Child Falls Through Floor Landlord Not Informed

A hall flooring, which reportedly had been weak for four months, finally gave way Sunday morning when a six-year-old child ran across it on her way to the kitchen to get a glass of water.

Treated and dismissed at Johns Hopkins Hospital was Evelyn Hopkins, oldest of five daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hopkins, 1623 E. Lombard st.

Mrs. Hopkins told the AFRO that she had reported the condition of the floor to her landlord, Jake Klotzman, "several times, but all he did was to make promises to fix it."

Not Report Accident

The Hopkins apartment is located on the first floor. There is no basement. The depth of the hole in the floor was estimated to be about one foot.

Mrs. Hopkins did not report the accident to Mr. Klotzman.

Upon interviewing Mr. Klotzman, the AFRO learned that he reportedly put in a new hall flooring about two months ago.

He stated that he had never been told about the condition of the floor, but when he sent a repairman to fix a hole in the kitchen floor, Monday afternoon, he learned about the hall. He ordered it to be fixed.

He claimed that he did not know about the accident until the AFRO reporter informed him of it.

Mr. Klotzman is the owner of the North East Loan Office, 1518 E. Monument st.

Last Rites Held For A. L. Waters

Funeral services for Arthur Louis Waters, 70-year-old retired letter carrier, were held Saturday at St. Peter Claver's Church, 1546 N. Fremont ave.

Honorary pallbearers were all retired postal employees, and active postal workers served as active pallbearers. Father Bartholomew Hines officiated.

Burial was at New Cathedral Cemetery.

Mr. Waters died in his sleep of a heart condition Tuesday morning at his home.

Longtime Postal Employee

One of the first postal workers in the city, Mr. Waters spent his last 35 years of service with the Druid Hill ave. station.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Maud V. Waters, former schoolteacher; a sister, Mrs. Lollie Atkinson, and two brothers, William and Charles Waters.

State Principals Invited To Morgan

Some forty or more high school principals and supervisors have been invited by President Martin D. Jenkins to a luncheon meeting in the Memorial Refectory at 10:30 a.m. on November 15 to discuss ways that Morgan State College can render service to the high schools of the state.

Similar meetings, also attended by college department heads, have resulted previously in the introduction of the library science course at Morgan and several modifications in the teacher training program.

Significant aspects of their high school programs discussed by two principals and a general discussion of problems faced by principals and supervisors will form the major portion of the meeting.

The high school officers have also been invited to attend the homecoming football game at 2 p.m. in Hughes Stadium as guests of the college.

Court Drops Assault Charges Against Man

Assault and stabbing charges against 24-year-old Clarence Blount of the 500 block McMechen st., were dismissed in Northwestern District court Monday when a star witness and the plaintiff failed to appear in court.

Charged with stabbing Lee Boone last October, Blount strolled out of the court room a free man when Boone and a witness who gave her name as Mrs. Anna Huey failed to appear for the hearing.

Boone's family stated Monday that he was released from a hospital three days ago, and had moved to an unknown address.

Police disclosed that the alleged Mrs. Huey had given them three "phony" addresses after three trips to the station with "information."

Regent Sport Club To Aid Youngsters

In an effort to aid the young people of Northeast Baltimore, 22 members of the Regent Sport Club are now devoting their time and money to reducing adult and juvenile delinquency.

Organized in January of 1939 as a combination sports and social unit, the club only recently launched its program to promote social activities among older people and youngsters.

On Halloween the group financed a party at Chick Webb Center for more than 200 boys and girls.

Prior to the celebration, a pre-Halloween party was sponsored by them for 90 children at the Center.

Their annual activities include an anniversary formal, and both spring and fall dances.

Members of the club include president, Walter Jones; vice-President, Benjamin Graham; treasurer, David Cornick; secretary, Thomas G. Williams; financial secretary, Solomon Garner, and business manager, Lee Lewis.

Others include Joseph Mello, sergeant at arms, Calvin Cornick, chaplain; Michael Brown, George Burton, Arthur Chapman, Booker Covington, Lonnie Harris, and John Harvey.

Also, Roland Holmes, Ernest Jones, Calvin Revels, James Pittman, Ernest Taylor, and William Walker.

Two inactive members are in the armed forces. They are Schofield Lawson, and William Fair.

What's Happened To Sugar Ray?

Rage Of Gay Paree

One of the newest glamour girls in Paris is 23-year-old Monique Monique, who is currently playing the role of hostess in a Paris Night Club. Lovely Monique has starred in several French films.

Latest rumors from the Continent are speculating as to whether this maid can reach the heights won by America's Josephine Baker who left her native land two decades ago to become the toast of Paris.

Disk Jock Takes Cake

When Talah Cooper celebrated his second anniversary as a WOOK disk jockey broadcasting nitely from the Palm Cafe in New York a bevy of celebs were on hand to help him celebrate. Surrounded by Charine Carol Carter, Leonard Feather, singer Vicki Vigal and Austin Powell, Cooper smiles as he cuts a huge cake donated by his fans.

Sugar Ray Robinson, the former middleweight champion, is back in the ring again, but that's not the only thing. His heart has gone into the equally glamorous world of footlights and stage floorboards.

Showgirl Jua Benoit looks on here as Ray demonstrates the fancy footwork he has been using to get set at the French Casino night club in Manhattan.
