OPS Not To Intervene In Dundalk Price Fracas

Because Congress exempted public utilities from price control, the OPS has been prevented from intervening in the proposed rate increase by the Dundalk Sewage Company to 3,804 subscribers in the Dundalk-Sparrows Point area.

Cyril B. Murphy Jr., general counsel for the Maryland OPS had ruled that the Dundalk Sewage Company was not a public utility because its raths are not subject to control by any local government rate control body.

His ruling temporarily prevented the company from increasing its rates.

Ike Gets 1 Vote, Thanks To Magistrate

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will get one vote today, through the courtesy of Magistrate E. Everett Lane and a complainant who failed to show up in Northwestern police court Monday morning.

John H. (Dummy) Hill, 31-year-old mute who lives in the 1000 block of Myrtle ave., faced the magistrate on charges of assaulting and robbing Robert L. Green, 1300 block Madison ave., of $25 on Oct. 27.

Green didn't show up to prosecute, and Hill wrote the magistrate a note declaring that he did not take $25 from Green, but instead took 50 cents that he had loaned the man earlier.

While recovering his money, Hill wrote, Green struck him and he fought back in self-defense.

Magistrate Lane then penned a note to Hill, telling him that he was dismissed because of Green's failure to appear, and added the line: "Are you going to vote tomorrow?"

Hill hastily scribbled back: "Ike."

School Issue Endorsed By NAACP, Urban League

Widespread endorsement of the $8,000,000 school loan, which comes before the voters of Baltimore as question No. 3 today is indicated by favorable expressions from civic, social, educational, and political organizations throughout the city.

Both the Democratic and Republican state central committees have endorsed the loan, as have both senatorial candidates.

Civic group endorsements include the League of Women Voters, Women's Civic League, National Council of Jewish Women, Urban League, NAACP, and the Public Education Committee of the Baltimore Ethical Society.

Also the Political Action Committee of the CIO, Baltimore Federation of Labor, Real Estate Board, Baltimore Association of Commerce, Junior Association of Commerce, Maryland Industrial Union Council, Baltimore Teachers Union, Coordinating Council of PTA, Public School Teachers' Association and the Commission on Governmental Efficiency and Economy.

Proceeds from the current loan are to be used for new school construction, and additions to existing overcrowded schools.

Support Sought

Over 1,800 Baltimore lawyers have already received letters urging their support of the school bond issue.

Recipients of the letter were told that "Adequate physical plants are an essential for the proper education of our children. Passage of this loan will be another step forward in providing facilities for an increasing public school population."

The letters point out also that more than 132,000 children spend over 1,000 hours each year in school during the formative period of their lives.

Since the health, safety, and education of these boys and girls are directly influenced by the type of school building in which they spend so much time, the city's attorneys were asked to support the question on the ballot providing funds for additonal new school building construction.

Art Museum Features Howard Cook's Work

Pastels by Howard Cook, new Mexican artist, will be on view for the month of November at the Baltimore Museum of Art.

Using as subject matter New York's manmade structures as well as nature's more monumental ones in the far west, Mr. Cook's pastels are said to be highly expressive.

In the 1920's and 1930's, he lived in New York where he made his reputation as a foremost engraver, chiefly of wood. He later moved to his present home at Rancho de Taos, New Mexico, and took up fresco painting.

Wife Feared Loneliness, Asked To End Marriage

Fear of lonliness brought Mrs. Dorothy Rogers, 1800 Madison ave. to suggest divorce, Charles S. Rogers, 2007 W. Mulberry st. testified, this week.

Mr. Rogers, who said that he and his 24-year-old bride of six months, voluntarily separated when he decided to make the Navy his career and she feared that she might not be faithful with him away most of the time.

Charges Cruelty

Mrs. Eula M. Wesson of 1811 Lorman st., organist for the Cornerstone Baptist Church, divorced Stephen Wesson after testimony that he beat her, knocked her down and kicked her after she had fallen.

A counter suit instituted by Mr. Wesson charging her of desertion was dismissed. She won custody of their four children and he was ordered to pay her $20 per week for their support. The wife was represented by Roy S. Bond, attorney. William Pittgerald was attorney for Mr. Wesson.

Mrs. Sarah Barbour, 2532 Madison ave. told the court that Jesse L. Barbour of Plains, Va. drank so much that she was not able to put up with him, and that she ended their marriage of 14 years in 1946.

George Campbell, 1710 Harlem ave. won a divorce from Mrs. Josephine Campbell on grounds of infidelity. He testified that she told him that the last child born to her was not his. A divorce also went to Mrs. Elizabeth Hill of 1412 Madison ave. from Amos Hill of 18 S. Eden st. on grounds of desertion. They were married from Mar. 22, 1941 to June 15, 1947.
