Cherry bon-bons

Those tempting home - made candies, fresh from your kitchen, always get a royal welcome at holiday time — and, even if you've never made candy, you'll have perfect success with this recipe!

"It's easy to follow, failproof. Makes a variety of delicious candies at surprisingly low cost. And, thanks to one ingredient—evaporated milk —it's sure to be rich, fine-grained, and creamy-smooth.

"To give your Christmas candy-making a good start, here's a popular recipe for luscious little cherry bon-bons that take no cooking at all!

"Melt in a two-quart saucepan, over low heat, three tablespoons butter or margarine. Remove from heat and stir in one-fourth cup Evaporated Milk, one teaspoon vanilla, and one-fourth teaspoon salt.

"Add gradually, and mix well three and one-half cups powdered sugar. Turn out on board sprinkled lightly with powdered sugar. Work with hands until smooth. Add and mix well one-third cup finely cut nuts and one-third cup finely cut candied cherries.

"Shape into a roll about 1 inch across and wrap in waxed paper. Chill until firm. Remove paper and cut into ¼-inch slices. If desired, roll cut candy in sugar. Store in refrigerator and sliced as needed.

CHERRY BON-BONS are an easily made and delicious candy to add to your Christmas collection.

Baritone and Sarah Lou steal the show

CHICAGO (ANP) — Theodore Charles Stone, baritone, and New York model Sara Lou Harris, stole the show at the crest Modeling school's "Glamorama Revue" last week in Chicago's Trianon ballroom.

Stone, called one of the nation's "Ten Best Dressed Men," showed why he has often been selected in the group, as 2,000 spectators gave show - stopping applause for some of the fashions he modelled.

Thanksgiving rites held at Pentagon

WASHINGTON — Personnel Department of Defense took time out from the job of building and operating the nation's vast defense machinery Wednesday to give thanks for the strength, freedom and plenty that is America.

Civilian and military personnel of the sprawling Pentagon Building gathered at the north end of the concourse for a none-time Thanksgiving Service under sponsorship of the Military District of Washington.

Before an altar whose backdrop consisted of murals depicting the life of the Pilgrims in Holland and in colonial America, nearly a thousand employees of the building joined in singing of the Thanksgiving Hymn," Come All Ye Thankful."

IN MILITARY attire and civilian dress, men and women employees and members of the armed services stood with bowed heads as Chaplain Vernon M. Goodland, USAF, delivered the invocation and led in the Litany of Thanksgiving.

President Eisenhower's Thanksgiving proclamation was read by Chaplain Joseph H. Tubbs, USN; CHAPLAIN Frank A. Tobey, U. S. Army, delivered the Thanksgiving mediation in which he voiced the hope that Americans would ever continue to "give to others from our plenty" and through our strength.

Music for the service was supplied by the U.S. AF ceremonial band under the direction of Lt. Harold Copenhaver and the Pentagon Choral Club directed by Peter C. Lutkin.

Court refuses to review intermarriage conviction

WASHINGTON, D.C. (NNPA) — The United States Supreme Court, Monday, refused to review the conviction and two-year sentences, given a colored woman an in Alabama courts, for marrying a white man.

The effect of the court's refusal is to leave standing an Alabama law making it a felony for colored and white persons to intermarry. The review of the case was sought by Mrs. Linnie Jackson, the wife of A. C. Burcham.

Mrs. Jackson must serve two years in the Alabama Penitentiary. She contended that the Alabama law violates the Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution.

SHE WAS TRIED and convicted in the Lauderdale, Ala., County Circuit Court. The Alabama Court of Appeals upheld her conviction and sentence. The Alabama Supreme Court refused to review the case. From that judgment she appealed in vain to the United States Supreme Court.

The indictment, under which she was convicted charged that she and Burcham, a white man, intermarried and lived in adultery and fornication. The Alabama constitution provides that the State Legislature may never authorize or legalize any marriage between any white person and any colored person.

In her petition asking the United States Supreme Court to review her conviction, Mrs. Jackson contended that the Alabama miscegenation law is repugnant to the first section of the Fourteenth Amendment because it denies to her liberty, due process of law, the privileges and immunities, and the equal protection of the laws.

'Cold cash' disappears from ice-box

WASHINGTON — An ice box in a "Cozy Corner" turned out to be anything but a safe place for his day's receipts, Edward R. Iurley, restaurant owner, told police Tuesday.

According to the report, the Cozy Corner Restaurant which Mr. Curley operates at 207 15th St., NE, was entered between 2 and 7:30 a.m. Tuesday by thieves who broke out a window in a women's toilet.

Mr. Curley said that they made away with $90 in change and a bill bills which he had hidden in an ice box.

Teen-ager in Europe longed for home-town friendliness

CHICAGO: (ANP)—A 17-year-old teenager says Europe is an exciting and interesting place, but "you can get awful lonely there."

Norma Yvonne Dotson, a Chicago teen-ager who recently returned from Ludwigsburg, Germany, says she missed America the whole time she was there, in spite of the fact that "there was plenty to see."

Norma went to Heidelberg American High school for a year and to Stuttgart American High school for a year where her father, an army warrant officer, was stationed.

"There was a lack of companionship, even though Heidelberg high had 350 students, she said. "The kids were friendly enough at school, but they seldom invited any of the eight colored students to their parties."

Most of her dates were with German boys and non-American GIs, other than American students. Dating customs followed were mostly American, the Germans usually adapting themselves to the American way of doing things.

o-o-o

DATING HOURS, says Norma, "were a little extreme. At the dormitory, we had to be in by 9:30 p.m. on Wednesday and 7 p.m. on all other days." Dates consisted in the main of going to movies and meeting afterwards in student lounges.

Norma likes to emphasize the politeness of the Germans and said they make a fetish of shaking hands.

At dances, however, she found their politeness more than comforting. "White Americans never asked you to dance, but the German fellows wouldn't let you sit down."

o-o-o

NORMA MADE NATIONAL Honor society while a pupil in German and insists that American schools in Europe are more difficult scholastically than the ones here. The teachers are better and the students work harder, she asserts.

"What else can they do?" she asked. "They have to be in by 7 p.m."

Extra curricular activities took away some of the loneliness, she says. She was a cheerleader at Stuttgart high and also participated in an annual music festival in Frankfurt, Germany, in which nearly all American schools in Europe took part.

Back in Chicago's Englewood High School, Norma says that in spite of the loneliness, she sometimes felt she wouldn't trade the experience "for a million dollars."

"I probably never would have seen Europe any other way," she said.

National Council wins elections in Nigeria

LAGOS, Nigeria — (ANP) — The National Council of Nigeria and the Cameroons, led by Nnamdi Azikiwe, swept the colony's elections last week. Zik's party polled votes in the seven provinces, capturing 22 seats to 18 for Chief Obafemi Awolowo's Action party.

In the east, the council took 28 seats, while the opposition combined with the United Nations Independence party, gather-

Elder Michaux has birthday

WASHINGTON — Elder Lightfoot Solomon Michaux had a birthday on November 7.

This year it was bigger than ever. More than 600 persons were on hand to celebrate.

It was a birthday celebration given by some 600 of his thousands of followers, with food benefiting a table with turkey, ham, beef tongue, pork roast, lamb, five kinds of vegetables, four breads, puddings, cakes, pies and ice cream, the feasting went on for hours.

Gathered at the Elder's home were some guests from all over the country, coming from as far away as California. Among them were Dr. and Mrs. George Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Reilly, Oliver Cowan, Judge Armond Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Odell Walker, Doyle Mitchell, Casey Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rivers; the industrialist, Fred Ward, and Chaplain Coruthers of United Nations.

Choruses from Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore and Washington provided the group-gospel singing. Miss Addie Shelton gave a recital at the home of Elder Michaux.

THE CLIMAX of the celebration was the presentation of the portrait of the "Trial of Peter." The painting portrays a fishing scene where the fishermen were not getting much of a catch, and the Lord came upon them and told them to "cast down your nets and you will have a miraculous draught of fishes." The result could not reveal his age.

Mr. and Mrs. Alison Coates honorees at wedding party

WASHINGTON — Mr. and Mrs. William Green of Washington were hosts at a reception honoring Mrs. Wilda E. Marshall and J. Alison Coates, who were recently married.

The reception was in the Varnum home of the bride, here.

Flowers, rich and rare, made the place gay; a picture, painted by California's Eberhardt and depicting Wilda in a lovely blue gown, hung on the parlor wall. The wedding cake, five-tiered, and almost as tall as Wilda, herself, made a picture for the dining room.

o-o-o—

THE BRIDE wore an elegant ice blue gown of silk brocade and net. The fitted bodice had a halter and the skirt simulated a tulip, full flounces of net falling from the brocade petals that formed the hip-to-knee section. White orchids and exquisite jewelry were smart accessories.

Receiving with the couple was Mrs. Mable Marshall, daughter of the bride, who wore a flame-colored net dress with sequin-sprinkled lace bodice. A big white mum formed a pretty corsage.

Mrs. Green wore a handsome taffeta dress with so-smart neckline and long bodice accented with bow in back.

Also assisting in receiving were Mrs. Esther Upshur, Mrs. Laura Scriber, mother of the bridegroom; and Mesdames Priscilla Bgown and Jeanette Maidens, sisters of the bridegroom.

Among the hostesses were Misses Beulah Mickens, Arlene Smith, Louise A. Watts; and Mesdames Mary E. Smith, Harold Jackson, May Waldrom, Marion Jackson, Arlene Smith, Bessie C. Blackburn, Naomi, Smith, Olivia Amos, Mamie Clark, Myrtle Patterson.

A. B. W. Blanchard and Charles E. Jones also assisted.

Guests included:

Misses Elizabeth Blakeley, Olga Woods, Jane Jackson, Verta Vickers, Patricia Thomas, Vivian Pleasant, Helen and Ann Yuter, Eloise Pleasant, Delores Catlett, Warren-Sedgewick, Albert J. Brown, Morris Clark, Alvin Smith, Arthur Amos, Ernest W. Love, A. Anthony, Ernest Petinaud, I. W. Roy, Samuel Hampton, William Henry, Raymond Glascoe, James Edmonds;

Alumni honors Patsy Graves

BLUEFIELD, W.Va. — Miss Patsy Graves, who will soon leave for a two-year assignment as Home Economics Advisor in New Delhi, India, was honored by her Alma Mater, as the outstanding alumna of the year. The alumni honoree dinner was held at West Virginia State College on the eve of the annual homecoming game.

Miss Graves is a native of Tuscumbia, Ala., where she received her elementary education. She was graduated with honors from the High School Department of Soelman College, Atlanta, Ga., after which she matriculated at West Virginia State College, receiving her B.S. degree in Home Economics, cum laude in 1935.

Her entire career since graduation from West Virginia State College has been in the area of adult education and community organization.

MISS GRAVES entered the New York School of Social Work, affiliated with Columbia University, where she learned the main keys to success in social work in 1944. She was the first home economics graduate to be admitted to the New York School of Social Work.

On October 14, Patsy Graves joined the Foreign Operations unit of the Department of State for a two-year assignment as Home Economics Advisor to be stationed at New Delhi, India. In India she will continued working on the Point 4 program, the same work of helping to raise living standards in the villages of that country.

Miss Graves is a member of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, a life member of the National Council of Negro Women, American Association of Social Workers, American Home Economics Association and the People's Congregational Church of Washington.

Dr. Thompson Zetas' guest

BROOKLYN, N.Y. — Zeta Phi Beta Sorority members entertained their soror, Dr. Lucy E. Thompson of Chicago, Ill. during her recent visit to New York City by a reception for the National Negro Business and Professional Women's conclave.

Dr. Thompson, national president of the Business and Professional Women's organization, is a member of the Thompson Medical Supply Corporation of Chicago and an active member and past official of the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority.

Among those attending the honor-reception at the home of Mrs. Louise Balson, 140 McDonough Street, here were:
