Rival Clubs Primed for Heart Fund Bill

The question amateur fans are asking themselves is whether the East Side Sportsmen will be the first local team to beat the Easterwood A.C.?

Tonight (Friday), at the Heart Fund doubleheader at the Richmond Market Armory at 8 p.m. the Sportsmen will meet the Maryland AAAA champions who sport a 25-1 record.

On the other game of the evening, the 231st Battalion will try to win the rubber game of a series with the Y Big Five into camp.

The Sportsmen were beaten by the interracial five three weeks ago, 53-46. In that game the Coach George Thrower's boys were leading at the two-minute mark, by three points. But Easterwood, playing like true champions, came through with 10 points to take the contest. This time the East Siders don't intend to make that same mistake.

All the proceeds of this doubleheader will go to the Maryland Heart Fund. Probable lineups:

Ringside, Marco A.C., In Ring Meet

Johnny Marco, coach of the Marco A.C. and the Ringside Athletic Club, headed by Dave Selina and Tony Ensengs, have sent a strong entry list to the annual South Atlantic Association AAU. boxing championships that will be held in the Baltimore Gardens, March 4, 11, 17 and 25.

For the first in the tourney's history it will be divided into two sections—the open and the novice classes. Ringside, which won the team championship in the Maryland State tourney last fall, entered a strong team, headed by Elmer Barksdale, who holds City, State and S.A. titles, and Walter Brown, 112-pound State champion.

Edward Chaffman, secretary of the S.A. boxing tourney, announced this week that the closing date for the entries is Feb. 28. Blanks may be secured from Harry Sinz, Skinner Building, and entries should be mailed to Chaffman, 108 East Baltimore St.

Ringside stands a fine chance of winning its second straight team crown. Aside from Barksdale and Brown, Ringside's fighters include James Evans, Peter Brown, Jerry Beads, Carl Coates, William Tyson, Mallie Shaw, Delmonte Coleman, James Brown and Ted Smith.

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY, Pa.—The undefeated Maple Grove Athletic Club wrestling team shut out the Lincoln University matmen, 34-0, here Friday night.

Ez Charles Ready to Defend Crown

BUFFALO, N.Y. — Ezzard Charles, NBA heavyweight champion, who will defend his crown here Tuesday night, Feb. 28, against Johnny Bechore, is expected to tip the scales at 185 pounds for the championship bout.

Weighing around 190 and showing plenty of speed Charles was stepping through his training paces briskly this week for the 10-round bout which is expected to draw a $50,000 gate. This will mark his third title defense since winning the crown vacated by retired champion Joe Louis.

In previous bouts Ezzard defeated Gus Lesnevich and Pat Valentino. He won the crown in a bout with Jersey Joe Walcott.

Bechore is a rugged foe, having won 28 out of 36 pro fights though losing his last fight to Lee Oma on a disputed decision.
