Bandits use bottle in daylight assault

Cut about his throat by a bottle wielded by a holdup man, Waverly Mason, 1600 block W. Franklin St., was treated and later released at Franklin Square Hospital Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Mason told police he was walking in the 1600 block Cairo St., when an unidentified man grabbed him about his throat, while another took his watch from his wrist and $6 from his trousers.

Police said that when Mr. Mason resisted, the first man picked up an empty wine bottle, broke it, and used the jagged glass to inflict a cut on Mr. Mason's throat.

AFRO FAMOUS NAMES CONTEST RULES!

1. Seven questions regarding our history and achievement will be published in the AFRO-AMERICAN in each Tuesday and Friday Edition starting with the issue May 10, 1955, and continuing until July 16, 1955.
2. A total of 14 questions per week or 140 questions for the contest period will be printed.
3. Each group of questions and each question will be numbered and there will be 14 official answer blanks in the complete contest.
4. Contestants must use the Famous Names Contest answer blank or facsimile and give the correct answer to as many questions as possible.
5. Only one answer for each question is permitted on an answer blank.
6. A contestant may enter as many answer blanks as he wishes provided they are the official Famous Names Contest answer blanks or facsimile thereof.
7. Entries must be postmarked not later than the date carried on the answer blank.
8. All answers must be printed or typed legibly. Judges will take this into account in rendering their final decision.
9. Any person in the continental U.S.A. may enter the contest, except employees of the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers and members of their immediate family.
10. The judges' decision will be based on the number of correct answers, neatness and legibility submitted by each contestant. Their decision will be final and all contestants taking part agree to accept their decision as a condition of entry.
11. The person submitting the highest number of correct answers in the opinion of the judges will be awarded the first prize. The person submitting the second highest number of correct answers will receive second prize. Other cash prizes will be awarded according to the standing of the contestants. In event of ties, contestants will be notified regarding a runoff to determine actual winners.
12. Prize winners will be announced through the AFRO at which time the correct answers to the entire group of 140 questions will be published.
13. All entries become the property of the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspaper Company.
