2 Inter-City Games Set

Northern Division Favored in Contests

The South Atlantic High School Conference annual all-star series, beginning tonight (Friday) in Baltimore will pit together the highest scoring performers among scholastic cagers in this area.

Local fans who miss seeing these topflight cagers in Baltimore will have the opportunity to watch them in the final series tilt slated tomorrow (Saturday), Mar. 11 at Banneker gym, at 8 p.m.

Halftime Entertainment

The final series tussle will be completed with entertainment at halftime. The program will include singing quartets from Armstrong and Dunbar who will present several of their own clever arrangements.

The northern division team, representing Dunbar, Carver, and Douglass of Baltimore, and Bates of Annapolis, will be a big favorite to upset the southern division quintet with its all-around height and balance-shooting team.

Roseborough Standout

Heading the northern aggregation is Arthur Roseborough of Carver, Avon Childs and Thomas Rogers of Douglass, and Maurice Williams and Sam Powell of Dunbar. Other expected to round out the team are Joe Payne and Ed Curry of Douglass, Calvin McCoy, Donald Quarles and Sandy Martin of Carver.

Roseborough, 6-foot, 4-inch center, racked up 18 and 16 points, respectively, against Dunbar and Phelps while Childs, 6-foot, 3-inch forward and Rogers, 6-foot, 3-inch center tallied 14 points apiece against Armstrong, knocking the defending champions out of the South Atlantic cage race.

Top Last Year Scorers

The southern division quintet, comprising Armstrong, Dunbar, Phelps, Cardozo, and Douglass of upper Marlboro, will count on the accurate shooting of Armstrong's offensive pair, Gene Lawrence and Reggie Lee, who tallied a high of 27 and 26 points apiece in the same game.

Then there will be Dunbar's trio of hot-handed players, Don Lipscomb, James Boddie and Richard Fairley. Last year in a conference game, Lipscomb tallied 28 points against Dunbar of Baltimore, and reached a high of 21 this season against touted Trenton Catholic High of New Jersey. From his guard position, Boddie tallied 14 against Carver, recently.

Miles in Pivot

Phelps will contribute her 6-foot, 7-inch, 19-year-old, AAU All-High center in Clinton Miles and the steady playing Gerald Little, an ambidextrous guard who can shoot with either hand.

Mickey Cox, 5-foot, 2-inch set shot artist, Sonny Wills and Leonard Lewis will round out the local area array of talent which is expected to uphold the willowy northern division quintet.

Barksdale Choice for 126-Pound Title at South Atlantic Mitt Meet Resumes

One of the gamest fighters competing in the annual South Atlantic Association's amateur boxing championships currently under way in the Baltimore Gardens, is Elmer Barksdale, the 126-pound defending champion.

That Elmer, an 18-year-old student at Douglass High has a hard road to travel if he hopes to retain his ringside crown, but veteran observers concede that if any boy has the wherewithal to stay in there against tough opposition is Elmer.

Barksdale, who won the S.A. title last year, makes his first start in the tourney Saturday night when he faces Norman Carroll in the feather-weight division in the old 104th Medical Regiment armory at Fayette and Pace Streets. The tourney resumes its third of five fighting dates at 7 o'clock.

Has Top Record

Barksdale, who fights for Dave Selina, head of the Ringside A.C. is in his third-year at Douglass. In addition to holding the South Atlantic crown, Elmer is also the scholastic titleholder in his class in Baltimore and Washington.

Barksdale's record shows 61 victories in 65 fights. He lost three split decisions and one TKO. The technical knockout came early in his career, and since then the knockout has been reversed.

Barksdale was just 18 last New Year's. He is the son of Mrs. Irene Barksdale, 116 North Pearl St. Aside from winning the South Atlantic title the past two years, Elmer hit his best stride last year when he won both the Baltimore City and Maryland State tourney doubles.

Resumes Tonight

When the tourney resumes action tonight (Friday) another Baltimore boy will have the spotlight turned on him. He is Jesse Manigault, Officer Harry Scott's prize fighter of the Northwestern District Police Boys Club army.

Manigault weighed in four pounds over the 125-pound light heavyweight limit and was placed in the heavyweight class. Even though he faces a field of the strongest heavyweights in years Jesse has been made a favorite to cop that division.

Following the announcement of Manigault's being placed in the unlimited ranks, Joe Sanchez, of the BAA, withdrew from the tournament. Sanchez was the defending champion.

ELMER BARKSDALE

Jackie Hits Single First Time at Bat

VERO BEACH, Fla.—Surprised by Manager Burt Shotton's call to fill a pinch-hitting role, Jackie Robinson responded by knocking in the first Brooklyn run as the Dodgers lost to their Fort Worth Farmhands, 4-2, on Tuesday.

Robbie singled home Buddy Hicks from second to smear what had been a shutout for the cats up to that point.

Roy is Uniform

It marked Jackie's second day in camp and he did not play except for the seventh inning turn at bat. His blow was line drive, one-baser to left.

Roy Campanella was in uniform and took part in the pre-game work-out for the first time since he was floored by a mild flu attack five days earlier.—LACY.

Lions Rally to Nip

LAWRENCEVILLE, Va. — Lincoln's Lions came from behind in the last three minutes of play to defeat St. Paul, 67-61, here last week.
