caliber revolver and beneath the bed a paring knife.

A trail of blood led from the second-floor apartment down to the front door.

IN A SIGNED statement given to police, Mrs. Williams, who is the assistant manager of a Fulton Ave. cafe, admitted that she shot Whirley with a gun that had been loaned to her for protection.

She said she kept the gun in a letter box on the night stand near her bed.

According to the statement she started dating Whirley three months ago but broke off the romance early in March.

Neighbors said Mrs. Williams had told them her soldier husband is on his way home from overseas.

Mrs. Williams said she arrived home from work around 12:30 Wednesday and was in bed when Whirley knocked on her door.

She asked him to go away, she said, but he brushed her aside and started an argument about their broken love affair. She said Whirley followed her into the kitchen and returned with a knife.

When he came toward her Mrs. Williams said she started pulling the trigger but couldn't recall how many times.

FOLLOWING HIS release from the hospital, Whirley was taken to the station house, charged with disorderly conduct and then he, too, signed a statement.

In his statement he said he met Mrs. Williams, who sometimes uses the name of Geraldine Fowlkes, in Nov. of 1954 and they had lived together since then.

During that time, according to his statement, she had two illegal operations performed by a "Dr. Reader," a physician with offices on Madison Ave. With one exception his complete statement bore out the facts given earlier by Mrs. Williams.

Whirley claimed that he was shot in the back when he started to leave the apartment and in the stomach and arm when he turned around. The disorderly conduct charge against him was dismissed.

DUCKS CAMERA—Mrs. Mary S. Frazier, 73-year-old practical nurse, of 2114 Druid Hill Ave., ducks AFRO cameraman as she leaves Northwestern Police Station Wednesday morning accompanied by her attorney, Milton Allen, right, after she was released under bail on abortion charges. Also charged in the same case are Dr. Barnett M. Rhetta Sr., and his son and namesake, also a physician.

physician would be unable to see them that evening.

The junior Dr. Rhetta arrived at his father's office approximately 15 minutes after police did and was placed under arrest when he sought to summon lawyers by telephone.

Mrs. Frazier was arrested later at her home.

THE ARRESTING officers conducted a search of the physician's office and upstairs living quarters and confiscated his keys, medical instruments and quantities of medicines.

The policemen also directed him to open an office safe and removed the $15,000 in cash found therein.

Both physicians and Mrs. Frazier were later transported by police car to the Central Police Station where they were fingerprinted, photographed and interrogated. They report they were not allowed to call attorneys.

At or about 1:10 a.m. Wednesday when they were transferred to the Northwestern Police Station for overnight detention, they were allowed to call legal counsel.

The two physicians spent the night on cots in an upstairs detention room at Northwestern. Mrs. Frazier was held overnight at the Pine St. Station for Women.

ROBERT WATTS, Paul Cordish and Milton Allen, attorneys for the Doctors Rhetta and Mrs. Frazier, were strong in their objections to a postponement of the case when their clients were brought before Magistrate Lane at 8:35 a.m. Welnesday before a crowded courtroom.

Mr. Watts insisted to Magistrate Lane that his clients, who were reputable citizens had already been subjected to embarrassment and discomfort by reason of their overnight stay in the police station and the state should be prepared to go ahead with its case.

Mr. Watts said: "The witness (referring to Mrs. Demby, the complainant), could have walked from Aberdeen by now. These three citizens have been held without bail from eight o'clock last night—over 12 hours — the state had plenty of time to acquire its witnesses ..."

However, Magistrate Lane granted the postponement on assurance from the policewomen that if the witness was available before April 1, they would notify him and the case would be set for an earlier date.

Counsel for the accused also asked Magistrate Lane what assurance they would have under the postponement that the state would not by-pass a preliminary hearing and take the case directly to the grand jury.

Magistrate Lane replied: "This case is already docketed here and there will be a preliminary hearing here."

However, it is known that arresting policewomen were closeted with J. Harold Grady, deputy state's attorney, within an hour after the police court hearing and word is that efforts are being made to move the case downtown directly to the grand jury.

DURING THE police court hearing and the long wait while bondsmen posted his bail, the senior Dr. Rhetta consulted frequently with his attorneys. He wore his eyeglasses halfway down his nose as is his custom.

Although he had spent the night in the police station, his grey suit did not appear mussed and he looked as though he had been freshly shaved.

The junior Dr. Rhetta, wearing a tan trench coat, stood against the wall in the courtroom and did not enter into discussions with attorneys. Mrs. Frazier sat on a front bench and appeared in pain.

When bail for them was finally posted, the two physicians left the station house by a rear door and entered an auto driven by Edward Shipley, local realtist.

Mrs. Frazier left by the front door and walked to an auto with Mr. Allen, one of the counsellors.

Dr. Rhetta Sr. is 71 years old. He has been practicing in the city since 1908, a year after he finished an internship at Freedmen's Hospital, and two years after graduation from the Howard University Medical School.

He is well known for his contributions to civic enterprises.

Dr. Rhetta Jr., 38, also a Howard graduate like his father, has been a practicing physician since 1946. He is one of two children practicing medicine.

the crowd with a cane until he found a policeman. He then asked the policeman to lead him to Mr. White's bier.

When this was done, Mr. Lomax stood for a moment before the body, tenderly moved his hands along the casket, but did not touch the body, and then moved on.

He later told the AFRO he had long been a friend of Mr. White and that the two met during the Harlem riots, when Mr. White rode the streets in a car with Mayor LaGuardia pleading to people of Harlem to restore order.

Mrs. Poppy Cannon White, attractive wife of Mr. White, and her three children by a former marriage, were a picture of great control throughout the brief but impressive Episcopalian ceremonies.

ALTHOUGH she was obviously under heavy emotional stress and frequently sniffed what appeared to be smelling salts, Mrs. White sat erect with her head held high and it was only when her shoulders sagged that she fully showed the stress and strain she was undergoing.

Mrs. Gladys White, first wife of Walter White and mother of his two children, was not present at the funeral, although the two children, Jane and Carl, were present and sat behind Mrs. Cannon and her children in that section of the church reserved for the family.

Mr. White, fighter that he was, lay in his mahogany casket like a warrior taking his rest.

As he was always in life, he was immaculately dressed, wearing a blue suit, white shirt and a white carnation in his lapel. There was the flicker of a smile on his boyish, cherubic face.

NATIONALLY OFFICERS and members of the NAACP's board of directors served as honorary pallbearers. Among the well known figures seen at the funeral were:

FEDERAL JUDGES William Hastie and Irving C. Mollison, Col. Campbell C. Johnson of Washington, James Nabritt, Mrs. Daisy Lampkins, Mrs. Ruby Hurley, Mrs. Anna Arnold Hedgeman, Dr. Frederick G. Patterson, William Trent, Frank Horne, Lester Granger; Jacob Pefofsky, Mrs. Ralph Bunche, Roy Wilkins, Judge Hubert Delany, Mrs. Vivian Carter Mason, Arthur Spingarn, Henry Lee Moon, Maceo Smith and others.

Mrs. Lillian M. Maith, who also completed requirements, was elected to a post as op-

"In the death of your husband there has passed from the contemporary scene a vigorous champion of justice and equality for all our citizens. His distinguished service to his race over a period of 40 years was tireless and effective. Permit me to express to you my personal sympathies in your loss."

X-ray drive starts Monday

Druid Health area scene of program

The daily X-ray schedule for the tuberculosis detection program which will be conducted in the Druid Health District during the next six weeks by the Baltimore City Health Department with the assistance of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association has been announced.

According to Dr. H. Maceo Williams, district health officer of the Druid Health District, X-ray will begin on Monday, March 28 at the Druid Health Clinic, 1313 Druid Hill Ave. and will continue almost daily through May 6.

During this time the chest X-ray truck will stop at 25 different locations in the Druid Health District whose boundaries are: Druid Hill Park on the north; Edaw Place and Park Ave., on the east; Mulberry St., Fremont Ave. and Baltimore St. on the south; and Pulaski St. and the Western Maryland Railroad on the west.

DR. WILLIAMS urged all adults, 15 years of age and over, living in the Druid Health District, to get a chest X-ray when the X-ray truck visits their neighborhood.

Pointing out the still serious tuberculosis problem in Baltimore, which has one of the highest TB death rates in the 2rd nation, Dr. Williams emphasized the two-fold advantage of getting a chest X-ray—the assuring knowledge of having healthy lungs and the early detection of TB when chances of recovery are best.

He added that getting a chest X-ray is one of the simplest health tests available. There is no charge for the X-ray, no undressing is required and it takes only a few minutes.

The results of the chest X-ray examination are confidential and a report is mailed to the home.

Youth held in 6 thefts

Bail of $8,500 was set on Tuesday in Northwestern Police Court for Gilbert Conway, 16, of the 2200 block McCulloh St., as he was ordered held for the grand jury in connection with a string of burglaries involving five schools and one store.

Conway had been sought for several weeks as the result of the capture of Walter I. Barnett Jr., 15, of the 1300 block N. Carey St., who reportedly identified the older boy as his accomplice in the school thefts.

Technically a juvenile, Barnett received a hearing in Northwestern Police Court and was committed in $5,000 bail for grand jury action in connection with the thefts, when juvenile authorities waived jurisdiction because of his lengthy record.

Conway, who escaped from Boys' Village almost a year ago, was charged in thefts at Schools No. 104, 137, 130, 181, 132, 451 and a store in the 1600 block Pennsylvania Ave.

Police said that food was the main item taken in the thefts.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. ®Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.
