Close to half a hundred Alpha Kappa Alpha sorors gathered at the Madison Ave. ue branch YWCA, Saturday evening, for their first seasonal session.

Buckled right down to business (including scheduling their annual dance for January 2nd), and with their scores of chores tucked neatly away, except an hour of fun: movies of vacation spots for sorors during the summer (Bahamas) and a hilarious flash of baby pictures of members. The latter shown by Basileus Hampton, attorney, and in the romance department: Anna Mae Pinkney who has just become Mrs. Robert S. Mclver.

dinner drink on her guests, Sunday ... individual pineapples filled with a rum concoction. And everyone was so busy asking for refills that no one stopped to get the recipe ... or the name.

In fact, Mrs. Murphy had a time getting her guests off the lawn and into the club room for one of her down - to - goodness food feasts.

Dinner, from a buffet, was served in a quaint French atmosphere: tables covered with checkered clothes, candlelit by tapers in Barcardi bottles.

'Twas the gathering of those one or two couples who dine together once a month (I don't think they even have a name) to which the Murphys (Jimmie) had added the Charles Hickses of Frederick, Md.

Others there were the Rudy Wheelers, the Medford Reynoldses and the Mark Pattersons.

Also present, the hosts' mothers, Mesdames Davidson and Murphy.

When the group had settled down for long drinks, Mr. Hicks showed color film made on vacation in California and Mexico last month.

WHEN LLOYD TAYLOR took Mae Frances James (they're both of the Department of Public Welfare staff) to lunch at Garrison's Lounge, Saturday last, Mae thought it was just that ... a meal to erase the tiredness of a serious shopping trip.

Instead friends had gathered to spring a bridal shower on her.

About were Christine Brown, Kathryn Vickers, Gladys Jennings, Mollie Barefoot, Ida M. Tatum, Sylvia C. Hooker, Clara B. Coates, Gloria Tucker, Grace Patterson, Lou Barnes, Mahalia Green, Mary Merritt and pearl Moulton.

Added note: Miss James became Mrs. Taylor on Saturday.

THE FOR-WIN - ASH Garden Club gathered friends at a delightful garden party in the pretty confines of the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Manns of Sequoia Ave., Saturday.

They laid a long and lavish table and manned it with some of their lovely gowned members ... who had nothing on the guests, except that they had to lay down their minks while passing the hors deouvres and ladeling the punch.

Guests were served by Mrs. Gilbert Banfield, with other members entertaining including.

Mrs. Victorine Adams, Dr. Banfield, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Briggs, Miss Nellie Buchanan, Mrs. C. R. Campbell, Mrs. Douglas Camper;

Mrs. Bernard S. Christmas, Mrs. Charles Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Frisby, Mrs Emma Gilkes, Mrs. William Gosnell, Mrs. George Harding;

Mrs. I. Bradshaw Higgins, Mrs. Raymond Hunt, Mrs. Webster Kendricks, Mrs. Leonard Reed, Dr. and Mrs. Martin Rodney and Mr. and Mrs. Manns.

They had as guests:

Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel A. Lewie Jr., Mrs. Daisy B. Jones, Mrs. Anita Woodlen, Mrs. Llewellyn Walker, Mrs. Helen Woodland;

Mrs. Alice Keys, Miss Ruth Russell, Mrs. Ethel T. Harris, Mrs. Ada C. Woodland, Mrs. Demetrio Christmas, Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Nash, Mrs. Minnie Davis;

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Murray, Mrs. Tillie Young, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Patterson, Mrs. Robert Young, Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Laforest, Mrs. Alfred O. Moore.

The club, whose membership is made up of residents of Forest Park, Windsor Hills and Ashburton sections (and the membership is open) is a serious garden study group. Flowers, shrubbery, lawns, trees; their cultivation and improvement, have engaged the members throughout the spring and summer ... and come this month, their program includes a tour of some gardens of members.

THE YP'S held their first fall meeting at the home of Cornelia (Nita) Martin and Pearl Montague on Saturday and reminisced about their summer travels.

Conversation was filled with bits about "A Raisin in the Sun," the Russian Exhibition, the Pan American games, the Puerto Rican native dishes, Nina Simone, Eartha Kitt and the personable Harry Belafonte.

The members are Cornelia Martin, Pearl Montague, Lois Young, Carolyn King, Norma Walker, Marcia C. Mills, Joan L. Powell, Faulkner and Miriam Hughes.

THE WE MOMS held their opening meeting of the year at the home of Marie Coles with Marie and Vinessa Porter serving as hostesses.

The major portion of their business session was spent in planning activities for the year.

Detailed plans were made for the October Skating party, a theater and dinner party for the Moms, and a weiner roast for the children.

After the business session, the members enjoyed an outdoor repast in the form of a barbeque, with chief cook being Anthony Porter, Vinessa's husband.

Members present in addition to the hostesses were:

Ruth Sampson, Pauline Armstrong, Bernice Turner, Thelma Ruffin, Minerva Williams, Marguerite Wilkins, Jeanette Johnson, Neonta Corbin, and Marian Amprey.

Marguerite Wilkins is president and Mae G. Cornish is the editor.

MISS BERNICE A. ROACH, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Roach, and Russell T. Hite were married in a quiet ceremony, Saturday.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James (Margaret) Hite.

The simple, but beautiful wedding took place in the home of the bridegroom's parents' home on Presstman Street, with the Rev. Marcus C. Woods performing the double - ring ceremony, and with the Rev. Marion C. Bascom, attending.

Mr. Hammond, minister of music at Douglas Memorial Community Church, furnished the soft background music throughout the evening.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was resplendent in a gown of white organza with a matching veil. She carried an heirloom Bible.

Miss Barbara Lawson was maid of honor and most charming in a blue gown identical to that of the bride.

George Williams was best-man for Mr. Hite.

A reception followed and sies for coming up with such Mrs. Hite deserves many posies for coming up with such unusual decorations, especially since the couple gave their parents only a week's notice that they would be wed on the date ... ere they return to their more to the dance-cocktail tame program.

Md. Beauty Culturists have 3-day meet at YWCA

For three days, Sunday through Tuesday, members of the Mary land State Beauty Culturists Association convened in Baltimore for their annual workshop at the Madison Ave. YWCA.

During the three days, they danced, breakfasted, and fun was plentiful, but they worked, worked, worked.

On Sunday, the association attended the annual services at Bethel AME Church, the Rev. Harrison J. Br yant, pastor.

Before the services, they were breakfast guests of the Alpha Alpha Sigma Sorority at the Madison Ave. Master Beautician's Home.

AN EVENING social hour featured Miss Adele Reed of Philadelphia.

Miss Reed, guest artist at the workshop, is a petite "champagne blonde," who later showed 64 students (really licensed beauticians) in the workshop how she creates new, beautiful styles in her Philadelphia salon.

A highlight of the three-day affair were the Monday night competitions at Wilson's Ballroom.

Miss Janie Sanders, winner of the State trophy for hair-styling, won second and third places in the "prepared hair styling" competition, and tied for first place in the "comb-out" competition.

Her models for the contest were Misses Kathleen Lendon, Ruth Gordon and Alene Taylor.

First place winner in the "prepared styling" competition was Miss Ernestine Harden. Her model was Miss Marlene Mohammond.

Emanuel Felder tied with Miss Sanders for first place in the "comb-out" competition. His model was Miss Odell Bristol.

Miss Dorothy Sloane and Everette Hodges took second and third places, respectively, in the "comb-out" competition.

Their models were Misses Ray Ford and Louise Gresham.

JUDGES OF the contest were:

Miss Geneva Thongs, of the Timshel Beauty School in Easton, Md.; Robert T. Hill, of Philadelphia, Pa.; Miss Margaret Ford of Washington and Angelo Brooks of Angelo's Beauty School, Baltimore.

Mrs. Ethel Page of the Apex Hair Co., was narrator for the hair style showing.

Also featured at the Monday night program were fashions from Mrs. Irma Dixon's Valentine Shop.

The fashion show featured clothes for anytime from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Mrs. Florence Knox modeled a new shade called "sable."

Mrs. Anne Wilkes showed "the good basic dress."

Mesdames Delores Matchins, Verra Day and Roberta Hall were also models featured in the show.

The new colors, "electric blue" and "bewitching black," were almost "show stoppers" in the parade of "basic wools."

A Negro On a Southern School Board— A Quiet Victory!

As one man in Houston, Texas put it, "It seems if the school board won't integrate the schools, the people are going to integrate the school board."

Not only was Mrs. Charles E. White the first Negro ever elected to public office in Houston ... but she beat her opposition soundly. And more than half of her votes were cast by whites. What makes a woman do what she did ... defy a strong convention? Are the people of the South really as against integration in public schools as we are led to believe? Don't miss this inspiring and timely article in October's Good Housekeeping. Read "Houston's Quiet Victory;" the story of a courageous woman and a courageous city.
