Wilkins' cake

From the Wilkins Coffee Company's treasure house of mocha recipes comes this delightful blending of coffee and chocolate flavors. It's simple to make and can be prepared a day in advance, popped into the refrigerator. No cooking whatsoever.

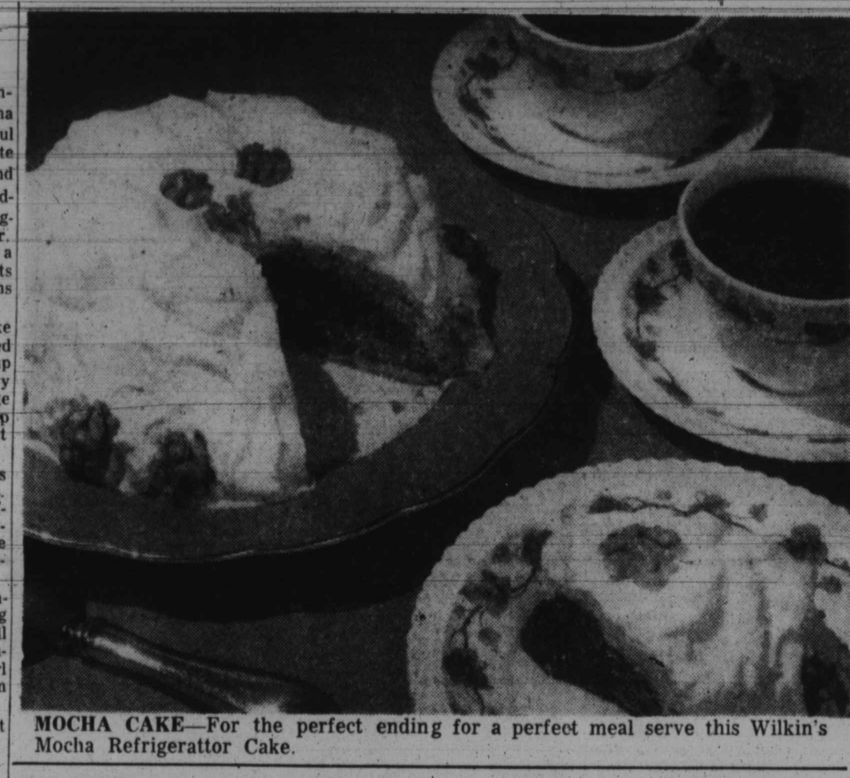
For the perfect ending for a perfect meal, serve it with lots of steaming, fragrant Wilkins coffee.

For Mocha Refrigerator cake you will need two packaged sponge cake layers, one cup strong coffee, one cup heavy cream, whipped, one package chocolate pudding mix, one cup evaporated milk, and walnut meats.

SPLIT SPONGE layers through, making 4 thin layers. Prepare pudding mix, using coffee and evaporated milk, combined, as the liquid. Press one ofthe cake layers into a medium-sized mixing bowl.

Add 1/3 of the pudding another cake layer and so on, ending with the fourth cake layer. Chill several hours or overnight. Unmold on serving plate. Swirl whipped cream generously on top and sides.

Garnish with whole walnut meats. Yield: 8 servings.



MOCHA CAKE—For the perfect ending for a perfect meal serve this Wilkin's Mocha Refrigerattor Cake.

YWCA teenagers open fall season with skit program

Chuck Richards, popular disc jockey, served as host and interviewer as teen-age members of the YWCA introduced the fall teen-age program.

A skit "This Is Your Life In The YWCA." was used to acquaint teen-agers with the teen-age activities. Groups open to teen-agers in Seconardy schools include Y-teen Clubs, A Choral Group, Co-Ed Drop In Program, Teen Whirl, a Junior High Canteen. The Elipsons, a Senior High Co-Ed Club and numerous city-wide and area conferences. A teen-ager may also learn modern dance, ballroom dancing, fencing, archery and badminton through the YWCA, Health and Recreation Department.

Teen-agers participating in the program were:

Brenda Johnson, Maxine Dorkins, Margo Guy, Gloria Coates, Vicki Lipscomb, Beverly Jackson; James Johnson, Arrie Davis, Joan Queen;

Shirley Biggs, Levi Keel, John Street, Leroy Pinder, Shirley Soden and Mr. Effie Weatherly, health recreation director. Regina Hall and Stacia Foot served as registrars.

Many of the teen-agers present indicated their interest in the YWCA program. The Teen-Age Department invites others who would like to know more about our program to inquire at the Madison Avenue Branch YWCA, a Red Feather Agency.

"See the pretty apple, top of the crop ..."

There's a musical from the mid-thirites playing a return engagement on Broadway this fall that has a lilting song about apples. It says that if you want that pretty apple you'll have to be, "Up on your toes ...."

Right now, on these crisp fall days, you just have to be on your toes enough to remember to order fresh apples from your nearest foodstore. The crop is coming in, and it's a joy—to the eye, to the palate and, best of all, to your health.

Chief varieties on the market this fall are Delicious, Jonathan and McIntosh. The gay red Delicious, sweet and juicy, highly popular for eating out of hand and for salad, is in biggest supply.

The second of the Big Three apples of the fall is the Jonathan, a bright red, carmine - striped, tender and juicy fruit. It is good for all uses. Then comes the bright red McIntosh, an excellent all-around apple, a little more on the tart side than the mild Delicious. It's delightful for out-of-hand eating, desserts, salads and cooking. Enjoy these and the many other local favorites that offer fall eating enjoyment.

—o O o—

APPLE PIE is an all-American favorite. Apple sauce is a standby dessert. Apple tapioca, apple pan dowdy, apple jelly, apple salad, apple snow ... the names of the well-loved apple dishes go on and on.

The home economists in the test kitchen of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association have been testing apples lately and have developed some brand new ways of serving this beloved, healthful fruit.

During the apple season, make the most of this fragrant gift from Nature. Serve apples in some form every day and you will be rewarded with wide smiles of pleasure from your family and, best of all, you'll have the confident feeling that you are doing your very best to keep your loved ones hale, hearty and healthy.

For apples baked in orange juice you will need six to eight large tart baking apples, one-half cup sugar, one-half teaspoon ground cinnamon and 1-sixteenth teaspoon salt, one cup fresh orange juice, and one-half cup heavy cream, whipped (optional).

Heat oven to 375 degrees F. (moderate). Peel a 1-inch strip around the stem end of the apples. Core, being careful not to cut through the blossom end. Place in a 12 x 8 x 2-inch baking pan. Mix sugar, cinnamon and salt and spoon into the centers of the apples.

Pour orange juice over apples. Cover. Bake 30 minutes. Uncover. Bake 20 minutes or until apples are soft. Baste occasionally (about every 15 minutes). Baking time depends upon the kind of apples used. Top with whipped cream, if desired.

YIELD: 6 to 8 servings.

Sweet potatoes and bacon with apple rings require four medium cooked whole fresh sweet potatoes, four raw apple rings, ¾-inch thick, four slices of bacon, two tablespoons sugar, one-half teaspoon ground cinnamon, and one-third cup fresh orange juice.

Remove skins from whole cooked sweet potatoes. Place an apple ring over each and wrap with a strip of bacon. Place in an 8 x 8 x 2-inch greased baking dish. Mix sugar with cinnamon.

Add orange juice. Pour over potatoes and apples. Bake 45 minutes or until done in a preheated moderate oven (375 degrees F.).

YIELD: 4 servings.

For apple custard use one-third cup sugar, one-quarter teaspoon salt, three eggs, slightly beaten, one-fourth cup cold milk, 2 and 3-fourths cups scalded milk, one teaspoon vanilla extract, one tablespoon dark brown sugar, six apple rings, one-fourth-inch thick and apple slices for garnish (optional).

Combine sugar and salt. Add eggs and cold milk. Mix well. Gradually stir in scalded milk and vanilla. Place one-half teaspoon brown sugar in the bottom of each of 6 custard cups. Pour the custard mixture over the sugar. Float an apple ring over the top of each custard.

Place in a 12 x 8 x 2-inch baking pan. Pour hot water into the pan until the level almost reaches the height of the cups. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 45 minutes or until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Cool.

Turn custards out in dessert dishes. Garnish with slices of apples if desired. YIELD: 6 servings.

Budget cake

½ cup Hot Milk
2 tablespoons Butter or Margarine
½ teaspoon Vanilla Extract
2 Eggs
¾ cup Sugar
1 cup sifted enriched Washington Self-Rising Flour

Combine hot milk, butter or margarine, and vanilla; stir to blend well. Beat eggs until light, add sugar gradually and beat until fluffy. Blend in milk mixture, food in flour (do not beat). Bake in greased 9-inch layer cake pan at 350 degrees F. about 25 minutes.

When cool, cut in half and put together with preferred icing to make small layer cake.

Housewife wins $5 prize

A housewife who put off reading her AFRO for one day because she had too much homework to do, collected $5 Tuesday when she recognized her home in the AFRO.

Mrs. Addie Jackson of 213 N. Fremont Ave., saw her home in the Friday edition of the AFRO.

"I was surprised when I saw my house" she said. "I showed it to my husband and all he said was 'could be.'".

Asked what she planned on doing with her prize Mrs. Jackson replied: "I have no idea just now. There's so much I would like to do."

—o O o—

YOU TOO may be a winner in the AFRO's "Identify Your Home" game.

In this issue there is a picture of a house. All you have to do to collect a $5 prize is to drop by the AFRO editiroial department and identify yourself.

The prize will be awarded to the first person living in the house who correctly identifies it.

Canditate praises GOP on civil rights

"The Republican Party has made great strides in civil rights without great ballyhoo," said congressional candidate Arthur W. Sherwood before the 17th Ward 4th District Republican Club and Ballot League on Thursday.

Sherwood said that even before President Eisenhower took office he had hired a colored secretary for the White House staff.

"This and other appointments," he said, "were made because the President wanted the most qualified people and not because of the color of the applicant's skin.

—o O o—

"SUCH EXCELLENT appointments have been made not as an appeal to minority voters. This change in attitude is the most important aspect of the last two years," Mr. Sherwood stated.

HE WENT on to say that he will not use the school segregation decision as a political football.

"This decision was a legal, not a political, victory. The Republican party can stand on its political gains in the civil rights field alone," Mr. Sherwood stated.

A Lucky Pic is encircled in this edition of the AFRO. It's worth $5 to the person in it.

THE QUESTION

What particular characteristic do you like about your teacher and how does it serves as an inspiration in your school work? (From pupils of Elliott School No. 104, Carey and School Sts.)

THE ANSWERS

MERLE JEWETT, 10, of 2403 Etting St.: "I like my teacher's kindness and consideration. She's never short tempered with us and this makes us work all the harder." Merle's favorite subject is spelling and she's considered a good speller. She hopes to become a concert singer. Her ambition is inspired by the "very pretty voice" of her sister, Miss Esther Jewett, a secretary in the school system. She's a member of Girl Scout Troop No. 520.

—000—

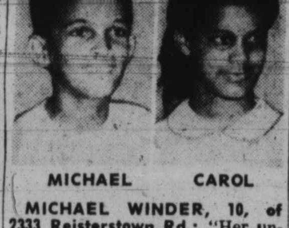
ARLENE BARBARA

ARLENE FLANAGAN, 10, of 2517 Druid Hill Ave. "Our teacher is kind and nice at all times in her classroom dealings with us, but what's more, she is most cooperative in helping us to celebrate special occasions. This shows that she takes a personal interest in our pleasures too." Arlene's favorite subject is music, but she wants to be a teacher of spelling when she grows up. Concerning her own voice, she admits that "I sing some."

—000—

BARBARA STRICKLAND, 11, of 2334 Madison Ave.: "I like my teacher for her general kindness, particularly the fact that she doesn't fuss at the children." Her favorite subject is arithmetic and she is "good at it." Barbara wants to become a commercial artist. Her father, Edwin, a steelworker, "draws very well and sometimes when I'm trying to do some drawing at home, he helps me out." Barbara also is a member of the School Girl Scout Troop No. 520.

—000—



MICHAEL CAROL

MICHAEL WINDER, 10, of 2333 Reisterstown Rd.: "Her understanding is what impresses me most about my teacher. Sometimes you know, you get in a little trouble, or make a mistake. Then she shows the proper understanding and helps you out. You realize then that the matter wasn't so bad after all." Michael's favorite subject is reading and he has a weakness for science books. He hopes to become a lawyer. He is active with the Druid Hill YMCA.

—000—

CAROL SPENCER, 10, of 2612 Longwood St.: "Our teacher doesn't play favorites. She shows the same kindness and consideration toward all the children. She answers our questions readily and doesn't mind going over something again and again to be sure we understand it." Carol is a fairy-tale fan and reading is her favorite subject. She likes dancing and hopes to become a physical education teacher. She too is a member of the school's Girl Scout troop.

New social security benefits made known

Social Security benefits may now be payable to survivors of working people and servicemen who died after 1939 and before September, 1950.

According to William M. Donlin, manager of the downtown Baltimore District Office, the recent amendments make more survivors eligible by reducing the time required in work under social security to one and one-half years for those who died before September, 1950.

Many survivors of these deceased workers could not get benefits in the past because the worker had not been under social security long enough to be fully insured under the old law.

—o O o—

WITH THE NEW law, the worker who died after 1939 but before September, 1950 is considered fully insured if he had at least six quarters of work covered by the law.

The survivors who may collect benefits beginning September, 1954 consist of widows, 65 or over, minor children, widows still caring for minor children, and the parent dependent upon the wage earner at death.

Benefits to those survivors are not payable for months before September, 1954. The survivor must apply for the benefit and file proof of support, if it is required, within two years of this date.

District offices in Baltimore are located at 462 Post Office Building and 3107 Greenmount Ave. If you are in doubt as to which office serves your residential area, telephone either office in advance of your visit.

The Law Supreme

The cause for segregated schools
Defiles our sacred law;
The highest court decreed it so
And we will not withdraw.
Cold wars are fought to make the world
Safe for democracy,
What arctic name can man devise.
For this new perfidy?
To separate; yet equalize?
These are United states
The listening world shall pause and juge
The answer it awaits.
Until we separate the blood
Which stained each distant shore,
And separate the burial
Of them who live no more;
Or swing the pendulum of time
Back through three hundred year,
And separate proud men, born free
From wanton slaveteers;
Until each contribution made
By races of this land
Is separated from the whole
And separately can stand;
'Til patriotism can be known
By that same testing rod
Which fifteen million strong have shown
This nation under God;
Or man can separate the hopes,
The spirit, flesh and soul
How can one find that human race
That's greater than the whole?
We must undauntedly declare
This nation will not fall,
The law which stands supreme for one
Shall stand supreme for all.

Words To Live By

By Rev. R. T. Newbold Jr.
Pastor, Grace Presbyterian Church, Baltimore

This is the season for new beginnings. Public school teachers have started a new school year. Teachers in colleges have done the same. Workers are back on the job after their period of vacation.

In fact, the month of September signals a time of new beginnings. So it is on the calendar, so it the jobs; but frequently it is not so with our lives.

One of the caracters in the Old Testament who challenges us to recognize the importance of beginning anew is Jacob.

—o O o—

HIS LIFE was one of tragedy and ruin until the angel of the Lord convinced him of his folly. This incident was followed by a brief period of communion with God when God spoke to Jacob saying:

"Thy name shall no more be called Jacob but Israel."

From out of this story comes three thoughts which we would do well to consider:

The first is: Past events often make it necessary for individuals to begin anew in life.

Jacob's past life was not one of which he could be proud. For it was filled with treachery, deception and fraud. Such a trio should make any man ashame.

—o O o—

BUT, WHEN we remember that Jacob employed these three iniquitous deeds against his own brothers and father, then the shame becomes worse. To be sure these sins made it necessary for Jacob to begin anew.

What about past events in your life? Look at them carefully! Let them pass in mental review! Examine them critically! Are they events of treachery, deceit, and lies? If they are, then you need to start anew.

Oh blessed thought that inspired us, that encourages us, that fills us with never ending hope! When our past beginnings have led us down the dead ends of life we need not give up. We can begin anew.

—o O o—

THE SECOND THOUGHT that comes to us out of this story is that: Every man has the opportunity of experiencing the thrill of beginning anew.

I suppose if we had been contemporaries of Jacob most of us would have given him little chance of experiencing a change.

One by one we would have publicly reviewed his sins and then expressed regret over the fact that he had "gone to the dogs."

What about his chances of beginning anew? Oh no! we would not have conceded him such.

There are some Jaobs walking the streets of our city. Do not sentence them to eternal damnation! Do not withhold a prayer for them, nor a word of have a chance. Yes, every man hope from them. For they do has the opportunity of experiencing the thrill of begining anew.

Though deep in mire, wring not your hands and weep
I lend my arm to all who say "I can,"
No shame - faced outcast ever stand so deep,
But yet might rise and be again a man.

The third thought that comes to us from the Old Testament story of Jacob is: The real joy and courage with which we can face the future stems from the forgiveness of sins committed in the past.

Indeed Jacob became reconciled with his brother Esau. But before that he had become reconciled with God. No longer was he satisfired to trust his own strenth and shrewdness. For now he directed his trust to a higher power.

There at Bethel, God has spoken peace and forgiveness to his troubled soul. He was through running away! His sins that had been like crimson had been made white as snow.

Be not slow to look back into your life and see your faults, your sins. You can't keep putting them in your secret closet without the danger of having them catch up with you.

Perchance you feel ashame of them and desire to begin anew; I am happy to say to you that this glorious priviledge is yours.

But first you must seek Divine forgiveness. Then and only then are you ready to experience the thrill of beginning anew.

Young student of foods AFRO Lucky Pic winner

It was appropriate that Helen Hull, 15, should be in a food market when she bought the AFRO which brought her a $5 award as this week's Lucky Pic winner.

Miss Hull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Hull of 623 Forney St., is in the food and tea room service class of General Vocational School No. 452.

A picture of this class appeared in the Oct. 2 AFRO, with Miss Hull's head encircled, thereby making her the $5 winner. (Another Lucky Pic appears in today's AFRO. If your head is encircled in that picture, bring the clipping to the AFRO office and collect your $5.)

—o O o—

TAKING HER culinary art study seriously, Miss Hull will use the money to buy a new uniform for class. Upon graduation, she hopes to major in the study of foods at college.

She's in her element when baking a cake, canning vegetables or making jelly, grape being her favorite.

Her father is employed by the gas and electric company, and the family includes two brothers, four and five years of age.

A Lucky Pic is encircled in this edition of the AFRO. It's worth $5 to the person in it.

POLITICS

Republican Viewpoint

By HARRY A. COLE

There have been those who would lead you to believe that Dr. Harry C. Byrd is capable of a new sense of fairness. They say that despite his prior actions in keeping us out of the University of Maryland, he could change his ways.

It seems clear now that they will find it also difficult to defend his recent statement of segregation.

Dr. Byrd was way up in the hills of Eastern Shore, apparently removed from the faithfuls of Baltimore City, when he said, "You will want members of the school board appointed who will be able to deal and act in accordance with the age-old customs and traditions that have been a part of our way of life."

Of course, Dr. Byrd was appealing to those persons present to vote for him for Governor. It is regrettable that he found it necessary to base that appeal on a racial issue that should have no place in a political campaign. It is without the dignity of the office to which he aspires.

—000—

CERTAINLY, Dr. Byrd knows that the decision of the Supreme Court was a legal decision, coming from that body which is the supreme law of our land.

Certainly he knows that this decision has been welcomed and endorsed by all religious faiths as morally right.

If, for no other reason than a moral one, he should give full meaning to this decision.

How can he be our friend when he seeks to thwart our progress?

Let us get the record straight. The Republicans are not the persons responsible for the recent outcries against integration in schools.

It is regrettable that certain unethical politicians try to credit McKeldin with having brought about the ruling on restrictive covenants.

All these things are being done to force persons to get aroused over a racial issue which should have no place in a political campaign.

—000—

INTEGRATION was, and is a legal question. Every law-abiding citizen should respect the decision of the Supreme Court.

Instead of seeking ways to circumvent or defeat the effect of the decision, each one of us should be devising means to implement it or make it a living truth.

We have a right to expect as much from a man who aspires to be Governor of this state.

It is significant, however, to note that Dr. Byrd's evident course of action is to say one thing to the people on the Eastern Shore, and another to the minorities of Baltimore City.

After this display, we should understand the old adage that truly a leopard can't change its spots.

Workshops begin for recreation leaders

Workshops, conducted for volunteer recreation leaders under the sponsorship of the Division of Recreational and Educational Agencies of the Council of Social Agencies, tart Wednesday, Oct. 13, at Clifton Park Junior High School, Harford Rd. and Twenty-fifth St.

Tuition fee is $1 and registrations are now being received by the Council of Social Agencies.

Democratic Viewpoint

By LLOYAL RANDOLPH

There are 283,000 registered Democrats in Baltimore City, 74,000 Republicans and 8,000 voters who declined to state their affiliation. This means Democrats outnumber other parties 4-1 in this city.

As a rule, people don't cross party lines unless they have an outstanding candidate. McKeldin is not an outstanding Governor.

In 1952, Eisenhower was the most popular man on the American scene, and he won on that popularity, and his war record.

Now that it has been proved he has no knowledge of administration of public affairs, people want him out. He has done nothing about widespread unemployment.

Neither has the man who made the nominating speech for him two years ago, Theodore R. McKeldin, the present governor of Maryland.

—o O o—

THIS STATE is going Democratic just like the State of Maine. They too got tired of this super-give-away program of the present administration. The give away to those who 'have.' Yet more than 3 million persons are in the market looking for work every day. And nothing is being done about it.

The same situation exists here in Maryland. Mr. McKeldin is doing the same thing they are doing in Washington, nothing, but fast.

The Fourth District Democratic ticket is a good one from top to bottom. In Senator Barnard Melnocove, we have a man who has had 16 years of legislative experience. He was responsible for the repeal of the segregation travel law.

He also worked to established a police review court to protect us from wanton police brutality.

—o O o—

VOTERS would be wise in sending Mr. Melnocove back to the Senate. He is experienced and knows our problems.

We have shown him our confidence in the past, now is the time to give a strong show of faith and send him back with a huge popular vote.

With leaders like Phillip Perlman, Col E. Brooke Lee, T. Barton Harrington, Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, young Joe Tydings, Mrs. Vivian Alleyne, and others we are assured that campaign promises made will be kept.

We make political progress in this state when we vote with the strong Democratic ticket.

Good Riddance Campaign okayed

The Good Riddance Campaign announced recently by Chief Engineer Michael H. Lotz of the Baltimore Fire Department, as a special feature of Fire Prevention Week, has received the enthusiastic support of William P. Fannon, Sanitary Engineer of the City of Baltimore.

Mr. Fannon said, "A concerted effort to rid households of unused articles, in addition to reducing fire and safety hazards in the home, will result in healthier living conditions and aid greatly in keeping the premises clean and neat."

Another Democratic Viewpoint

By ROBERT WATTS

I have often urged the voters to look at both the candidates and to debate the issue and then make the decision as to the best man. I have said this with respect to the two candidates for Governor.

The other day, Senator Melnicove met me in the courthouse and reminded me that I should do this with respect to him.

I have advocated and still advocate the election of Harry A. Cole for State Senator from the 4th District. He is qualified and capable of assuming the responsibilty of that office.

I told Senator Melnicove this and reminded him of the urgency of electing a colored person to public office.

He then told me of his work since he has been in the Legislature and in all fairness to him, and in the interest of debating the issues and the men, I will remind the readers of what he has done.

—000—

HE was the author and sponsor of the bill which created the present Commission on Interracial Problems and Relations which seeks to promote better racial relations.

He awarded a scholarship to to Charles Johnson to attend the School of Engineering at Johns Hopkins University, and one to Mary Wilson to attend Morgan.

He led the fight to repeal the jim-crow law and was commended for his service in restoring funds to the budget to build an Armory for Morgan. He reminded me that Dr. Byrd helped him with this latter project.

While in the House of Delegates he led the fight for equal pay for teachers and has been cited by the NAACP, Urban League, and Morgan alumni. These are just some of the things he had done that he felt in fairness ought to be presented to the public.

—000—

I SAID on another occasion that Bernard Melnicove has conducted himself as a Senator in a way that can't be too severely criticized. Harry Cole and I both know this.

It is unfortunate that Cole is not campaigning against a man like Councilman Reed of the 5th District who has publicly expressed himself as being against all we fight for.

We need representation in Annapolis and in the City Council.

When a man like Harry Cole seeks that office—a man qualified and with great ability, he deserves our support and I intend to give him mine and urge all voters to give serious consideration to the qualifications of both of these men.

In fairness to Senator Melnicove I have mentioned some of the things he has done because I can't urge comparison for some candidates and ignore completely what Senator Melnicove told me.

We have an opportunity to select Cole and Truly Hatchett in November. We will do just that. Mr. Cole and Mr. Hatchett deserve our support.

Just as labor supports its candidates, we need representatives especially if they are of the caliber of men like Mr. Cole and Mr. Hatchett, who compare favorably with their opponents.
