PARTY IN THE HOME of the George Whites, a Saturday ago, was celebrated in Bernice's birthday. George filled the home with flowers and friends showered her with cards to add to the festive atmosphere. Music, good conversation and an array of "eatables" made the evening more than interesting.

About were the Richard Coles, Joseph Bussey, Clifton Whites, Milton Whites, Oscar Smiths, Joshua Kelly, Tom Hawkinses; and Louise Jones.

Dropping in on Sunday to extend greetings were Mary and Warren Stanley, Lollie and Albert Hockaday, Voncella and Arthur Murray and Gertrude Taylor.

THE ELEVEN WIVES surprised Elizabeth Butler, Thursday night, with a stork shower.

Coming down stairs expecting to see a neighbor, she was speechless to find all the members gathered about a beautifully decorated bassinet filled with lovely gifts for little George Jr.

Members brought along all the trimmings for a swellicant repast, including ice cream molded in the form of storks and an umbrella-shaped cake trimmed in the traditional colors of pink and blue.

Surprisers included Beulah Famiel, Elsie Heamiel, Mary Bevans, Grace Winckler, Bernice White, Eva Williams, Marion Banks, Mary Wall, Lucille Hockaday and Dorothy Tilghman.

HIGHLIGHTING THE "Shallmar" program at the Madison Avenue YWCA on Thursday evening was the demonstration by Mrs. Houston P. Jackson and Mrs. William R. Berry, for the currently forming "Hostess Club."

Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Berry, who are both very popular and successful hostesses in their own homes, launched the proposed class in the arts and etiquette of entertaining at home. The course, which will begin on March 10, at 8:30 should be of especial interest to young wives and brides to-be, since the lessons will cover tips on formal and informal table settings, menu suggestions, what to wear, what to say, what to do and how to make your guests feel glad that they were invited to your home.

Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Berry started the course, by giving a hint of things to come, at Shallmar . . . when they presented a formal dinner table setting in the gold theme. The table which was covered with a delicate lace cloth was set with golden flat-ware and gold rimmed china and crystal. An exquisite centerpiece w a s made up of daffodils, heralding spring and setting a style trend for the Easter Sunday Dinner Party.

According to Mrs. Barbara Green of the YWCA staff, meetings of the Hostess Club will begin officially on March 10 at 8:30 but it is advisable to sign up early for membership.

DATE DATA: The Just Twelve Club has completed plans for its cocktail party and fashion show.

The party will be held at Charm Centre next Wednesday evening at nine, with the Center's models displaying the fashions.

Hostesses will include Mesdames Emma Dudley, who heads the group; Willie Mae DeShields, chairman of the affair; Elizabeth Demby, Catherine Beard, Edith Bruce, Mary Jenkins, Bessie Chester, Jane Harrison, Clarissa Matthews, Carrie Johnson and Phyllis Walston.
