NAACP Meeting Sponsors Political-Tug-Of-War

Democrat Grant Reynolds and Republican Genoa Washington engaged in a political tug-of-war before an NAACP audience at Trinity Baptist Church, Sunday.

The speakers headed a program celebrating the successful completion of the current NAACP fund-raising campaign.

Before presentation of the two main speakers, Mrs. Lillie M. Jackson, NAACP president and Juanita Mitchell, attorney, gave a resume of the organization's activities during the past year.

The speakers were introduced by Robert Watts, local NAACP attorney. Mr. Watts cited the current emphasis on civil rights as being proof that "the important colored vote is finally receiving a recognition."

Reynolds For Democrats

Mr. Reynolds, New York lawyer who described himself as a converted Republican, urged support of the Democratic presidential candidate—Adlai Stevenson.

Referring to his former affiliation with the Republican party, Mr. Reynolds apologized for being "wrong for so long."

Denouncing Republican attacks on President Truman, he described Trumanism as embodying the "Fair Deal, appointment of Ralph Bunche and Channing Tobias to high diplomatic positions, Federal housing, and social security legislation.

"For the first time in American History a president has created a climate of human decency. President Truman has never been afraid to recognized and reward merit.

Applauds Trumanism

"When Channing Tobias on behalf of the U.S. answered Russian allegations at a Paris United Nations meeting—that was Trumanism.

"As for corruption, during 20 years of Republican rule, the Republicans out-stole the Democrats 3 to 1."

In personal attacks on the Republican presidential ticket, Reynolds described Nixon as "exemplifying the example of Fascism. A tool of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce."

As for Eisenhower — "He's a great general on the battlefield, but knows nothing about civil government. "He consistently trumpets for states rights.

"South Carolina will never pass FEPC legislation. Why Jimmy Byrnes doesn't even want us to have an education. He's already threatened to close the schools.

Labels Byrnes

"Jimmy Byrnes— Eisenhower's friend—is 'An Apostle of Ignorance in This Age of Progress'"

After Reynolds' speech, the audience gave him a standing ovation which he acknowledged with several bows.

On beginning his speech, Genoa Washington — Chicago attorney and Republican stalwart—paid a left-handed tribute to Reynolds' flow of oratory.

"It looks like the Republican party has again been out-talked," he sarcastically remarked. A wave of laughter greeted this remark.

Chides Democrats

"I shan't appeal to your emotions," began Mr. Washington, "but I'll point out to you facts to justify your confidence and your vote.

"While the Democrats have promised a great deal, they can't and won't deliver. The backbone of the Democratic party is the solid south.

"The NAACP fights for rights of colored men and women, so how can you afford to pay for NAACP membership and vote the Democratic ticket?

Questions Truman's Stand

"Mr. Truman will take no compromise but insists on the most stringent civil rights legislation. Are we permitted to wonder how sincere he is?

"Its not my purpose to detract from the contributions Harry Truman has made to the civil rights fight, but the Republican party is capable of furthering the cause of this legislation," concluded Mr. Washington.

The Rev. V. K. Stokes, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, delivered the benediction. Music was furnished by the Gerald Burks Wilson Choral group.
