by Samuel Walters, the architect for the Nation's Capital building in Washington, is a Gothic showpiece and one of the 13 most beautiful in the city but his plans are for people and not buildings.

He stated that the center-of-the-city location fits the overall program he has designed to help solve the problems of the inner city's poor, those haunted by drug addiction, alcoholism and evils due to poverty and oppression.

The Rev. Mr. Payne also stated "unless the bubble bursts" he and his followers expect a triumphant march into the main auditorium under the towering Gothic spire before Thanksgiving. "With people from all over town in a big affair," he remarked.

Volunteers "led by the spirit" will have to complete painting and repairs first, he added.

Sampson Green recouperating at his home

Sampson Green, head of the Model Cities Drug Program at the old St. Mary's Seminary, 600 N. Paca St., was dismissed from Brady Clinic, Johns Hopkins Hospital on Thursday morning.

He is at his 3409 Wabash Ave. home recuperating.

Mr. Green was stricken last Friday morning while at the Druid Health Center, 1515 W. North Ave., and rushed to Hopkins where he was confined until his condition was determined as satisfactory.

Oct. 24 — The Cherry Hill Legal Aid office, 710 Cherry Hill Rd., will officially open 11 a.m., Saturday, Oct. 24.

State and local dignitaries will speak and the public is invited.

Mild weather on election day

Bad weather can't be used as an excuse for not voting in the Baltimore area on Tuesday, election day.

Baltimore's weatherman predicts partly cloudy and mild forecasts with daytime temperatures in the mid-60's and night-time lows in the mid-40's.

Questions important on Tuesday

There will be 26 Questions on Baltimore City ballots facing voters in Tuesday's general election, 15 pertaining to local bond issue loans and city charter amendments, and 11 pertaining to state constitutional amendments and referendums.

Here is a brief summary of them in the order they will appear on the ballot, and the AFRO's suggested vote for each:

CITY

Vote FOR question A, School Construction Loan.

Where to call to get help on Election Day

If you run into any difficulty at a polling place while trying to cast your vote Tuesday during the general election, special telephone service has been provided to police stations in your district of the city.

A special team of lawyers assigned by the attorney general's office will be manning these stations to give advice or rush to the scene of the complaint.

Here are the police stations and the numbers citizens should call if they

Your 1 Vote Counts!

VICTORY SMILES are shown by U.S. Senator Joseph D. Tydings seeking election and 7th District Congressional candidate Parren J. Mitchell and Milton B. Allen, citywide candidate for Baltimore city state's attorney in Nov. 3 election.

38 black candidates seek office

By MAX JOHNSON

The general election in Baltimore the coming Tuesday will be the most historic ever held in this city, in terms of possible, far-reaching black citizenship involvement in city and state governments.

It is an election in which your vote counts more than ever, and is greatly needed.

An all-time high of 38 black candidates will be on the ballots seeking office, three of whom will need but one vote to win because they face no opposition.

One of the latter is Paul L. Chester, who made history by winning in the Democratic primary the clerkship head of the Court of Common Pleas.

The other two are Judge John R. Hargrove and William H. Murphy Sr., also primary winners of Municipal Court judgeships. Mr. Murphy won over a sitting judge.

However, Supreme Bench Judges Robert B. Watts and Harry A. Cole must stand for election Tuesday to hold their seats.

Their lever numbers are listed in the AFRO Slate at the far left of this page.

All of the candidates who face opposition are girding for a last weekend of campaigning before voters go to the polls Tuesday.

Top interest continues to

Employers must let you vote

Remember, all employers are required by state law to allow their employees time off with pay, up to two hours, to vote on election day if the employee does not have two hours of continuous off duty during the time the polls are open.

Upon request, the judges of election shall furnish such an employee a form of proof that he has utilized the time off to vote.

Under Article 33, 24-26 of Registration Laws of Maryland an employer who refuses to allow a worker time off to vote can be convicted of a misdeameanor and fined up to $500 and/or jailed up to six

ADA REITERATES

Endorsements of Allen, Parren Mitchell, Tydings

The Baltimore Chapter of Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) has reiterated its endorsement of the candidacies of Parren J. Mitchell for Congress in the 7th District, Paul Sarbanes for Congress in the 4th District, and the reelection of Sen. Joseph D. Tydings.

Reaffirmed also were the endorsements of Milton B. Allen for state's attorney, and several General Assembly incumbent candidates up for reelection.

In doing so, ADA took sharp issue with top Republican brass attacking the organization's endorsements. In a prepared statement, ADA stated:

"Recent Republican attackers of Congressional candidates receiving high scores in the voting tally of the Americans for Democratic Action and/or ADA's endorsements have neglected to mention one fact important to Marylanders:

"Namely that in 1966 Spiro T. Agnew himself received the Baltimore ADA endorsement for governor in the general election. Baltimore newspapers gave headlines to the endorsement, and Mr. Agnew made no move to reject it."

ADA noted that in 1966, however, "the pickings were slim, and continued with this statement:

"Noting the Republican attempt to smear candidates by linking their names to ours, we suggest
