TOP ROOKIE—An oster blendor jacket was presented Wednesday night to Ray Felix, sensational center of the Baltimore Bullets, for his efforts with the Monumental City's pro cage quintet. The presentation was one of the highlights of the National Basketball Association double-header at Baltimore Coliseum, in which the Bullets met the Syracuse Chiefs. Felix, voted the outstanding rookie of the Bullets, has also been named, along with Bob Houbregs, as the top first-year man in the NBA by See Magazine sports editor Curt Gowdy

Charles to meet Bob Satterfield

CHICAGO — Ezzard Charles takes what he hopes will be another step toward a heavyweight title shot here Wednesday night, January 13, when he meets Bob Satterfield, of this city, in a ten-round feature bout at the Chicago Stadium.

Charles, in hot pursuit of a match with champion Rocky Marciano, blasted out a technical knockout victory over Coley Wallace, of New York, last Wednesday night in San Francisco.

Satterfield, an unpredictable light heavyweight with a knock out punch, scored a one-round kayo of Bob Baker last July and his first start since was an eight round knockout of Ray Augustus here Tuesday night.

Al Weill, Marciano's manager, has admitted Charles is "on our list," but he hasn't said when and where.

Four jobs with recreation department now available

The City Service Commission of Baltimore announced Monday, that applications for taking competitive examinations for four positions with the Recreation Department would be accepted until Jan. 8.

Merit examinations will be held for:

Director of community center, at a salary of $3,675 per year.

Senior Recreation leader, $3,380 yearly.

Senior Recreation leader, $2,995 per year.

Junior Recreation leader, $2,415 per year.

The positions involve the promotion and organization of recreation programs for children, youth and adults in athletics, social recreation, dancing, crafts, story-telling, nature and gardening, and gymnastics.

With the exception of the junior recreation leader position, all applicants must have completed two years of college work. Applications may be obtained in room 107 at City Hall.

WOULD YOU PAY $50.00 FOR A BOTTLE OF RYE?

One man did! In 1937, a Baltimore multi-millionaire's wine cellar was sold at auction. A quart of Maryland Straight Rye bottled in 1911 sold for $50. The very same man who made that prized bottle of rye is making HYSBROOK Maryland Straight Rye today! His name is Frank L. Wight. Hysbrook is the delightful result of Mr. Wight's 50 years of distilling experience. Real rye! Truly traditional rye! "The Flower of Maryland Rye!" It won't cost you $50! In fact, it's only $4.75 a fifth, plus taxes. But no amount of money could buy finer, smoother rye!

Hysbrook is straight rye whiskey, 5 years old. 86 Proof. The Cockeysville Distilling Co., Inc., Cockeysville, Md.

Motorists get jail terms

Focusing sharp attention on the impending holiday weekend two motorists received jail terms in traffic court on Drunken driving charges.

Raleigh Thomas, 36, 2800 block W. Lafayette ave. received the heaviest penalty — one year in jail. He received concurrent terms of one year on charges of drunken driving and operating on a revoked license and a concurrent six-month term for attempting to obtain an operator's license by misrepresentation.

Thomas was arrested at Mechen st. and Pennsylvania ave. Friday after a police officer followed his weaving car for two blocks.

Had Another's Permit

When arrested he had an instruction permit bearing the name Raley Thomas. An original driving permit issued Thomas in 1939 was revoked in 1951.

The other man jailed, Eugene Launderdale, 35, 1200 block W. Fayette st., was given six 60-day jail terms on charges of drunken driving, reckless driving, operating with fictitious markers, (two charges), and driving with tags issued for another vehicle.
