Tydings answers

By PAUL EVANS

In a special telephone interview at AFRO presstime, Maryland Senior Senator Joseph D. Tydings, answering the accusatory remarks hurled against him Tuesday night by Vice President Spiro Agnew, said:

"I think that the responsibility of leadership is to unite, to pull together to heal the wounds, to solve problems, to address the grievances to those in responsible roles, not to set class against class or race against race.

"What we need in this nation is leadership skill to counteract shortcomings.

• • •

"The record of this Administration indicates that they are more interested in getting votes, than uniting and leading.

"I intend to fight back and not be intimidated by President Nixon or Vice President Agnew.

"I have been a strong leader in the Civil Rights movement since I was elected to the Senate in 1964, I will not be intimidated in my fight for the betterment of all the people of Maryland.

"The people of Maryland deserve a strong and independent United States Senator. I shall continue to serve that purpose."

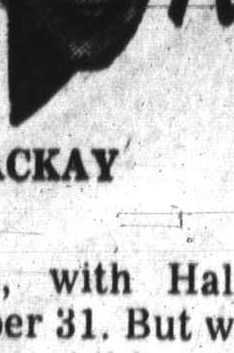
Light Housekeeping



By LULA MACKAY

"Witching time" is almost here again, with Hallowe'en to be observed throughout the nation on Saturday, October 31. But while the Spook season may be great fun, it can be a time of tragedy for children and adults alike. Two Aberdeen Proving Grounds division chiefs issued warnings this week. Daniel R. Smith of the APG Fire Prevention and Protection Division warns parents on allowing children to carry lighted candles.

Jack-O-Lanterns made of plastic or cardboard, lighted with candles becomes a fire hazard, he points out. He suggests that small flashlights fastened inside be used. A small lighted candle in a real pumpkin is permissable, that is, if the pumpkin is not left unattended.

Walter Kohout, chief of APG Safety Office, warns against dangerous costuming. A mask, he says, can be dangerous if it blocks your child's vision. Oftimes costumes are not fireproof and flimsy. These are hazardous. Shorten costumes that trail on the ground so that the wearer won't trip while dashing about in the dark. Beware of crossing streets in dark-colored costumes. It only takes a second for an auto to be upon you.

Give your child a lipstick, some eye make-up or a bit of poster paint. Your goblin, ghost or pirate ian lock genuinely ferocious, but still be safe.

For Beauty Sake: Directions for preparing a homemade sauna are given in a new beauty bulletin for nurses. The sauna is described in the first issue of the publication "Beauty Prep" as a great way for nurses to relax before going to bed.

To try it yourself, fill a large vessel with water. Just before bringing water to a boil, add one teaspoonful of all-spice, one of the assorted herbs (thyme, rosemary) and two sage leaves. Remove the pan from the heat. Lower your head so that the steam bathes your face for 10 minutes. Rinse with cooler and cooler splashes of water from the tap. Dry skin should be creamed first.

Recipe of the Week: With the last remnants of that baked ham create a delicious Fruited Ham Loaf, and serve with parsley new (frozen if necessary) potatoes, buttered broccoli, hot pecan pie and coffee for an unparelled-buffet.

The Fruit Ham Loaf is made with a can of condensed cream of mushroom soup, one and a half pounds ground colled ham, a half pohnd ground pork, a half cup fresh bread crumbs, two eggs, slightly beaten, a teaspoon dry mustard, a fourth teaspoon pepper, a cup diced apple, a half cup dark raisins, a fourth cup chopped celery and a fourth cup sour cream.

Combine half cup soup with remaining ingredients except sour cream. Mix thoroughly. Shape firmly into a loaf. Place in shallow baking dish. Bake at 350 F. for one and a fourth hours or until done.

Blend remaining soup with sour cream. Heat, stir and serve with loaf. This makes six to eight servings.

Dollars and sense: How you pay fo your life insurance can affect its cost, says the Institute of Life Insurance.

Premiums are calculated on an annual basis. Simply by paying each year's premium all at once, instead of monthly, quarterly or semi-annually, you can reduce the cost of your policy without affecting your coverage. splitting your annual coverage into sev[illegible]ments adds to the cost of administering your policy, so the company must add a service charge.

Economy meals for good eating

Onions are unequalled for zesty flavor, but they're not worth crying over?

If you begin to feel weepy whenever you even look at a raw onion, a simple trick can cheer you up. Onions contain a volatile oil which sprays upward as a vapor when the onions are cut and irritates eyes. Peeling onions under running water can reduce the effect of the spray.

* * *

You can smile about onions for another reaseon, too. They're now on the Plentiful Food Lists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service — which means they're a good food buy at your grocuery.

The oil in onions also gives them their flavor. This oil blends with fats and oils in other foods — an important fact to remember in cooking with onions.

If you want to enhance the onion flavor in stews, for example, heat chopped onion in a little fat for a few minutes and then add to the other ingredients. Likewise, you can prepare a truly onion-y salad by adding some chopped onion to an oil dressing about an hour before serving. Tricks such as these will improve the flavor of almost all dishes.

On the other hand, if you prefer just a hint of onion zip, here are a few suggestions: soak onion slices in milk and then use this liquid in soups or sauces; rub a salad bowl with a cut onion surface; or add onion slices to a simmering broth to be removed before serving.

Onions are the featured ingredient in so many delicious side-dishes. Creamed, glazed, barbecued, buttered, and fried in rings — these are just a few ways to enjoy onions. Onions can even be a main dish, when stuffed with a hearty filling. But there are countless other dishes in which onion is the unheralded hero, adding exactly the right touch of seasoning. From breakfast eggs to dinnertime casseroles — in every kind of dish except desserts — onions reign supreme.

Here's a menu for a day's good eating, using onions and other abundant and moderately priced foods:

Pineapple Juice
Scrambled Eggs
Roll and Margarine
Milk
Coffee or Tea
LUNCH
Creamed Salmon on Toast
Raw Carrot Sticks

This recipe for Onion-Apple Surprise makes a delightful vegetagle accompaniment for pork, liver or hamburger entrees:

Peel apples and cut into 1/8-inch thick slices. Drain onions, and reserve cooking liquid. Alternate layers of onions and apples in 1-quart casserole, springkling each layer with sugar, cinnamon, black pepper and remaining salt. Add 1/3 cup of onion cooking liquid and butter or margarine. Cover and bake in 350 degree 45 minutes, or until apples are tender. Makes 6 servings.
