Newcombe 'Satisfied' With 1950 Bum Pact

Big Don Inks His Name to $14,000 Dodger Contract

Slab Ace and Branch Rickey Agree to Terms After Brief Conference; Both Seem Pleased

BROOKLYN—Don Newcombe, 24-year-old ace of the Brooklyn Dodgers, signed a contract presumed to be $14,000 on Thursday and immediately expressed "satisfaction" with the terms.

The big sophomore of the National League champions' mound staff reached agreement with the Dodgers with unexpected quickness, since the sports world in general, and Brooklyn baseball writers in particular had anticipated a long siege of wrangling between Newcombe and his boss, Branch Rickey.

The new contract represents a raise of nearly 200 percent over Don's 1949 contract, on which he won 17 games against eight losses in lifting the Bums into the World Series.

However, there had been appreciation in some quarters lest Newcombe might cling to a demand for $20,000, a figure it was generally felt would do little else than incur the wrath of the Brooklyn front office.

Newcombe was quoted as planning to make such a demand following interviews with newspapermen while he was in Washington on a wrestling tour. However, when the big fellow was questioned by Rickey, he insisted that he had been misquoted. He made the same statement to the AFRO in later conversation.

Big Don was called to Rickey's office on Wednesday afternoon. He and the Mahatma were closeted for less than an hour and both emerged smiling.

Quite Satisfied

Newcombe told the AFRO a few minutes later that he was "quite satisfied" with Rickey's last offer. "Therefore," he declared, "we had little or no trouble getting together. There were only a few details that both of us wanted to iron out. But other than that the whole meeting was a most pleasant one."

The 240-pound Jerseyan turned up as the top righthander of the 1949 National League champs. In addition to his impressive 17-6 record, he was second to the veteran Warren Spahn in strikeouts, was the choice of Manager Burt Shotton to open the World Series with the New York Yankees, and won the "Rookie of the Year" awards of both the Sporting News baseball publication, and the Baseball Writers Association.

Spartans Capture 1st Half Crown

The experienced Spartans A.C. won the first half championship of the Monumental Unlimited League by virtue of a hard-fought 24-19 victory over the Post Office team last week at Douglass High gymnasium.

The victory was the seventh for Linwood Stevens's charges without a loss. It gave Spartans A.C. the right to meet the winner of the second half in a playoff for the City Unlimited Championship in March. Second half play began this week.

The Spartans had several close calls in compiling their 7-0 record but seemed to possess enough balance and ability to come through at the right time. James Wilson and Alexander Thomas, veteran cage handlers, have led the scoring for the first half champions with 67 and 44 points respectively. John Irving Brown, Howard McAdory, Howard Williams, Elwood Levis, and James Franklin, Allen Anderson, Charles Brown, Joe Kelly, and Robert Douglass are other smooth workmen on this outstanding quintet.

Horsemen Lose One

The Horsemen A.C., outstanding champions with a lone loss to the Spartans, finished the first round in first place with six victories and one loss. The YMCA Phalanx and Westside Eagles tied for third with four victories and three defeats apiece. The Trotters of Cherry Hill and the Post Office were tucked in fourth place. Building Trade School wound up with one victory against six defeats, and the Dutchmasters of the Northwest Community Council finished upon the bottom with seven defeats.

Play in the second half is expected to be even tighter. Several of the teams have improved greatly. The Westside Eagles, YMCA Phalanx, Trotters and Post Office give promise of making a real bid for top honors, and the Horsemen aim to retain their prestige. Building Trade Schol is hoping to spring a few surprises.

Start Their Own Wine Pantry
Many smart hostesses have set up a "wine-pantry" with a bottle or two of each of the Madera Wines in it. It's a bright idea, because it's so convenient, so practical, yet cost so little. For instance, for less than five dollars, you could set up a Madera wine-pantry containing two bottles of Madera Sherry, two bottles of Madera American Blackberry, and one bottle each of Madera Port and Madera Muscatel. imagine that! For less than five dollars, you have a lovely wine selection to offer your guests. It makes entertaining so economical and you're almost certain to have on hand the type of wine your friends like most. Then, when you run low on any one kind, you just spend a few cents more, and your wine-pantry selection is up to par again. It's a very clever idea, one that's catching on all over town. Why don't you start your Madera wine-pantry today? It tastes so good . . . costs so little.
