Southern plans new additions

Highlighting the Negro History Week celebration at the YMCA, B. Elliott School No. 104 was a unique quiz program, featuring persons conducted by Linwood G. Koger Sr.

On Feb. 11 Mrs. Mae Hythe, president of the Republican Women's Organization of Maryland, introduced Augustus C. Knox, chairman of the Sixth District Committee to the pupils.

Mr. Knox discussed the progress of colored people in Baltimore political life.

He mentioned the recent election of Harry A. Cole to the State Senate, Truly Hatchett and Emory R. Cole to the House of Delegates, emphasizing that these men were making history in the State of Maryland.

Miss Clyde Terrell was chairman of the Negro History activities. Mrs. Gladys H. Derry is principal.

Morgan State players present original play

A cast of 20 Morgan State College players will present the Baltimore premiere of "Roughshod Up the Mountain," an original three-act play by Arthur Clifton Lamb, associate professor of English and speech at Morgan State College.

The play, written as part of Professor Lamb's doctoral dissertation, will be presented here Februry 25 and 26 in the Little Theatre of the Metropolitan Methodist Church under auspices of the E. S. Williams Wesleyan Service Guild.

Walters E. Turpin, associate professor of English and speech at the college, is directing the twenty-member cast which is headed by Thomas Tipton and Robert Toye who double in the lead role of the Rev. Joshua Amos.

The cast includes: Barbara Brown and Mary Cornish as Lucy Amos; Cynthia Adams and Bettie Baker as Sister Dove; Ralph Murray and Walter Ridgely as "Turtle" Dove; Ray Miller and Edward Dorsey as Norfolk lead; Reginald Brown and Edward Smith as "Cash" Moore; Sharpe as Bella Simmons; David Greene and Herbert Edwards as Dr. Victor Spears; Ralph Howard and Joseph Taylor as Dr. Preston Spears and Luther Johnson and Charles Mixon as Dr. Hubert Kent.

ESSAY WINNERS—For writing outstanding essays on "Why We Should Celebrate the Birthdays of Abraham Lincoln and Frederick Douglass," these contestants were awarded prizes Saturday during the Lincoln-Douglass Day celebration in Lafayette Market Square. Oliver Stokes, left, of 117 Fleming Dr., Turner Station, was first-place winner. Others were Robert Fowlkes, Linda Robinson and Sally Robinson. The celebration and bargain day affair was sponsored by the Pennsylvania Ave.-Lafayette Market Associates and the AFRO.

Dunbar pupil seen on TV

Integration is program's theme

By MABEL HARDY

"I believe that prejudice is not born within but is taught," were the opening words of Charles McLeod, class 12A4, Dunbar High School, when he appeared on Saturday's production of "Youth Takes A Stand."

Speaking on the topic, "Desegregation in Public Schools" at the nationally televised program were McLeod, John Robinson, 12A3, from Douglass High School, and Robert Rodgers, 12A1, and Wayne Woolford of Southern High School.

The straight forward discussion has already earned wide praise for the sincere and convincing manner in which it was presented, and for several of the quotations from the pupils, one of which came from Robinson.

"When you can't go where you want to go, when you're kept out because of the color of your skin, you really feel it—it's heart sickening."

VISITING NEW YORK proved to be quite an experience with elaborate sidelines for McLeod. There he attended a banquet at the Waldorf Astoria where he met and talked with the great star of the Brooklyn Dodgers, Jackie Robinson.

Charles also met the stars of the Jackie Gleason Show; Melody Gardot, sportscaster and Radio City.

Charles, who is a member of the varsity basketball team, had a chance to watch the professionals in action when he attended a game between the New York Knickerbockers and the Fort Wayne Pistons.

Activities of the Allied Youth, the Dunbar Choir, the Youth Forum and the Senior Student Council where he serves as vice-president taken up most of his spare time. He is a member of Faith Baptist Church.

Charles had a distinction average of 90.8 for the 12B.

Douglass, Dunbar in press project

Outstanding articles on tuberculosis from student publications of nine high schools have been entered by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association in the annual competition, Dorothy Kennedy, James Dargan, Christine Howard, Raymond Lewis, Carol Berry, Robert Womack.

Class 7A 204: Marjorie Cooke, Margaree Cox.

Class 7B 2'7: Randall Carroll, Russell Morton, Sylvia Briscoe.

Class 7A 205: Mary Bell Hereforth, John Covington, Douglass Thomas, Janet Scrivener, Allyce Snowden, Nellie Clarke.

South Baltimore Notes

By GEORGE W. E. HILL and MARIE LITTLES

The Citizens and Merchants of Ward 7 will hold their second meeting on Sunday Feb. 20, at 2 p.m. at the Washington Boulevard Recreation Center.

The reason for the change of meeting place is due to the large crowd expected.

Mrs. Nettie Gardner Friday night were made.

Since the month of February happens to be the birthday of Mr. Polk, each member showered him with a gift.

A wonderful repast was served by the hostess, Mrs. Elizabeth Polk.

A committee was selected by the president to secure a bus or busses for the annual excursion to Coney Island, N.Y.

IT IS time for the colored citizens to build up confidence in themselves and to unite as one to build up fear of prejudice.

Dr. Louis R. Mills, Republican candidate for mayor, told an audience at the Spirit of Chesapeake Lodge, 912 S. Sharp St. that last Thursday. He spoke on "The Negro and the Republican Party."

Roland Brown, 123 W. Montgomery St., a popular South Baltimorean and a local businessman, entered Provident Hospital on Monday for an operation.

AND WHILE we "shiver and shake" during a brief spot of old fashioned Maryland winter weather, the Spirit of Chesapeake Lodge No. 1107 had one of its famous oyster roasts last Sunday.

The Lodge is noted in the Elk world for the oysters served in every style and also for the delicious beef. Thomas Bailey is Exalted Leader.

Miss Lucille Frazer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Broadus Frazer, was guest of honor recently at a bridal shower at the home of Mrs. Ida Mae Hargrove on Leadenhall St.

About 35 friends and relatives attended the shower which featured a Valentine theme in decorations. Refreshments were served, including two beautiful bridal cakes inscribed with the names of the prospective bride and bridegroom. Miss Frazer received a variety of gifts from the guests.

The following letter was received recently by a political figure in South Baltimore:

"Dear Mr. — I voted for your party three times and I think you are wonderful. Please send me $900 at once so I can buy an ice box and repaint my car.

P.S. — The 3 times I voted for you were in the election of 1954."

ART EXHIBIT

KINSTON, N.C. — The Savannah High School art group will present an art exhibit in Kinston some time during March. William Fonville and Richard Everette have been named chairman and co-chairman of the group.

Young models show off latest wear for spring

By ISAIAH E. WHITE

George Maxey, an instructor of instrumental music in our elementary schools, and some of his pupils were guests at a music assembly held recently at the Francis M. Wood Elementary School No. 176.

Mr. Maxey explained in an interesting manner the important functions of the violin, cello, clarinet, flute, trumpet, trombone, and snare drum. Children demonstrated each, simple techniques of each.

After this, each pupil played a selection on the type of instrument on which he was learning. Mr. Maxey demonstrated how to play a fish and some chords.

Mrs. Florence P. Reid, intermediate supervised the presentation.

A "FASHION SCRABBLE," showing spring fashions was held in the auditorium on Feb. 16, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Edris Spurrier, clothing teacher.

Mrs. Geraleen Jones, educational stylist, presented the fashion news for spring in everything from school-time separates to formal prom gowns.

Since all of these styles were ones our girls could sew themselves at minimum cost, the interest was high.

The models for the show were selected from among the girls in our shop center classes. The audience had an opportunity of watching our own "cover girls" in action.

The following girls participated:

Rosetta Hudson, Elizabeth Wilmore, Evelyn Rhodes, Georgiana Jarvis, Gloria Coates, Louise Hansley, Maxine Dorkins, Mammie Howell, Elizabeth Austin, Justine Waters;

Odessa Knight, Rosalee Malachie, Marion Harris, Norma Pratt, Elvira Wilson, Irene Cooper, Brenda Taylor, Norma Pratt, Naomi Whetherspoon, Delores Vaughn.

Glen Burnie Echoes

By CHARLOTTE W. DOWNIE

The Anne Arundel Child Study Club has completed plans for a series of affairs to be given for the benefit of their "Big Project," a maternity building.

These ambitious ladies really caught on "fire." Latest "good news" is reported that many neighbors (who, incidentally, are building contractors) have volunteered to donate labor for this project. Sounds like "think, free labor in these times.)

Doesn't it pay to really "love your neighbor as thyself?" Hats off to this live wire group. Vivian Hall is president. Remember the valentine dance tonight (Friday).

ANOTHER MUST on your list should be the chicken supper to be held, at John Wesley ME church, Saturday, Feb. 26. This affair is sponsored by the second choir for the benefit of the much needed organ for the church.

An organ would be a great asset to our community needs. Hurry and help raise enough funds to purchase one very soon.

The Rev. Silas J. Mack is pastor. Let the organizations of Glen Burnie help to make this affair a success.

Fla. educator host to British envoy

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Sir Roger Makins, Great Britian's ambassador to the United States, paid an unprecedented official call on Florida A. and M. University president, George W. Gore Jr., here last Friday morning.

Sir Roger and Lady Makins were in Tallahassee for a visit in the country where she had been reared as a girl and where they were married 20 years ago.

An honor guard from the Reserve Officers Training Corps received Sir Roger upon his arrival on the campus. He was then escorted to President Gore's office by Cadet Lt. Roosevelt Thomas of West Palm Beach.

National debate group accepts Morgan College

Morgan State College has been authorized to set up a chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha National Forensic Honor Society, Dr. J. Welfred Holmes, professor of English at the college, disclosed this week.

Establishment of the national society at Morgan means that members of the college's D. O. W. Holmes Debate Society can become members of honorary fraternity.

The society was founded in 1908 by representatives of Indianna colleges and universities and now has a national membership with chapters at such institutions as Rutgers, Duke, Michigan State, Princeton and Loyola of Baltimore—the only other local institution belonging.

* * *

IN ADDITION to participating in debate activities, members of the society must be in the upper 35 per cent of their class to qualify, Dr. Holmes stated.

A formal initiation will be held following the organization of the Morgan chapter, the former faculty chairman of the college's debate society disclosed.

Leonard C. Anderson, dean of men, is the present debate activities faculty chairman.
