World Series Film on WAAM-TV Sunday

WAAM-TV will show the film "World Series of 1949" Sunday, February 26, at 3:50 p.m.

Baltimoreans have followed many of the present Dodgers from their days with the Montreal Royals.

Stanwyck Terrific in Bridge Film

Highlighted by Barbara Stanwyck's brilliant performance in the title role, "Thelma Jordon," which opens Sunday at the Bridge Theatre, is a spine-tingling thriller in the tradition of such classics as "Double Indemnity" and "Sorry, Wrong Number."

A gripping drama, "Thelma Jordon" is the suspenseful story of an irresistible woman, played by Miss Stanwyck, who stops at nothing—not even murder—to get what she wants.

Caught up in the evil web she spins are a lawyer, Wendell Corey, who falls in love with her, and his wife, Joan Tetzel, who fights desperately to save her marriage. Paul Kelly is seen as a detective who finally brings "Thelma Jordon" to justice.

Board Approves Mobilization Acts

NEW YORK — Rejecting an appeal made by the New York NAACP to censure Roy Wilkins, acting secretary, and to investigate his handling of the National Emergency Civil Rights Mobilization, the national board of directors has given Mr. Wilkins and the national office staff "a vote of confidence."

This motion was adopted with only three dissenting votes at the regular monthly meting of the board on February 14. The Board held that the evidence did not sustain the charges.

Claiming that the screening process set up for the accreditation of delegates to the Washington conference last month had ruled out some of its members, the branch filed charges with the board against the acting secretary.

By GEORGE D. TYLER

This column is working like heck to launch its annual bartenders and barmaids contest and later stage the revived "Clean Tavern Campaign" . . . In spite of bad business several spots are making a go of it by pulling weekly talent hunt shows . . . Petite Cecelia Cox, winner of a bathing beauty contest, after proving her worth as a canary at JONES' and other local spots makes her debut in Philly this week, with our best wishes for continued success.

Marion Selby, one of the Carson Models, who will appear in a fashion show at the ASTORIA, 4 p.m. Sunday, slightly resembles Lena Horne. There will be cocktails and plenty of entertainment for the small cover charge. Girdle your middle for another round of fun March 6 thru 13 when the SPHINX comes on with its annual Mardi Gras which is being prepared to surpass all previous attempts.

Talent Hunt Finals

Watch Tuesday's edition for announcement of the talent hunt finals to be staged at the OLDE MILL with Earl O'Mara and your columnist as em cees.

The winners of the first five contests will meet to fite it out. Wilbur Phillips and his 4 Links are now appearing here nitely . . . Pee Wee Wooden's 3 Kings and a Queen, weekend music makers at MORRIS', with Wendell Jackson's crew taking over Monday matinee chores.

The SOUTHLAND LOUNGE is set to open at Baltimore and Schroeder Sts., Friday. One of the familiar faces in after dark circles slated to be seen here is Sue Seaburn, formerly of the Orleans, Comedy and Hill Top . . . Bert Brown, still trying to keep things on the beam at the HILLTOP, announces weekend jam sessions by a combo of GI's from Edgewood Arsenal whom she bills as "Nifties in 50."

New Life at Preston

Louisa Lara, the singing drummer, and Jimmie Blair's combo move into the PRESTON tonight (Friday) for an indefinite run. Here is another spot going great with an amateur show. Believe it or not—after eight years at the Orleans, Bea Lemmons has switched her bar chores here . . . George Craft, a local favorite, now going great guns at the D.C. Caverns, announces that within the year he will desert nite clubs for the PULPIT . . . Detroit Red (often asked for here) seen recently in NYC on 7th Avenue at Tom Delaney's bar, scene of a Doc Wheeler's Round Robin . . . Toni and Tanya, acrobatic duo, and Naomi Price, canary, playing Club 845, NYC.

Another combo that found favor with localites and warranted a return engagement is the Ebonaires, featuring Millie Renee, formerly with the Dialtones, currently at the COMEDY, sharing the musical bar with solovox and pianist Dick Wade . . . The 4 Concords still whooping it up at the SPOT . . . Zerita Stepteau, whose songs and piano playing win her more downtown engagement that in our section, is now strutting her stuff at LITTLE WILLIE'S, where you can enjoy video in the bar or lounge. Gerald Butler is host and little Bea behind the bar.

Most Beautiful Bar

Other props admit that the BRIDGE is East Baltimore's most beautiful bar since Sam Sachs installed a modern horseshoe arrangement. There is a package good department adjourning with Alice in charge . . . Jimmie Greene, who has been dispensing comedy for weeks at JONES, is now heading his own trio here. Elsie, charming wife of Roy JONES, of Hideaway fame, was floored by a cold this week. Send those get well cards to 1701 Ellsworth St. . . . Still pulling them in and sending them away satisfied is Johnny Tucker and his combo appearing Friday thru Sunday at the KNOTTY PINE, the home of happy feet and place to stretch a buck.

The Blue Room of the ORLEANS jumps on weekends but Johnny Sparrow and his Bow and Arrows rock this rendezvous every nite. The Orleans is still the scene of a "clothesline contest" each Monday nite. Jernt also pulls a 5 p.m. matinee on Sundays . . . GAMBY'S is trying to take the blue out of Monday nites by holding jam sessions and celebrity parties with stars from the theatre and other clubs as guests. Every other Monday there will be an amateur contest with a weekend engagement going to the winner. The Mo-Bops moved in to replace the Ambassadors.

Helen Lynn and Audrey Fane can still be found at ED'S popular off stroll lounge . . . The FROLIC may do a couple of switches under the keen eye of Rudy Dixon who has just completed 25 years in this line of work . . . The Ra Dars are currently featured at the ZANZIBAR with Ray Shoates and his talking electric guitar heading the group.

Etta Moten to Sing at Shaw U.

RALEIGH, N.C.—Etta Moten, mezzo-contralto, will be featured artist in Shaw University's faculty concert Tuesday night, Feb. 28, at Crosby-Garfield auditorium.

"Greater Victory" Film Marks Brotherhood Week

WASHINGTON

A showing of a film, "The Greater Victory," marked the observance of Brotherhood Week on Thursday at the Slowe Elementary School here.

The observance, sponsored by the Washington area office of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, began last Saturday evening and will extend through Sunday.

Mrs. Inabel Lindsay, dean of the school of social work at Howard University, was one of the speakers at the Monday morning meeting, held in the Labor Department building.

She called racial prejudice "the one great psychosis today," and termed brotherhood the "highroad to peace."

"If we are to achieve a lasting peace," she declared, "we must have an active implementation by all people. The need for active support of brotherhood is great, and only by active effort will we be able to achieve the goals that we all wish."

Mrs. Julia West Hamilton, president of the board of Phyllis Wheatley YWCA, gave the opening prayer at a meeting of the women's division of the conference on Monday afternoon. It was held in the Shoreham Hotel and attended by Mrs. Bess Truman, wife of President Truman, Mrs. Alben Barkley, Mrs. Oscar L. Chapman and other prominent Washingtonians. Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin was chief speaker.

On Tuesday and Wednesday local churchmen of different faiths were heard at meetings geared to the brotherhood observance. Among them were the Rev. Dillard Brown, rector of St. Luke Episcopal Church, and the Rev. R. W. Brooks, pastor of Lincoln Congregational Church. Interracial harmony was discussed in a broadcast over Station WWDC on Wednesday night.

Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, president of Howard University, was one of the speakers at a public seminar, held at Wilson Teachers College on Thursday.

Urge Support of Producer

NEW YORK—The nation's only colored Mr. and Mrs. radio team has denounced as "horrifying" the action of Northwestern State College, Louisiana, in refusing to engage Margaret Webster's traveling troupe of "The Taming of the Shrew" when it learned two colored stars, Austin Briggs-Hall and Edmund Cambridge, would appear in the cast.

Lauds Webster's Courage

Calling it a public disgrace on a par with the Jefferson Military College and Lafayette College scandals, Ernest Calloway of WWRL, former motion picture and "Anna Lucasta" star, called upon Americans to write their protest to the University.

He also urged their support of Margaret Webster for her courage in declaring that the action of Dr. Sherrod Towns, head of the college music department, did not speak for the students or the citizens of Natchitoches, La., but for his own prejudices when he cancelled a booking of the Shakespearean play because these two actors were in the cast.

"It's about time the public did something about school officials who preach racial prejudice," Calloway declared. "An educator should be impartial as a judge."

Colleges Offered Inducements

The Jefferson Military College and Lafayette College both were promised private endowments recently, the former if it preached white supremacy and the latter if it excluded Catholics and Jews from its student enrollment.

"We hold out little hope for the future of America when bigots are allowed to head institutions of learning designed to train the mind of young Americans," the Calloways, Ernest and Eva, said in a statement from their New York office.

Students Found Open

"It has been proved in sports activities and in cultural outlets that students definitely go along with the idea of inter-racial participation," the former American Negro Theatre star declared.

The Calloways are heard every morning on station WWRL, Woodside, Long Island, in a program called "Uptown in the Mornin'." Mrs. Calloway, former actress and syndicated columnist, is a member of the National Council of Negro Women.

Miss M'Millan's Recital Lauded

The student recitals of seniors majoring in music at Morgan State College got underway last week, with the presentation of Chappelle McMillan in a voice recital.

Miss McMillan sang a group of Italian, German, French and English compositions and an aria Odon Fatale from "Don Carlos" by Verdi, displaying a sensitive understanding of music and text. Of the program of sixteen numbers which Miss McMillan offered, the best received were "The Sentonel core," by Scarlatti, and "Vergeblishes Standchen," Brahms. The entire French group, "Je Sais Attacher des Rubans," "Obstination," and "Chant Hindou" were well rendered.

Mrs. Dorothy H. Banks, professor of voice at the college, is to be congratulated upon the meticulous care with which she has trained this performer. According to Orville Moseley, head of the department, there will be fourteen students who will appear during this semester in partial fulfillment of the requirements for their degree.

'Malaya' Next on Harlem Screen

"Intruder in the Dust," co-starring Juano Hernandez and Claude Jarman Jr., bows out at the Harlem Theatre next Tuesday night with "Malaya" opening on Wednesday.

"Malaya" co-stars Spencer Tracy and James Stewart, and tells of the short but sweet life on that island. It's a thrill-packed adventure picture packed with romantic episodes.

SUSPECT IN 1933 MURDER AT LAST IN POLICE TOILS

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. — Police Chief L. F. Worrell was notified last Monday by New York police that they had arrested Oliver Thorne, alias Charles Campbell, for the 17-year-old murder of Curtis Blue.

Art Museum Adds Assistant to Staff

Announcement has been made by Mrs. Adelyn D. Breeskin, director of the Baltimore Museum of Art, of the addition to the museum's staff of Mrs. Prue Smith Rockwell, who will assist Miss Belle Boas in the direction of the educational activities.

Mrs. Rockwell is a graduate of Bryn Mawr College where she majored in fine arts and psychology. She has a master's degree in fine arts from the University of Pennsylvania, and has done extensive study abroad.

To Assist in School Lectures

In assisting Miss Boas, Mrs. Rockwell will be in charge of all extension material for school use. She will assist in various school lectures and classes.

The full time staff of three will include Mrs. Susan W. Catling, who will take over on March 31 its new Young People's Art Center, the gift of Mrs. Saidie A. Maym, benefactor and trustee of the Museum.
