PRAISE FROM AN EXPERT!

MRS. FLORINE TRUSTY

"Whenever I hear girls talk about styles and fashions, I'm always a good listener—because in a way, it's part of my business!"

"You see," continued Mrs. Trusty, "when I attended the Carver Vocational High School, I chose sewing as my vocation. I'm glad I did, because now I have a lovely position as a seamstress. Naturally, I am always looking for new style ideas—and frankly, I pride myself on my taste in clothes and everyone says I have a wonderful wardrobe. Well, that's to be expected because I buy my clothes at HENDIN'S . . . and that's where I intend to get my new Spring and Easter outfit."

Lovely Mrs. Trusty has lived in Baltimore all the 22 years of her life. Her favorite pastime is bowling and she is a frequent patron of the Met Bowling Alley. Happily married just a short time ago—she and her husband now reside in their attractive apartment at 1303 North Stricker Street.

Gadabouting in Baltimore

Miss Mae Morris Wed to Frederick Medders

with Lula Jones Garrett

Wearing a navy blue tailleur with matching shoes and white accessories, a white jeweled cloche and a corsage of gardenias, Miss Maethelda I. Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Morris, and Frederick C. Medders were married at Emmanuel Christian Church, Wednesday afternoon at four.

The bride carried a prayer book and was given in marriage by her father. Her only attendant was Mrs. Vera Garrison of Washington, who also wore a suit of blue and a corsage of roses. Mr. Medders was attended by his brother, Robert Blake.

The ceremony was read by the Rev. Wilbur Waters, pastor of the church, and attended by immediate members of the family and a few close friends, including Miss Harriet Peat, Mrs. Antonie Purdy, Mrs. Katie Miller, Mrs. Mollie Bowen, Clifford Edwards, Mrs. Gertrude B. Swindell, Mrs. L. Randolph Wotton and children, Peggy and Randy; Timy Harrigan, Miss Eva Alwyn, Edward Holley, Wallace Strange of Washington and Miss Ruth Jenkins.

Members of the wedding party were entertained at dinner following the ceremony, and the couple received a larger circle of friends in the evening.

Miss Morris, crack crime reporter on the Baltimore AFRO-AMERICAN Newspaper, is a graduate of Morgan State College and a Delta Sigma Theta Soror.

MISS LEVI ENGAGED

Mrs. Ida R. Washington has announced the engagement of her daughter, Emily Ann Levi, to La Mar A. Quarles Jr. The bride-elect is a member of the staff of the Booker T. Washington Junior High School. Mr. Quarles is studying at Morgan State College. They have not set the date for their wedding.
