Business, Professional Women Plan Program, Hear Mrs. Gray

The Baltimore Club of the National Association of Business and Professional Women in its monthly meeting Tuesday, evening at the YWCA, made plans for three events on their spring calendar and then listened to a guest speaker, Mrs. Edna Over Gray.

Mrs. Gray, former chairman of the committee of management of the Madison Avenue YWCA and also of its public affairs committee, spoke on "Public Affairs and Their Implications for Club Women." After defining public affairs and demonstrating how they touch the lives of everyone in many ways, Mrs. Gray outlined some topics with which women's clubs should concern themselves and techniques which they might use.

Basis Non-Interest

Mrs. Gray emphasized the failure of those interested in the passage of civil rights legislation to prove to their opponents their interest in and desire for such legislation. Meanwhile, she said that the opposition besieges the legislators with mail and opinion while those vitally affected...do nothing.

She suggested that some chief concerns among club women might be six points under civil rights as outlined by Ira DeA Reid. She concluded her talk with a plea for each person to vote, interest others in voting, and to write their opinions to congressmen and legislators, no matter how simply expressed. After all, she stated, most congressmen are quite simple men. Mrs. Gray was introduced by the president, Mrs. Hampton, treasurer, Ruth Graves, assistant treasurer; Viola Jackson, chaplain; Mamie King, sargeant-at-arms, and Evelyn Welbourne, business manager.

AMITY—The club was entertained by Mrs. Lola Smith of 928 Pierce St., this week. The club has planned a Valentine party for the tenth at 1309 N. Calhoun St.

Officers of the club are:

Mrs. Clara Walston, president; Mrs. Elizabeth Wiggins, secretary; Mrs. Lola Smith, business manager; Mrs. Louise Artis, treasurer; and Mrs. Florida Johnson, editor.
