Iotas entertain at luncheon and cards

Sorors of Kappa Chapter, Iota Phi Lambda Sorority, Inc., entertained 150 guests at luncheon and cards, Saturday afternoon at the Sheraton-Baltimore Inn.

The gala affair was designed to give the group's scholarship fund a much needed boost.

For the past 25 years the chapter has awarded scholarships to worthy young women, who are pursuing their education in the fields of business education, business administration, and related fields.

In recent years the chapter has awarded five or six scholarships yearly.

Scholarship winners and the schools of their choice for this year are Miss Joanne McCorkle, Douglass graduate, who is attending Western Women's College; Miss Mary Louise McClinton, Dunbar graduate who is attending Women's College, Duke University; Miss Diane Mobley, Northwestern graduate, who is attending Community College of Baltimore, and second year students at Peters Business School, Misses Patricia Graham, and Vivian Thompson.

The latter three young women were in attendance at the party.

An added thrill was the presentation of the chapter's American Education Week Program over station WMAR-TV-2 which the guests enjoyed seeing, courtesy of the management of the Inn who had set up a large screen TV for that purpose. Theme of the week this year is "Shape Schools for the 70's."

With Soror Fannie B. Poulson serving as moderator and asking the questions, and Sorors Blanche Williams, Claudine Harden, Mary Ames and Evelyn Faulk serving as panelists, the subject was well covered.

Atlantic's new name

Atlantic's new philosophy

To us your car is people

You'll never find us treating your car as if it were only a machine. We feel about your car the way you feel about your car. To us, your car is people.

And like people, your car must breathe. That's why we've developed new ARCOsupreme, our gasoline that helps your car breathe easy. Its special breathing formula helps prevent deposits from clogging the carburetor, the intake manifold, intake valves and the anti-pollution valve of your engine. So your car get more mileage and uses less gasoline. Your car breathes easy, which should make you breathe easy.

Like people, your car deserves a long life. ARCO oils and lubricants are formulated with additives to help keep your car running mile after mile.

Like people, your car needs to be cared for the way your doctor cares for you. And, that's what your ARCO dealer tries to do. Because to us your car is people.
