no resistance when captured, according to the FBI. Her arrest ended a cross-country search that had included rumors she fled to Canada and Cuba, and several reports that she had been seen in Birmingham, Ala., her home.

The charge of murder and kidnaping says Miss Davis purchased a pistol, two carbines and a shotgun smuggled into a courtroom in San Rafael, Calif., Aug. 7 in an apparent attempt to free two convicts by taking a superior court judge, a prosecutor and three women jurors as hostages.

career, was named to the FBI's list of "Most Wanted" fugitives Aug. 18.

Photographs distributed by the agency showed her with a bouffant Afro hairstyle and wearing small metal-rimmed eyeglasses.

When she was led by agents from the FBI's headquarters here past a crowd of waiting reporters to a car, however, Miss Davis wore swept-back hair and glasses with large rectangular plastic frames.

Her eyebrows were trimmed and shaped, she had on makeup and wore a dark blue miniskirt and blouse. Those who had seen her before the events of August said she was scarcely recognizable.

There was no indication how long Miss Davis and Poindexter had been staying in the Howard Johnson motel, in a $26-a-day room with a double bed and a view of dingy Eighth Avenue. Spokesmen for the motel said they had been advised by the FBI not to divulge the information.

The assistant hotel manager, George Grasp, was surprised to learn there were FBI agents in the building. "I didn't even know they were around here," he said.

HAMILTON, N.Y. (UPI) — Herbert Marcuse, the Marxist philosopher, said this week he considers Angela Davis "one of my two or three best students."

Miss Davis, 26, was arrested in New York City by the FBI on murder-kidnap charges brought in connection with the San Rafael, Calif., shootout Aug. 7 in which four persons, including a judge, were killed.

Authorities charged the guns brought into the courtroom that day were purchased by Miss Davis.

"I couldn't possibly change my opinion of her," Marcuse said about the charges and the arrest. "I still say she is a highly intelligent and highly sensitive girl and how she came to be involved in it, if she did, I just don't know."

Marcuse did not mention Miss Davis in his hour-long speech to 700 persons at the Colgate University Memorial Chapel where he was invited by the Union Board lecture series. However, Marcuse responded to questions concerning her before and after his speech.

Marcuse, who met Miss Davis when she was a student at Brandeis University, said if the guns were registered in her name and that was her only connection with the shooting "that is not enough to convict her of murder and kidnaping."

istrative procedures of the Criminal Court of Baltimore City was released by Mr. Allen's Committee which recommended, along other things, full time assistant state's attorneys in the Municipal Courts and the screening of cases by the state's attorneys office at the Grand Jury.

"These recommendations have just recently been adopted by the state's attorneys office."

Mr. Murphy further announced that the committee will kick off its fund-raising activities by holding a Make-Your Vote Count reception for Mr. Allen at the Hollyday Room of the Village of Cross Keys this Saturday from 6 to 8 p.m.

Mr. Murphy has billed this reception as an affordable fund raiser in that the cost is $10 per couple.

"Unlike most political extravagangas of this or other election years, its appeal is geared toward those concerned citizens who ordinarily would not have the opportunity to meet the candidate, he stated.

For further information, Mr. Murphy suggested that the Chairwoman of the reception, Mrs. Carol Conlan, be contacted at 367-6666.

MEREDITH BIRCHE RITES

'He was a man with much determination'

"He was a most successful man with much courage, faith and determination."

That was the tribute paid to William Meredith H. Birche, Jr., at funeral services Thursday at Providence Baptist Church.

Miss Julia Richardson, fellow teacher and lifetime friend, said further he would always be remembered for his "musical achievements and winning personality."

The Rev. Marcus U. Wood, pastor of Providence, officiated.

He was assisted by the Rev. Agnes Alston and the Rev. A. J. Payne, pastor of Enon Baptist Church.

Active pallbearers were former members of the Baltimore Boys Choir which Mr. Birche directed and organized in 1955. George Milburn was the soloist.

Burial was in Mt. Auburn Cemetery. The Herbert E. Nutter Funeral Home was in charge.

Mr. Birche, one of Baltimore's most talented and celebrated musicians and conductors, died Sunday morning at Maryland General Hospital. He was 58.

A Baltimore public school teacher since 1937, he retired from the Robert E. Lee Junior High School faculty in October, 1969, because of ill health.

He was honored at a testimonial dinner at the Civic Center, May 17, 1970.

Although Mr. Birche was known primarily as a pianist because of numerous performances, he also composed the music for "Hail Douglass," the Douglass High School hymn, and conducted the Harlem Park Community Chorus, the Adult Evening School graduation musical activities and "The Cabanos," a popular group of local musicians.

Noted as a child prodigy, he gave piano recitals, organized and directed a vocalectet, played in the Douglass High School orchestra and was Providence church pianist before he was 13 year old.

A graduate of Morgan State and Coppin State Teacher Colleges, Mr. Birche also studied at Peabody Conservatory, New York, Temple University, Philadelphia, the University of Maryland and the University of Pennsylvania.

He was the son of Mrs. Eula Birche who died three years ago, and the late William H. Birche.

He is survived by his sister, Mrs. Estellena Showes, of Cleveland; an aunt, Mrs. Mary Knuti; and his brother-in-law, Richard P. Showes, of Cleveland.

Md. nursing homes get reform order

"We should do everything possible to prevent this from happening again."

Dr. Neil Solomon, secretary of Health and Mental Hygiene, was speaking Thursday of the salmonella outbreak last August at the Gould Convalescarium which claimed the lives of 23 aged and convalescing patients.

As a result of the Gould incident and his personal observation of the nursing home situation, Dr. Solomon has ordered far-reaching reforms designed to tighten and strengthen regulations and control of Maryland's nursing homes.

The three-phase program calls for an inspection in the area of environmental hygiene with particular emphasis on food practices and general cleanliness; the establishment of a special unit within the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene to provide home services for the aged and chronically ill; and the employment of medical directors for nursing homes who will be responsible for overseeing medical programs in these institutions.

Assistant secretary of Health and Mental Hygiene and Scientific Affairs, Dr. Martin Traybeck, will head the new program.

Charles Buckner, 46 years a Baltimore postal employee

"He complained of a pain in the chest, so we rushed him to the hospital. He died about a half hour after we got him there."

Mrs. Clarence Pulley told the AFRO Monday of the events surrounding the death of her father, Charles Buckner, who suffered a heart attack last Thursday at Johns Hopkins Hospital. He was 78.

Funeral services were held for Mr. Buckner at noon today (Tuesday) at Evergreen AME Zion Church, 2300 Dlk. Old Frederick Rd. Burial was in Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

"Even though he was a double amputee," Mrs. Pulley noted, "he could get around almost better than me. He was quite active in spite of his handicap."

Garrison area residents plan protest to Council

Nearly 100 residents of Northwest Baltimore met Wednesday night at Garrison Community School to organize a formal protest against the proposed new zoning ordinance currently before the city council.

The residents claim that the high rise zone that has been assigned to their area under ordinance No. 621, allows for the construction of realtor speculation and will result in over population of the area.

The Rev. Thomas Tewes, president of the United Community Association, the organizers of the protest, said that representatives from UCA and all other concerned residents plan to lodge a formal protest with the city council at Monday's public hearings on the ordinance.

The hearings will take place at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

City Councilman Alexander Stark who was the only 8th district representative present at the meeting, told the residents that he would offer an amendment in their behalf to have the area rezoned if such a move is legal.

Also expected to attend Monday's protest meeting are residents in the area bounded by Dennison Rd., Edgewood, Callaway, Liberty Heights and Sequoia, whose neighborhoods have been zoned R4, permitting erection of multiple dwellings.
