Meade boxers beat Patuxent

Soldiers to meet Monmouth Wed.

FORT MEADE, Md. — On a card featured by one knockout and three technical knockouts, Coach Pat Nappi's Fort Meade boxing team defeated the Patuxent Naval Air Station, 5 to 1, Wednesday, at the Navy base.

In the feature bout, Interservice Bantamweight Champion George Davis of Meade registered a TKO over Al Turner, last year's All-Navy Champ, when Turner was unable to answer the bell for the third round.

Featherweight Vernon Lee of Meade won his fourth fight of the season without a defeat as he scored a TKO over willing but inexperienced Bill Snare, at 1:30 of the second round.

STANLEY VAUGHN, 142, a hard puncher, had too much experience for Johh Hall, 144, and he had the Navy man hanging on at the end of the first round after four jarring rights. Hall was counted out at 1:40 of the second round after a solid right to the body.

Don Soderberg, 147, a newcomer to the Meade squad, who fought for Superior State Teachers College in Wisconsin, looked sharp in winning a unanimous decision from Rod Shull, 152.

PATUXENT'S lone win came in the best spectator fight of the evening, as Pat Donifrido, 159, decisioned Tony Fillipelli, 150, in a slugfest. Both men charged out at the opening bell, and exchanged blows toe to toe for three rounds. The decision was very close.

Meade's final point was earned by Leo Harrington, 151, when the bout was stopped at 1:35 of the third round, with Joe Ricks, 152, trying to cover up in the Meade corner.

In an exhibition bout, Julian Hunt, at 162, spotted Meade's Ralph Williams 34 pounds, and fought on even terms for four rounds.

On Wednesday night, Dec. 8, Fort Meade will play host to the boxers from Eort Monmouth. The bouts will be held at the Post Field House, starting at 8 p.m.

PRAIRIE VIEW, Tex. (ANP) —For the fourth straight year, the Panthers of Prairie View College have captured the Southwestern Conference championship. They did it by taming the favored Jaguar Cats of Southern University in a gridiron tilt played on the Panthers' homegrounds last Saturday.

It was the third meeting between the two teams and each time the Panthers have emerged the victors. This time, however, the Cats fought stubbornly, finally succumbing to a 20-13 defeat.

RECORDS AT U. S. District Court disclosed that Dr. Ladrey had been indicted on an illegal operation charge on Dec. 21, 1943.

The alleged operation was performed on a woman who lived in the 2300 block of Ga. Ave., NW. The alleged operation was not fatal. It took place Nov. 8, 1943, the government charged.

During the course of Dr. Ladrey's trial on this charge, he and his wife, Mrs. Eva W. Ladrey, were charged with attempting to bribe the woman into leaving town during the trial.

The physician and his wife were found guilty of the bribery charge and sentenced on July 13, 1945, to serve from one to three years in prison. The sentence was suspended, however, and the couple placed on probation.

MEANWHILE, AFTER hearing the illegal operation charge in Nov. 1945, the jury was unable to agree on a verdict and the charge was finally dismissed.

Dr. Ladrey was arrested here Saturday and ordered held for grand jury action following a coroner's inquest Monday.

Chief District Court Judge Bolitha J. Laws Tuesday granted a motion by Dr. Ladrey's attorney, James T. Wright, for the physician's release on $5,000, pending grand jury action.

The bond was put up by Perry W. Howard Jr., Monday afternoon and Dr. Ladrey was released from custody.

DR. LADREY was born at Jamaica, British West Indies, and came to this country to study medicine at Howard University. He was graduated from the Howard School of Medicine in 1931 and served his internship at Freedmen's Hospital.

At the time of his arrest in 1943, he had been practicing 12 years in the District and in Virginia. He maintained offices at 234 N. St., NW. here, and lived at 227 Henry St. in Alexandria.

Dr. Ladrey married Miss Eva Wilkins in 1934. She had been employed at the Department of Commerce, but was an assistant supervisor for the Department of Justice in the Federal Works Agency at the time she and Dr. Ladrey were arrested on the bribery charge.

SEVERAL PROMINENT Alexandria citizens — among them the late Dr. Oswald D. Durant— testified to the good character and reputation of the Ladreys at the time of their 1945 trial.

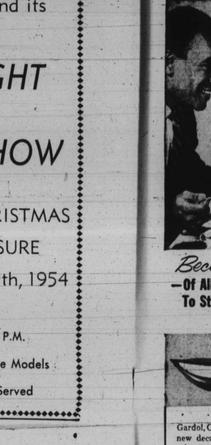

Dr. Ladrey is a prominent member of the Shriners, and has been a liberal contributor to worthy and charitable causes. In 1953, he gave $20 to the fund being raised to help the NAACP fight the school segregation cases.

He was a regular attendant at national conventions of the Shriners and took an active part in their affairs in this area.

The grand jury is expected to act on his case within the next two weeks, his counsel said Tuesday.

ORDERED HELD — Dr. Henry M. Ladrey, D.C. physician, leaves the District of Columbia Morgue after he was ordered held for the grand jury following a coroner's inquest into the death of Miss Helen Leftwich, 29-year-old government clerk who died Friday from the effects of an illegal operation.

KEY WITNESS—George Matthews of the 1800 block Benning Rd., NE, was the key witness at a coroner's inquest into the death of Helen Leftwich, a Navy Dept. clerk, whose body was found in an Rhode Island Plaza apartment early Nov. 26. Dr. H. M. Ladrey was held for action of grand jury after Matthews testified that the physician performed an illegal operation.

minated more than two years of activities by health officials to effect such a move.

Back in 1952, officials were prepared to make the transfer to Rosewood but were halted by a suit filed in the Baltimore County Circuit Court, January, 1953 by white parents seeking an injunction to stop the move.

An answer was filed by the attorney general's office, Feb. 13, 1953. The case, however, never came to court.

IN SEPTEMBER, 1953, there was a little activity on the matter when attorneys for the white parents filed a long list of questions about conditions at Rosewood and Crownsville.

In October of the same year, these questions were turned over to the Department of Mental Hygiene and the attorney general's office received the answers in May, 1954.

In that same month, however, on May 17th, U.S. Supreme Court ended segregation in public schools and the attorney general's office then decided to wait for the final Supreme Court decision on how desegregation was to be effected.

In view of this reporters were surprised when Governor McKeldin announced the proposed transfer to Rosewood the first of the year.

THE CLOSED door meeting at Crownsville was the result of a report of an Anne Arundel grand jury which cited "disgraceful conditions" at the hospital and especially in the Winterode unit which houses feeble minded patients.

The Governor arrived at 3:25 p.m., attired in a dark blue overcoat, grey hat, grey suit with a black eyed Susan — the state flower — in his lapel.

The meeting began at 3:34 p.m. in the office of Dr. Arnold Eichert, superintendent of Crownsville. In addition to the governor and Dr. Eichert, about 10 other persons attended.

Among them were W. Giles Parker, assistant attorney general; James Rennie, director of the budget commission; Dr. Clifton P. Perkins, head of the state mental hygiene department, and Larry Sangston, an engineer from the Dept. of Public Improvement.

THE FIRST sound heard from the room came at 4:44 p.m. when there was a roar of laughter. At about 4:55 p.m., laughter was once again heard at 5 p.m. sharp the meeting ended.

Following the closed door session, the party then went for an inspection tour of the Wintgrede unit. Inside the building a young boy in the infirmary reached out between the side of his bed for the governor's hand.

Governor McKeldin clasped the little hand warmly and said: "Hi there, fellow."

PATIENTS IN the building ranged from very young to adult.

Some children lay naked in their beds. A girl who appeared to be about 14 years old peered through the window at the inspection party.

In the cafeteria of the building, girl patients were on their hands and knees scrubbing the floor. The furniture there needs to be painted.

The Winterode unite houses 316 patients. The beds in some of the wards are crammed very close together attesting to the overcrowded conditions.

DR. PERKINS said that he did not know to what degree overcrowded conditions at Crownsville would be relieved by the Rosewood transfer. He said, however, that upon completion of the survey at Rosewood as many children as possible would be moved.

Crownsville was built in 1911. Prior to that time, colored mental patients were kept at the Spring Grove Mental hospital in segregated quarters.

Asked if the Rosewood transfer would be carried out on a segregated basis, also, Dr. Perkins replied:

"It will have to be an integrated setup."

GOVERNOR McKeldin stated that in addition to the Rosewood transfer other steps taken to relieve the overcrowded conditions at Crownsville would include the building of a new hospital for mental hygiene at Jessups, Md. for the criminally insane, now kept in the maximum security ward at Crownsville.

The governor said that plans were already being drawn for this building and they expect to begin taking bids around June.

The governor pointed out that under his administration $5,432,562 had been appropriated for improvements at Crownsville.

He said that appropriations have been made for a new medical and surgical building at the institution. This was one item attacked in the grand jury report.

The move to Rosewood is on the basis of need. Governor McKeldin pointed out that at Rosewood there are teachers who can aid these children.
