CORE To Open Home For Penal Releasees

A halfway house, to be operated by the Congress of Racial Equality's Target City Youth Program and scheduled to open Oct. 19, will have 10 of its 25 beds reserved for releasees from Maryland Division of Correction institutions.

Walter Brooks, counselor for the one-year pilot project, funded through the Model Cities Program, said the halfway house is being designed to accommodate ex-offenders, potential offenders and homeless youngsters seeking new directions in the Baltimore Community.

At a recent meeting at the Maryland Correctional Camp Center, Jessup, where Mr. Brooks outlined the CORE halfway house project, he said persons entering the halfway house would stay there up to 13 weeks, during which time they would be provided with room, board and clothing, and would be plugged into other community programs.

The halfway house will be located at 1105 E. Fayette St.

Colts-Jets game TV 11 to air

The first meeting between the Baltimore Colts and New York Jets since the amazing upset in the 1969 Super Bowl will be seen in color on NBC/WBAL-TV this Sunday at 1-4 p.m.

In 1969 Joe Namath passed the Jets to a 16 to 7 victory over the Colts making New York the first AFL team ever to beat a team in the NFL.

OCTOBER 21

Jacqueline du Pre, one of the most notable young cellists of the day, will be the guest artist with the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Sergiu Comissiona on Wednesday evening, at the Lyric Theater. The program will start promptly at 8:30 p.m.
