alma V. Thompson, Odessa Wilson;

Mrs. and Mesdames Gilbert Banfield and W. Berkley Butler; the Rev Mr. and Mrs. Ely L. Lofton, John Murphy Jr., Harold Shaver, Ralph Shipley, Edward Nottingham and William Clark.

PARTY PHATTLE

When James E. Scott entered a darkened house to have a "toast" with the "Mrs." on his birthday, he was already a very suspicious, having seen the Doug Brown's car outside; and having been hosted at the basketball game by Bob Payne just to get him out— so we really doubt that the gang overwhelmed him by "Happy Birthday." Nevertheless, he was a gay honoree until the wee hours.

MISS VERA GREEN

Feasting on delectable eatables and sippables prepared by Carrie Scott and that charming sub-deb, Peggy Jones, were:

Irma V. George, Bob and Alice Payne, Aggie and Elmer Patterson, Audrey and Doug Brown, Marion and Leroy Carroll, Grace and Milton Branch,

Ethel and Henry Hall, Guinai and Bill Spencer, Queenie and Hubert Loves, Florence and George Dibbs, Rowena and Bill Lewis, Mary West Griffin, John Stokes, Gardner Jones, Matthew Chamberlain, Abdella Campbell, and William B. Dixon.

Miss Elizabeth Johnson, Everett Goodman and Mrs. Gladys Taylor. Co-hosted the meeting of the Baltimore chapter of Howard Alumni—Friday evening,—when the group settled upon Dr. J. Stuart Nelson as their Chapter Day dinner speaker; decided to continue dickering with the Howard players for a performance here, and talked plans for their annual awarding of merit certificates.

At the session were:

Linwood Koger, Roy S. Bond, and Josiah Henry, attorneys; Doctors Ralph Young (the chapter's choice for Howard University trustee) and N. Louise Young; Mesdames Mamie Woodford-Maize, Barbour, Letitia Ashe Thelma Johnson, Louise Anderson, Eugenia Collier, Vivian Chamberlain; Miss Lilla Barnum, Wendell Freeman, Herbert Freeman, Dr. Miles Connor, Ike Stubbs, Albert Byrd and President of the chapter, U. Theodore Hayes, attorney.

When the companions met with Mrs. Annie McGlothern, this week, they completed plans for their annual benefit tea, set for the 19th at Douglas Memorial Community Church.

Having already given President Hospital three baby incubators, they plan to add a fourth, this year.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Garner is chairman of the tea committee, and Mrs. Margaret Nixon co-chairman.

Members present were Etna Blackwell, Alice Brannon, Muriel Callaman, Robbie Chessell, Adele Foreman President, Wilhelmina Garner, Barbara Hawkins, Mary Maiden, Anne McGlothern and Elaine Wright.

A toast in champagne was thanked to Leonard Cox, by his friends at a surprise birthday party given by his wife in Philadelphia, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Banks, Saturday.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Killey, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Banks, Mr. and Mrs. George Washington, and Mr. and Mrs. James Le Vere.

A. Dukye Wood was hostess to the G.G. Bridge Club on Monday night with Augusta Chissell, Gladys Sheppard, Mattie Connor, Mae Campbell, Catherine Adams, Marion Johnston, Vera Scott, Corine Procope and Harriet White.

WITH THE LADIES

When you see Victorine Adams (co-chairman with Dr. Bernard Harris) dashing about these days, it's probably in the cause of hiking the Red Cross campaign. She has garnered a glock of friends, including Doretha Robinson, Mary Hunter, Ruth Bell, Blanche Day, Elizabeth McLaren, Gwendolyn Tripp, Clara Overton, and a gang of clubs to aid in the drive. Incidentally the first apparent step towards integration is the setting of the Park Avenue Headquarters.
