JACK PALANCE — and Constance Smith in a terrifying scene from "Man In The Attic" now playing at the Met Theatre.

JOANNE DRU is very much out-of-bounds for Tony Curtis in the Universal-International melodrama "Forbidden," which is set in the dangerous background of Macao. Lyle Bettger, the third co-star, has staked out his claim for Miss Dru, which makes Tony's interest very hazardous. Now playing at the Harlem Theatre.

AVA GARDNER as Queen Guinevere and Robert Taylor as the gallant knight, Sir Launcelot, who fall in love with each other in "Knights of the Round Table". MGM's first CinemaScope production which opens a second week on the Giant Republic screen Thursday. Filmed in magnificent color this will be heard with the new Stereophonic sound and is the first CinemaScope attraction to play uptown. There is no increase in admissions.

"MISS SADIE THOMPSON", personified by Rita Hayworth in the new Columbia picture filmed in color by Technicolor at the Royal Theatre.

Coppin to sponsor joint recital at Washington

Baritone Robert McFerrin, winner of the Metropolitan Opera Auditions of the Air for 1953, and Geraldine Overstreet, soprano, will be presented in a joint recital, March 30, at Booker Washington high school.

Mrs. Overstreet and Mr. McFerrin will sing the famous Nile Scene from Verdi's "Aida." The program is being sponsored by Coppin State Teachers college and is scheduled to start at 8:30 p.m.

According to critics, Mr. McFerrin's Baltimore performance may turn out to be a preview of his Metropolitan debut.

Groomed At The Met

He is being groomed for the role of "Amonasro" at the Metropolitan's own training school. The singer was awarded a scholarship to the Katherine Long School as the result of his victory in the Metropolitan Opera Auditions last spring.

Mr. McFerrin is the first colored singer ever to be trained at the Metropolitan by conductors.

His second session was finished just prior to his present tour with Miss Overstreet. In addition to being prepared for Amonasro, he has been coached for the roles of Rigoletto, Valentin in "Faust," and Germont in "La Traviata."

Chamber Music Society books three concerts

The Chamber Music Society of Baltimore, Inc. announces a series of three concerts for its spring 1954 series. All of the concerts will be held in the auditorium of the Baltimore Museum of Art at 8:30 p.m.

The first will be on Thursday, March 25. The other programs are scheduled for Wednesday, April 21 and May 5.

'KNIGHTS' CONTINUE AT REGENT THEATRE

MGM presents Robert Taylor, Ava Gardner and a cast of many thousands in the greatest romantic adventure of all time—"Knights of the Round Table!"

It's the story of the Golden Age of Chivalry—told in magnificent color, as MGM presents its first big hit in CINEMASCOPE!

To recapture the true glory of the gallant knights of The Round Table MGM took a vast company of stars, directors and technicians to England and Ireland, where King Arthur and his knights once stormed tyrants' castles.

Spectacular scenes of ancient grandeur come blazing to life! See Robert Taylor, Ava Gardner, Mel Ferrer and a tremendous cast in—"Knights Of The Round Table" in Color and Cinemascope! now playing at the Regent Theatre.

'MAN IN THE ATTIC' THRILLER AT MET

"Man In The Attic," sinister and macabre in its impact, sends cold shivers up and down the spines of the audience at the Met Theatre where this new Panoramic picture, released through Twentieth Century-Fox opened its engagement. Jack Palance is the star of this terrifying murder story and he proved once again that portraying merciless killers is his forte. Ever since his vivid performances in "Sudden Fear" and "Shane" Palance has been Hollywood's leading villain and in "Man in the Attic" his interpretation of the "Jack The Ripper" role is really a masterpiece of shock acting.

Constance Smith as the girl who is menaced by the killer and Byron Palmer as a Scotland Yard inspector are the co-stars with Palance in this adaptation of Marie Belloc Lowndes' thrilling story, "The Lodger."

'FORBIDDEN' THRILLS, HARLEM THEATRE PATRONS

Edge-of-the-seat suspenses vies for honors with some of the most exciting romantic scenes to come out of Hollywood in recent months as Universal-International unveiled "Forbidden" at the Harlem Theatre.

Tony Curtis, Joanne Dru and Lyle Bettger are starred in the new film with Marvlu Miller heading a strong supporting cast.

Backgrounded in the Oriental city of Macao, "Forbidden" is a hard-hitting story of a gangster's hireling who tries to lure a racketeer's widow out of Macao.

He falls in love with her, instead.

The battle between Curtis and Bettger for the affections of Miss Dru forms a most unusual love triangle tempered with the fire of underworld intrigue.

LIVE IN TRAILER IS CARVER COMEDY

Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz, the nations beloved "I Love Lucy" couple, co-star on the Carver Playhouse screen in MGM's hilarious Ansco Color comedy, "The Long, Long Trailer."

In their first picture together since "Too Many Girls," made in 1940, the sensationally popular team is cast in typical roles—Miss Ball as a wide-eyed impetuous and blundering young bride and Arnaz as the patient harassed groom who adores his inexperienced wife enough to forgive her everything—well almost everything.

As though the tribulations of the early weeks of marriage weren't sufficient, Tacy and Nick, the honeymooners of "The Long, Long Trailer," begin their life of wedded bliss in a home on wheels.

It takes Nick some time to master the uncertainties of driving the mobile "monster." It also takes some hysterically funny happenings to convince Tacy that housekeeping in a trailer requires a technique all its own.

'JACK SLADE' WESTERN PROVIDES NEW ALBERT ACTION

Featured in the film are Dorothy Malone, Barton MacLane, and John Litel. Others prominent in the large cast are Harry Shannon, Paul Langton, John ENTHUSED OVER the appointments of her new trailer home, Lucille Ball is oblivious of the fact that hubby Desi Arnaz has just banged his head in the entrance door. It's a scene from MGM's happy-go-luck comedy, "The Long, Long Trailer," which brings the popular "I Love Lucy" stars to the Carver Playhouse screen in the laugh-filled story of a honeymoon on wheels.

DOROTHY MALONE and Mark Stevens, as the title characters play some of the most violent love scenes ever screened in the Allied Artist production "Jack Slade," now showing at the New Albert theatre.
