Confession reduces promised sentence

For five minutes, Joseph Berry of the 1000 block W. Lanvale St., stood in Northwestern Police Court Monday and refused to rat on two pals in a larceny case.

When Magistrate Gerald Siegel promised to send him away for ten years, Berry broke down and cried.

His "confession" brought him a six-month sentence in the House of Correction.

Mr. Berry testified that he was "afraid" to divulge the names of two men who were with him when an outboard motor was taken from a garage in the 4000 block Chatham Rd., because "they will kill me."

Dillinger story on Royal screen

The story of John Dillinger, the vicious gangsters of the 1930's, is thrillingly told in Warner Bros.' "The FBI Story," starring James Stewart and Vera Miles.

The actual event is recreated in which Dillinger walks from the Biograph Theatre in Chicago into a trap set by the FBI. He leaves the theatre with two girl friends, unaware that one of them, the notorious "Lady in Red," had tipped off agents.

"Suddenly realizing that he is being tailed, the gangster ducks down an alley and aims his gun. But the agents are quicker on the draw. He is brought down by FBI bullets. There is no doubt that in this scene the pistols were fired in proper FBI style. The "actors" portraying agents were real FBI men.

"The FBI Story," now plays the Royal.

Miss Lange, of "Peyton Place" fame, is seen as "Caroline," a young college graduate who comes to work at a huge publishing house where she meets a variety of men and women who struggle with their careers, their love lives and their frustrations and disappointments.

Boyd is "Mike Rice," the embittered, alcoholic editor who tries to help Miss Lange avoid the fate of many other ambitious women in the company.

Beautiful model-actress Suzy Parker plays "Gregg," the unfortunate actress who loves too well and suffers a sad fate.

Newcomer Diane Baker is "April," an innonent young girl who falls in love with a heel, Brian Aherne is "Mr. Shallmar," the philosophical and lecherous top executive of the

The reviewers there were unanimous in according it the highest possible praise and recommended it enthusiastically to their readers as a must-see movie.

What sets "Sapphire" apart and distinguishes it as a movie entertainment of uncommon appeal is that it combines all the thrill of a superbly told crime story with a fascinating, touching, serious yet amusing look at our present - day social mores and our frailly human foibles.

"A murder mystery with a difference — a difference which makes it one of the most gripping films of the year" is the way "Sapphire" was described by the London press.

Queen crowning on Ball agenda

war II when he joined the OSS.

The screen play was written by Paul Dehn. Both men were involved with espionage during the war and had first hand experience with or knowledge of the exciting events that occur in "Orders to Kill"

"Orders to Kill" is, therefore, a true behind - the - scenes account of an American Intelligence agent dropped into occupied France with orders to kill a member of the French underground who is suspected of collaborating with the Nazis.

The young Canadian star, handsome Paul Massie, plays the American; Eddie Albert is the soldier who trains him in the kill - or - be- killed technique he must employ to do the job.

Victor Mature in Met's New Film

Take a desert outpost cut off from France during World War II; add desperate native Arabs trying to win their independence from the beleaguered government in Paris; Star Victor Mature and Yvonne de Carlo—and there you have the exciting basic elements of United Artists' melodrama of adventure and romance, "Timbuktu," an Edward Small production, which is at the Met Theatre.

The action - packed story of intrigue, scripted by Anthony Veiller and Paul Dudley, also has an unusual timeliness: While laid in the World War II period, it is very close to some of the events that have more recently taken place in the French war in Algeria.

Jacques Tourneur has directed, with an eye to getting every last thrill out of the manifold twists in the plot.

For star Victor Mature, this trip to Africa on the screen keeps him in a locale he is accustomed to.

His previous picture was "No Time to Die," a story of the British Tank Corps under Montgomery.

He has been on location in Africa several times for his films and worked in such diversified areas as Benghazi, Tetuan, British Soudan, Khartoum, Mombasa, Nairobi, Tunisia and Tripolitania.

MUSICAL MOMENTS

Wilson scores triumph in first local recital

By ADAH K. JENKINS

Robert Wilson, lyric tenor, was welcomed at his first local recital since his return from Europe, by a most appreciative and distinguished audience that filled the auditorium of Sharp St. Memorial Methodist Church.

Enthusiastic reports of the concert are still the topic of conversation among professionals as well as laymen throughout the city.

It is very evident that such commendations are not based wholly upon pride in one of "Baltimore's own" who has made good, but are in recognition of a high ranking artist.

Mr. Wilson's recent European study and concertizing have added immeasurably to his musicianship and excellence in vocal techniques. He has a polish and finish to his work that are genuine and not mere stage mannerisms.

The program was designed to exhibit the capabilities of the singer in various areas. There were the opening arias by Handel (one arranged by the Baltimore musician, Frank Bibb), Scarlatti gave the singer an opportunity of using the superb "bella canto," which is such an important base of vocal production.

The operatic aria of the afternoon was "Ach, so fromm" from "Martha." For his art songs Mr. Wilson elected to do four German ones by Schubert and a group by Duparc, the modern French composer.

Ravel's "Chanson a Boire" (Drinking Song) was a striking presentation showing a strong Spanish influence. Incidentally it is the last music written by the composer and was composed for a film version of "Don Quixote."

The contemporary area the artist sang a group by George Walker, a graduate of Morgan State College, now residing in Europe.

They were "So We'll Go No More A-Roving," "The Bereaved Maid" and "I Went to Heaven." These were followed by Gershon Kingsley's "Teach Me, O Lord."

Three Afro - American folk songs completed the concert.

The admirable accompanying was done by Madame Solange Franck.

The entire concert impressed those who attended with the high degree of perfection in the mechanical arrangements. One important detail was the unusual arrangement of the program, which was legibly and correctly printed.

The sponsoring group for the recital was the Baltimore Branch of the National Association of Business and Professional Women'sClubs.

During the program Robert Wilson graciously paid tribute to his mother, Mrs. Margaret Wilson, and his grandmother, Mrs. Hugo Dalsheimer and Miss Adah B Watts, all of whom have assisted him in his training and career.

MUSICIANS, music educators parents and the public in general are shocked to know that the city fathers are contemplating a reduction in the music program of the city.

For many years Baltimore has held an enviable position among cities of its size because of the extensive musical program.

"International Musician," the official Journal of the American Federation of Musicians in the United States and Canada carried a feature story with pictures of the Baltimore Bands, symphony orchestra and choral groups.

The municipal bands have afforded our musicians the only regular local opportunity for experience in band performance. Many of our high school students, who play well have benefited from the chance to study and play in the summer concerts.

The proposed plan of the City Council to abolish entirely the Municipal Department of Music and the winter and summer concerts will create a most serious blight in the cultural life of Baltimore.

Surely, in this day and time, when every effort is being made to combat juvenile delinquency and to lighten the tension of urban living, recreational opportunities and cultural projects should be increased rather than abandoned.

Immediate action should be taken by our civic groups, musical organizations and individual citizens to let the City Fathers know our deep concern over this matter.

Letters and telegrams to the City Fathers know our deep concern over this matter.

Letters and telegrams to the City Council and local newspapers are an effective means of urging a reconsideration of this drastic move.

MUSICAL CALENDAR:

Saturday, Nov. 21 at 11 a.m. at the Baltimore Museum of Art the Laubins in a concert of American Indian music, with authentic costumes, instrument and other properties.

Tickets are available at the Museum for youngsters from 7 years and up. Adults accompaying children are admitted.

SUNDAY, NOV. 22 at 5 p.m. at Coppin State Teachers College, the first recital of the season by elementary students of members of the Piano Teachers Activity Group.

The event is open to the public without charge.

FRIDAY, NOV. 27 at 8:00 p.m. at the Lyric, Grant Johnneson, pianist, under auspices of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

SATURDAY, NOV. 28 at 6 p.m. in the auditorium of Berea

VICTOR MATURE and Yvonne De Carlo co-star in United Artists' "Timbuktu," now playing at the Mef Theatre. The melodrama of intrigue in French Equatorial Africa in many respects parallels recent events in the French African colonies.

Clennon King calls meet to let others in on his new idea

LOS ANGELES — Clennon King, formerly of Mississippi, last week called a meeting to organize "The Movement for Negro Unity and Liberation" — for colored people only.

He says that the movement "is for colored people only.. because it just happens that the people most sincerly interested in solving the colored peoples' problem to the advantage of colored people are colored Americans."

The former Akron A. and M. College history professor also said that the movement has the answer for the colored peoples problem in America — something which no other movement can truthfully declare."
