Despite the arrests members of the Black United Front, Soul School, Black Panthers, the Black Coalition of the University of Maryland Baltimore County and other interested citizens including Senator Verda F. Welcome have promised to continue protesting what they call: "Inadequate medical facilities in the prison," for the 1800 inmates.

This issue prompted the sit-down strike at the Maryland House of Correction three weeks ago.

Some 85 inmates were transferred from the House and confined in the segregation wing of the Maryland Penitentiary. This action drew the attention of the activists who carried the protest to the street.

According to Mr. Rawlings who represents the Black Coalition of UMBC "we're involved in this thing because we feel that (1) the police are trying to intimidate the black community and thus polarize the races so that it could be used by certain candidates in the coming election.

"The second thing is that we here at UMBC want to point up to the establishment that college-educated blacks are willing to take up the battle of our brothes in the prisons and not step out into the bourgeoise world and ignore the problem as many have done in the past."

liam Wallace, 5015 Park Heights Ave. and Clarence Lockhart, 3407 Clifton Ave.

All have been appointed to the important posts within the last year as part of Irvins' new personnel system set up in April by the Rev. Mr. Turner to keep Irvins in step with the times and at the top among the nation's best stores.

The chain is owned by the Drew National Corporation of New York and was listed recently by the Congress of Racial Equality, (CORE) as an Equality Opportunity Employer.

The Rev. Mr. Turner also lists Irvins as a major contributor to charity in Baltimore and cites the aid given various churches, hospitals and predominantly black organizations for scholarships and citizens' welfare.

The Rev. Mr. Turner has offices in Irvins executive suite in the 1300 E. North Ave. 4-part complex which also houses the outlet store, buying offices and warehouse.

Irvins is classed as a granddaughter 18 month which features carefully selected goods for all family needs. The Rev. Mr. Turner notes that the all-new merchandise is of medium to upper grade with modest prices to suit everyone's purse and budget.

He states that highly trained buyers select only the most attractive merchandise and accent quality at all times.

The Rev. Mr. Turner is married to the former Miss Evetta Ballard of the Eastern Shore of Maryland. Their children are a daughter, Mrs. Karen Butler, 19, a Coppin State College freshman; Gregory, 14, an 8th grade pupil at Calverton Junior High School and old Shera Khone Evettea Butler.

Mondawmin Manager, Ben Watts, 32, was formerly assistant manager of a Washington store before he came to Baltimore three weeks ago to work for Irvins.

He and his wife, the former Miss Marcella Smith, a computer programmer for the Madison National Bank in Washington, have been married one year.

Mr. Watts is a graduate of Washington's Dunbar High School and Texas Southern University, 1960. For two years he served in the U.S. Army as a member of the 82nd Airborne paratroopers.

Mr. Watts' duties as Irvins' Mondawmin manager supervise the 55-full-time and 23 part-time employees. 95 percent of whom are black.

'Liza' Davis convicted on 2 charges, awaits trial on kidnapping, drugs

"Liza" Davis — M5.

A Criminal Court jury last Thursday found Elijah Davis, 21, 800 block Tessier St., guilty of resisting arrest and assaulting a policeman.

Judge Albert L. Sklar withheld sentence after a new trial was filed by Davis' attorney, Donald Daneman.

"Liza," the nickname by which the Avenue figure is widely known, is accused of striking Patrolman Arthur B. Carroll in the chest, kicking him and attempting to take his gun on Sept. 19.

According to testimony before the jury, "Liza" thus resisted arrest when the officer halted him in the 800 block W. Lanvale St. on traffic and domestic warrants.

Patrolman Carroll told the jury that he at first stopped Davis on a routine check on Sept. 17 and the suspect showed him a license and learner's card in the name of "John Lee Davis."

The officer also stated that Davis was subsequently taken to the station for investigation and it was discovered through photographs that "John Lee Davis" and Elijah Davis appeared to be the same person.

Patrolman Carroll testified that Davis was released after his attorney and Walter E. Barksdale, 1600 block Edmondson Ave., a friend, vouched that the suspect was indeed John Lee Davis.

However, the police officer said he continued investigation and found that the pect's real name was Elijah Davis and then stopped Davis again on Sept. 19.

He stated that he had halted him and had presented him with the traffic warrants and the domestic warrant when Davis attempted to flee.

Davis did not take the witness stand in his own defense at the trial.

"Liza" was returned to Baltimore City Jail to await trial on other unrelated indictments of kidnapping a teenaged girl and a man who attempted to help her; possession of narcotics, paraphanalia and a 12-guage shotgun.

ver fled into an alley where he was captured.

In court the officer said he stopped the youth "near the alley and asked to see his driver's license and registration card." He went on to say that the youth ran, he caught him and a struggle began.

Witnesses for the officer claimed "two boys caught the man and held him for the police officer."

Their testimony included statements to the effect that the "officer was able to get the cuffs on one of the man's wrists but he kept struggling and got free and began hitting the policeman with the loose end of the cuffs."

The key witness further stated that the officer "took out his mace can and sprayed it in his face."

When young Parker took the mace can from the policeman the witnesses testified the officer drew his gun and shouted "if you don't stop, I'll shoot." Then he shot, an act which Judge Lewis ruled to be justifiable "under the threat of further injury to the officer."

No one was allowed to testify before the court in behalf of the dead youth.

Funeral arrangements for the slain youth are being handled by Marshall Jones Funeral Home. Services will be today (Friday) at noon. Burial will be at Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

Although a native Baltimorean, Parker spent most of his life in Albany, N.Y. until he was graduated from the Albany High School a year ago.

He is survived by his mother and father Mrs. Margaret Thomas and Nathaniel Paker.

Also his borthers Andrew, Tony Gene, Michael Parker and William Thomas; and sisters, Frances Chevelle, Patricia, Diane and Dianene Thomas.

during the regular primary election.

That primary count showed Mr. Culotta was a winner by 134 votes over Mr. Frentress going into the disputed precincts.

Following the count there where his name was not on the ballots, final totals showed Mr. Fentress won the nomination by 87 votes over Mr. Culotta.

When the Board of Supervisors of Elections refused to invalidate the election in the eight precincts, Robert C. Prem, attorney for Mr. Culotta, filed appeals both with the City and Superior Courts.

Judge Carden acted in Superior Court with the new primary order.

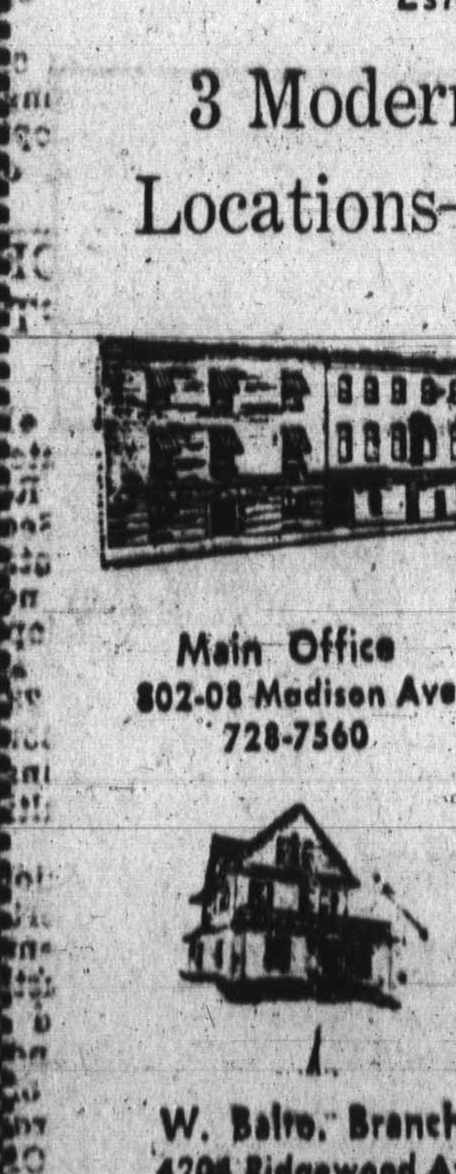

Ultimate winner after Saturday's count will face the Democrat's Paul Sarbanes in the Nov. 3 general election, who defeated the veteran George H. Fallon in the Sept. 15 primary decisively. — MAX JOHNSON
