HANOVER, N.H. — Junior fullback Stu Simms of Baltimore scored Dartmouth's first two touchdowns in a 50-14 win over Holy Cross at Worcester, last weekend.

Simms was given the nod twice in the first period by senior quarterback Jim Chasey on short yardage situations around the goal line. On both calls Simms bulled his way to pay dirt on drives of one and two yards.

The Indians will face powerful Princeton on Saturday in their Ivy League opener at Hanover.

Master O'Grady, a Probation Department officer testified that the 16-year old youth had been confined as a juvenile this year for assaulting a 50 year-old man and taking his watch and $50.

Sent eventually to Forestry Camp, the youth was found to be an undercover gang leader, a manipulator and a gasoline sniffer.

He was released in June, three months before the realty firm armed holdup.

Master O'Grady revealed that Juvenile Court records showed he had been declared delinquent in February, 1960 for assaulting another youth and in September, 1969, for being disorderly and using profane language.

At first Master O'Grady placed him under $10,000 but refused to reduce it to less than $7,500 despite the plea of

He stated, "He is too serious a risk to return to the community at this time. The matter will have to be heard in Criminal Court. If he is found guilty, he will go away for a long, long time for assault and robbery.

"Juvenile Court does not have security provisions for those who showed he had been declared his kind."

or five bullets were fired into her home where she and her five young children have lived alone since her husband left six weeks ago for his second tour of duty in Vietnam.

The letter went on: "All deliberate efforts must be taken to uncover the person(s) responsible for this cowardly act.

"I am not completely satisfied that the county police working on the case, being neighbors of this general vicinity, can or will pursue this case with genuine determination and a wholehearted effort."

Mrs. Cain reminded the FBI director that while those guilty remain free she and her family are not safe.

"We still haven't made a final decision about moving because there are so many things to be considered," Mrs. Cain said, adding that her husband will be leaving in two weeks and the decision will have to be made before then.

A Baltimore County police spokesman told the AFRO they still haven't made any arrests but the case remains under investigation.

Police continue the 24-hour watch on the house in the 6000 block of Hamilton Ave. and the black family in the all-white neighborhood.

The Public Defender, a City and State-sponsored program providing legal services for indigent defendants in the nine Baltimore City Municipal Courts, officially opens its office at 351 N. Calvert St. on Modnay, Oct. 19, it was announced taody by Stephen F. Harris, Chief Defender.

Joseph A. Matera, executive director of the Legal Aid Bureau, Inc., whihc is responsible for the implementation of the program, announced that Milton B. Allen, a prominent defense attorney in Baltmiore and currently a candidate for the office of State's Attorney, will be the guest speaker at the office of State's Attorney, will be the guest speaker at the informal noon opening ceremonies.

The progarm has been in operation since Sept. 21 and, according to Mr. Harris, has already exemplified the important reasons for its existence and the expenditure of $80,000.00 of City and State money with which the program is being funded on a temporary basis until Jan. 15, 1971. • •

"Every dollar we are spending for the services of our nine investigators and nine attorneys is being returned to the City and Staet in the form of reduced backlogs in the criminal courts of the city," said Mr. Harris.

Indigent defendants in need of representation at any of the preliminary hearings in Municipal Courts are eligible to receive the services of the Public Defender, 351 N. Calvert Street.

Yom Kippur

Jewish citizens throughout Baltimore will join Jews throughout the world Saturday in recognition of Yom Kippur.

Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, begins at sundown, Oct. 10, and continues through sunodwn Sunday.

The high holy day is described in the Bible as a "day of affication of the sour" and is accompanied by fasting as a concrete way of showing humbleness to God.

Growth Watchers save at Loyola Federal

5¾% Bird watchers like Harry Bleacher like to watch a winning game. And Harry's got one going in his $5,000 Passbook Certificate invested for a year at 5¾%. He likes the Big League feeling at Loyola, Maryland's largest savings and loan association.

5¼% If you watch rates like Myrna Ratebuff, you know Loyola pays maximum interest rates on all types of savings accounts. On her school teacher's salary, Miss Ratebuff invested $1,000 for a year in a Loyola Passbook Certificate Account at a bright 5¼% a year. She gives her account an A for fast Addition.

6% Calorie watchers like Ava DuPois had rather save than eat — at the big 6% return they get on a $10,000 Passbook Certificate invested for 2 years It's fun to turn ... into dollars when you can see it happening.

5% Nan and Dan Newlywed feel their hearts go pit-a-pat as they watch savings grow in their Regular Passbook at 5% a year. With interest paid from day of deposit to day of withdrawal and compounded and credited quarterly, their savings grow super fast!

Clock watchers don't like working much. They'd rather have their money work for them. That's why they pick the Loyola account best suited to their needs and start saving as soon as possible. Retirement comes faster that way. Which plan suits you best?

REV. AND MRS. N. B. CARRINGTON on travel seminar tour of England and birthplace of Methodism.

Baltimoreans on Methodist pilgrimage

The Rev. N. B. Carrington, assistant pastor of Metropolitan United Methodist Church, his wife, Mrs. Agnes Carrington, Mrs. Mary Walker and Mrs. Hazel Luck, all Metropolitan members, are among 195 persons going abroad on Oct. 12.

The occasion for the jet flight to England is the "United Methodist Heritage Tour of England," a pilgrimage to the birthplace of Methodism.

The 10-day trip is the dream of devout Methodists who have longed all their lives to walk on the ground where John and Charles Wesley were born.

The tour also includes visits to the boyhood homes and graves of Francis Asbury and the Wesleys as well.

John Wesley founded Methodism in 1724 at Lincoln College.

Charles Wesley, his brother, wrote such world-famed hymns as "O For a Thousand Tongues to Sing, "A Charge To Keep I have." "Love Divine, All Loves Excelling," "How Great Thou Art" and "Jesus Lover of My Soul." • • •

In addition to shrines, ancient churches, Methodist mission houses and the various Wesley residences, publishing houses, and chapels, the tour will include a visit to the old Stonegenge on Salisbury Plain.

Stonegenge, one of the world's greatest mysteries, is an alignment of stones in a peculiar arrangement about 1900 B.C. as an astronomical observatory.

Side trips will be taken to Paris, Rome, Ireland and Scotland.

Also among those on the tour are the Revs. Donald W. Frank, Westminster; R. O. Johnson, Brandywine; the Rev. and Mrs. Frank Scarborough; the Rev. Maurice S. Moore, Baltimore.

And, the Rev. Ivory Blackman, Washington; Mesdames Evelyn Bracey, Cumberland, Md.; Evelyn Pickett, Washington.

Mrs. Edna C. Dyson, 81, long Carey St. resident

MRS. EDNA DYSON
Member of old Baltimore family dead

Mrs. Edna Carrie Dyson, widow of the late Walter Dyson of Baltimore, died Thursday morning at Sinai Hospital following a lingering illness. She was 81.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCall of Anne Arundel County, Md., she had been confined to the Granada Nursing Home on Liberty Heights Ave. since April.

Until 1967, Mrs. Dyson resided for over 33 years in the family home in the 1100 block N. Carey St.

She was a lifetime member of St. Peter Claver's Catholic Church, Fremont and Pennsylvania Aves.

Surviving are three sons, Walter, James Edward and Clarence Dyson; two daughters, Miss Pearl Dyson and Mrs. Blanche Brown with whom she made her home until April; a brother Ross McCall of Philadelphia, and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday, October 12 from St. Peter Claver's Church.

The family will receive frineds from 8 to 9 p.m. Sunday at the church.

Burial will be at New Cathedral Cemetery. Kelson Funeral Home is handling arrangements.
