CONSTIPATED?
Then read this letter from Audrey L. Robinson of Washington, D. C.

"I used to suffer a lot from constipation. Never seemed to get the kind of relief I wanted—every laxative I took was either too harsh or too slow.

"Then I heard about Sal Hepatica's gentle, speedy action from a friend. And let me tell you, Sal Hepatica is really wonderful. Why, many an evening when I've felt that logy, constipated feeling, I've taken Sal Hepatica a half hour before dinner and been my old self again by bedtime!

"And Sal Hepatica gives gentle relief—even though it is speedy. It really does the trick!"

Yes, take sparkling Sal Hepatica before breakfast, and feel fine again . . . usually within an hour. Or take it in the evening ½ hour before supper and feel fine again by bedtime. Sweetens sour stomach, too! So, keep Sal Hepatica handy in your medicine chest.

will carry on the business.

A NATIVE of Richmond, Va., Mr. Hayes comes from an old undertaking family. His father, Arthur Hayes, was a pioneer undertaker in that hometown for 60 years. He died in 1916.

Two brothers, C. P. and Frank Hayes, still conduct the family business in Richmond.

Mr. Hayes learned the undertaking trade at the family business and 57 years ago came to Baltimore where he was first associated with John Teodvine who conducted his business at Sharp and Hill Sts.

When Mr. Teodvine died in 1933, Mr. Hayes continued the business alone.

He moved to his present location at Harlem Ave. and Gilmor St., in 1949. Mr. Hayes was a widower. His wife, Mrs. Lillebell Wesley Hayes, died in 1932.

Besides Mr. Marshall Hayes, other survivors include, two daughters, Mrs. Harold Hunter, Newark; Mrs. Audrey Jones of Baltimore; and another son, Isaiah Hayes, Baltimore; ten grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

IN AN INTERVIEW with an AFRO reporter just this past October, Mr. Hayes, looking back on 57 years of service in Baltimore, said if he had his life to live over, he would still become an undertaker.

"I just like the work—being of service to people in time of great need," he said then.

Mr. Hayes was a member of John Wesley Church; Sampson Brooks Lodge of Elks, Mt. Olive Beneficial Association and the Knights of Pythians.

"They were happy and we all had a good time," he recalls. "It is hard to believe that anything like this could happen. They seemed to be an ideal couple."

THURSDAY ALSO HAD its share of bitter-sweet memories for Mrs. Mae Faulkner, Tyson's niece, who remembers that last year her uncle had his dinner with her and his sister, when the sister lived in the 1900 block of Walbrook Ave.

Also affected by Thanksgiving memories was Miss Betty Harris, the dead woman's daughter, who remembers that after her mother returned from the game, they had dinner together as they usually did on holidays.

"We didn't do anything exciting, but it was a nice holiday and mother was happy," she said.

There was a hint of sadness in the Morgan student's voice as she sat in the living room of the home at 1912 Ruxton Ave., the house where her mother met her death, and tried to piece together a picture of the last Thanksgiving day they spent together.

"There is not much to tell, we had dinner, and I think that we watched television. I remember now that mother liked Arthur Godfrey and watched all of his programs."

THE DINNER that Tyson ate was served in the home of his sister, before she moved from Baltimore and Tyson went to live with his niece, Mrs. Faulkner, in the 1600 block of Dukeland St.

"It was the usual dinner with turkey and other things, and we all had a good time. I think that after the dinner, Lou took a plate to Mildred. He was always doing things like that, knowing that Mildred did not like to cook."

This was the Thanksgiving of last year. This Thanksgiving Mrs. Nicholson was dead while Tyson sat in his cell awaiting trial—charged with her death.

Two linked to small thefts

Two youths, believed to be connected with a string of recent petty burglaries, were ordered held in total bail of $8,000 on Tuesday in Northwestern Police Court.

Walter Fowlkes, 16, of the 2700 block Baker St., was held in $4,500 bail, while Herman Harris, 18, of the 2000 block W. North Ave., was held in $3,500 all by Magistrate E. Everett Lane.

The two suspects and three juveniles were arrested by Sgt. Carl Farley and Officers Vernon Rankey and William McCarthy after a shoe repair ticket, allegedly belonging to Fowlkes, had been found at the scene of one of the burglaries.

FOUR PLACES were involved in the charges. They were a grocery store in the 1500 block N. Ellamont St., where 15 cartons of cigarettes, a .32-calibre pistol and $16 in cash was taken; a grocery tore in the 2700 block W. North Ave.; a vending company in the 2200 block of Evergreen St., and a hardware store in the 2700 block North Ave.

Police said that some of the merchandise taken in the burglaries, mostly candy and cigarettes, had been thrown away, while some had been recovered.

"The double bedroom," she replied.

Later Defense Attorney Fred W. Garmone, on cross - examination, returned to this point and asked, "Was it ever said to you that they were changing rooms because Marilyn was pregnant?"

Mrs. Helms answered no but said Mrs. Sheppard did mention that "Dr. Sam had an awful bad cold," which he could not shake off.

MRS. HELMS also testified that on occasions when she returned to the Sheppards' Bay Village home she found it locked tight.

This question was in line with the prosecution's contention that there was no evidence of an intruder breaking into the Sheppard's home as the ostepath reported.

On cross-examination, Mrs. Helms said she could recall that the door facing the road was "left open once."

FURTHER TESTIMONY in connection with the switch of bedrooms by Mrs. Helms brought out that Mayor J. Spencer Houk

Deadline extended for Michaux answer to Cassell's suit

WASHINGTON

Elder Lightfoot Solomon Michaux has been given until Dec. 23 to answer the charges made against him in a $962,000 damages suit filed by Albert I. Cassell in U.S. District Court last month.

Deadline for the Elder's answer was originally set for Nov. 23, but by agreement between attorneys for Mr. Cassell and the Elder and his co-defendants, the deadline was extended Tuesday.

There are five other co-defendants involved with Elder Michaux, including his Gospel Spreading Association which now owns practically all of the Mayfair stock, according to Mr. Cassell's deposition.

A. A low murmur—voices.

Q. And did Houk later come down from the room.

A. Yes, he did . . . and told chip (7-year-old son of the Sheppards): 'Your mother is sleeping. Tell your mother I'll see her later.'"

MUH OF MRS. HELMS' testimony was about the Sheppards' female dog, Koko. The defense contends that a trail of bloodstains found throughout the house were made, not in July by Mrs. Sheppard's murderer, but in April by the dog.

"The dog had the free run of the house," Mrs. Helms testified, "and there were blood spots everywhere the dog went when the dog was in heat."

The spots were usually wiped up, she said, but not if they occurred on the living room carpet where, she added, "they blended in with the color."

MRS. SHEPPARD was found slain last July 4. Her doctor-husband is accused of her murder.

The trial is expected to continue for three more weeks.

Besides Mrs. Helms, the only other colored person who has figured in the case to date is one of the twelve jurors, Mrs. Izolla Williams, a divorcee and mother of four children.

may be assigned to work in officers' open mess only if they volunteer, and Pfc Robinson did not volunteer.

The Ft. McNair situation was termed "a flagrant flouting of the regulations" by Lt. Col. Headrick during the trial.

AN ARMY spokesman said that Pfc. Robinson's sentence must be reviewed by the Commanding General of the Military District of Washington and the office of the Judge Advocate General before it may be considered final.

Private Robinson entered the Army in July, 1953 and served in the Far Eastern Command from April, 1953, through August, 1954, and was assigned to duty at Ft. McNair on Sept. 20, 1954.

His sentence also carries forfeiture of all allowances and pay.

he said, would serve no useful purpose and increase the difficulties.

"Whether time will be useful will depend on how it is used; delay solely for the sake of delay is intolerable," Brownell added.

"POPULAR HOSTILITY" to desegregation is not a legal justification for failure to end it, the Justice Department said, adding:

"Racial segregation in public schools is unconstitutional and will have to be terminated as quickly as feasible, regardless of how much it may be favored by some people in the community.

"There can be no 'local option' on the question, which has now been finally settled by the tribunal empowered under the Constitution to decide it."

MAJOR POINTS in the Justice Department's suggestions to guide the lower courts in formulating specific decrees are:

1. That, unless a satisfactory plan is submitted and approved by the lower courts, "appropriate orders" shall be issued directing the end of segregation at the beginning of the next school term.

2. That on submission of a plan, the lower courts shall hold hearings promptly to determine whether the plan provides for transition to a non-segregated school system as expeditiously as circumstances permit. In approving any proposed program, the court shall modify it as may be required and fix the earliest practicable date for completion of the program.

3. That the lower courts should require progress reports during the period permitted to end segregation in order to insure against unnecessary delay in the execution of the program.

4. That the Supreme Court retain jurisdiction for the purpose of making such further orders necessary for carrying out its mandate and to this end periodic reports should be required from the lower courts on actions taken to enforce compliance with the high court's ruling.

"WE DO NOT believe that there is warrant for presuming that responsible officials and citizens will tolerate violations of the Constitution," the brief added.

It also said that the "responsibility for achieving compliance with the court's decision in these cases does not rest on the judiciary alone. Every officer and agency of Government, Federal, State and local, is charged with the duty of enforcing the Constitution and rights guaranteed under it.

"And, ultimately, it is the obligation of every citizen to respect and abide by the law, once it is authoritatively declared."

THE JUSTICE Department had intended to withhold the filing of its brief for several days in view of postponement of the arguments on the cases, but a decision to file late Wendesday stemmed from the President's statements to the press on Tuesday.

The brief was signed by Herbert Brownell Jr., Attorney General; Simon T. Sobeloff, Solicitor General; J. Lee Rankin, Assistant Attorney General, and Philip Elman and Alan S. Rosenthal, special assistants to the time of their separation, the physician owed the property at 400-01 N. Carrollton Ave., which housed his medical offices and also at 1919 Ruxton Ave.

Since then she has been informed that as of October 29, the Ruxton Ave. property has been sold to a Mr. and Mrs. James Solomon for $17,000, and that the Carrollton Ave. property has been "quietly offered" for sale.

This leads her to believe, Mrs. Pair said, that her husband intends to dispose of his assets and leave the state "in order to avoid his responsibilities" to her and their child.

THE WIFE SAID she believes also that Dr. Pair has a savings account in a bank unknown to her.

In addition to asking support for their son, permanent alimony counsel fees, Mrs. Pair asks for an accounting of their personal property.

—Dr. Locke estate

against the estate that the resident be administered as a trust by Dr. Locke's executors.

Mr. Fauset and Myron O. Higgins of Yale University were executors.

Dr. Locke directed that Mr. Fauset be given the power to postpone the sale of the apartment house which he owned at 12 Grove St. here in New York for a period of five years.

During that time Mr. Fauset would have the privilege of occupying one of the apartments in the house rent free.

This condition was drawn up in the will made in 1950. In the codicil, however, drawn up in 1952, Dr. Locke directed that Mr. Fauset be given a one half interest in common in the Grove St. property "for and during his lifetime."

It further specified that if and when the property is sold that Mr. Fauset "have the power to join in such sale and to execute such deed as may be necessary to convey the said one half interest in common to the purchaser, and such deed when executed by Aryhur H. Fauset shall be as good and effectual to convey title to the purchaser as if I had made an executed such a deed during my lifetime."

The codicil further specified that the money Mr. Fauset receives from his half interest in common be his to use as he sees fit and that this money be free of any debts incurred by Mr. Fauset.

The will further directs that all Dr. Locke's personal property valued at about $6,000, with the exception of his books, manuscripts and paintings and art objects, be sold and the money derived from the sale become a part of the residual estate.

— o o o —

DR. LOCKE then directed that such cash assets be given to Howard University as a "fund for general or specific scholarship" according to the best judgment of his executors and the University.

As for his books, art collections and paintings, Dr. Locke awarded them to Howard University, but he stipulated that they be kept together and formed into a collection to be set up in the Fine Arts building at Howard.

He directed Mr. O'Higgins to supervise this and allocated $500 to him to complete the work.

The will then directs that the sum of $7,000 be set aside as a "publication fee" to subsidize any memoirs or posthumously published writings that may be prepared by Dr. Locke's executors and set aside an additional $500 to be paid to what ever writer the executors select to write the memoirs.

— o o o —

DR. LOCKE did not leave any monies or property in his will to five persons listed in the official papers as his second cousins.

The five persons, all of Philadelphia, and all of whom were notified as to the terms of the will were listed as Harold Hawkins, 256 N. 52nd Street, Ross Hawkins, 5023 Haverford Ave., Dr. Thomas V. Hawkins, 5023 Haverford Ave., and Margund Hawkins Fowler, 209 N. 53rd St., Philadelphia.

No mention was made of them in the will itself and their names appeared only as persons who had been notified of the terms of the will.

There was however evidence of another will preceding the final will. Allied papers filed with the final will noted that Robert Earl Martin of 1236 Riggs Pl., NE, Washington, D.C. had been a witness to an earlier will by Dr. Locke.

The official papers indicate, however, that Mr. Martin had agreed that the old will which had been marked "Old Will Void" was replaced by the final will drawn in 1950.

— o o o —

THE PROVISIONS of the will witnessed by Mr. Martin could not be learned.

It could not be learned in New York whether Dr. Locke and Mr. Fauset were any kin. Telecalls to the Grove Street house owned by Dr. Locke brought the answer that Mr. Fauset was in Philadelphia.

He was expected in New York at an early date it was said.

Probate authorities in New York listed Dr. Locke's estate as being valued at "more than $20,000."

This included real property of about $16,000 and personal property of about $6,000.

Provident names nurses' director

Miss Jergensen assumes duties on January 1

The appointment of Miss Jennie Jergensen as director of nurses of Provident Hospital has been announced by Edward N. Wilson, president of the hospital's board of trustees. The appointment becomes effective January 1.

The appointee is a Norwegian by birth. She was brought to the United States in 1909. Her family settled in Fort Washington, Pa., where she received her elementary education.

Receiving a scholarship, she entered the high school of Abington, Pa., graduating with honors.

She received letters in hockey, track and tennis. Miss Jergensen was elected an officer in ten of the high school clubs.

Upon graduating from high school in 1933, Miss Jergensen received a scholarship to the School of Nursing of Abington Memorial Hospital.

Graduating with honors, she served at the hospital in the following capacities: private duty, supervisor of men's medical and surgical wards and as assistant director of nurses.

In 1941 she entered the Army where she remained for seven years and rose to the rank of captain.

Miss Jergensen served two years in Iceland and one year overseas. During her Army career she directed hospitals with 40 to 80 wards, also serving as organizer and instructor of various groups of military personnel for hospital work.

At the close of World War II, Miss Jergensen was given the responsibility of closing and dissembling many of the Army hospitals.

In 1951 Miss Jergensen received her B.S. degree in nursing education at the University of Maryland, graduating in the upper third of a class of 3,000. She is now completing her work for a master's degree in nursing education at the University of Maryland.

In August 1950 the appointee came to Provident Hospital as educational director, where she is serving very successfully. Miss Jergensen has served as guest lecturer in sociology at the University of Maryland; and is a member of the following organizations:

Phi Kappa Phi (National Scholastic Honor Society); Maryland and National League of Nursing; American Nurses Association, Committee of Administrative Educators; Teachers and Consultant Section; Sub-Committee on Nursing Education and Committee on Medical Care; Executive Committee on Diploma and Associate Degree Program; Committee on Curriculums.

Miss Jergensen is also serving on the program, membership and public relations committees for District No. 2 of the Maryland State Nursing Association.

Fight for freedom depicted in 'Haiti'

L'Ouverture's heroic defense of island played by Morgan cast

How unskilled black soldiers under the inspired leadership of Toussaint L'Ouverture defeated Napoleon will be re-enacted Sunday afternoon, Dec. 12.

This stirring chapter in man's eternal fight for freedom is told in William DuBois' drama, "Haiti," which is being offered by Delta Lambda chapter, Alpha Phi Alpha, for the benefit of its scholarship and charity funds.

The Ira Aldridge Players of Morgan State College, under the direction of A. Clifton Lamb and Waters E. Turpin, will offer the play on the stage of the Booker T. Washington Junior High School.

The curtain is scheduled to go up at 5 p.m.

THE GRIPPING three-act drama was first presented in Harlem's old Lafayette Theatre as a Federal Theatre project during the depression.

In the light of the current worldwide struggle for freedom, the play's theme takes on added significance.

Included in the cast are many new faces representing the four classes of Morgan State College students.

The leading roles will be portrayed by Donald Dillingham, '55; Clyde Pritchet, '56; James E. Gladden, '55; Edward W. Smith, '55; Douglas Scott, '56; Ralph H. Murray, '57; William E. Deas, '57; and Thomas W. Anderson, '56.

SGT. LLOYD SPICER testified that the youths accepted various small items of clothing with the knowledge that they had been stolen from a surplus store in the 1000 block of Pennsylvania Ave.

The items were listed as a pair of shoes, two sweaters and a jacket. None of the items was valued at over $6.

In connection with the theft, two other youths have been ordered held for the grand jury on burglary charges in $2,500 bail each. They are listed as:

Charles Jenkins, 18, of the 2300 block Oren Ave.

Capt. T. J. Simmons in-again, out-again

WASHINGTON

Captain Thomas J. Simmons, formerly assigned to the office of the Civilian Aide to the Secretary of Defense, was in-again, out - again last week.

Captain Simmons, who bears an unofficial reputation as one of the Pentagon's top experts in Army "Get-it-Done" knowhow, arrived from Fort Harrison, Ind. on Friday and left Sunday.

Captain Simmons left the Pentagon several weeks ago for Ft. Harrison prior to overseas assignment under the Army's rotation system.
