Arlington PTA sets meeting

Parents to get school manuals

The PTA of Arlington School No. 234 will hold its first meeting of the school term on Monday, at 8 p.m.

After a general business meeting in the auditorium the parent body will meet in individual classrooms where each teacher will conduct her own program.

The "Arlington ABC's," the first manual of its type in the city, will be distributed to every Arlington parent.

This booklet, written by Mrs. I. A. Goldman and produced by Mrs. Alvin Wilkins (both Arlington parents) is designed as a convenient and basic reference for general questions that arise during the school year.

Arlington School has an enrollment of over 1,700 pupils. Mrs. Maurice P. Freedlander is president of the PTA. Mrs. Marie W. Frank is principal and Miss Elizabeth K. Mayer is vice-principal.

School 104 stages first professional faculty meeting

Mrs. Mary B. Adams, art resource teacher, and Mrs. Lucy H. Jones, music teacher, were guest speakers at the first professional faculty meeting at the James Mosher Elementary School No. 144.

In connection with their studies on the industries of Baltimore, the intermediate classes recently took a trip to the Coca Cola plant. Teachers and classes who visited the plant were: Mary Richardson—4A-5B—Daniel Brewington, 5A and 6B; Mooney Clay, 6B-6A.

The first PTA meeting was held Tuesday at the Union Memorial Methodist Church. Principal of the school is Mrs. Mary N. Brooks.

6,000 to attend U.N. exposition

School will move to the Fifth Regiment Armory today (Friday) when 6,000 elementary and secondary school children from public, parochial and independent schools will be given a preview showing of the United Nations exposition.

The pupils have been asked to come and sit at the booths and to ask questions about the countries and U.S. agencies. They will arrive by special buses from all parts of Maryland at 9 a.m. and will be there until the show opens to the public at 3 p.m.

The people who have worked in the schools to make these trips possible are Mrs. Thomas S. Wasker, Dr. Harry Bard, the Rev. Dr. Leo J. McCormick, Paul Hoffington, Mrs. Gladys Hopkins, Joseph Hilliard and Dr. Robert Lamborn.

Teachers at No. 146 stage parents' session

During this school term, the first grade teachers of Elementary School No. 146 are planning a series of meetings for parents, to enlighten them concerning the reading program in the first grade.

The first of these meetings was held recently as Mrs. Lillian Ross, grade specialist, spoke to the group concerning the physical characteristics of first graders and how the parent may aid the child in preparation for reading.

Among the parents who attended were:

Mesdames Martha Todd, Mary Vistiss, Asdell Scott, Mammie Wells, Bernice Lipson, Esther Cole, Isabelle Campbell, Bertha Coles, Ethel Mae Willard, Ellen Rowlette.

Estelle Taylor, Larene Graves, June McElwell, Ruby Gill, Helen Boyd, Nellie Ingram, Flora Bailey, Bassie Dunson;

Urban League resolution adopted on school ruckus

The following resolution was adopted by the Urban League of Eastern Union County in Elizabeth, N.J. as a result of the recent disturbances over the desegregation of schools:

WHEREAS the publicity resulting from the Supreme Court Decision on Segregation in Public School has come to the attention of the Urban League of Eastern Union County and

WHEREAS it is the opinion of the Urban League of Eastern Union County that the vast majority of good Amerians in our country have complied with the spirit of such decision and

WHEREAS a vociferous minority has caused strife, turbulence and difficulty in small areas. now therefore be it

RESOLVED that the Urban League of Eastern Union County hereby commends the public spirited citizens of those communities who conformed with the basic theories of desegregation and integration of public school students indicating their ability to act as good Americans and be it also

RESOLVED that the Urban League of Eastern Union County deplores the action of the small minority publicity seekers who refuse to recognize the law of our land or human rights and be it

FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of this resolution be sent to our representatives in Congress, the National Urban League and to those Urban Leagues in areas of unrest.

Morgan professor will study at Oxford in '55

Dr. Luna I. Mishoe, associate professor of mathematics and physics at Morgan State College, has been invited to do research at the University of Oxford next year.

The invitation to Dr. Mishoe was extended by Dr. E. C. Titchmarsh, Savilian Professor of Geometry in the University of Oxford.

Professor Titchmarsh became interested in Dr. Mishoe as a Research Fellow after reading the latter's doctoral dissertation in mathematics published by New York University in 1935.

—o o o—

DR. MISHOE'S dissertation was entitled "On the Expansion of An Arbitrary Function in Terms of the Eigenfunctions of a Non-Self-Adjoint Differential System."

At Oxford, Dr. Mishoe will do research in Eigenfunctions and boundary valued problems and will lecture occasionally to advanced students in this area of mathematics.

Dr. Mishoe, who plans to use sabbatical leave to go to Oxford, is a native of Marion, S.C., and a graduate of Allen University. He holds the master's of science degree from the University of Michigan.

A member of Morgan's faculty since 1948, Dr. Mishoe has done extensive research in the Ballistic Research Laboratories at Abedeen Proving Ground, Md.

BALTIMOREANS IN N.Y.—Baltimore and Washington high school students enjoy a good laugh as photographers snap them at the Westchester County High School in New Rochelle, N.Y., where they were invited to observe integration at work following demonstrations in the two cities. Here, teacher Robert Forbes (tallest) introduces four Baltimore students to Paul Shipp, 15, of the New Rochelle school. Sixteen-year-old Carol Peters shakes hands with Shipp. Others in the visiting foursome are: Robert Rogers, (left); Betty Manalansan, and Wayne Woolford (right)

MEA may disband, leader reports

Says integration will end need for 2 groups

Last week's 38th annual session of the Maryland Educational Association may be the last the organization will stage.

This was the information that came this week from a high official in the MEA who predicted that because of the decision to integrate the Maryland State Teachers Association, the MEA will be disbanded.

At present the MEA has a membership of slightly over 700 colored county teachers in comparison to the 837 it had last year.

—o o o—

IN PREDICTING the end of the MEA, the spokesman said that the decision of the MSTA to admit groups of colored teachers to full memberships in counties where they could not join the white teachers' group had made the MEA unnecessary.

The official also pointed out that the MSTA with over 9,000 members, a well-organized staff, a modern headquarters, and a prestige in the community, can offer more to teachers than they can find in the MEA.

He also noted that the trend toward integration is spreading into the counties, and once it is complete, it is doubtful that colored teachers would want a separate organization.

—o o o—

AS PROOF of his claims, he cited a resolution passed by the MEA, which authorized the advisory committee, composed of one teacher from each county which has a MEA unit, to make a study and report on what the future of the organization should be.

The MEA held its 38th session on Thursday and Friday, at the same time that the MSTA was holding its convention. However, the schedule was so arranged that MEA meetings did not conflict with MSTA sessions.

The complete slate of MEA officers was re-elected. They are: Charles H. Chapman, Salisbury, president; Eugene L. King, Catonsville, vice president; E. Jerry Williams, Princess Anne, second vice president; Frank B. Butler, Annapolis, treasurer; Joseph C. Parks, Bryans Road, executive secretary; Mrs. Elizabeth D. Herbert, Cambridge, recording secretary.

CONCENTRATING ON PROGRAM of the Maryland State Teachers Association is this group of teachers from the Northwood School in Baltimore. Mrs. Dora Lee Measley, Miss Betty Alevizatos Miss Helen Ice and Mrs. Jane Hunter.

Catholic newspaper calls school disorders 'tragic'

Catholic Review, official publication of the Archdiocese of Baltimore, in its Oct. 8 edition, called the recent school disorders protesting integration, "One of the most tragic spectacles ever to be witnessed."

In an editorial, "Who Stands to Gain," the editor wrote:

"Unreasoning hatred was the order of the day. In the first place, if public feeling against desegregation were so strong, why the delayed action?

". . . who besides professional agitators could sell people the lie that there was anything at all to gain from a mass demonstration?

—o o o—

"THE ONLY people who stood to gain from any of the demonstrations were those who have been trying to sell the world on the idea that American democracy is a fiction . . .

". . . nowhere has it that they (demonstrations) were masterminded by a 25-year-old Communist from Alabama.

"If this is so it will not be the first time that Communist agitators have been called into Baltimore to get honest citizens to make fools of themselves and offend both their country and their God."

Group backs school board

The Maryland State Conference of Social Welfare has expressed its support of integration in the public schools in a letter sent to the Board of School Commissioners. The letter read:

"The Maryland State Conference of Social Welfare offers its support to the Board of School Commissioners in furtherance of the board's plan to integrate the city's public schools.

The conference recognizes the board's effort as a major step in the advancement of sound and productive individual and community living, for which purpose the conference exists.

—o o o—

"SCHOOL IS ONE of the principal experiences in a child's life. We believe that integration gives all our children a greater opportunity to learn the dignity and value of each human being, without which learning all knowledge is vitiated.

"We believe that children who have gone together through this experience will grow into adulthood with fewer baseless fears and hatreds of their fellow citizens and with the greater ability to lead richer lives."

Officials cited for school stand

Superintendent of Schools John H. Fischer, Mayor D'Alesandro and the Police Commissioner Ober have been commended by the 900-member Local No. 392 of the United Packinghouse Workers of America CIO.

The citation was for their "firm and courageous" stand in support of the desegregation program in the city schools.

—o o o—

THE COLORED and white unionists, employed at the American Sugar Co. refinery here, adopted the resolution lauding authorities for their "crackdown" on demonstrations against integration.

In a similar action, leaders of UPWA District Council 6 with 15,000 members along the East Coast, including Baltimore, voted to throw the full weight of 50 local unions behind the fight to eliminate school segregation this year.

HONOR MAN — George F. Chambers Jr., 21, of 1243 E. Eager St., recently graduated at the Naval Training Center in Bainbridge, Md. He entered the Navy on July 29. A Dunbar graduate, Chambers was a pharmacy student at Howard University before entering the service. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Chambers Sr. He is now home on a furlough.

Police action is commended

Teachers send letter to Ober

With the unanimous approval of the faculty of Southern High School, a letter has been sent to Col. Beverly Ober, police commissioner, commending the the local police force for its actions during the recent racial disturbances at the school.

The letter read in part:

—o o o—

"WE, THE FACULTY, of Southern High School, wish to take this opportunity to commend the members of the Baltimore City Police Department for their wholehearted cooperation and support during the difficult days of riotous demonstrations in our community.

"Under the effective leadership of Chief Inspector Fred L. Ford, Inspector William J. Forrest, and Capt. Frank Deems, the police were more than equal to the occasion.

Throughout this trying ordeal, coolness, good judgment, and courtesy prevailed in their dealing with the large crowds of children and with the adults involved.

"Baltimore may well be proud of these men. We who shared their great responsibility are grateful to them."

Annual press project opens for local pupils

Invitations to enter the 18th annual School Press Project have been sent to student publications throughout the city by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association.

The school health program is being sponsored again by the National Tuberculosis Association, its affiliates, and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

The School Press Project is designed to assist the schools in preparing students for citizenship by arousing their interest in and concern for the health and welfare of the communities in which they live.

In so doing, it offers staff members of student publications an opportunity to conduct an editorial campaign on tuberculosis, a public health problem, which has important application to their personal lives.

STUDENT - STAFFED publications of all elementary, junior and senior high schools—parochial, private, and public — are eligible to enter the contest.

Entries, which may include news and feature articles, editorials, or cartoons, must be based on the following subjects, "Fifty Years of Tuberculosis Control" and "This is Tuberculosis."

Entries must be submitted to the Maryland Tuberculosis Association by January 21, 1955, at which time they will be judged by a state judging committee composed of prominent physicians, health educators and journalists.

Locker 'doing fine'

Jesse D. Locker, U.S. Ambassador to Liberia, is "doing a fine job" in Liberia, President Tubman declared on Tuesday. He made the statement in answer to a query about Ambassador Locker submitted by a newsman at a press luncheon for Mr. Tubman.

'Ducky' Ross seeks divorce

Says teacher made him leave

Wellington (Ducky) Ross, operater of a formal attire shop for men, filed suit for divorce this week, charging his schoolteacher wife with "constructive desertion."

The action was taken against Mrs. Lillian Ross of 716 N. Arlington Ave. Mr. Ross lives at 3324 Brighton St.

The couple was married in August 1942. They lived together until Feb. 1953 when, he said, he was forced to leave their home after she declared her intention of no longer living with him as husband and wife.

—o o o—

MRS. ALICE HAWKINS, drug store fountain clerk, won a divorce on testimony that her husband sent her "back home to mother" three months after their marriage in January 1951.

Mrs. Hawkins, 22, lives at 1638 N. Fulton Ave. The address of her husband, Harry, was given as 303 W. Lafayette Ave. They have a three-year-old daughter, Cassandra.

The wife said: "We had an argument and he told me to get out. He said that as far as he was concerned, our marriage was done and the best thing for me to do was go home to my mother."

—o o o—

GEORGE CLAUDE, 24, a transit company bus driver of 217 Berlin Ave, divorced Mrs. Naomi Claude on desertion charges.

He said that she left him a year after their marriage in August 1951 "because she was fed up with being married and wanted to be free again."

A typewriter service man, George Baker of 234 S. Ann St. got a legal separation from Mrs. Edna Baker who, he said, has consistently refused to leave Richmond and make her home with him here.

—o o o—

MR. BAKER was a patient at the Veterans Administration Hospital until February. His wife joined him in April "but she didn't think much of making her home in Baltimore and wanted me to come back to Richmond," he said.

"I couldn't leave my job because of my disability and the difficulty of getting another job in Richmond," he continued, adding that his wife returned to Richmond to get her belongings and with the promise that she would come back. But she never did, he said.

Clarence Lyles, a truck painter of 2400 Edmonson Ave. won a divorce on testimony that he and Mrs. Dorothy Lyles of 736 W. Mulberry St. separated voluntarily in Jr 1948 after ten years of marriage.

Youths rob two of pocketbooks

Two women reported to police that they had been victims of young pocket-book snatchers on Tuesday night.

Mrs. Genieve Davis of the 1400 block W. Franklin St., reported that a boy had grabbed her pocketbook containing $6 at Edmondson Ave. and Schroeder St., shortly before 11 p.m.

Mrs. Mary Lee, of the 800 block N. Gilmor St., said two youths grabbed her purse in the 1400 block of Lanvale St. at 9:40 p.m. The purse contained no money. In both cases the youths escaped.

Restaurant fracas brings $100 fine

Two separate fines of $50 each were imposed on Sterling Boyd of the 1700 block W. Lanvale St., on Wednesday in Northwestern Police Court, for a disturbance he allegedly created in a Chinese restaurant in the 1500 block of Lanvale St.

The fines were imposed by for disorderly conduct and resisting efforts of Officers Raymond Milligan and Fred Luthardt to arrest him.

YOUR HOUSE?—If it is and you correctly identify it, you can collect $5 by calling at the AFRO's City Desk BEFORE Tuesday noon. All you have to do to win is to be living in the house and prove it. There'll be another Lucky House in the next issue too. Look for it, it may be yours.
